Leonard Wins Chincoteague Mayoral Race

By Linda Cicaira

Councilman J. Arthur Leonard will be the new mayor of Chincoteague. Voters returned Onley Mayor Jack J. Pierson and Parksley Mayor James G. Eichelberger Sr. in hotly contested town races Tuesday.

Leonard, an island native, captured more than 54 percent of the votes — 707 ballots — to defeat former Accomack Supervisor Wanda J. Thornton, who was also a previous council member. She got nearly 33 percent of the vote (426). Trailing was Charles S. (Chuck) Ward with nearly 13 percent (168 votes). Mayor Jack Tarr did not seek re-election.

Three Chincoteague council members also were elected. Newcomer Denise P. Bowden grabbed the lead with 1,007 votes, more than 30 percent of the ballots. Next was Councilman Gene Wayne Taylor, retaining his seat with 943 votes. Former Cheriton Mayor Joseph A. Habel was returned to office Tuesday by more than 70 percent of voters who came out on the rainy day to cast their ballots.

Habel beat out challenger Warren (Ski) Wisneski, 66 to 24. Northampton's General Registrar Terrence P. Flynn said 26 percent of registered voters participated in that town election.

Also in Cheriton, all six council seats were filled. Councilmen B.B. (Barry) Downing Jr. got the most votes, 80. Councilmen Daniel C. Dabinett and J. Wesley Travis were returned with 73 and 67 votes, respectively. Also elected to council were former Mayor Robert K. Lewis with 77 votes, Mary Lena Mears with 74 and Christina Travis, wife of Councilman Travis, with 52.

In Cape Charles and Exmore, the mayors' seats were not up for grabs this year.

Cape Charles Councilman Steven R. Bennett retained his post with 184 votes. Flynn said 284 (33 percent) of the town's registered voters participated. The top three vote-getters for the other three council seats were Andy J. (Andy) Buchholz with 196 ballots, former Mayor Dora Sullivan with 153 and David C. Gay with 103. Unsuccessful contestants were Daniel F.X. Burke with 98 and Nioaka H. Marshall with 42.

In Eastville, 19 voters (17 percent) turned out. Mayor James C. Sturgis was returned without opposition and 16 ballots. Councilwoman Nancy Mulligan did not run for another term. Denise Waters Bland got that seat with 17 votes. The rest of council retained their positions. Councilman R. Todd Simpson was the top vote-getter with 19. Councilman John D. Crockett garnered 18. Councilman Ben Fox took 17 votes, Councilwoman Eleanor C. Gordon got 16 and Councilman Edgar S. Sturgis III got 15.

In Exmore, 60 voters (6 percent) participated. Returned to office were Councilmen Thomas R. Lewis with 53 votes, Chase Edward Sturgis with 50 and John (Coby) Metz with 49.

Accomack District Court

Probable cause was found Monday in Accomack General District Court to certify to a grand jury two charges of making a bomb threat at Tyson Foods in Temperanceville.

Tyson employee Danny Jurmell Robertson, 31, of Pungoteague Road in Pungoteague is charged with making the threats on Feb. 9. He has denied the charges.

Shirley VaRence, a clerical worker at Tyson, said the calls came in as "anonymous" around 9 a.m. on the plant's Caller-ID system.

She didn't recognize the voice, but said it sounded like the same person both times.

Officers testified that only two calls were received between about 8:50 a.m. and 9:10 a.m. The owner of one phone number was eliminated as a suspect because he had applied for a job at the business and was calling to inquire about his status. The other call came from the cellphone of Travis White of Melfa, who was working at the plant when the threats were made.

White told the court that he was working with Robertson that day and let the defendant borrow his phone so he could call his girlfriend. He said he did not hear Robertson make any threatening remarks but was not with him the whole time. He said Robertson left the freezer where they were working so he could get phone service. When a break was permitted, White said, he found Robertson and overheard him speaking to his girlfriend.

Sheriff Todd Godwin previously reported his office was notified of the threats at about 9:30 a.m. "A search of the premises was conducted with no devices located," he said.

White was fined $50 for not showing up for a previous court hearing.

A member of Onley Volunteer Fire Department was arrested this week and charged with arson of a tractor-trailer truck that was set ablaze in February, according to a warrant filed in Accomack General District Court.

Brandon Travis Haynes, 20, of Maple Street in Onley is accused of maliciously causing the fire "with intent to defraud an insurance company or a person" by burning a 1993 Freightliner valued at $10,000 on Feb. 2.

State Police Special Agent P. Glenn Neal investigated the incident. He wrote in the court file that Haynes first denied having knowledge of the fire when he was interviewed at 2 p.m. April 8, "The accused was told that this agent knew that he was in fact the person who called 911 to report the fire ... the accused finally admitted to calling in the fire but still denied knowing who set the fire. The agent advised the accused that all evidence pointed to him." At about 2:30 p.m., Haynes confessed to the crime.

"He did this because he was bored at the station," the warrant states. The truck, which belonged to Antonio Logan, was in working order.

Haynes is free on $5,000 unsecured bond. He was arrested May 4.

One charge was not prosecuted and another was reduced for a Maryland man arrested in March for crimes that were alleged five years ago.

Roy Brewer Davison IV, 27, of Somers Avenue in Princess Anne was charged with burglary, robbery and use of a firearm at the Accomack Shore Stop Convenience Store on Dec. 12, 2010.

Court records stated that "Davison got out with a sawed-off shotgun, went inside and displayed the shotgun in a threatening manner towards James Perry," who was put "in fear of serious bodily harm."

The charge of burglary was not prosecuted. A robbery charge was reduced to misdemeanor larceny. A charge of use of a firearm in a felony was reduced to misdemeanor brandishing a firearm. He got 12 months in jail on each offense.

Vershawn Terrell Robinson, 35, of Horntown was convicted of misdemeanor sale of less than a half-ounce of marijuana on March 29. He was initially charged with felony distribution. Robinson was sentenced to 12 months in jail, with all but a month suspended. He was fined $350.

His brother, Jermaine Darrell Robinson, 36, of Fleming Road in Atlantic was charged with buying or receiving a stolen air conditioner worth more than $200 on April 25, 2012. That charge was not prosecuted.

Northampton District Court

According to records filed in Northampton General District Court, Ha-keem M. Telfair, 22, of Newark, N.J., is accused of possession with intent to distribute marijuana on April 22. Telfair was released on his own recognizance.

Chincoteague Mayor-Elect's Family Gives Property to Town

By Linda Cicaira

Chincoteague Town Council agreed Monday to accept a land gift from the family of Councilman J. Arthur Leonard. The 3-2 vote was taken in front of a packed crowd, many of whom applauded the decision, which was made a day before Leonard was elected mayor.

Leonard stepped out of the room when the issue was previously discussed by council in a closed session. He said he would not speak publicly about it and abstained from voting.

In favor of the move was Councilman John Jester, who did not run for re-election; and Councilmen Ben Ellis and Gene Wayne Taylor. Council members Ellen Richardson and Jim Frese were opposed.

The gift came from J.A.D. Associates, LLC. In exchange, council had to agree to terminate within 12 months all rights to a sewage easement that was made in 2000.

In an identical vote, a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) was approved between the town and the Chincoteague Cultural Alliance (CCA) to allow use of the parcel for a combined wastewater system for the Island Activity Center and the adjacent CCA property. The cost of a system would be split between the two entities.

In a third identical vote, council followed the recommendation of Town Manager Robert Ritter to accept bids for a total of $29,145. Chincoteague's share of that bill is $14,573. The approvals were for Bundick Well and Pump for a 900 GPD EZ Treat System for $26,870, J Stacey Hart-Engineering for $1,900, and a Virginia Department of Health permit for $375.

According to Ritter's memo, "Funding will come from the 5 percent disposition of meal tax for recreation-related projects in the amount of $35,000 appropriated for playground equipment."

Ellis, who previously spoke against the actions, said he further investigated the issue and changed his mind. "If I learned anything, I cannot be an expert on everything," the retired educator said. Without the plan, "at the minimum we're going to have to put $6,000 into it to be legal. Ellis agreed that information could have been dispersed in a more timely manner.

Taylor said he would feel better about an above-ground system if the land were to ever become a football or soccer field and children were going to play there.

Frese said it was "a difficult subject, first to taxpayers and citizens. We need to have an attorney here to get answers to legal questions before we vote. Unfortunately our attorney is unavailable.

"What we have now ... appears to me to be very functional," Frese continued. "If that's the case, what is the gain? I think we're overspending. I don't think we have to spend it. I don't think we're taking anything away from CCA. ... I don't understand the reluctance to go it alone," Frese added.

Jester noted that "while drainfields may look like they work," he got an inspection when selling property and learned the land didn't perk. "It cost me 7 or 8,000 bucks. We face the potential of being alone at some point ... half that cost now. It's a great place ... very heavily used. Great potential ... it's just a great location for community events. To me it should be a no brainer issue."

Mayor Jack Tarr said Town Attorney Dan Rowan had looked over everything and was fine with it.

Rowan was absent due to a health issue, Ritter said later.

Island Bike Path Gets Green Light

By Linda Cicaira

Chincoteague's Town Council voted unanimously Monday to support a $1,065,000 grant application made by Accomack County to complete bicycle and pedestrian paths along Maddox Boulevard.

According to a letter from Mayor Jack Tarr to the county Department of Planning and Community Development, the town fully supports the county's quest for road shoulder improvements to "help increase the safety for the over one-million visitors to the Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge."

"Furthermore, the town finds the recreational beach and parking facilities imperative to maintaining the local economy," Tarr wrote. "If the Fish & Wildlife Service (FWS) and National Park Service were unable to repair the lot after another major storm, it's certain that local businesses would suffer."

Maddox Boulevard connects directly to Beach Road on the refuge.

Tarr wrote that a recent study by the FWS, showed "there is in excess of $150 million in economic output attributable to refuge visitation annually in the two nearest counties of Accomack ... and Worcester," Md.

"Safer passage along the Maddox Boulevard Corridor would also lead to a more positive traveling experience and increased visitation," Tarr noted. "In short, these transportation improvements will greatly help ... Chincoteague maintain its economy, improve safety, reduce congestion, and make more resilient these important facilities."

The Virginia Department of Transportation recently estimated the cost of the path at $2,565,000. Another grant for $1.5 million was approved recently by the Federal Transit Administration for the endeavor. Neither of the grants requires matching money.

Along the boulevard is Maddox Family Campground, which was recently sold to a developer.

Resident Jane Wolffe said she fears that condos will be built on that property, which is zoned for commercial development, including marsh acreage near the entrance to the refuge that could be filled and exchanged for land elsewhere. Wolffe referred to remapping that the town did six years ago when "the thought that this could ever be developed was pretty far from everyone's minds."

She asked town leaders to meet with the new owner about leaving the "scenic byways. It's important to the majority of citizens. If filled and built upon, they will be very disappointed. I understand there are already plans. ... I guess we'll all find out about that directly."

Tarr directed Town Manager Robert Ritter to set up a meeting.

Volunteers moved additional picnic tables to Tom's Cove Park Wednesday in preparation for the annual Chincoteague Seafood Festival set for Saturday. Gates open at 10 a.m. Seafood is served from noon to 4 p.m. Fewer than 200 of 3,000 tickets remained available earlier this week.

Northampton Schools Recognize Need To Improve Student Reading

By Ron West

The Northampton School Board received a presentation at its April session regarding reading issues and the implications that they may have on students reading below grade level.

Northampton Middle School teacher Carol Handwerk said that significant challenges in reading also affect other subjects in school as students struggle to comprehend the material. Handwerk offered suggestions on how staff could assist these students to become successful in all of their classes and make it more likely that they will graduate on time.

Superintendent Eddie Lawrence reported that he had discussed the expected budget shortfall for the coming school term with the Board of Supervisors. The School Board has requested just over $300,000 in additional funding above the FY16 school term for next year. It has yet to be determined what, if any, cuts from the FY17 school budget will be made by the supervisors.

Northampton High School assistant principal Keith Bell informed the School Board that plans are underway to try to add a course on tourism and hospitality. Bell noted that the course would be a good fit for the county given the interest in tourism. He added that there is a need to once again work to develop the culinary arts program. Currently, the high school lacks a certified culinary arts instructor. Additionally, Bell indicated a desire to bring back the horticulture program.

While the Average Daily Membership, which is the basis for state funding, stands at 1,563, the school system provides services for 1,683 students from Pre-K through Grade 12.

Board member Nancy Proto reported that the Ad Hoc Teacher Retention Committee has completed a proposed survey for all classroom and teaching specialists to inform the School Board of their level of satisfaction with regards to their school and the school system in general.

Chairman Skip Oakley said the board wanted to review the document before it is distributed to staff. Vice Chairman Randy Parks said the survey needs to include non-school-related questions since the lack of social activities should be considered among the reasons for teachers leaving the area. It was agreed to add additional questions to the survey and to have the entire board review. The School Board wants to distribute the survey prior to the end of the school term.

Aerospace Veteran Resigns from WRP Panel, Cites Negativity

By Linda Cicoira

Tom Young resigned recently as chairman of the Wallops Research Park (WRP) Leadership Council after criticizing the Accomack County Board of Supervisors.

In a letter dated April 19, Young wrote, "Unfortunately, I believe the negative business environment created by the ... supervisors along with other factors is just the opposite of what is required for success. Potential businesses and projects (and) those who make decisions about the NASA infrastructure in the future will ... be influenced by this adverse environment."

Similar comments made by Young at the supervisors' meeting were directed at Supervisor Grayson Chesser, who previously suggested teachers at Kegotank Elementary School be prepared for what "could" happen during a rocket launch. Chesser said the blast that failed in October 2014 was a wake-up call that scared residents. Young said businesses could do an Internet search of the facility and negative news articles would jump out at them.

At supervisors' and School Board meetings, Chesser noted the school is a half-mile from the hazard zone.

Young promised to talk to the teachers a week before the next big launch, scheduled for June and said he would be at the school during the launch.

Other supervisors took offense at Young's words because they have voted for the aeronautics activities.

In September 2013, the state approved a $4 million grant to help finance a taxiway from NASA's runway to the WRP. Accomack put up another $4 million plus for construction of infrastructure at the park, which is nearly completed.

Chesser was the only supervisor to oppose the spending. Three new supervisors elected since then have given no indication that they don't support Wallops' endeavors.

Chesser and Young have been at odds for awhile. The supervisor has repeatedly asked for a business and marketing plan from the park's leadership council and has been discouraged by the response.

"I continue to believe the Park, as a part of the Wallops Complex, can be a significant economic and prestige engine for Accomack County, the Eastern Shore and the Commonwealth of Virginia," Young wrote. "To achieve this objective will require an exceptional and well integrated effort to promote the positive attributes of the Park and the Wallops complex. Accomack County must be a positive element of this endeavor."

"When asked to be a member and subsequently chairman of the ... council, I considered it an opportunity to make a positive contribution to the future of the Eastern Shore," Young also stated in his letter. "I was motivated by the belief that growth at the Wallops Complex would provide outstanding career opportunities for the young people who would like to continue living on the Eastern Shore."

He ended his resignation by saying, "I wish you enormous success in making the WRP a reality."

"We are pro business," Supervisor Donald Hart said at that meeting, adding that Young's approach was negative. "I question your purpose for this. I question what you are trying to convey. I think it's actually hurting the agencies and hurting the county ... maybe you need to rethink putting everyone in the box."

"I could not figure out how to do this briefing," said Young. "I was not going to stand up here and be dishonest ... it would have been OK with me not to give the briefing ... I don't know how to fix a problem until there is recognition of a problem."

Young is a native of Wachapreague and a former president of Martin Marietta, an aerospace company, founded in 1961 by the merger of The Martin Company with American-Marietta Corporation.

Young's seat on the committee now will revert to County Administrator Steve Miner, who had appointed Young. Miner can either remain on the committee or select a replacement.

The market is a vendor-produced only market, which means that shoppers are buying directly from the source.

Jessica West will provide music. There will be random “pop-up-prize” moments throughout the morning. Children can stop by the manager’s booth for tattoos, stickers and coloring books and dogs always can find a treat there as well.

The market will be open every Saturday morning through October, rain or shine.

Though painter Debra Howard has lived in many places and traveled worldwide, she says the most unusual place she has ever lived is Tangier Island.

“I have traveled all through Europe. I’ve sailed from Hawaii to the U.S. mainland, through the Panama Canal, in the Caribbean, the Bahamas, up the entire East Coast to Canada. By far, Tangier was the most foreign and odd place I have ever lived,” Howard said.

She will discuss her time as artist-in-residence on Tangier Island on Tuesday, May 10, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at the Ocean City Center for the Arts, 502 94th St. The event is free and open to the public; reservations are not required.

Now a resident of Crisfield, Md., Howard is an award-winning plein-air artist who depicts the Chesapeake Bay area.

During her talk, Howard will share many Tangier Island stories as well as old and new photos of the island and images of her island paintings.

CHERITON CONSIDERS SCHOOL USAGE, ZONING, BROADBAND, DRAINAGE AND PLAYTIME

By Ron West

Northampton Economic Development Director Chris Tucker told Cheriton Town Council last week that he had been asked by the county Board of Supervisors to seek input from the town council of every Northampton town about what uses might be made of the former middle school in Machipongo.

Suggestions given for the building by Tucker included a community kitchen, auxiliary classrooms for Eastern Shore Community College, and an incubator for new business ventures. When asked by Councilwoman Mary Mears, to elaborate on the last suggestion, he explained that several startup businesses might share resources to get their feet on the ground and then relocate, thus allowing room for another startup business to take its place.

Council then conducted a joint public hearing with the town’s Planning Commission regarding zoning for newly acquired property on the east side of the town. After a lengthy discussion, council generally agreed that most of the property, much of which had been associated with the former Webster Canning facility, would be designated as Industrial General. A portion that is currently being used as a residence would be zoned Residential, but the owner would be allowed to continue operating his small business on site.

A second public hearing was conducted regarding broadband proposals for the town. Mayor Joe Habel noted that two proposals had been received, but only one of the companies was represented at the council session. Under the proposal offered by Neubeam, high-speed Internet service would be offered, as well as two publicly accessible Wi-Fi sites within the town. No action was taken on the proposal.

Council discussed the issue of drainage problems in various parts of the town and noted that work had begun behind the post office earlier in the week. Once that area has been addressed, efforts will be made to locate and correct other drainage concerns throughout the town.

Habel announced that work on the new playground would begin shortly. It will include laying out and erecting a fence around the parameter, and replacing the surface, all of which would need to be done prior to delivery of the playground equipment. Council agreed that it would need to be a community effort and that volunteers would be needed to help with the tasks. Anyone interested in assisting with the project should contact a council member or they stop by the Town Office and speak with one of a town clerk. The goal is to have the playground open before July.

Health Matters Dispose of Hazardous Materials Tomorrow

Hazardous wastes tend to accumulate around everyone's home over time, creating unnecessary health and safety risks at home. They need to be disposed of safely, responsibly.

"The Eastern Shore's landfills were not engineered to handle these materials. If these hazardous wastes are not disposed of properly, first, it's illegal, and second, it threatens the health of Eastern Shore residents and the fragile environment that Eastern Shore residents rely on for their livelihood," said Rick Hubbard, former Ground Water Committee vice chairman and Northampton County supervisor. "Every ounce of hazardous waste collected ensures that waste does not pollute our water resources on the Eastern Shore and endanger our water quality, our jobs, and our citizens' health."

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Ground Water Committee has announced that the 12th Annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection will be held Saturday, May 7, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., rain or shine.

This annual spring collection event — the best and only local option for proper household hazardous waste disposal on the Eastern Shore — is available to residents of Accomack and Northampton counties, and this year, is offered concurrently at county convenience centers in Horntown and Grangeville (Keller) in Accomack, and Birdsnest in Northampton.

Residents can dispose of up to 50 pounds of hazardous waste for free, as long as available project funds allow, so residents are encouraged to arrive early. Additional waste — over 50 pounds — will incur a charge of $1 per pound.

ACCEPTED household wastes include: garden chemicals, poisons, repellents, degreasers, fuels (including gasoline and kerosene), fungicides, wood preservatives, wood stain, paint thinner and remover, driveway sealers, epoxy, rodent poison, and asbestos.

Items NOT ACCEPTED include: commercial and industrial wastes, car batteries, tires, motor oil, ammunition, flares, explosives, medical and biological wastes, radioactive waste, medicines, PCBs, smoke detectors, Freon or propane tanks, and empty containers of any kind.

Paint also is not accepted. "To responsibly dispose of oil and latex paint, remove the container lid to allow the paint to dry, or mix the paint with an absorbent such as kitty litter or wood chips. Once the paint solidifies, place the paint container in a plastic bag and dispose with the regular trash," advises Stewart Hall, Accomack County Public Works director.

This event is an annual public service made available through funding provided by Accomack and Northampton counties, Accomack-Northampton Planning District Commission, Virginia Coastal Zone Management Program, and NOAA and through volunteer assistance provided by Waste Watchers of Virginia's Eastern Shore.

The event occurs on a Saturday during the same time each year and residents are advised to accumulate and store wastes in a safe, secure location in preparation for the annual collection. For questions or more information, please contact Shannon Alexander at the Accomack-Northampton Planning District Commission at 787-2936, extension 115, or salexander@a-npdc.org

Kari Jardine To Wed Shaun Jackson

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jardine of Machipongo announce the engagement of their daughter, Kari Lynn Jardine, to Shaun Charles Jackson, son of Steven and Sandy Jackson of Virginia Beach, Va.

The bride-to-be is a registered nurse at Sentara Heart Hospital in Norfolk. Her fiancé is an instructor at Bryant & Stratton College.

A June wedding is planned.

Cape Charles Resident Briefs Congress

On April 26, Cape Charles resident Dr. William P. O'Hare participated in a congressional briefing on the high net undercount of young Latino children in the U.S. Decennial Census.

The briefing was sponsored by the Congressional Hispanic Caucus, the National Association of Latino Elected Officials, and the Washington, D.C.-based research group, Child Trends.

O'Hare noted, "Young children had a higher net undercount than any other age group in the 2010 U.S. Decennial Census, and young Latino children were missed at a higher rate than other young children."

Overall, almost one million children under the age of 5 were missed in the 2010 Census; about 400,000 of those were Latinos. O'Hare noted that more than $400 billion in federal funding is allocated to states and localities each year based on the Census figures, so localities that are undercounted don't get their fair share of federal resources.

The briefing aimed to raise public awareness about the problem of young children missed in the Census with hopes that the problem can be remedied in the 2020 U.S. Census.

The briefing also was used to release a new publication by O'Hare, "The Invisible Ones: How Latino Children are Left out of Our Nation's Census Count."

Fedderman Named VEA Vice President

Dr. James Fedderman, the chorus teacher at Arcadia Middle and High schools, has been named vice president for the Virginia Education Association (VEA), effective Aug. 1.

Fedderman, 40, is the first African-American to hold the position.

He will serve two consecutive two-year terms.

Fedderman, who is the Accomack Education Association president, said, "The VEA is the pre-eminent resource for teaching, learning, and teacher advocacy across the commonwealth. Its mission is to provide a great public school for every child across the state."

Fedderman has served in multiple capacities in Accomack County, starting as a custodian at Chincoteague Elementary School and holding both administrative and classroom positions.

Accomack County Schools Chief of Staff Jason Baldwin said, "One of Dr. Fedderman's strengths is pulling together his constituents to ensure all of their voices are heard."

Said Fedderman, "I am most proud to be an advocate for our students." He added that he will miss the interaction with his students the most because "I have an understanding of them and their needs because I have walked in their shoes."

"Dr. Fedderman will be sorely missed in Accomack County. He has done an outstanding job working with our teachers. I am very proud of his promotion to the VEA vice presidency," said Accomack Superintendent Warren C. Holland.

While Fedderman will be missed, he said, "Accomack is a place that I am proud to call home. It is a place that has defined me as a professional educator."

Planners Probe Schools' Economic Impact

By Ron West

The Northampton County Planning Commission received an update on the status of county schools Tuesday from Superintendent Eddie Lawrence.

The commissioners had invited Lawrence and others from the school system to ascertain how the condition of the schools might be affecting the economics of the county.

Lawrence urged officials to seriously consider a new high/middle school campus, and begin setting aside funds to pay for it. The cost of such a facility has been estimated at $35 million.

Asked about staff retention, Lawrence turned the floor over to Justin Wheeler, a classroom teacher and head of the Northampton Education Association. Wheeler, who holds a master's degree, provided his "budget" as a simple way to show the struggle of a single newly minted teacher who moves to Northampton County. Ticking off items such as rent, car payments, electricity, food, and college debts, his monthly expenses soon topped $1,700. Wheeler then noted that his take-home pay each month is just over $1,600. By doing additional odd jobs, he explained that he was able to pay his bills. "Pay is the biggest reason for teachers to leave." He added that new teachers find it difficult to start a family on a new teacher's salary. According to data given, Northampton County ranks near the bottom of the list of counties in Virginia with regards to teacher pay.

Northampton High senior Christopher Handwerk spoke of the need for additional course offerings at the high school to better prepare students for college and/or the workforce. He will be leaving the Shore in the fall to continue his college education. Thanks to dual-enrollment classes and online offerings, he has accumulated 50 college credit hours, the equivalent of almost two years. Asked if he would consider returning to the Shore after college, Handwerk smiled and said he'd be back just as soon as he finishes his pre-med and medical-school training.

A lack of decent affordable housing and very limited social activities also were cited as reasons that teachers leave.

May, 2016

We are concerned that there are some misimpressions in the community concerning Shore Memorial Hospital's (SMH) affiliation with Riverside Health System (RHS). As Board members before and after that affiliation, we are in a unique position to clarify them and to note that the SMH story has a much happier ending than that for many small, rural hospitals. A recently aired PBS news segment about health care in rural communities included an alarming statistic: "more than 50 rural hospitals have closed nationwide since 2010 and hundreds more teeter on the brink of bankruptcy" (<http://www.pbs.org/newshour/bb/small-towns-watch-aging-hospitals-shutter/>). The PBS program provides a very good explanation of the causes and effects of the attrition of small, rural hospitals – and some insight into what could have happened, and almost did happen, here on the Eastern Shore...

The chronology of decisions and commitments began in 2008:

- ▶ On the closing date for the affiliation transaction with Riverside Health System, in 2008, Shore Memorial Hospital was on the verge of default on the loan covenants to a $5M loan held by a large regional bank.
- ▶ During that same time, the economy and the markets were in freefall due to the mortgage crisis, and the required notification to the bank would, beyond any reasonable doubt, have resulted in the bank calling the loan and the shutdown of SMH.
- ▶ Riverside was aware of SMH's precarious position and that SMH was completely vulnerable. Instead of walking away or renegotiating, RHS assumed the debt and kept our doors open. Moreover, they promised—and kept their promise-- to build a new $85M hospital.
- ▶ SMH needed $15M just to patch up the most glaring deficiencies in our facilities and operations. If we had gone about trying to raise contributions from the community, we would have been lucky to get $2M in one-time gifts. By comparison, thanks to the affiliation, the hospital has benefited by that amount annually.
- ▶ To compound the problem, since 2009 reimbursement for health care has continued to decline.

Some in Northampton County have also questioned our decision to move the hospital. However, members of the Hospital Board have an obligation to consider the needs of citizens of both counties. Even a cursory look at the data makes it clear that the population has in general shifted north, so for every ambulance from the south with increased travel time, there will be three ambulances from the north with less travel time. It is important to emphasize that all Riverside entities, including RSMH, are not-for-profit, and RSMH alone provides about $13M/year in charity care for those without insurance.

In sum, without Riverside's involvement, our hospital would have closed its doors years ago and health care on the Shore today would be a disaster. But it is not: instead of no hospital, we will --in a matter of months--have a state-of-the-art community hospital with the newest, most advanced equipment. The result will be a significant improvement in the quality of health care for every citizen from the southern tip of the Shore to the Maryland line, requiring only--to assure that the benefits extend to all Northampton residents--that we all adopt sensible policies to support the ongoing, coordinated efforts of the Shore's principal health care institutions: RSMH, Eastern Shore Rural Health (ESRH), and the Va. Department of Health's Eastern Shore Health District.

It is important to understand that Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital is also actively collaborating with ESRH and the Va. Department of Health's Medical Director for the Eastern Shore to improve both emergency services and primary care services for the entire population of Virginia's Eastern Shore, and the citizens of Northampton County in particular. Here is an overview:

- (1) The principal provider of primary care on the Shore is ESRH.
- (2) RSMH providers will continue to fill in as needed, for example providing primary care services and extended office hours in Cape Charles.
- (3) ESRH is working to consolidate their Northampton operations in a new state-of-the-art facility in Eastville which will provide improved primary care options for Northampton residents after the hospital moves.
- (4) RSMH is working with both ESRH and the VA Dept. of Health's Medical Director for the Eastern Shore to address the inappropriate use and burden of ambulance service in Northampton County.

All these initiatives are a result of local leadership from all the health care entities working together to find solutions for our residents. The PBS segment, our own studies and those of public and private studies performed on behalf of Northampton County residents, all illustrate that providing the right health care for all is a challenging task that no one party can shoulder. Please consider this letter both a correction to past misinformation, and an invitation to join hands in working towards a better model of care.

Our ability to work in unison is by far the best and most sustainable economic model for our future and for the healthcare of all our Eastern Shore citizens, from Greenbackville to Kiptopeke.

Sincerely,

C. Lee Davis

When the calendar flips to May, local high-school sports are wrapping up their regular-season schedules and looking ahead to the playoffs and a possible run to the state final four.

There's a long way to go yet, but let's take a look at the spring sports and the possibilities for local teams to advance deep into the playoffs.

The Northampton boys' soccer team advanced to the final four last season, losing in the semi-final 2-0 to Galax.

It was the Jackets fourth semi-final appearance under Coach John Gorman, including a championship game in 2012, but a state title has been elusive for the program, recognized as one of the powers in state 1A play.

The Jackets are playing even better this season, showing more depth and displaying great team chemistry in beating arch-rival Nandua twice thus far. Northampton also handily beat Washington & Lee, another 2015 state semi-finalist.

Coach Gorman says, "I have 17 starters but can only play 11 at a time." And, indeed, he sends a fresh wave of players on the field at critical times.

Junior Gildo, Bayron Ortiz, Jesus Maldonado, Noah Leffel, Elion Morales and Billy Martinez provide much of the offense, with Gabe Webb playing solid in goal.

It may be the year of the Jacket.

The Chincoteague baseball team went 20-1 last season, not losing a game until dropping one in the state playoffs to Lancaster.

This year, the Ponies lost their first game to Holly Grove, but since then have reeled off 12 straight wins, including avenging that Holly Grove defeat.

Coming off a recent stretch playing

SPORTS

Local Teams That Could Make a State Playoff Run

six games in eight days, Chincoteague has shown it can come from behind, beating Salisbury Christian 7-6 Monday with a two-run rally in the bottom of the seventh. Last Saturday, it was down 4-0 to Essex before storming back.

Coach Will Thompson has paced the Ponies to finish strong and handle the pressure of the playoffs, resting starters and playing younger players in key spots.

Although still relatively young, Chincoteague has a core of three-year starters who have been through the wringer.

Seniors Joe Thornton, Miles Libertino, Dylan Mason, Spencer White and Trevor Reed have played key roles, but a junior battery that features pitcher Trey Fisher and Collin Derrickson gets it done in the field and at the plate.

Ryan Mason and Dustin Holloway, both only sophomores, are also key to a long run in the 1A playoffs.

The Ponies have to play Shore District rival Nandua twice more after a come-from-behind win in their first meeting. But they are well prepared to handle the pressure of a playoff run.

No Shore team has been as dominant in district play as the Nandua softball team.

The Lady Warriors have won 9 of the last 10 district championships, and the current Nandua seniors have never lost so much as a district game. This season, they have two one-run wins over Essex, a formidable foe, and currently sport a 12-1 record, with the lone loss coming to Broad Run of Loudoun County, a 5A school.

Kimberly Wert led the Warriors in every offensive category last year as a sophomore and this season has a team-high eight home runs and 23 RBIs. Michaela Wescott, Tyra Bjorlo and Amanda Baylis also have socked homers and have double-digit RBIs. D'errica Toppin and Emily Justis provide outstanding pitching with ERAs of just over one run per game.

A top-notch pitcher who has stopped the Warriors the past two seasons is now pitching in Division 1 college softball, so maybe the path is a bit easier for a talented Nandua softball team.

Track often takes a back seat among spring sports, but watch for the Arcadia boys to make some noise at the regional and state levels.

Coaches Sean Norberg and T.J. Smith have a talented group of Firebirds who have bested some of the best teams in Maryland and across the waters.

Tah're Pettit, Devon Rogers, Hector Cime, Dameron Vandeneynde, Rishon Townsend, Richie Shrieves and a few others have the quality and the depth to rack up a few points against tough competition.

Next Wednesday, all of the Shore track athletes will be in competition at the Eastern Shore District meet at Eastville, starting at 4 p.m.

A few athletes from Nandua and Northampton also could emerge as state qualifiers. Track, more than most sports, allows the individuals to shine and advance without teammates.

Those are my best bets for local teams to make an impression in the state playoffs, but there could be others who bloom at the right time.

The Nandua soccer team has been there before, as has the Nandua baseball team. The Northampton girls' soccer team, although grouped with bigger schools because of the scarcity of 1A schools playing girls' soccer, is a force. And the Broadwater softball team is on a roll that could continue in the playoffs. The Viking track team, which won it all in 2014, bears watching, too.

Drum, Flounder Highlight Fishing Action

Flounder fishing is on the upswing with some nice catches made out of Wachapreague earlier this week. Some warm, sunnier days will help anglers seeking the flatfish.

Black drum catches outside the inlets on seaside are starting to pick up. Big rockfish are also mixed in. Fishing the surf with clams will catch both.

The black drum run is heating up in the lower Chesapeake Bay as well, with some nice catches.

Bayside catches of bull red drum are getting good off the flats of Pungoteague and Occohannock creeks. Trolling big spoons, drones, Hopkins and Tony spoons are doing the trick

Missing both of my Moms on Mother's Day

A Mom's love is special

when she is no longer there
A special time
A special face
A special Mom
I can't replace
With an aching heart
I whisper low
I miss you Mom
And love you so
Love, Michael

“DEAR MAMA” (R.I.P. Darlene Davis)

You are a soldier for God with a battle suit of armor Life can be a chick sometimes, but you never dealt with Karma
Our family stuck together because you was the glue to it
We were a clan, tribe, crew, group & fellow unit
You helped birth me & raised in Whitesville
Even on the job in Temperanceville, you kept things real
A lot of bad kids need to face reality because society is real
You saved me with beatings with switches, belts & high heels
The whole Eastern Shore Society is missing you closely
You helped kept some of these young men & women out of these court postings
You had snake friends & read the scriptures to cobras
That's why we should be screaming your name like Oprah's
Even when you was buried underneath this land
We shall forever remember you just like Princess Diane
If I can't meet a strong woman like you, why bother
You was a Queen next to a King, My Father
Even for all the love in the world, Mom, I truly love you Truly one out of a few that never disrespected

From the OutPost

By Candy Farlow

OK, folks. Consider this your official notice. Mother's Day is coming up really soon so, if you are blessed enough to still have your mom with you, you need to make your plans now.

It's hard to believe I lost my mom 15 years ago. Still, to this day, I often find myself wanting to pick up the phone and give her a call to share some bit of news.

Instead, my sister and I often discuss what her reaction would have been to that news. "Boy, it's a good thing Mom didn't see this," is a frequent comment. More often, however, my sister just says, "You sound just like Mom." For the most part, I take that as a compliment, since Mom was highly intelligent, an excellent writer, a woman of faith, and not afraid to speak her mind. She also had a great sense of humor which served her well through the years. Most all, I remember her as a devoted wife, mother and grandmother.

Married in 1940 to a Navy man she had known only six weeks, Mom immediately demonstrated her devotion to her handsome sailor in a most clever way. Since their letters were censored, Dad was unable to give her details of his next port of call — at least in writing. However, all Mom had to do was take Dad's letter and place it over her map — identical to the one Dad had placed over the letter before putting a pin hole in the next location he would be ashore. By applying her own pin to the hole, she marked her map with that location. How the letter was addressed was actually code for the date he'd be arriving. For example the middle name he used would indicate the month with the postal number indicating the date.

With this information in hand, Mom would board a train, always shocking Dad's shipmates when they saw her at the pier. Their little plan worked well until Dad was deployed overseas. Then it was only the occasional terse telegram — and their undying love — that kept them connected.

Once the war ended, however, their connection only grew stronger as they supported each other through life's many ups and downs. I like to think one of the pinnacles of their life together was my arrival — but then I remember Dad telling me when I became a mother, "Honey, I don't wish anything on you, but you deserve everything you get."

Ouch!

OK, so I wasn't a model child, but no matter what, I knew I was loved. I knew my mother would be there for me each day after school, standing at the door in her "housedress" and apron. A big hug and a listening ear were my rewards for surviving another day of elementary school — which I detested. I still can feel her arms around me and recall the scent of Jergen's Lotion on her skin and her sweet voice reassuring me despite my latest crisis.

Other memories flood my heart as well, but none so sweet as that of Mom rocking my baby sister to sleep while singing "My Blue Heaven" — just as she had her three older children. To this day, I can bring emotional tears to my brother's eyes by singing that lullaby. (At least I think it's true emotion and not the pain of my singing that does it.)

I wish Mom's life had a happy ending like that lullaby. However, the heartbreak which is Alzheimer's robbed us of that. All we could do was try to soothe and comfort her, the way she had us through the years.

If you still have your mom, don't miss one chance, especially this one coming up on Mother's Day. Call your mother — while you can.

Incredible Kindness Helps Stranger

Dear Editor:

A special thank you to the lady (Bonnie Wallace) who owns Eastern Shore Pet Store in Onley.

The other day, as I stopped to pick up a copy of the Post, my truck door locked after I left the vehicle. Keys in the ignition and motor running, I had no way to unlock the truck; spare key home on the refrigerator! This woman, who noticed my predicament, came out of her store with her car keys in hand and said to me, "Take my car and go get your spare key."

This woman only knew that I was a resident of the Eastern Shore. A bit startled, but in despair, I accepted her incredibly trusting and thoughtful offer. Upon returning with my spare key, I offered to fill her tank with gas, but she smilingly declined.

Many thanks and a great deal of gratitude to this very kind lady.

Dan Hillman, Locustville

NHS Guidance Should Do More

Dear Editor:

It has taken almost four years to write this article, but the frustration level with the Northampton High School (NHS) Guidance Department has transcended accepted levels of normalcy.

Northampton County High School Alumni Association Foundation, Inc. (NCHS Alumni Foundation), working with the NCHS Alumni Association, has provided scholarships to graduating seniors of NHS for 27 years.

In January/February of each year, scholarship applications are provided to NHS Guidance. Completed applications are collected through May 1 and evaluated by a team of foundation members, many of whom are former Northampton County teachers. The awards are made at the annual NHS awards ceremony.

In the past five years, the foundation has noted that it was not receiving the expected number of applications for scholarships nor applications from seniors known personally to many members. When the foundation inquired of NHS Guidance, it learned that the scholarship applications were distributed to students, but no subsequent guidance was provided; no interim deadlines were set for completion/review. Despite continuing annual notice of diminishing applications, NHS Guidance has not changed.

The attitude of Northampton Guidance is cavalier: "We make the applications available; it's up to them to complete them." This position erroneously assumes that each student has the same skill set or family support. Attempts to address these issues with administration have failed.

It is my hope that disclosing these facts to parents who have students in the system may result in demands for better student services from NHS Guidance.

Stephen K. Fox, President

NCHS Alumni Association Foundation, Inc.
