CARRYING THE TORCH

On Wednesday, nearly 100 law-enforcement officers and other participants took part in the 31st annual Torch Run for Special Olympics. The torch will light the Olympic flame this weekend at the University of Richmond, where 1,500 young men and women will compete in the 2016 Virginia Special Olympics. Since 1994, individuals from the Eastern Shore have taken part in the Torch Run from Chincoteague to Virginia Beach. Over the past week, teams of runners from every corner of the state focused on reaching Richmond by today for the opening ceremonies of the Special Olympics. Northampton County Deputy Terry Thomas, who has spearheaded Special Olympics efforts on the Shore for decades, noted that this year, nearly 100 Shore runners have helped carry the Olympic torch the length of the Shore. Thomas will be one of the runners entering the stadium in Richmond. Pictured above, participants who stopped at the Eastern Shore Community Services Board parking lot in Exmore Wednesday surround Mark Savannah of Melfa.

Indictments Include Charge of Manslaughter

By Linda Cicaira

An Accomack Grand Jury indicted a local man Monday on two felony counts in connection with the shooting death of a 13-year-old boy last October.

Nicholas Martinez White, 24, for whom court records show addresses of Onancock, Tasley and Keller, was indicted on counts of voluntary manslaughter of Breonya Collins, a seventh grader at Nandua Middle School, and use of a sawed-off shotgun in the crime.

White initially was charged with second-degree murder, which was reduced following a preliminary hearing in Accomack Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court. The proceeding was closed to the public due to the age of the victim and because there was a juvenile witness.

Records filed in Accomack Circuit Court Monday define the charge of manslaughter as the "unlawful killing ... without malice while engaged in mutual combat upon a sudden heat or on reasonable provocation." The incident occurred at the boy's home on Keller Pond Road on Oct. 16, 2015.

White told police that both he and the boy had guns and that his own weapon discharged. His lawyer, Shannon Dunham, said the victim's sister was also White's girlfriend. She did not identify the sister. Police identified White as an acquaintance of the boy's family.

In another case, Danny Jurnell Robertson, 31, of Pungoteague Road in Pungoteague was indicted on two

WATERPARK FOR CHINCOTEAGUE?

By Linda Cicaira

Plans for a waterpark on Chincoteague Island were being made by the new owners of Maddox Family Campground to enhance the existing facility. But as quickly as the project was announced Monday, a letter withdrawing a permit application was submitted Tuesday and a refund of the $1,200 filing fee was requested.

In the conditional-use permit application, Oceanside Resort, LLC said the waterpark was anticipated to create up to 50 seasonal jobs, adding to the economic base of the town and boosting both town and the county revenue streams through increased real-estate values.

The applicant stated the permit is needed to open the park not only to campers but also to the general public.

Chincoteague Planning Director Ron

Marney said Tuesday his interpretation of the law is that the permit would be needed regardless of who is allowed to use the facility since the plans indicate an amusement atmosphere and not a simple swimming pool.

The application had been expected to be debated at a July session. Officials said they have many questions that need to be answered before the waterpark could proceed, including plans for the rest of the property, protection of neighboring parcels and traffic projections. After that session, planning commissioners stated, they don't just want to hear that plans are being made, they want to know what the plans are.

Lawyer John Custis who represents Oceanside and handled the application, was not available for comment by deadline Thursday.

Oceanside's Berlin, Md., office is also the office of Blue Water Development (BWD), apparently a sister company. Deserie Lawrence, a public relations spokesperson for BWD, confirmed that the application "was pulled. We're working on that right now," Lawrence said of the next step. "We'll come out with a press release ... within the next two weeks."

According to the application, the new owner intends "to continue the tradition of operating a first-class campground at this location ... as part of that process, the owner will be constructing an onsite waterpark as an amenity for its campers."

"Pools, splash parks, waterslides and the like are a common amenity in campgrounds throughout the country," the applicant wrote. "As the industry grows, individual campgrounds are required to meet the changing demands of their customers. More and more amenities are required to keep visitors coming back."

"The waterpark will be strategically placed on the property to avoid wetlands," the application also states. "In addition, both wastewater and storm water plans have been developed to mitigate any impact. ... All utilities and access are already available onsite."

"Any negative impact from the proposed public waterpark will be minimal for surrounding neighbors," the application continued. "The planning hours of operations are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. seasonally; consequently, there will be no adverse lighting impact at night as the waterpark will be shut down prior to dusk."

Statistics for similar operations show approximately 70 percent of the users are campers. "The owner is planning the same for this project. Due to the low percentage of users from the public, any traffic from additional guests will be relatively small at best and is expected to be local community traffic already present on the island."

"The proposed use is in compliance will all other aspects of the Zoning Ordinance," the owner stated.

The campground was sold in April for $7 million. Court records show Oceanside Resort, LLC is connected to developers Todd and John Burbage.

The approximately 100 acres include marshland on the east and west sides of Maddox Boulevard, which has been a source of concern to Chincoteague residents who fear development of the wetlands.

"No indication as to the reason for the withdrawal has been given to the town at this time," Marney said.

Chincoteague Addresses Range of Issues, Bids Farewell to Two

“No new taxes,” farewells from long-time town officials, dismay regarding the lack of information about rocket launch viewing areas and a continuing debate about monuments at Curtis Merritt Harbor were among the issues that arose at Chincoteague Town Council’s session Monday.

Council will vote on the proposed $6,823,714 budget at its meeting June 16.

“No new taxes and no tax increases,” said Finance Director Karen Hipple. “That’s the most important thing in the whole thing.”

Town Manager Rob Ritter voiced distress that the town hasn’t learned from NASA where danger zones will be for the July 15 Antares launch. The agency was asked if the refuge or other locations would be good viewing sites to publicize but they have not responded. Ritter said two other launches are scheduled by August.

Councilman Ben Ellis read a letter from deployed serviceman Barry Abell, founder of the Chincoteague Island Watermen’s Memorial, who couldn’t attend the session.

The letter discussed “signage issues” related to the memorial at the harbor. Abell wrote that the initial goal was to build a bronze statue at Reed Park. But when it was learned that the cost would be at least $200,000, smaller monuments “to honor all watermen and military servicemen who were lost at sea” would be erected. There was no cost to local citizens as the money for the granite stones was donated and “over 75 percent of the time and labor required to complete all of the work was done by local ... teenagers who wanted to do something worthwhile for their community. These young men also help me cut the grass and maintain the site.”

Abell complained that the group was backed by council until February 2015, when “Councilman John Jester ... and Robert Conklin began directing a boy scout working on his eagle project ... to revise his project by changing the sign title” from “Mariners’ Point” to “Mariners’ Point on Chincoteague Island.”

Abell said the sign also displayed a tourism ad with the name and phone number of a local business and the memorial group was not notified of the changes. He complained that Mayor Jack Tarr decided that the sign would not be permanently displayed.

After the group fought the town about the issue, the scoutmaster was directed to make a new sign, but the advertisement remained. Abell said the biggest loss was to his family. The scout was his son, who left the troop, and Abell’s father died in January “and will never fulfill his dream of watching his grandson achieve something he could not do himself.”

Abell admitted he was guilty of putting the stones up without approval of the town and that Ritter had written him that the issue needed to come before a committee and then council.

“We have had the watermen’s memorial up for almost three years and still it is not recognized by the town ... no sign, it’s not on the web site, no advertisement, no directions to the site and mostly no help,” Abell wrote. “At this time I hereby refuse to sign anything over.”

Jester said Abell’s letter had inaccuracies and that he only reminded the scout of the name of the harbor.

Monday was the last regular meeting for Tarr and Jester, both of whom did not seek re-election.

Jenny Van Dam of the island thanked the mayor (and his wife) for their service. “I think he was the best mayor ever,” she said. “Gentleness, patience respect for people in public participation even though they are edgy or don’t know what they are talking about.” She spoke favorably of Leonard, too.

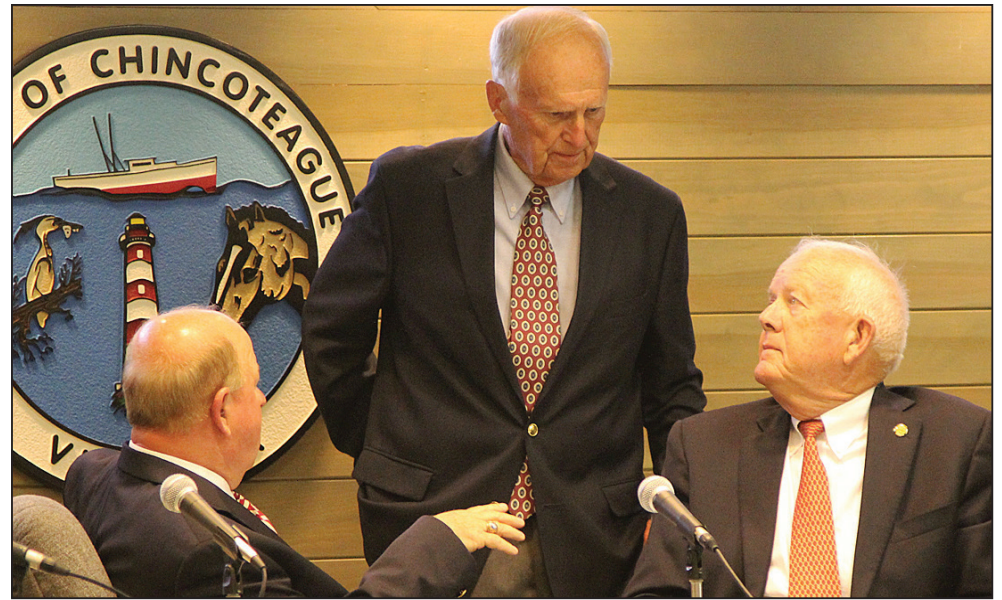

“Four years ago I was told I would never get along with him,” said Councilman Gene Wayne Taylor of Tarr. “It’s been a true pleasure... not always seen eye to eye, but always talked things through.”

“Sorry If I disappointed you,” Tarr laughed.

Councilwoman-elect Denise Bowman also thanked Tarr for his service. “History will treat you well.”

Leonard said he tried to get Tarr to continue, but “he said, ‘No, it’s your turn.’ That’s when I decided to run.”

“I hope you enjoy your retirement,” Councilwoman Ellen Richardson said to Jester. “I’ve known Jack (Tarr) for a long time. I appreciate your knowledge and I do wish you well.”

“I’m not giving any long speeches because I wear my emotions on my sleeve,” said Tarr.

Jester said it was “an honor to serve the town, my way of doing something for my community.” He praised the town workers. “We are very fortunate to have a fantastic town staff ... pleasure working with members of town council.”

Of Tarr he said, “He’s done such a fantastic job. He’s a great leader... so many hours... it’s time for him to relax and enjoy life more.”

To the newcomers Jester said, “Look forward don’t look backward. If you don’t pedal, you’ll fall over. Don’t be afraid of change because this community is changing. ... We have to change or we’ll dry up.”

Island Library Needs Money

By Linda Cicoira

Town leaders were told Monday that Chincoteague Library needs financial help.

“Over the past 20 years, we have been very fortunate to be successful in our fundraising efforts,” said Linda Ryan, president of the Library Board and a volunteer. “Our board has prided itself on not being a burden to taxpayers. However, because of escalating operating and programming costs, we now realize that we need assistance from the town. ... We are hopeful that you will realize our value in improving and enhancing the lives of both residents and visitors by supporting our efforts.”

Ryan said the budget this year is about $24,000, of which the library is able to raise about $20,000 from private donations. Eastern Shore Public Library pays for a part-time librarian and broadband, and provides a circulation system, twice weekly courier service, and computer and printing assistance.

The library has more than 30 volunteers and is open 42 hours a week. Each month, more than 1,200 items are circulated and more than 150 people use the facility’s computers. Ryan praised Harriet Lonergan, who directs the volunteers. Weekly children’s programs are offered.

Goals for the library include maintaining and expanding programming and services, creating programs for teens, hiring a full-time librarian and providing instructional programs for adults.

Board Hears End-of-Year Numbers for Northampton Schools

By Ron West

At a brief session of the Northampton County School Board last week, Superintendent Eddie Lawrence reported that there are currently 1,531 K-12 students in the system, with another 143 pre-K and other students receiving special services, bringing the total number to 1674 students.

Board Chairman Skip Oakley reported that a K-12 professional needs survey has been developed and will be provided to all staff members prior to the end of the school year.

Finance Director Brook Thomas informed the board of a request by Verizon to extend its contract for use of a communications tower behind Northampton High School. She noted that the location of the tower, while not currently a problem, could be an issue if the county replaces the 60-year-old high school. The board agreed to spend additional time reviewing the contract and how the tower could affect the site plan for a new high school.

Lawrence reported that a new state policy states that no student would be allowed to walk with the graduating class unless he or she has met all of the graduation requirements currently in force. Students who complete additional work will be able to take part in the winter graduation ceremony.

Drones Will Be Topic of Session

Atlantic District Supervisor Ron Wolff will hold his monthly constituents' meeting Monday, June 13, at 7 p.m. at Wolff's Sandwich Shoppe in Atlantic.

Northampton Planners Vote Support for Two Businesses

By Ron West

The Northampton Planning Commission voted Tuesday to support one new business and the expansion of another.

The commission considered a special-use permit (SUP) request from Candace and Lee Nottingham of Smith Beach, who propose to open a bed and breakfast (B&B) in an existing residential structure on property they own.

Attorney Burt Turner noted that the 200-year-old home sits on seven acres adjacent to the "Gulf," a small body of water that empties into the Chesapeake Bay. Documentation confirmed the property meets the requirements of the Virginia Dept of Health for a three-bedroom residential structure. The Nottinghams noted that upgrades to the septic system will allow the property to expand to six bedrooms. The B&B would have a residential manager living onsite.

No one spoke in opposition to the SUP and the commissioners voted 4-0 to recommend it to county supervisors. (Commissioners Dave Fauber and Sylvia Stanley were absent.)

Gary Wagner of Cheriton requested an SUP to expand his landscape operation on Simpkins Drive, just south of Eastville. The operation is classified by the state as mining since it involves digging for the purpose of selling or marketing the product "mined."

According to Wagner, who has operated the business for over 20 years, his "mining" operation is the only one currently licensed by the Virginia Department of Mines, Minerals, and Energy in the lower end of the county. Wagner wants to enlarge his existing burrow pit in the middle of his 37 acres by five acres. It would continue to have a vegetated buffer to shield it from view.

While no speakers addressed the request, Long Range Planner Peter Stith read two letters from property owners who oppose it.

The first, from Perdita Spriggs, fears increased noise, decreased property values, and a higher risk of vehicle accidents on Lankford Highway.

Wagner responded that Spriggs actually lives in North Carolina. He noted that his operation would not increase the amount of sand being trucked, but rather would just be coming from a different part of the property.

A second letter opposing the SUP came from Elizabeth Savage, who expressed concerns over possible pollution of groundwater, as well as vibrations by trucks as they enter or exit the property. The letter went on to note that the noise, vibrations, and dust affect the enjoyment of her home.

Wagner noted that the writer lives west of Lankford Highway and Wagner uses water to keep the dust down when vehicles are operating along his driveway.

He concluded that of the 25 or so property owners in the area adjacent to his property, only two oppose the SUP.

The commissioners voted 4-0 to support it and forward their recommendations to the Board of Supervisors.

Number of Reported Criminal Incidents on Shore Up Last Year

By Linda Cicaira

The number of criminal incidents on the Eastern Shore jumped by more than 160 last year, according to statistics recently released in a State Police crime report.

There were 1,750 criminal reports made in 2013 compare to 1,669 reports in 2014 and 1,855 in 2015.

Four murders or non-negligent manslaughters were reported in Accomack in 2015. Accomack County Sheriff's Office (ACSO) handled those and 960 other criminal cases. A breakdown shows 1,273 incidents, including 12 rapes, nine other forcible sex offenses, 19 robberies, 21 aggravated assaults, 327 simple assaults/intimidations, 111 burglaries, 242 larcenies, 27 vehicle thefts, 13 counterfeiting/forgery reports, 34 frauds, six embezzlements, one report of stolen property, 144 reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, 20 drug offenses, five pornography reports and five weapon-law violations.

In Accomack, State Police handled 105 criminal cases in 2015. A breakdown shows 120 reported incidents, including one forcible sex offense, five aggravated assaults, four simple assaults/intimidations, three arsons, two burglaries, seven larcenies, two vehicle thefts, four counterfeiting/forgery cases, 10 frauds, one embezzlement, one report of stolen property, two reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, 68 drug offenses, three pornography reports and seven weapon-law violations.

In Northampton, 248 reports of crime were investigated by the sheriff's office in 2015. A breakdown showed 277 incidents, including six robberies, four aggravated assaults, 79 simple assaults/intimidations, 59 burglaries, 48 larcenies, eight vehicle thefts, four counterfeiting/forgeries, eight frauds, an embezzlement, a stolen property report, 48 reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, two drug offenses and nine weapon-law violations.

State Police investigations in Northampton totaled 57 cases. The breakdown shows 61 incidents, including a murder or non-negligent manslaughter, an aggravated assault, a simple assault, two arsons, three larcenies, a counterfeiting/forgery, two frauds, 48 drug cases and two weapon violations.

Cape Charles Police Department investigated 28 incidents in 2015, including two kidnapping/abductions, a rape, a robbery, an aggravated assault, three simple assaults/intimidations, four burglaries, seven larcenies, two vehicle thefts, eight reports of destruction/damage/vandalism and two drug offenses.

Chincoteague Police Department investigated 121 reports, including a rape, two other forcible sex offenses, four aggravated assaults, 20 simple assaults/intimidations, five burglaries, 56 larcenies, four vehicle thefts, three counterfeiting/forgeries, three frauds, 17 reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, 21 drug offenses and a weapon violation.

Exmore Police Department handled 70 cases, including two murders, two forcible sex crimes, four aggravated assaults, eight simple assaults/intimidations, 11 burglaries, 25 larcenies, a counterfeiting/forgery, two frauds, six reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, nine drug offenses and five weapon violations.

Onancock police handled 73 cases, including a rape, two other forcible sex offenses, a robbery, three aggravated assaults, 18 simple assaults/intimidations, three burglaries, 24 larcenies, three vehicle thefts, six counterfeiting/forgeries, two frauds, 11 reports of destruction/damage/vandalism and a drug offense.

Onley police investigated 53 cases, including a murder or non-negligent manslaughter, a forcible sex offense, an aggravated assault, 11 simple assaults/intimidations, 18 larcenies, a counterfeiting/forgery, a fraud, six reports of destruction/damage/vandalism, 15 drug offenses and a weapon violation.

Parksley Police Department investigated 16 incidents, including an aggravated assault, six simple assaults/intimidations, two burglaries, five larcenies and five reports of destruction/damage/vandalism.

There were no details for Bloxom or Tangier investigations.

In addition, the report showed that a large majority of sworn law-enforcement officers who work for Accomack and Northampton counties are men.

The Accomack sheriff's office has 58 sworn officers, of which 50 are men. Both of the officers in Bloxom's police department are men. On Chincoteague, all nine sworn officers are men. Onancock Police Department has five officers, of which four are men. All five members of Onley Police Department are men and Parksley's three officers and the one on Tangier are also men.

In Northampton Sheriff's Office, 50 of the 67 officers are men. In Cape Charles Police Department, four of the five officers are men. In Exmore, all six are men.

Bloxom was one of five police departments in the state considered delinquent, meaning they "had been formally notified that if we did not receive at least one monthly file during 2015, they would be designated as delinquent regarding Incident Based Reporting," the report states. "Without the cooperation from each contributing agency, the ability to ensure complete and accurate data cannot be realized, resulting in an incorrect portrayal of crime and its associated factors."

Volunteer Oyster Growers Sought

Chesapeake Bay Foundation (CBF) will hold a seminar Tuesday, June 14, at 6 p.m. at VIMS Eastern Shore Lab in Wachapreague to help waterfront homeowners grow their own oysters for restoration efforts.

Oyster gardening volunteers raise oysters from their dock or a marina. After a year, CBF places the oysters on a Virginia sanctuary reef near where they were raised.

CBF's seminar teaches oyster growing basics and provides new gardeners a growing setup and baby oysters. On the same day, CBF holds "round-ups," where returning gardeners can swap out their full-grown oysters for new baby oysters.

Registration is required, and a $30 suggested donation helps offset the cost and includes CBF membership. Participants can register online at cbf.org/vaoystergardening or call 757/632-3804 or e-mail OysterGardener@cbf.org

Shore Native Traces Local Connection to Bacon's Rebellion

Eastern Shore native Martha Wesells Steger's article, "Tidewater Treasure," on Nathaniel Bacon's rebellion in 1676 — which has an Eastern Shore connection — is in the May-June issue of AAA Tidewater Traveler Magazine.

She is pictured here in front of a painting at Surry County's Bacon's Castle, which was occupied by hundreds of Bacon's followers and is the only original site interpreting the rebellion. Louisa Preston, the photographer who shot the image, owns a cabin on Accomack County's seaside.

Steger provides background on the rebellion that includes the Eastern Shore: It was the first popular rebellion in the American colonies; to escape Bacon's rebels — who burned

Jamestown — Royal Gov. Berkeley fled to Arlington Plantation, owned by John Custis in Northampton County, where Berkeley could count on sympathy for the British Crown.

British officials appointed by King Charles II ended up defeating the rebellious colonists, and Bacon died of a fever, his rebellion collapsing. Because he had exploited the colonial grievances that stemmed in part from the arbitrary and privilege-seeking government of Berkeley, Bacon has been pictured by some historians as a democratic reformer and forerunner of the American revolution; the more complex picture is a personality conflict between Bacon and Berkeley, who were related by marriage.

Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge has begun construction of a south pony corral on Beach Road next to the Woodland Trail parking area to upgrade facilities for pony roundups as well as honor longtime refuge employee and saltwater cowboy Grover Elmer “Drizzle” Wilgus Jr., who passed away June 11, 2014.

Team Rubicon will join the effort this weekend, during which it might be necessary to close Woodland Trail to accommodate the construction.

Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Company, which owns and manages the ponies, will complete the construction later.

“It’s always great when the stars align, allowing us to combine so many positive outcomes in one effort,” said refuge Manager Kevin Sloan. “In this project, we are able to clear pine trees at the site killed by southern pine beetle, which posed a safety risk, utilize the skills of Team Rubicon and upgrade facilities.”

Team Rubicon unites veterans with first responders to rapidly deploy emergency response teams. The disaster response organization offers veterans the opportunity to continue their service by helping those affected by disasters.

At their session Monday, Exmore Town Council approved the town’s FY2017 budget of $1,938,171.

Town Manager Robert Duer said the town’s finances are in good order and this year would end with a surplus, allowing investments in areas such as the town’s wastewater and water systems.

Utilities Director Taylor Dukes reported that the town pumped 3.5 million gallons of water in May, well within its permit limit. Noting that the plans for the proposed expansion of the wastewater facility are progressing as expected, Dukes indicated that connectivity to the new well should be completed soon, providing residents with an improved water supply.

Police Chief Angelo DiMartino reported that there still is a problem with accidents, especially around the traffic signals on Lankford Highway. He said he has addressed recent changes to the light patterns with the Virginia Department of Transportation. Councilman Tommy Lewis concurred that the faulty timing of the lights often frustrates drivers who ignore the signal or traffic.

Mayor Doug Greer Sr. presented a proposal for a $35,000 addition to the town’s park in the form of a “splash pad,” a 20’ by 30’ pad with sprinklers that would be activated when an individual steps on it. While the proposal drew some support, it was agreed that additional information is needed.

Silver Beach resident Bob Meyers suggested that council attend a Joint Industrial Development Authority (JIDA) session at 4 p.m. June 21 in Eastville. Meyers noted that the JIDA is being asked to sign off on a $10 million bond request to help fund an assisted living facility in James City County. While the county would not have any financial obligation for the bond, Meyers expressed concern over how the county could be affected should James City County default on the bonds. Greer suggested that representatives of the town attend the session.

Business owner Ken Dufty said the county does not need to support an assisted living facility in James City County when Northampton County needs an emergency facility to handle the health needs of its own residents once the hospital in Nassawadox closes.

Septic Leak Closes Metompkin School Playground

The kindergarten playground at Metompkin Elementary School (MES) remains closed this week as a contractor diagnoses the cause of a sewage leak there, according to a health official.

Senior Environmental Health Manager Jon Richardson of Eastern Shore Health District said Wednesday his employees will “inspect the area prior to re-opening the playground” and the contractor will be “required to submit a letter of ... findings, including corrective actions and an affirmation that the system has returned to normal function.”

Accomack County Public Schools Public Affairs Coordinator Roberta Baldwin explained, “On May 25, it was reported there was a possible sewage leak in the vicinity of one of the two playgrounds at MES. As soon as it was reported, Mike Tolbert, chief of operations, had the playground physically locked and students have not been allowed to use it. Currently, all students are using the other playground.”

“We are working closely with the Accomack County Health Department,” Baldwin continued. “It was a mechanical issue with a pump. The pump has been replaced. The resurfacing material has arrived and as soon as all of the repairs are complete, the playground will be resurfaced.”

Baldwin said children will be allowed back on the playground once Health Department officials inspect it and find it up to standards. “As always,” she said, “the safety of our students comes first.”

Richardson said lime was applied to all affected areas to deactivate any bacteria within 48 hours. Mulch will be removed and replaced.

Richardson confirmed that one of the sewage effluent pumps was replaced. However, he said, “Once they turned the replaced pump on to test the system, they realized there was still an issue. This was apparently the reason we have not yet been contacted to re-inspect.”

Richardson said Tolbert “indicated the area will remain closed, gate locked and zip-tied, until the issue is resolved and the Health Department allows it to re-open. His contractor is still working to diagnose the problem.”

The sewage system was installed at the school in 1998, Richardson said. In the spring of 2014, “We had a random complaint from a parent that they closed a playground because there was sewage on the ground,” Richardson confirmed. The complaint was made at night, so early the following morning, health inspectors went to the site but “didn’t find anything,” Richardson added that because a teacher confirmed the situation, “we believed there was something there.”

Still, upon finding nothing, the complaint was filed away. However, this time the story was different because ponding water was visible. Richardson said, “There are two pump stations that pump sewage to the drain field. One of the two failed. When the sewage got in that tank to a certain level and the pump failed, the sewage came up out of the lid of the pump station which is right there in that playground.”

“It is not common to have the station in the playground,” the health official said. “We have had discussions that it is a poor location for a playground.” He said Tolbert discussed moving the drain field, which would involve starting from scratch and possibly being able to salvage the old septic tanks. “I don’t know how much any of that costs exactly,” Richardson said.

Rape Trial Rescheduled

Judge Frederick Lowe postponed the rape trial of child sex offender Khalil Mohammed Muslimani, 68, of Onancock Wednesday until October. The defendant is pictured at left going back to Accomack Jail, escorted by Deputy Gary Callaway. Lowe ordered a competency evaluation after reading motions the defendant filed. Muslimani is accused of crimes from three decades ago involving his stepdaughter, then a young teenager. He's been convicted of sex crimes with another young relative. Lowe is considering appointing a new lawyer for Muslimani, who is representing himself with the assistance of attorney Paul Watson of Eastville. Lowe asked Watson to speak to Trevor Robinson of Norfolk about taking the case. The judge wondered how a man who claims to have more than $50,000 in his jail account can qualify for a court-appointed attorney.

Donna and Tommy Mason

Masons, Lane Lauded by Chamber

The Chincoteague Chamber of Commerce recently held its Annual Awards Luncheon to recognize the 2016 Outstanding Citizen and Business Persons of the Year, chosen by a committee appointed by the chamber.

Tommy and Donna Mason were honored as Outstanding Business Persons of 2016. They have owned and operated Waterside Inn since 1987 and prior to that, ran a very successful seafood business.

Nancy Lane

They are known for their generosity and deep love of family and Chincoteague Island.

Nancy Lane was honored as Citizen of 2016 for her "contributions to the betterment of our island community." She has been a driving force behind the Chincoteague Island Arts Organization and the renovation of the Island Theatre. Lane has researched and created exhibits at the Museum of Chincoteague Island and is a volunteer guide for Island Trolley History Tours. Her "deep affection" for Chincoteague is reflected in gardens and flower displays downtown.

The Masons are huge supporters of all youth sports and the After Prom Party, police department and fire company fundraisers, the Museum of Chincoteague Island, Chincoteague Cultural Alliance, Chincoteague Island Arts Organization and others.

Augustin Honored by Virginia Community Healthcare Association

Ernest Augustin, a long-time outreach worker at Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc., recently was awarded The Tony Lawson Special Recognition Award by the Virginia Community Healthcare Association. This award recognizes an outstanding staff person who works at an association member organization, who is not a health care provider or volunteer, for their extraordinary efforts in support their organization's mission.

Augustin

The award recognizes Augustin for his steadfast and loyal service to migrant populations. He is known in the community for his attentive outreach, often connecting patients with community partners to expeditiously provide health care and other crucial services. For years, he has been consistent in supporting the health center's mission and improving access to care for migrant seasonal workers on the Eastern Shore.

Said Nancy Stern, CEO of Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc., "When there was an influx of (Creole-speaking) migrants on the Shore, Ernest's case load increased, as he was the only person employed with us who could speak the language. He never complained and went about his work diligently in working with this vulnerable population; these folks were new to our country and at times lost as to where to turn for help. Ernest's calming nature and compassion for people was a relief to this population. He exemplifies all that which an outreach worker should strive to be, for our most vulnerable populations."

Congratulations 2016 High School Graduates !

Hunter Taylor Tops as Teammate; Walker Camp Set

Patience paid off for Hunter Taylor, who drove in the winning run with a double in University of South Carolina's 4-2 win over Duke in a NCAA regional baseball game last Saturday hosted by the Gamecocks.

But the story here is not that the former Nandua baseball star got his first hit since April 16 and his first RBI since March 16 — and only his second of the season.

The story came in the press conference after the game when USC coach Chad Holbrook talked about the teammate Taylor had been all season.

"He's been a great teammate to all these kids in the locker room," Holbrook said. "If anyone in that locker room has a reason to gripe about playing time, it'd be him. But he kept catching every bullpen and had the right attitude. He deserved to get the game-winning hit in an NCAA Tournament game."

Then Holbrook added, "If my two boys become the same type of teammate Hunter Taylor is, I'll be a happy dad. That's about the best compliment I can give that kid."

Junior pitcher Josh Reagan said, "It was so cool that Hunter Taylor got to do it. He's been the best teammate anyone could ask for. It was really cool to see him do that."

Sports fans here know Taylor was the 2A state player of the year, a key player for an elite travel team, the MVP of a Perfect Game All-American game featuring the top high-school players in the country, recruited by major colleges and courted by pro scouts when he was a senior at Nandua.

In other words, he was a world beater used to being in a starring role.

As the only experienced catcher returning to the Gamecocks this season, Taylor expected to see the bulk of the playing time in 2016. But two high-profile catchers transferring to USC got off to a blistering start, and Taylor saw his playing time dwindle to virtually nothing — getting three starts and 18 at-bats in 61 games.

But apparently, Taylor did not sulk and impressed his coach and teammates with his attitude.

Asked in the postgame press conference how difficult it was to stay engaged this season while not seeing much action, Hunter replied, "It was a little difficult, but I love every single one of my teammates and I would do anything for them, so that makes it lot easier, seeing them in the dugout. I guess it could be difficult for some other people."

Taylor added, "It means the world to me" that his coach had the confidence to play him in an NCAA elimination game.

Taylor showed it was no fluke, going 2 for 5 the next day with a pair of RBIs in another USC win. The 5',11" 210-pound sophomore also started and got a hit in USC's tourney-clinching win Monday. He made the all-regional team and got three MVP votes.

Taylor's three starts in the regionals matched his starts for the season — and now USC is on to the Super Regionals.

One thing Taylor did not say in the press conference is that his college baseball career has been hampered by vision issues that have been corrected.

Now, he just wants an opportunity to show he can be the college player everyone thought he could be.

But, whatever happens, Taylor will be the best teammate he can be while pursuing a degree in marine science.

B.A. Walker Returning for Hoops Camp

B.A. Walker, former Nandua High School basketball player who led his team to back-to-back state championships in 2002-03, will be on the Shore later this month conducting the Walker Basketball Camp with his brother, Tyree, also a former Nandua hoopster.

In an interview this week from France, where Walker's professional team was in the semi-finals of the post-season tournament, Walker said, "Tyree and I want to give back to the youth on the Eastern Shore and provide a chance for the youth to come out and participate in the game we love so much."

"We are passionate about creating more opportunities for the youth involving athletics. Having lived in Richmond for so long now, we have seen many opportunities and their impact on the community. We want to work toward bringing that same impact to the Eastern Shore," added Walker.

Playing his third year in France, Walker, 31, averaged 14.1 points per game, 4.1 assists and three rebounds. His team, Evreux, finished with a 21-13 record and was the second seed in the playoffs.

Walker sees himself playing five more years overseas. But he and Tyree, older by four years, already have taken steps to start a non-profit organization that will focus on developing athletic fundamentals, increasing academic success, and teaching life skills transferable to social, educational, and professional development.

Walker wants to create memories for others similar to those he has.

"I remember how upset I was when we lost in states my sophomore year of high school," said Walker. "I was determined to get back there again. To be around a special group for two seasons and win back-to-back state titles in high school was a blessing. I think it's really important to always keep those special moments with me."

At VCU, where Walker was the career 3-point shooter with 269 until his mark was broken this season, Walker made more memories. "My favorite college memory would be beating Duke in March Madness. I can always say to myself, 'I beat one of the best coaches (Mike Krzyzewski) to coach college basketball.'"

Although overseas, Walker has been watching what's going on in the NBA. "I think what Steph Curry is doing is unbelievable," he said. "I feel the NBA game has changed, but I don't know if we will see anything close to what Steph is doing. I think Steph definitely deserved MVP and Most Improved this season," said Walker.

As for young players, Walker has advice for those who want to improve their game. "It takes hard work and dedication. You have to know what you want and go after it 100 mph. Make sure you are practicing and perfecting your skill and you will see positive results."

The camp starts on June 27, but registration is next Friday, June 17. See Sports Briefs on Page 23 for more information.

Northampton Drops Regional Final But in State Semifinal Today

Story and photos by Bill Sterling

Northampton may have lost the 1A East Regional final to Riverheads 5-2 last Saturday, but Jacket coach John Gorman would not mind another chance to play the team out of Augusta County, 10 miles south Staunton, one more time.

That would come in the state championship game Saturday at Radford if the Jackets can get by Galax today in the state semifinal. Riverheads, now 20-0, having won every game by at least two goals, is the heavy favorite to beat Honaker in the other semifinal.

Riverheads had won its previous six games by a combined score of 55-3 with no team coming any closer than six goals. The Gladiators dropped down to 1A this season after advancing to the 2A state championship game two years ago and reaching the 2A state semifinals last season.

"The score did not properly depict that game," said Gorman following the loss. "We missed multiple goals we normally convert. They got a goal from a penalty kick and another from a ricochet. They were really good, especially the forwards, but we were so close to winning that game. I was not at all disappointed with the way we played."

When Northampton's Arturo Gildo scored at the 36:46 mark of the second half to cut Riverheads lead to 3-2, it was one of the few times this season the home team had been challenged.

Northampton's Chris Montalvo had scored in the first half after Riverheads had taken a 2-0 lead, the second goal coming on a PK.

Riverheads forged ahead 4-2 with 10 minutes left on a goal that bounced off a Gladiator player. Then Northampton pushed its offense forward in an effort to score before Riverheads found the net late in the game. "I don't care if it is 4-2 or 5-2, at that point we were looking to score," said Gorman.

The Yellow Jackets will meet the same team today in Galax that defeated them 2-0 in last year's semifinals, but with one big difference, said Gorman. "They had 13 seniors last year. They will be good because they make the final four almost every year, but they lost a lot of good players from the

Northampton Wins District, Conference Titles; Regional Runner-up

The Northampton boys' soccer team won the Eastern Shore District and the Conference 41 championships this season, finishing runner-up in the 1A East regional. team that beat us last year."

With a noon game in Radford today, the Northampton team traveled yesterday and stayed in an area hotel. Last week, the Jackets boarded a bus at 7:30 a.m. and did not arrive to Riverheads High School until 2 p.m. for a game that started only an hour later.

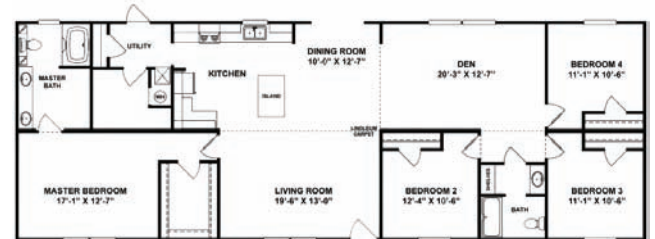

"We should be better rested this week," said Gorman Monday afternoon. "Playing in the middle of the day suits us too. Against most teams we have better depth. We have got players coming off the bench as good as the ones on the field."

Suzanna Long, Henry Smith Win Age Group in Pitch/Hit/Run

Suzanna Long, daughter of Sam and Terri Long, and Henry Smith, son of Steve and Christy Smith, both competed and won their 11/12 age group in Scott's Major League Baseball Pitch/Hit&Run Sectional Competition at Harbor Park in Norfolk recently.

They competed against kids from all of Hampton Roads and the Eastern Shore. Their winning scores at Harbor Park went up against other sectional winners throughout all of Virginia and the District of Columbia. Suzanna, with 870, and Henry, with 1132, were both the highest in those regions.

Their scores qualified them to compete on Sunday, June 12, at the Nationals Stadium in Washington, D.C.

They will be competing against the two other top scorers for the girls and boys. The competition will be held the morning before the Nationals play the Philadelphia Phillies that afternoon.

If they win their respective age group, their scores will qualify them to be compared to the winners in each of the 30 Major League parks. The top three participants nationally will be invited to compete for the overall national championship at this year's Major League All-Star game.

Both Suzanna, who lives in Cheriton, and Henry, who lives in Cape Charles, are sixth graders who attend Broadwater Academy and play numerous sports.

They have made all-stars every year they were eligible in baseball and softball.

Suzanna has won her age group in the Elks' Hoop Shoot Competition every year and one year even won the regionals and competed for a state championship. Henry also won the local hoops shoot competition.

Pungoteague Ruritan Club Bayside Poker Run July 30

The Pungoteague Ruritan Club will sponsor its annual small boat "poker run" on Saturday, July 30.

This 10th annual Bayside Poker Run will take place on the waters of the Chesapeake Bay and adjoining creeks in the club's community service area. Any boat owner may register to participate in the event, which is an opportunity to explore the bay from Onancock Creek to Nandua Creek. It is not a race, but simply boaters choosing their own course and pace to locate and visit five pre-chosen locations designated on a nautical chart with notes and guidelines.

Registration for the event is $90 and captains may include as many crew members aboard as Coast Guard regulations allow. Registration forms must be received by July 18 and registration will be limited to the first 30 boats. Registration forms are available from any Pungoteague Ruritan member or by calling Paul Custis at 442-2931. Registration forms are also available at Sandpiper Marine, Western Auto in Exmore, Shore Marine, Davis Wharf Marine, Don's Tackle Shop, K&E Marine, Deep Creek Marina, Island House Restaurant, Seaworthy Marine, HW Drummond, Mallard's at the Wharf, and Eastern Shore Outfitters.

Competition in the event will be in two parts. The "navigational skill" part will be for boaters to plot a course which will enable them to "log in" at five specific locations within designated time allowances. These locations will be spread among Onancock, Pungoteague, and Nandua creeks and will be disclosed to all captains simultaneously at a captains' meeting on the morning of the event.

Points in this competition also will be earned in "Survivor-type" challenges in various activities. The "luck" part of the event will involve boaters picking up a playing card at each of the five locations and bringing a poker hand to a final destination at 5 p.m. At this location, all boats meet to disclose their hands and have navigation sheets evaluated.

The navigation prize will be $500 and the poker prize will be a Fall Vacation Getaway package of equal value, for a grand prize total value of $1,000.

Additional "dock prize" drawings will be held for fishing gear, boating accessories, and other marine items. Complimentary hot dogs and hamburgers will be served during the awards ceremony at a bayside setting.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the club's scholarship program and its handicapped access ramp project fund.

Cobia Big News for Anglers; Drum, Flounder Available

By Dr. Julie Ball

The summer fishing season continues to pick up momentum. With good weather, warmer days, and cooperative fish, this trend should continue.

Cobia is still the big news, and with good reason. Cobia hunters are happy that the season has been extended (in a sense), which is better than nothing. Although federal waters will close to cobia on June 20, inshore anglers can keep one fish per angler at 40 inches or longer, up to two fish per boat, through Aug. 30. Only one of the two-fish boat limit can stretch to longer than 50 inches, and cobia can no longer be gaffed.

Since the cobia arrived early this year, folks have wasted no time searching for their share. Sight casters are having the best success while cruising the lower bay and Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel areas. Some larger fish are making an appearance, while most fish are range around 20 to 30 pounds. Local pier anglers also are landing a few small cobia.

Red drum are still providing plenty of action right now. Depending on the conditions, boats are releasing bulls from the seaside of Fisherman's Island and the Nautilus Shoal areas, measuring up to over 50 inches while bottom fishing or casting to roaming schools of big fish. Black drum are taking clam offerings mostly near buoys 13 and 16 off the Eastern Shore, with most blacks still averaging under 30 pounds. These fish will begin moving to the islands of the bridge-tunnel soon.

The flounder bite is still improving, with more anglers reporting limits of bigger fish. Some flatfish pushing close to seven pounds are taking drifted minnows and cut bait near the islands of the CBBT. Anglers jigging and working live bait along the pilings and over the tubes of the bridge-tunnel are also scoring with fish, with the first and second islands most productive lately.

Both the bayside and seaside areas of Oyster, the Cell, and the buoy 36 area are producing better flounder numbers for drifters recently, with a few doormats also in the mix.

Spadefish are appearing on the Chesapeake Light Tower and inshore wrecks, with a few fish already boated. Most fish are ranging around three to five pounds. Sheepshead action is also heating up, with a few nice catches reported so far from the CBBT area.

The open seabass season is drawing some boats to deeper water off the coast, where folks are finding good catches of big fish when they can get out. Deep droppers also are hauling in big seabass along with a good variety of blue-line tilefish, golden tilefish, some big grouper and blackbellied rosefish.

Offshore, warm water is now within reach from Virginia, where excellent catches of nice yellowfin tuna, scattered big eye tuna, larger mahi, and mako sharks are rewarding boats making the run. Most of the yellowfin tuna are in the 40-pound range, with a few tuna pushing to over 60 pounds also around.

From the OutPost

By Candy Farlow

I thought I'd found a great new read.

The book, "A Thousand Ways to Please a Husband," is the work of Louise Bennett Weaver and Helen Cowles LeCron. At last, I thought, I can find out what I've obviously failed to learn — despite repeated attempts.

Turns out this 1917 publication isn't the least bit helpful as it is actually the story of the first year of marriage of a fictional couple, weaving in recipes and housekeeping tips.

The point of the book must have been to instruct young wives on the finer points of homemaking. For example, in a section titled "May," we read this delightful ditty;

*"Scrub and polish, sweep and clean,
Fling your windows wide!
See, the trees are clad in green!
Coax the spring inside!
Home, be shining fair to-day
For the guest whose name is May!"*

So spring cleaning is one of the ways to please a man?!? No wonder I've been so lousy at it. Now, don't get me wrong — I'm not a slob. I mean I have always kept my house clean enough to keep the health department and social services out, but does anyone do real spring cleaning anymore?

I know Mom did. Every spring, a full day would be devoted to each room, which would be completely dismantled and everything in it washed, dusted or polished — right down to the smallest trinket. When the room was sparkling and smelling strongly of Pledge, freshly ironed curtains would be hung to flap in the breeze. The heavier, darker window dressings were stashed away until time for FALL CLEANING, for heaven's sake!

I seem to remember a few decades ago I tried to emulate Mom's housekeeping by upholding this spring/fall cleaning tradition. I don't recall how long it lasted but it certainly isn't a recent memory.

Not long ago I did do some deep cleaning on the kitchen stove. Yep, I pulled all five control knobs off and gave them a good scouring. 'Bout wore me out for the day. Declining health and plummeting desire have really taken their toll on my housekeeping. Good thing my eyesight isn't so sharp now either, so what I don't see doesn't bother me. (I can see my bright, sparkling stove knobs every time I walk in the kitchen though!)

As far as those who espouse the adage that cleanliness is next to godliness, I choose to follow the late columnist Erma Bombeck's take on the issue. Penned

Erma, "Cleanliness is not next to godliness. It isn't even in the same neighborhood. No one has ever gotten a religious experience out of removing burned-on cheese from the grill of the toaster oven."

However, I do uphold the teaching of Pope John XXIII who actually said, "You must know that it is by the state of the lavatory that a family is judged."

Anyone is welcome to judge the state of my lavatory (now that my grandsons are older). Just don't try the white glove test in the rest of the place — except, of course, on my stove knobs!

For now, I'm going back to reading my new book. When I last checked in, the little woman was worried about getting dinner ready before the man of the house got home. But alas, she was still in the middle of spring cleaning. "My curtains are down and my rugs are up and my house isn't an attractive place for a man to come home to," she laments.

They say housework won't kill you, but with that kind of stress, I'm not so sure.

Rethink Local Speed Traps

Dear Editor:

Having picked up a copy of your Eastern Shore Post (May 20), I enjoyed Ms. Hickman's "Dear Editor." The 92-year-old one-time Virginian wrote of the special kindness of one Shore resident to another when the second found himself locked out of his vehicle. Ms. Hickman witnessed the "kind deed" as she was enjoying her travels through your beautiful farmlands.

Similarly, I was traveling down Accomack County's "memory lane" last week. My wife of 57 years and I were returning from our second recent round tripper round-trip North Carolina to New England (grandson's graduation) on May 24. Our earlier travels had been on I-95. However, because my spouse was originally a Tennessee farm girl, and I was once a Norfolk/Little Creek Navy man, I thought she, like Ms. Hickman, would enjoy the route south on Route 13. My "Tennessee girl" can no longer drive, and though I am in my 80s, we both prefer avoiding I-95 and taking little off-the-beat-en-path trips to photograph the countryside.

I had been doing that just prior to driving past the "Welcome to Virginia" center on Route 13. Regrettably, our enjoyable travels on the Eastern Shore, and the photos thereof, came to an abrupt halt within the next mile or so. Highway speeds had been posted at 55 during most of our travels on the peninsula and vehicles were unimpaired traveling in the 60-MPH and slightly above range.

What happened next will not be a surprise to your local readers. Sure enough, I saw well ahead the flashing blue lights of a state trooper parked behind what I later saw to be a car with Ohio license plates. Instantly thereafter, I noticed a white vehicle to my right. As was my practice all morning, I was in the slower lane — closest vehicle to the white car, which was one of your county taxpayers' vehicles, and the deputy was pointing his laser directly at my vehicle. Ironically, a blue sedan and a truck behind it were passing me in the outside lane. Thus, we were introduced to a polite young deputy doing his job.

I will be forwarding my check to pay the appropriate fine for not seeing the sign showing the drop in allowed speed to 45 MPH. My United Services Automobile Association rate will go up along with a surcharge. North Carolina DMV will apply points against my license, and Accomack County will offset its tax bill by under $200.

I'm guilty of speeding, but the allure of driving through the Eastern Shore doesn't have the shine it has long had to me, to my wife, and possibly to the others caught that Tuesday when three lawmen in three state and county vehicles were "out shaking the trees" for tax revenue. Driving conditions were not being endangered at that 1 p.m. time.

Business owners in your county may well be the biggest losers. In my mid-1950s Navy years, I remember "friendly" Folkston and Jessup, Georgia's notorious speed traps. Triple A warned its members to avoid them.

Last week was my third stop in 67 years. In New Church, I WAS speeding at 61 MPH on a roadway which "looked" just like the surroundings we had been experiencing for miles and marked 55 MPH. I will travel I-95 next time, but for the sake of your business owners along 13, maybe a get-together to rethink your speed trap operations? It's not friendly when in Accomack, drivers must look away from restful landscapes to keep eyes on roadway and rearview mirrors.

Reader Offers Sarcastic Reply

Dear Editor:

In life it is important to always continue learning, to listen to those knowledgeable in their field and to read of the lessons they have learned.

That's one reason why last week's Post was a must read. The chief of Onley Volunteer Fire and Rescue, Chris Davis, was given the opportunity to teach our community what he has spent many years investigating: the mind and motivations of an arsonist. His groundbreaking analysis is unique, and his conclusions are a must read. Until I read his thesis, I had no idea that before an arsonist sets a random fire he really, really wishes that his dad played catch with him more often. And he harbors deep-seated anger over not forcing classmates to hear their private prayers pontificated. But apparently what really makes an arsonist seek out something, anything to set on fire is the fact that Caitlyn Jenner may be using the women's public restroom.

Thank you, Mr. Davis, for not letting the opportunity slip by to share your insightful analysis on the mind of an arsonist. Most people may not understand your conclusions, and almost all would prefer you keep your conclusions private. I, for one, thank you and look forward to your future thoughts on global warming, gay marriage, and any other topics that you have studied and thoroughly researched.
