Three Norfolk Men Arraigned for Shooting at Deputy

By Linda Cicaira

Three Norfolk men, one with ties to the Eastern Shore of Virginia and two others who are related to each other, were charged late Monday with attempted first-degree murder of an Accomack deputy. They could face life in prison.

The incident occurred after Cpl. Eric Nottingham tried to pull over a car matching the description of a vehicle in which Maryland bank robbers had fled. Sheriff Todd Godwin said suspects "shot right through the engine, through the transmission line, and all the fluid came out. ... Thank God they didn't hit him. I can't remember anybody shooting at one of our deputies in my 30 years" in law enforcement. Nottingham was not injured.

Deandre Breshon Ayers, also known as De'Andre Breshon Ayres and Deondre Brashaun Ayers, 28, of Hanson Avenue, previously from Painter, is accused of trying to kill Nottingham "for the purpose of interfering with the performance of the officer's official duties" on Sept. 26, according to warrants filed in Accomack General District Court.

Also charged were Lamond Perry, 23, and Demetrius Perry, 21, both of Marshall Avenue. Lamond Perry was also listed as homeless in court files. The three were arrested in Norfolk and later transferred to Accomack Jail where they are being held without bond. They were all wearing white jailhouse jumpsuits and chained at the wrists and ankles when brought into the district court before Judge Gordon Vincent Wednesday.

They are also accused of use a firearm in the attempted murder of Nottingham, discharging a firearm "in or on" a vehicle and creating a "risk of injury or death to another person or causing another person to have a reasonable apprehension of injury or death," and maliciously shooting at an "occupied conspicuously marked law-enforcement vehicle." In addition, Ayers and Demetrius Perry were charged with possession or transportation of a firearm by a felon convicted within the last decade.

In 2007, Ayers was sentenced to 20 years in prison in Accomack Circuit Court with 15 suspended for grand larceny of both a Ford Bronco and a Buick Skylark. He was given 15 years of probation and ordered to pay nearly $400 in restitution for each charge.

Ayers pleaded guilty in Northampton Circuit Court to unlawful wounding and was sentenced in 2008 to five years in prison with a year and four months suspended. Judge Glen Tyler wrote in

WRONG MAN NABBED FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER FORMER PAINTER RESIDENT DETAILS ORDEAL

By Linda Cicaira

Eastern Shore native Mahesh Alvin Sharp was surrounded by more than a dozen police officers Monday outside his Norfolk home as he was leaving for work.

He was "snatched out of the car, tossed to the ground, cuffed at the wrists and ankles," wrongly accused of attempting to murder an Accomack deputy (see story above). After spending the night at Norfolk City Jail and being transferred to Accomack, Sharp was released with the acknowledgment that it was a case of mistaken identity.

The former Painter native and 2006 graduate of Nandua High School said after he was taken away, officers searched his house thereby upsetting his wife, who is expecting a baby in December (after seven miscarriages), and his mother-in-law, who has a heart condition and was later rushed to the hospital. He further noted that he was not immediately read his rights or told what the matter was about.

The criminal complaints involved shooting at Cpl. Eric Nottingham, who on Sept. 26 was trying to stop a vehicle (Continued on Page 2) suspected of carrying bank robbers from a Maryland heist earlier in the day when shots were fired at him.

Sharp said he grew up with one of the other suspects and once met the other two but says he had nothing to do with criminal activities.

"I know there are no shortcuts out there," said 28-year-old Sharp of Birmingham Avenue in Norfolk. "No one is ever going to give you anything in life so I go to work everyday. Even though I was raised by a single mother, she raised me with respect and taught me the dos and don'ts."

On weekends, Sharp often picks vegetables from the fields for his mother to sell at her produce stand on the corner of Lankford Highway and Occohannock Neck Road in Exmore. "I'm just a kid from the Eastern Shore," he said. "Moved across the Bay (four or five years ago) to Norfolk to try to better myself."

"They gave me a personal recognition bond," Sharp continued. The investigator, Patrick Coulter told him, "Everything you told me was legit," Sharp said of his protests that he was at work when the incidents occurred.

Papers filed in Accomack General District Court Tuesday showed charges against Sharp of attempted first-degree murder of Nottingham to interfere with his official duties, use a firearm in the attempted murder, discharging a firearm "in or on" a vehicle and creating a "risk of injury or death" and maliciously shooting at an "occupied-conspicuously-marked law-enforcement vehicle."

Wednesday on the same papers, it was noted by Commonwealth's Attorney Matthew Brenner that the cases would not be prosecuted at the request of law enforcement. Brenner said that while the charges stated attempted "capital" murder, that specific accusation wouldn't have been possible without a death.

A warrant for extradition in Maryland was also filed. It started that Sharp was a fugitive from that state wanted for robbery, threat of mass violence and theft.

"Testimony accepted that defendant charged in both Maryland and Virginia with crimes due to mistaken identity," the documents stated. "Deputies verified alibis and it was relayed to magistrate that Maryland would follow Virginia's lead" Wednesday.

When arrested, Sharp told a magistrate that he was innocent of the charges and that he was at work when the incident occurred, court papers stated. His criminal record amounted to drunk in public about 10 years ago.

His alibis include his boss, his immediate supervisor and four others at his job.

On Facebook, Sharp is also the rapper "$avage Hesh." He poses on the social media with a gun and lists a song among several titled, "Life Sentence."

"I'm not a professional rapper," Sharp said Wednesday in a telephone interview. "I want to be. I put them (his lyrics) on social media. That has nothing to do with this, that's just a hobby."

His mother-in-law, Bobby Powell of Norfolk, took to Facebook in despair while Sharp was being held "for help in any form. ... A bank teller picked Mehesh out of a photo line up. ... (Officers) destroyed our home during a search for whatever was on the search warrant," she continued.

Three attempts by the Post to contact Accomack County Sheriff Todd Godwin to verify elements of Sharp's and Powell's accounts were unanswered by press time.

Powell went on to say 10-12 people saw him at work in Virginia Beach that day, and later posted to Facebook "at 3:04 p.m. with his location in Chesapeake, Va."

"As I write," she continued, "Mehesh Sharp sits in Norfolk City Jail awaiting extradition to Accomack ... with bond denied. This is an absolute nightmare that only happens to others, (or) so I thought. My eyes have been opened to the way a young black man is treated in this country and it's a shame. I can only pray that Mehesh can forgive the law enforcement community for this false arrest. People, you are not innocent until proven guilty, you are guilty until proven innocent. We have to hire a lawyer to prove his innocence, I am completely ashamed of what this country has become."

"My wife said, 'They went through all your closet, dirty clothes, through desk, computer room, through parents' room,'" said Sharp. "They just trashed the place... caused my wife all kinds of distress. ... I'm a good guy. I go to work the file, "assault occurred in the jail - very dangerous person." Restitution in that case was $30,667. In 2007, charges of robbery, use of a firearm in a robbery, possession of a firearm by a felon and entering at night to rob were dismissed against Ayers in Accomack District Court.

The defendants were assisted Wednesday by deputy clerks and qualified for court-appointed lawyers. Preliminary hearings were set for November. Ayers will be represented by Paul Watson of Eastville. Attorney Sharri Mapp of Virginia Beach will defend Lamond Perry and Tucker Watson (brother of Paul Watson) of Eastville was appointed for Demetrius Perry. The lawyers were not in attendance. All three men wanted to know when they could get bond but were told to speak to their attorneys.

There was no pomp and circumstance for the suspects who were brought in separately. Three deputies were in the courtroom compared to two or three times as many for other violent offenses.

On the day of the crime, Nottingham was alerted to look out for a silver newer-model Chevrolet Malibu carrying suspects from a PNC Bank robbery in Pocomoke, that was headed towards Virginia at about 2 p.m. He spotted the car near Mappsville and attempted to stop it when the shots were fired. The suspect vehicle got away traveling east on Turkey Run Road.

Charges in Maryland were not filed at press time Thursday. When officers there arrived at the bank, they were told of a robbery by three black men "who threatened to blow it up with an explosive device." No weapon or explosive was displayed to bank tellers. One man was reported to have been wearing women's clothing. PNC Bank is offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the suspects.

The Norfolk Police Department and the U.S. Marshal Service assisted with the arrests. Godwin said, the investigation is continuing and additional arrests are expected. Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact the sheriff's office at 757-787-1131 or 757-824-5666. every day. I spend time at the house. I don't go anywhere." Sharp said he never learned to drive and doesn't go anywhere without someone else driving him.

He grew up with Deandre Breshon Ayers, also 28, (see story, also page 1), who is charged with the crimes. "He's always been in trouble," Sharp said. "I may talk to him. I may shake his hand. I don't hang with him ... Thursday at work, I got a call from him. He wanted to talk. I didn't leave or go anywhere with him I never do ... He was just talking about stuff. He said something about it (the incidents) I didn't take it into mind. I wasn't trying to hear it. Things that somebody else does that's none of my of business. I got to work everyday."

"Just this whole situation has me a little upset," he continued. "They caused me to miss work. Some of the neighbors saw this ... now everybody looks at me different ... I've never been in jail so I didn't know what to think. I was nervous, scared, upset, a real emotional deal. I should have been at work. I'm struggling. Live paycheck to paycheck sometimes, trying to make ends meet, to do right, and they've got me in a cell where I don't belong. I'm innocent ma'am. I just want this mix-up taken care of."

Cheriton 2017 Budget Includes More Funding for Traffic Enforcement

By Ron West

The Cheriton Town Council voted to approve a $323,000 fiscal 2017 spending package last week.

Mayor Joe Habel reported the budget was modified to reflect changes required due to additional costs for law enforcement. Cheriton employs off-duty Northampton deputies for traffic control and enforcement of town ordinance. Changes in the sheriff's department policy means the town and other groups must reimburse the department for the expenses related to deputy and vehicle use. Hable said funds derived from traffic violations, while being less than in the past, were sufficient to meet the town's needs.

Deputy Terry Thomas attended to answer questions about the new policy. Councilwoman Mary Mears raised concerns over the safety of children during the Halloween celebration. She noted that in previous years, the volume of children on the streets and traffic posed safety issues. Thomas said if the town desired to close the street to vehicles during activities, a request would need to be sent to VDOT. Habel said he would contact that agency.

Council agreed to advertise policies for Halloween evening, including parking restrictions near key intersections and that Trick-or-Treating would be from 5 to 8 p.m.

Possible fees for town park and playground use was tabled until later this month. Habel also noted that help was needed to install additional fencing around those facilities.

The ongoing issue of water backing up onto roads in areas of town was discussed. It was agreed to ask the fire department to help flush out obstructions in some underground culverts.

The need to remove the old sign welcoming visitors to businesses in the area was also discussed. The mayor said he would contact VDOT about leaving support poles in place to serve as a footprint for future replacement.

EXMORE APPROVES INOPERABLE VEHICLE ORDINANCE

By Ron West

An ordinance that prohibits inoperable vehicles from openly being displayed in Exmore was unanimously approved Monday night by the town council.

The vehicles include those that do not have a valid inspection sticker or tags. The ordinance does not apply to vehicles that are stored within an enclosed structure or are being actively serviced by a repair facility.

Town Manager Robert Duer said the ordinance was needed to help rid Exmore of the growing number of abandoned or derelict vehicles. In some cases, he added, owners leave behind vehicles when they move. The directive gives the municipality the option of impounding the vehicle and disposing of it should the owner not claim it within 30 days of being notified. Property owners where the vehicles are located would be responsible for costs associated with removal and could be subject to liens.

Duer also reported the new town park building is 99 percent complete. Finishing touches include running electric and landscaping. He noted individuals and groups have indicated an interest in renting the facility. Duer said he hoped it would be finished in early 2017.

Duer and Utilities Director Taylor Dukes reported they would be meeting with representatives of the Virginia and the U. S. department of agriculture regarding applications for grants to help fund the town's proposed wastewater system. Dukes said the town would be reviewing bids on the new well project by the end of the year.

Replacement of all water meters for residents and businesses is near completion, said Public Works Director Mike Johnson. He noted only 25 of 500 meters are left to be installed.

Holiday Inn Express met its obligations by paying overdue fees and taxes of about $14,000, Duer told council.

The next session will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 7.

Northampton Planning Commission Recommends Horse Barn, Sign Changes

By Ron West

Northampton's Planning Commission voted Tuesday to recommend that county supervisors approve special use permits for a horse barn and stable in a residential zone with restrictions.

Christopher Blevins and Terrill and Rose Ramsey requested the permits to build facilities for up to three horses on their property near Kiptopeke. Their request was for both a 5-acre and a half-acre parcel with plans to construct the barn on the smaller parcel while using the larger one as a pasture.

Bill Parr, a county resident, questioned the appropriateness of allowing horses in a residential area. He said if the barn was constructed on the smaller parcel, it would conflict with the county's zoning ordinance, which calls for a primary structure to be placed on a parcel prior to the addition of an accessory structure. Terrill Ramsey said he wanted to keep the parcels separate and to have the barn built on the smaller space, which is closer to his residence.

The commissioners recommended the owners vacate the property line between the two parcels. They also require vegetative screening between the property and neighboring lots.

In the Oyster area, the supervisors propose to designate several parcels as Working Waterfront. Bill Parr, a local real estate agent, said if some parcels on the east side of Oyster Harbor were rezoned, it would cause conflicts with previously approved uses. He said an aquaculture facility operates there and has a freestanding structure on the site. Plans call for the structure to serve as a residence for an employee while protecting and servicing the operation. If rezoned, the structure could only serve as a temporary residence. He said such a change could result in the loss of jobs and businesses in the area and have a negative impact on income for the county.

The commissioners voted to approve the supervisors' request and recommended that additional uses for the new designation be found.

The issue of signs advertising new businesses drew disagreement among the commissioners. The proposed ordinance would only allow such a sign once a land disturbance permit had been received by the owner. Two businesses that have run afoul of the sign ordinance are the proposed Royal Farms convenience center near Kiptopeke and the Rural Health Center in Eastville. Commissioner Dixon Leatherbury was opposed to the proposal noting the county has a sign ordinance that isn't enforced. It passed in a 2-1 vote.

The commission made no decision about prohibiting people from renting rooms or homes for extended periods. The supervisors indicated a desire to make the rentals short term, but the commission agreed to postpone any decision on it without additional study of the matter. The commission agreed to continue work on the Comprehensive Plan from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Oct. 26 and Nov. 15.

Schools' Rebate To Lower Premiums

By Linda Cicora

United Healthcare issued a rebate check for nearly $16,600 for 2015 to Accomack County Public Schools (ACPS) recently for percentages of premium revenues that did not meet minimum standards according to the Affordable Care Act.

Director of Finance & Budget Beth Onley said as the group policyholder the school board had two choices. It could reduce premiums for the upcoming year or provide a cash rebate to employees or subscribers that were covered by the health insurance on which the rebate is based.

The board unanimously voted Tuesday to reduce premiums for the upcoming year.

"As such, all currently enrolled employees will see a one time reduction in their withholding for health insurance in their Oct. 31 paycheck," said Onley. "There are currently 482 enrollees so the reduction will be $34.44 each."

"This standard is designed to ensure that health insurance companies spend at least 85 percent of the premiums received on health care services and activities to improve health care quality," said Onley.

Accomack Grand Jury

Two underage teenagers were treated as adults Monday by an Accomack Grand Jury when they were indicted for violent felonies including one for first-degree murder and another for carjacking and related offenses.

Zachary Isaiah Townsend, 17, of Greta Road in Atlantic, was indicted on counts of first-degree murder, robbery and use of a firearm in the murder in connection with the Aug. 12 death of Nathaniel (Nate) Adam Ayres, 19, of Deer Drive in Nelsonia.

The victim's first name was spelled "Nathaniel" in the murder indictment against Townsend and in indictments made against Ayres in February 2016 regarding drug offenses alleged to have occurred last November. In an obituary, and in an initial press release about the death, it was spelled "Nathaniel."

Ayres was gunned down at the intersection of Nock's Landing and Greta roads near Atlantic. He died of gunshot wounds to the head, neck and torso. A search warrant disclosed that at least two people saw Ayres get killed.

The warrant for a cell phone belonging to one of the witnesses and was filed in an effort to confirm incoming, outgoing and missed calls; text and picture messages and GPS information made on Aug. 11 and 12. Three witnesses were subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury in the murder case.

An officer said the killing is not believed to be gang related. Townsend is being held without bond in Western Tidewater Regional Jail.

A trial for Ayres had been scheduled for Aug. 23. He was indicted on counts of possession with the intent to distribute Oxycodone, possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance, distribution of a controlled substance to a minor, and two counts of possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance while on public school property. He was free on $10,000 bail.

Investigator Simone Castiglia handled the murder and related charges. What property Ayres was robbed of was not clear from court records.

Dabreon Lamont Tankard, 15, of Woodland Avenue and Dontrail Atqwan Johnson, 19, of Main Street, both in Melfa, were indicted on counts of carjacking

Accomack Supervisor Cassandra (Rene-ta) Major's vehicle by putting her in fear of serious bodily harm, stealing property belonging to Major, stealing Major's car, use of a firearm in the carjacking, maliciously shooting at an occupied vehicle thereby putting life in peril, stealing a Broadwater Academy bus and causing intentional damage to the bus.

The incidents occurred in August. Johnson is free on a secured bond of $10,000. Investigator Patrick Coulter of ACSO handled the cases.

Samuel Howarth, 70, of Hopeland Way in Modest Town, was indicted on a count of animal cruelty on June 12, 2016. The charge involves, "Torture, willfully inflict inhumane injury or pain not connected with bonafide scientific or medical experimentation on, or cruelly or unnecessarily beat, maim, mutilate or kill a dog that is a companion animal and as a direct result of such action caused the death of the dog or the euthanasia ... on the recommendation of a licensed veterinarian." Accomack Deputy Julian Sharpe investigated.

Devin Palmer, 23, of Robert Drive in Bloxom, was indicted on a count of abuse and neglect of a child while being a parent or guardian or someone responsible for care "by willful act or omission or refusal to provide any necessary care for the child's health" on April 27, 2016. Castiglia investigated. Dr. Alex Young of CHKD Abuse program in Norfolk was among the list of witnesses scheduled to testify.

Alisha Denise Herrman, 26, of School Street on Chincoteague, was indicted on a count of concealing or destroying physical evidence of a felony "with the intent to delay, impede, obstruct, prevent or hinder the investigation apprehension, prosecution, conviction or punishment" on July 16, 2016. According to court records, her boyfriend died of a heroin overdose in her home. She reported the death to the sheriff's department. Law enforcement believes she tampered with the scene prior to their arrival as no paraphernalia or substance was found. Officer C. G. Butler of the Chincoteague Police Department (CPD) investigated.

Travis Harris, 36, of Dreamland Avenue in Accomack, was indicted on two counts of grand larceny of property belonging to Walmart on May 25, 2016. Deputy W. L. Heath of ACSO investigated.

James Ernest Logan Sr., 33, of Logan Road in Onley, was indicted on counts of breaking into the home of James Lucas, grand larceny of property belonging to Lucas and possession of a firearm after being convicted of a felony in the last 10 years. The offenses were alleged to have occurred July 22, 2016. Deputy S. E. Hennings of ACSO investigated.

Clifton Lee Marshall, 44, of Sign Post Road in New Church, was indicted on a count of possessing cocaine on July 27, 2016. Trooper C.L. Smith of the state police investigated.

Danielle Renee Napier, 20, with addresses of Culver Road in Salisbury, Md., and Tharpe Road in Seaford, Del., was indicted on counts of shoplifting from Walmart in Onley and possessing heroin on June 20, 2016. Deputy Bobby Taylor of ACSO investigated.

Joseph Thomas Milyko, 32, of Chester Park Drive on Chincoteague, was indicted on counts of burglarizing the homes of David Jennings and Ruby Wheeler and injuring Jennings on June 19, 2016. Sgt. K. A. Reese of CPD investigated.

Brittany Lynn Taylor, 20, of Winterville Road in Bloxom, was indicted on a count of breaking into the home of Joseph Young and Allysia Mason on July 19, 2016. Officer C. Hargis of the Parksley Police Department investigated.

Thomas Christopher Toner, 51, of High Seas Drive in Greenbackville, was indicted on counts of breaking into the home of Kimberly Zeleny and stealing her property between Jan. 1 and 12, 2016. Investigator Pat Coulter of ACSO handled the case.

Philip Darren Walker, 28, of Walker Lane in Harborton, was indicted on counts of eluding and a third offense of DWI in ten years. The alleged crimes occurred on June 15, 2016.

Deputy Luke Arnold of the ACSO attempted to pull Walker over for failure to dim his headlights on Big Pine Road. It took two miles for Walker to stop for the officer, according to court records. Arnold wrote in the file that he could smell alcohol on Walker, who sped off. Arnold pursued him for several miles at speeds sometimes in excess of 100 mph. Walker lost control of his vehicle at Shields Bridge Road, before hitting a utility pole at the intersection of Shields Bridge and Boston Road.

Shannon Faye Wanstall, 29, of Walnut Hill Road in West Chester, Pa., was indicted on a count of maliciously maiming Riley Bartoo on June 29, 2016. Wanstall and her sister allegedly "fist fought" with Bartoo at a local bar, and he was taken to the hospital, according to court records.

His condition was not noted in court records. Pfc. T. J. Adams of CPD investigated.

Darrell Wharton, 56, of John Cane Road in Parksley, was indicted on counts of forging and uttering a check for more than $200 belonging to Justine Custis on May 20, 2016. Sgt. Dean Carroll of Onancock Police Department investigated.

Jennifer Anne Ayres, 47, of West Mifflin, Pa., was indicted on counts of forging checks on April 9 for $675, May 1 for $257.25 and April 23 for $569.50; and stealing at least $200 belonging to Mary Agnes Gillespie on April 9 and 23 and May 1. All the incidents were alleged to have occurred in 2015. Ayres is a former Eastern Shore resident, the records stated. Sgt. Anthony Bright of the ACSO investigated.

Marcus Dupree Giddings, 32, of Fleming Road in Atlantic, was indicted on counts of felony eluding and misdemeanor receiving stolen property and contributing to the delinquency of a minor on Aug. 20, 2008. Giddings told authorities he had been living in New Jersey for about nine years. N. J. Coulter investigated.

Roland Milton Sturgis, 19, of Fisher Circle in Melfa, was indicted on two counts of breaking into the home of Steve Turlington and two counts of petty theft; stealing property belonging to Amie Booker; and burglarizing the home of Christopher Davis and felony theft there. The incidents occurred last April and March. Bright investigated.

Accomack District Court

A Painter man was arrested recently and charged with fraud, according to records filed in Accomack General District Court. Grover Miles Harmon 59, of Christopher Lane was accused of obtaining advance money, merchandise or another thing of value from Russell Williams upon a promise to perform "construction, removal, repair or improvement of a building or structure permanently annexed to real property and fail or refusal to perform such promise" or return the advance on May 20, 2016.

Harmon was arrested on Sept. 29. Secured bond was set at $750. Sgt. Anthony Bright of the Accomack County Sheriff's Office investigated.

Raven Lee Mason, 18, of Main Street on Chincoteague, was charged with stealing a firearm belonging to Mark Giovanni on Sept. 22. Mason confessed, court records state. He is being held without bond. Sgt. T. B. Hickman of Chincoteague Police Department investigated.

OBITUARIES

Capeville Man Remembered

Mr. Maurice Clayton Weeks Sr., 82, of Capeville, passed Friday, Sept. 16, 2016, at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital in Nassawadox.

Born April 20, 1934 in Northampton County, where he lived most of his life, he was the son of the late Charles Weeks and Maggie Robinson.

Mr. Weeks worked on the water in clamming and oystering, and served his country in the U. S. Army. He was trained and worked in carpentry using the skills taught by his friend, the late Isaac Lee Johnson. He later became self-employed as a contractor, which was his passion. He owned and operated Weeks Contracting, employing other local young men.

At a young age, Mr. Weeks joined the Ebenezer A.M.E. Church in Capeville. He was a faithful member who received numerous awards for service and dedication to the church. He served on the Sons and Daughters of Ebenezer and later as a trustee.

Mr. Weeks believed that his children and grandchildren could overcome any obstacles through education. Every Sunday morning he would have his children listen to the speeches of Martin Luther King Jr. to encourage and enlighten them. Having been a contractor, he not only built structures and foundations, he endeavored to help build human souls because he knew that was the foundation for survival.

Mr. Weeks is survived by his wife Maggie Bailey-Weeks; his daughters, Audrey Robinson (Larry) of Fairview, Frausteen Weeks (Stanley) of Philadelphia, Janet Bailey, of Bryn Mawr, Pa.; one son, Maurice Weeks Jr. of Fairview; three granddaughters, Consuelo Bailey (Ron) of Eastville, Dominique Brown (Shaun Sr.) of Weisbaden, Germany, and Tacquila Garcia of Fairview; five great-grandchildren, Christian, Avery, Briana, Shaun Jr., and Khadeja; two brothers, Clarence Weeks (Jannie) of Philadelphia, and Samuel Weeks (Joyce) of Hampton; four sisters, Jean Collins, Maryetta Reid, Carrie Yon and Mary Collins, all of Philadelphia; a sister-in-law, Margaretta Conley of Bryn Mawr; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and other relatives and friends.

He was predeceased by two brothers, Charles "Billy" Weeks and Clayton Weeks, who died in infancy.

Funeral services were held Sept. 24 at Ebenezer A.M.E. Church in Capeville, with Rev. Olivia Collins officiating.

Arrangements were made by John O. Morris Funeral Home in Nassawadox.

Former Wachapreague Resident Passes

Mrs. Joyce Ann Hapeman, 77, passed away peacefully on Monday, Sept. 26, 2016, at her daughter Lynda's home on Keuka Lake, N.Y. Born Dec. 22, 1938 in Wachapreague, she was a daughter of the late Grace (Morris) and Ellsworth "Jack" Smith.

Mrs. Hapeman was a dedicated nurse for more than 40 years, admired for her expert skill and compassion as a home hospice caregiver. Although diminutive in stature, her feisty wit, fiery heart and formidable strength of spirit were larger than life. She loved laughing and dancing, all kinds of music — but especially the blues — and exploring America from the back of her Harley. Above all, she was fiercely loyal and cherished spending time with her family and friends. She was the glowing warmth of every hearth and the life of every party. Her legacy of love lives on in the hearts of all who knew her.

Mrs. Hapeman was predeceased by her husband, Jack L. Hapeman; her son, Gregory Walker; her partner, Robert A. Pruyne; her mother-in-law and best friend, Edna Royal Walker; and her sister, Katherine Huffman.

There was a private memorial service for the family at McInerney Funeral Home in Elmira, N.Y. In lieu of flowers, please honor Joyce by being kind to one another and paying it forward.

Saxis Man Dies

Mr. Randall "Craig" Martin, 59, of Saxis, died Monday, Sept. 26, 2016, at Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury, Md.

Born April 4, 1957, in Nassawadox, he was the son of the late Randall Eugene Martin and Peggy Ann Linton Martin. Mr. Martin was a waterman and owned Robin Hood Bay Seafood, alongside his brother Hance. He was also a carpenter and roofer and was known as "a jack of all trades."

He is survived by his wife Patty; two daughters, Jamie Martin (Nick), of Saxis, and Brittney Martin (Charles Galloway), of Greenbush; a brother, Hance Martin (Ramona), of Mears; and several nieces, nephews, friends and family.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by a sister, Brenda Marshall, and a brother, Tony Cameron Martin.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday, Oct. 2, at the Saxis United Methodist Church, with Rev. Robert Daniels officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Saxis Volunteer Fire and Rescue Company, P.O. Box 98, Saxis, VA 23427.

Eastville Man Passes

Mr. Danhof Francis VanDyke, 76, of Eastville, husband of the late Dana Latimer VanDyke, passed away Sunday, Oct. 2, 2016, at Beth Shalom Village in Virginia Beach.

A native of Lexington, Mich., he was born Jan. 5, 1940 in Grosse Pointe, Mich. to the late Raymond Henry VanDyke and Florence T. VanDyke. He was a U. S. Navy veteran, a retired postmaster for the U. S. Postal Service, member of St. Charles Catholic Church, Cape Charles Rotary Club and Eastern Shore Artisans Guild. He also served on the Northampton County Planning Commission.

Mr. VanDyke

He is survived by three children, Jonathan F. McIvor of Virginia Beach, Brandon F. McIvor (Gina), of Virginia Beach; Katherine M. Wyndham (William), of Norfolk; a sister, Kathy VanDyke Bullard (B.J.), of Pensacola, Fla.; a brother, Michael David VanDyke (A. Janice), of Bonita Springs, Fla.; four granddaughters, Sophia McIvor of Exmore, and Savannah, Emma and Grace Wyndham, all of Norfolk; four nieces, Shelly Bullard, Linda Bullard Cherone, Kelly VanDyke Tajiri and Michele VanDyke Woodruff; and four nephews, Bo Bullard, and Dennis, Mike, and Kevin VanDyke.

He was predeceased by his wife Dana; a brother, Paul VanDyke and a nephew, Tim VanDyke.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday, Oct. 6, 2016, at Christ Episcopal Church in Eastville, with Reverend Daniel Crockett officiating. Interment followed at Christ Episcopal Church Cemetery.

Memorials may be made to a charity of one's choice.

Online condolences may be sent to www.doughtyfuneralhome.com

EASTERN SHORE SPORTS

Survey Results

Nearly 30 percent of local fans would rather go to a football game than see any other sport, according to a recent email survey conducted by the Eastern Shore Post. Another 17 percent picked basketball, while 11 percent each chose ice hockey and NASCAR.

For TV viewing, 44 percent selected football, with basketball again following with 25 percent. NASCAR was nearly 13 percent.

The top pro teams noted by participants were also football. The Washington Redskins were the top pick for 22 percent with the Dallas Cowboys coming in second with 17 percent. The Washington Capitals (hockey) were next with 11 percent. Virginia Tech (Hokies football) was the top-rated college team.

Survey-takers were asked what local sports they want to see in future editions. The most, or 26 percent, said, you guessed it, football! Another 20 percent agreed with the Post's new sportswriter, Krystle Bono, in saying, "All." Thirteen percent each went for basketball and car racing.

"Hockey is best enjoyed in person at the arena where you can follow the puck and see all of the action," wrote Doug Stewart, of Wardtown. "I prefer watching football on TV due to the slow motion and stop action replays."

Stewart chose the Philadelphia Eagles in the NFC closely followed by the Baltimore Ravens in the AFC for his favorite pro teams.

For college, he picked the Golden Rams of West Chester State University. "My only regret is that I don't get back there to see them often enough," Stewart wrote.

Being a "baseball shortstop is where the action is," he said. "Basketball is the high school game I most like watching, but you can only go to one, so I like to read about the others."

"Right now," Stewart said his favorite athlete is "Carson Wentz (of the Eagles), but if he doesn't continue to produce I will change my mind quickly."

David "Popsicle" Lewis wants to see Chincoteague game results. He likes football and college basketball as a spectator. His favorite pro team is the Redskins. For college, he chose Mercer Bears, "the The team that beat Duke." His favorite athlete is "any player that honors God and the USA." If he played professionally, he would be a middle linebacker on a football team.

Our sportswriter, (above) Krystle Bono, replies to the latest survey. She is a former forward and captain of Northampton's field hockey team. She loves ice hockey; equestrian sports; the Capitals, Orioles and Hokies; and Bezie Madden for show jumping; and plans on covering all local sports.

Ellen Spence of Chincoteague likes basketball. But her favorite pro team is the Redskins and college team is the ODU Monarchs. If she could go pro, she would be a point guard. She wants to read about Chincoteague High sports.

Amy Eckard of Temperanceville likes to attend ice hockey games and watch TV football. Her pro favorites are the Capitals and the Minnesota Vikings, (football). For college, it's the NCSU (N.C. State University) Wolfpack.

If she could play pro, it would be ice hockey as a goalie "because I can keep cool while I'm playing and there's not much running around." She wants to read about local football.

Robert Doughty of South Cheseconessex picked NASCAR, NASCAR, NASCAR and coverage of all local high school sports.

Frances Kubick stated, "Sports and religion are the opiate of the masses."

"Football is by far my favorite sport to attend, especially, professional football," wrote Karen Simpson of Quinby. "The New York Jets have been my team since Broadway Joe Namath was their quarterback in the 60s. Joe Montana was a pure joy to watch play too," she added. She watches football on TV too. "I wish the football season was as long as the basketball season," she said. If she could be a pro, she'd pick ballroom dancing."

Lisa C. Johnson of Horntown likes to see high school basketball in person and watch the NBA on TV. Her favorite pro team is the Cowboys. For college, it's the Maryland Terps (college basketball). Of course, Michael Jordan was her top pick for athlete. If she played pro, she'd be a shooting guard. "I love team sports," Johnson wrote. "I couldn't play point guard, too much pressure."

Bruce MacMaster Jr. of Onley prefers bullfighting for spectator sports and boxing on TV. He doesn't have a favorite professional team. MacMaster's favorite athletes were Joe Luis, Rocky Marciano and Manuel Laureano Rodríguez Sánchez, better known as Manolete, a bullfighter.

"Boxing and bullfighting, they are the epitome of self-defense," said MacMaster.

Retired sportswriter Bill Sterling said college football was his favorite game to be on the field for. "Most any sport with a ball; no hockey pucks for me," he said for TV. His favorite pro team is the Redskins. "Most all Virginia football teams, including my alma mater, University of Richmond and the ACC teams when they play out-of-conference foes."

Two retired athletes are his favorites; "Gale Sayers and Barry Sanders, because when they reached the end zone they acted like they had been there before." Sterling said he would choose to play golf as a pro "because I would play the finest courses in the world and could do it competitively until I was in my 60s."

Troy Justis, the Post's ad manager, chose high school sports for his favorite to see in person "especially when my daughters are playing!" On TV, his picks are football and college basketball. Justis had a lot of favorite teams including the Dallas Cowboys, the N. Y. Yankees, the Philadelphia 76ers, Virginia Tech football, Duke Blue Devils for basketball and UVA for baseball. His favorite NASCAR driver is Chase Elliott. Jason Whitten, Cowboys' tight end, and Stephen Curry, point guard for the Golden State Warriors, are his favorite athletes. Justis would love to be a NASCAR driver to fulfill his "need for speed."

Angie H. Crutchley, the Post's classified ad supervisor, picked the rival football team of Justis. Game day can be touchy at the office. Her favorite is the Redskins. She prefers Hokies for a college team and picked Kirk Cousins (Redskin's quarterback) as her favorite. If Crutchley could go pro, "I would be a gymnast! Many, many years ago I took gymnastics and loved it! I could skin the cat on the uneven bars and did a forward roll on the balance beam!"

"I attended my first (Northampton football) game in more than 20 years as part of my class reunion and we won, or should I say, dominated, with a score of 49-0 against King and Queens. I like to think we gave them some luck!"

Editor Connie Morrison chose hockey for her favorite in-person sport and college basketball for TV viewing. The Redwings (hockey) are her pick for the pros and the Michigan State Spartans (football and basketball) were her choice for college. She selected tennis champion Serena Williams for favorite athlete.

Reporter Linda Cicaira watches sports if she has a bet on the game. The Yankees, Giants or Knicks are favored. She would love to drive a race car. She wanted to be a basketball star or a roller derby queen.

Homecoming Marks Third Straight Win for Yellow Jackets

Stories by Krystle Bono

The last evening of September was a dreary one, with the sky letting a few rain drops fall every now and then—but mother nature could not stop the Yellow Jacket pride. Northampton stepped out under the lights ready to add another victory to its record.

For the past three years, the Yellow Jackets and the Middlesex Chargers have met on Hamilton Field, but each year posed a different outcome. Northampton defended its home turf during the 2014 Homecoming game, grasping a 46-26 win over Middlesex. The following year, the Chargers slipped away with a 57-27 win and Northampton faced district rival Chincoteague during its Homecoming festivities, only to suffer a 34-28 loss to the Ponies. Last Friday night's kickoff created an opportunity for redemption for the Yellow Jackets.

By half-time, the score was locked in, 33-25, in Northampton's favor. The Homecoming Court was presented, with newly crowned King and Queen, Reginald Wiggins and Arian Toy, rounding out the Royalty parade.

In the remaining 30 minutes, the Yellow Jackets continued to maintain their advantage over the Chargers and concluded the memorable evening with a 49-42 victory, putting the team on a three-game win streak. This is also the third game in a row ending in a 49-point decision for Northampton.

Leading the Yellow Jackets was Frederick Williams, scoring four touchdowns and totaling 298 rushing yards, while Tamaze Brisco followed close behind with three touchdowns.

Northampton, owning a 4-2 record, now ties with Nandua and Chincoteague, which also hold 4-2 records with .667 win percentages. Both the Yellow Jackets and the Ponies have yet to face any of their district opponents this year; Nandua met Arcadia on Sept. 9, and claimed a 27-14 home victory. The Warriors will face the Firebirds again on Oct. 21 at Arcadia for the final time this year. The Yellow Jackets and the Ponies will finally get a chance for district action on Oct. 14 at Chincoteague High School.

Ponies Shutout Vikings for Second Time This Season

The Chincoteague Ponies paid a visit to the Broadwater Academy Vikings last Saturday afternoon, marking their second meeting this season. The Ponies, coming off two consecutive losses, took the field in full force.

After 60 minutes of play, the Vikings were unable to score, resulting in their 0-35 deficit to the Ponies. This is the second shutout the team has faced from Chincoteague this year and their second in a row this season. Last weekend, Broadwater suffered a 0-50 loss to the Arcadia Firebirds, who managed to rush a total of 345 yards with 38 carries to seal their victory over the Vikings.

Chincoteague will host the Portsmouth Christian Patriots (2-3) tonight in a non-league matchup, where they hope to remain undefeated at home. The Vikings carry a 2-4 record as they head to their Homecoming game which was rescheduled from Saturday, Oct. 8 to Thursday, Oct. 6 at 4 p.m due to bad weather that was forecast for the weekend.

Bayview Farm Competes in Annual Sport Horse Nationals

Every year, riders and their horses travel from all over the United States to compete in the Sport Horse National Arabian and Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show. The Ford Idaho Horse Park in Nampa, Idaho, was this year's destination for many two and four-legged athletes; among those in attendance were riders from Bayview Farm, who made the more than 2,500 mile cross-country trek from Cape Charles to ride their way to national recognition.

The Bayview team took seven horses, some of which held national and reserve titles from years past. The event lasted from Sept. 21 to 25 and brought together hundreds of the best equines in the country.

Owners and riders Alexis Starer Doughty, Kimberly Graves and Hannah Darby competed in Hunter and Sport Horse classes under saddle, in-hand and over fences. The National Competition also includes classes for Dressage and Carriage Driving.

"On Tap," a 7-year-old Half-Arabian gelding bred by Bill and Alexis Doughty and owned/ridden by Hannah Darby, came home with seven national top tens and finished fifth out of 18 riders in the $2,500 three-foot Hunter Derby. He holds two previous national championships, three reserve national championships and 21 additional national titles in Working Hunter and Sport Horse. This talented Arabian-Oldenburg cross has twice won the United States Equestrian Federation's (USEF) performance horse award and is currently ranked third in the USEF standings.

The team also brought two Anglo-Arabians, "One More Round," a 12-year-old gelding and "Church Creek," a 10-year-old mare, both owned and shown by Doughty. These part-Arabian, part-Thoroughbreds have numerous national and reserve titles to their names. They concluded their haul in Idaho with "Church Creek" claiming National Champion in the Working Hunter Adult Amateur Owner to Ride class and "One More Round" earning three Reserve National Champion rose garlands; he also jumped to a third-place finish in the three-foot Hunter Derby.

"Luxemere Patrician," a purebred Arabian gelding owned by Kimberly Graves and shown by both Graves and Doughty, added three reserve national champion titles to his already impressive record. The 9-year-old has won the coveted USEF Horse of the Year Award consecutively for the last three years and is the current leader for 2016. His list of accolades includes two national champion titles, seven reserve national titles and 12 national top tens. He was also named the American Performance Horse Champion in 2013 for all American bred horses and holds over 100 Arabian Horse Association regionally recognized championships.

Rounding out the Bayview competitors were "JAS Phoenix," a 6-year old Arabian gelding, as well as first-time attendees "JAS Joe," a 5-year-old gelding bred by Bill and Maria Jenkins and owned by Doughty, and "JAS Vin Julep," a 7-year-old Arabian stallion, bred and owned by the Jenkins and shown by Doughty.

Next year's Sport Horse National Arabian and Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show will be held Sept. 5-10, 2017, at the Gov James B. Hunt Jr. Horse Complex in Raleigh, N.C.

Warriors Top Firebirds

Story and Photos by Krystle Bono

The Nandua Warriors defeated the Arcadia Firebirds in three sets (25-16, 25-18, 16-25) Tuesday night in Onley.

Leading the Warriors were Leah Truitt with five kills, one block and one dig; Baylee Justis with six aces, 13 assists and nine digs; Kimberly Wert with five kills, 19 digs and two aces; and Courtney Barker with 18 digs and two aces.

Nandua's Kimberly Wert makes one of her 19 digs during Tuesday's three-set victory over Arcadia.

Sportfishing Report

By Dr. Julie Ball, IGFA Representative

The fall weather is settling in and the cool water saltwater species are becoming more active.

Surf anglers are off to a great start with big red drum providing good action along the breakers on the Eastern Shore barrier islands. A few reds are also showing for surf anglers fishing from the Little Island pier and along the surfines in Sandbridge, but the best of the drum surf run is yet to come. Nice red drum are also hitting around the islands of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel on both live and cut-bait lately. Cobia are still around, but not for much longer, as these fish continue to pour out of the area as they head south.

The fall backwater fishing action is heating up nicely. Puppy drum are doing well in local shallows and inlets with the best action happening on fresh cut bait or live mullet. Good numbers of speckled trout are hitting lures and live bait in the Eastern Shore shallows, Lynnhaven, Rudee, and Little Creek Inlets and the Poquoson flats area. This tendency will continue to intensify through the cooler months.

Within Bay waters, big sheepshead are still lingering along the structure of the bridge-tunnel and tautog action is rekindling for the fall season. Keeper tog averaging to around four pounds are hitting well on fiddler crabs. Offshore and inshore wrecks are still productive for flounder, along with some jumbo seabass and triggerfish, but remember seabass are off limits right now. Bottom bouncers can also find willing tautog on some of these same structures.

The Bay striped bass season opens this week. As of Oct. 4 you can keep two fish per person measuring between 20 and 28 inches, with one of the two fish allowed to measure above 28 inches in Bay waters. Most rockfish will be schoolies caught while targeting other species in backwater and inlet areas at first.

October can be a good month for smoker-sized king mackerel, but clear water is a must. Spanish mackerel and false albacore are also available in these same areas. Some big amberjack are still circling the South Tower, while jack crevelle are also a possibility at the Chesapeake Light Tower.

Fall offshore action is good, with billfish providing chances for releases of both white and blue marlin, along with a smattering of roundscale spearfish. Catches of decent yellowfin tuna and some bigeye tuna are possible, along with lots of nice mahi. Wahoo action is still on the rise, and should continue into this month. A few swordfish are starting to show with this action typically improving over the colder months. For more information, go to www.drjball.com

Anglers Club hosts Capt. Max King

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Anglers Club (www.esanglersclub.org) will hold its monthly meeting Oct. 10 in the conference room of the Sage Restaurant in Onley. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. and will feature a presentation on trolling and drifting eels for trophy rockfish by Capt. Max King.

The owner of Max King's Marine in Virginia Beach, King targets big rockfish in the Chesapeake Bay during the month of December and operates out of Cape Charles at that time. He's been chartering since the late 1990s and has seen fishing tactics and techniques for big rockfish change, which will be the subject of his presentation.

The public is invited to attend. New or prospective members are welcome.

Health Matters News on Alzheimer's Walk, Flu-Shot Clinics, and Nurses' Awards

The Walk to End Alzheimer's will be Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Hermitage on the Eastern Shore in Onancock. Registration is at 8:30 a.m., the ceremony is at 9:45 a.m., and the walk begins at 10 a.m. The route is three miles, but there is also a one-mile option. To register, contact Jennifer Chavez at 757-793-5064 or email her at jchavez@alz.org

The Alzheimer's Association Southeastern Virginia Chapter, in partnership with Eastern Shore Rural Health, is providing a program to introduce the community to Alzheimer's Disease and related dementias, caregiving, and community outreaches and services. Several topics will be covered at these meetings including understanding dementia, stages of the disease, coping techniques, legal and financial planning, safety, and community resources. There will be a question and answer session at the end of each meeting as well.

Upcoming meetings:

- Jan. 12, 2017 - 2-4 p.m. - Atlantic Community Health Center, 5219 Lankford Hwy., New Church
- April 13, 2017 - 2-4 p.m. - TBD
- July 13, 2017 - 2-4 p.m. - Atlantic Community Health Center, 5219 Lankford Hwy., New Church
- September 14, 2017 - 2-4 p.m. - Onley Community Health Center, 20306 Badger Ln., Onley

The orientation is free. Registration is required. To register, contact Amanda Thomas at 824-5676 x635.

Peninsula Regional Medical Center will have a one-day drive-through flu clinic on Thursday, Oct. 13, at Arthur W. Perdue stadium at the intersection of Rt. 50 and Hobbs Rd. in Salisbury. Vaccinations will be administered from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. to individuals 13-years-old and older. A physician's order is not necessary. A donation of $10 is requested (cash only; exact amount is appreciated.)

Riverside medical centers are offering free flu shots on Thursday, Oct. 20, on a first-come, first-serve basis. Shots are available, while supplies last, for adults and teenagers ages 14 and up. Appointments are not required.

The flu, short for influenza, is a contagious respiratory illness caused by a virus. It can cause mild to severe illness. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the best way to prevent the flu is by getting vaccinated each year, prior to flu season starting.

Flu Shot Locations:

- 9 a.m.-4 p.m. - Riverside Shore Medical Center at Metompkin, 17385 Lankford Hwy., Parksley
- 9 a.m.-4 p.m. - Riverside Cape Charles Medical Center, 216 Mason Ave., Cape Charles

The Virginia Nurses Foundation held a gala reception to honor the 2016 Leadership Excellence Award nominees, on Saturday, Sept. 24, in Richmond. The foundation honors exceptional nurses. Three nurses from Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital (RSMH) were chosen out of hundreds of nominees.

Annette Hempel was nominated in the Nurse Manager/Director category. Hempel has been a nurse for 15 years.

Cheryl Warren and Ellen White were finalists in the category of Direct Patient Care Leader-Patient Experience. Warren has been a registered nurse for 31 years and White is a nurse and Certified Diabetic Educator.

Patty MacDougall, Nurse Executive at RSMH, said, "Annette, Cheryl and Ellen are assets to our team. Their dedication and professionalism set a high standard and all are truly worthy of the nominations."

New Life for Vintage Onancock Theater

Submitted Article

What do you get when you cross cinema with a stage play? Eastern Shore audiences will find out on Oct. 16. and Oct. 23 when the Roseland Cinema and Entertainment Center (RCEC) sponsors a showing of "The Audience," starring Helen Mirren. (See "If you go" at the end of the article.)

It is exactly the type of event organizers had in mind when they formed RCEC to expand on the success of Onancock International Films.

About ten years ago, future RCEC president Kitty Croke and Steve Lotharios, from North Street Market, teamed up with Scott Chandler, owner of the Roseland Theater, to show "Cinema Paradiso" on a Thursday night. Seventy-three people came to see the Italian classic and Onancock International Films was born.

By 2012, the movie industry was changing from reel-to-reel film distribution to digital, requiring an upgrade costing more than $100,000. Chandler was willing to make the investment with support from the community. The upgrade was made in 2015.

With its upgraded sound system and digital capabilities, The Roseland became a platform for expanding on Onancock International Films' success. A survey revealed an opportunity to provide additional programming, and the non-profit Roseland Cinema and Entertainment Center (RCEC) was formed. Its mission is expanding cultural, educational and entertainment opportunities for Virginia's Eastern Shore through screen performances of plays, opera, ballet, and other such events.

More than one hundred people flock to The Roseland on "2nd Thursdays," often having dinner at one of the town's restaurants and then walking to the show. This month, RCEC launches its first expanded cultural experience with a performance of "The Audience."

"We've been planning and working to bring world-class events to Onancock and the Shore and are thrilled to see it happen," said Croke. "A stage play performed in London and captured for the big screen, 'The Audience' is a crowd-pleaser that everyone will enjoy."

For more information, contact RCEC at RCECinema@gmail.com or call 757-787-5687.

Active Learning in Outdoor Classroom
Students at Kegotank Elementary joined volunteer organizations from across the Shore to dedicate an outdoor classroom Wednesday. The 7,280-SF classroom was converted from a seldom-used courtyard, and was designed to provide on-site environmental lessons and foster hands-on learning. For more photos from the dedication, see our photo gallery at www.easternshorepost.com

An article in the August 2016 CBES newsletter states that the Shore Health Foundation, which manages the endowment fund created by the former Shore Memorial Hospital to help address community healthcare needs, has been “acquired” by Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital. As Chair of that Foundation, I can state without hesitation that the statement in the CBES newsletter is untrue and mischaracterizes the Foundation. The Board that governs the Shore Health Foundation’s activities is composed of nine people, six of whom are unaffiliated with Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital and its affiliates.

The Foundation has existed since 1957. It has never sought public recognition of its charitable activities. Until the affiliation of Shore Memorial Hospital with Riverside, it was focused on supporting the charity care provided by Shore Memorial to the residents of the Eastern Shore. At the time of the affiliation, the Foundation was made independent of, and put beyond the control of, Riverside. The independent Board has, moreover, taken a broad view of community healthcare needs. In the past six months alone, it has committed $148,000 of support to a wide range of healthcare institutions on the Shore, including:

$53,000 to Northampton’s Department of Emergency Services to assure that all ambulances in Northampton County are equipped with the latest, state-of-the art, equipment for dealing with patients in cardiac arrest (two ambulances in Cape Charles and one in Nassawadox).

$17,500 to the Accomack Department of Public Safety to equip two emergency vehicles with the latest, state-of-the art, intubation equipment for dealing with patients with airway blockages.

$25,500 to fund state-of-the art x-ray equipment so Pediatric Dentistry can be performed, by dentists from Eastern Shore Rural Health, under general anesthesia in the new hospital’s operating theaters.

$52,000 to fund the installation of x-ray equipment at the former Cancer Center in Nassawadox, which is critical to enabling it to become an Urgent Care facility serving the citizens of Northampton County.

It is regrettable that the CBES has misinformed its readers about our Foundation. I am nevertheless happy to have this opportunity to set the record straight with the broader reading public, and to affirm that the Foundation is both independent of the Hospital and, and even more importantly, is active in supporting a wide range of healthcare improvements for the citizens of the Eastern Shore.

Stevens Retires

Rev. Stevens

Rev. Linda Stevens, the first African American woman to serve as pastor of the 134-year Jerusalem Baptist Church in Temperanceville, recently retired and was recognized by the Accomack Board of Supervisors for her 32 years of service.

During her church leadership, she initiated many programs including building projects, dance ministry, a prayer conference line, a senior center program, liquidation of the remaining $250,000 mortgage on the 54.5 acres for the "The Holy City" campus, a "Stop the Violence Project," installation of the first youth pastor, and a "Soul to the Polls" initiative. She made an agreement to have the parking lot paved, and established an annual $1,000 Linda D. Stevens Scholarship.

Eastern Shore Trading POST

Announcements

In loving memory of Eugene Lankford Harmon, loving son of Mrs. Thelma Coston. He was born the 4th day in the month of October 1948. A successful military man, having served his country in the United States Air Force as a Sergeant, he earned several commendations, awards, and medals including aeronautical technical training under the United States Navy Fleet Aviation Operations. He demonstrated FAITHFUL duty to his country as well as FAITHFUL duty to his God as an ordained clergy, having read the entire Bible many times. He was a FAITHFUL and loving son leaving behind a wonderful mother - a strong Christian woman, who at age 88, continues to deliver a ministry of music to her community through local churches and beyond, sharing her gift as a mighty, anointed and awe-provoking musician and songstress. She deeply feels the loss of her son - and only child - but still declares to finish her race through perseverance, praise, and love of God. He prompts her often to sing, as her personal testimony in times of distress, "I've Got A Feeling Everything Is Going To Be All Right."

Zoning Administrator*

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Northampton County Board will meet Wednesday, October 19, 2016 at 10:00 a.m. in the Board Chambers located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA, for the purpose of considering the following wetlands/coastal primary sand dunes matter under public hearing and to conduct regular business.

VMRC 2016-1562: Salt Grove L.C. is submitting an after-the-fact authorization of the improvements installed over the last 10 years. The primary impact of the project was to replace a failed bulkhead that collapsed in late 2006 following a series of storm events. The owner also installed a new 110-foot bulkhead channel ward of the failed bulkhead. A new timber wall and tieback system was placed approximately 10 feet channel ward of the original bulkhead. The project also includes two open pile platforms of decks that extend off the replacement bulkhead and provide working space for aquaculture activities that take place on the property. The owner has also installed a floating dock along the side of the property facing Cherrystone Inlet. The dock and access gangway provide additional access to work barges and vessels at all stages of the tide. Recently the owner installed geofabric along an existing shell/dirt slope at the southern boundary of the property. The fabric was keyed into the toe of the slope and resulted in temporary disturbance to tidal wetlands. The Property is described as Tax Map 75, double circle 3; parcel B2, located at Cherrystone Campground in Cheriton.

The Board will assemble at 8:00 a.m. in the Community Development Office located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA, and proceed to the property described above in the order to conduct a field inspection.

Anyone interested in the above matter should attend the scheduled public hearing. The application may be viewed in the Community Development Department located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA. Written comments can be submitted to the Community Development Department, P.O. Box 538, Eastville, VA 23347.

SOMERSET COUNTY, MD REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS: DEMOLITION OF
WHITTINGTON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL, CRISFIELD, MD

The Somerset County (MD) Commissioners are seeking proposals from qualified firms for the demolition and removal of the former Whittington Elementary School, located at 6 Asbury Avenue in Crisfield, MD. Prior to demolition, asbestos and other hazardous materials must be removed from the building and disposed of properly.

Sealed bids from qualified firms will be accepted by the Somerset County Commissioners, 11916 Somerset Avenue, Room 111, Princess Anne, MD 21853, until 2 p.m. on Tuesday, November 1, 2016, after which they will be opened and read aloud.

A Mandatory Pre-Bid Meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 17, 2016, at 10 a.m. at the Whittington School property at 6 Asbury Avenue, Crisfield, MD, with a building inspection included as part of the Pre-Bid Meeting.

Request For Proposal documents may be obtained in person or by mail, from the Department of Technical & Community Services, 11916 Somerset Avenue, Room 211, Princess Anne, MD 21853, or by calling (410) 651-1424. The documents are also available at the County's Website at www.somersetmd.us on the "Bids/Proposals" page.

Funding for this activity is made available through the federally-funded Community Development Block Grant Program. Somerset County is an equal opportunity employer, and strongly encourages submissions by minority and women business enterprises and Section 3 businesses.

For more information, please contact the Somerset County Department of Technical & Community Services at 410-651-1424 or at dlaird@somersetmd.us

By Connie Morrison

Part of the charm of small towns is their quaint rituals, and given the number of small towns on the Eastern Shore, we have charm in abundance.

Altho ugh small town traditions might leave outsiders scratching their heads, we embrace them as a part our heritage; they bind us together in the same way that quirky family customs form cherished family memories.

Eastern Shore celebrations are, for the most part, much tamer than our former place of residence. Gizzardfest, for instance, in Pottersville, Mich., was named for the town's Gizzard City restaurant. One year, local high school pranksters kidnapped and decapitated the giant fiberglass chicken mascot. Both parts were eventually returned, and as punishment, the perpetrators had to eat their weight in gizzards. (I made up that last part. I don't remember what happened to them, but I thought that would have been just punishment.)

Tip-Up Town, at Houghton Lake, Mich., is a party on a frozen lake with (if you're lucky) 10-20 degree temperatures and icy north winds. Its name is from the ice-fishing apparatus that spans a hole cut through a foot or more of ice, with a red flag that tips up when a fish is hooked. Every year a local genius decides that this year the ice is safe enough to drive on with a half-ton truck, the truck falls in, and that, along with jumping into the lake for a "polar plunge," provides the festival's main entertainment.

By contrast, Eastern Shore events are mostly, like the Eastern Shore itself, understated. I am captivated by Onley's Veterans' Day Parade, Accomac's 4th of July Parade, Northampton County's annual Unity Day celebration, the annual Blessing of the Fleet in Cape Charles, and so many other authentic expressions of community. They seek not so much to call attention to themselves, nor pat themselves on the back, but to underscore our common ground, and to further ties and practices that create cohesive communities and lasting memories.

Far from being understated, but certainly an event steeped in tradition, is Chincoteague's annual Pony Penning. Part small town nostalgia, part tourism bonanza, and part media circus, the event yields the Chincote-ague Volunteer Fire Company's primary funding source.

The event has been around so long that it has created traditions layered upon and within traditions — so much so that it is impossible to account for all what it means to those who attend. To see Pony Penning as just the swim, or just the auction, is to miss some of its richness.

Here are a few examples:

- Proceeds from the sale of one pony go to a designated regional charity each year.
- The Feather Fund charity helps children purchase ponies at auction.
- Misty of Chincoteague plays at the Island Theater just down the street from where the iconic children's book was written.

These are just a few, and none account for the family and friends that reconnect and form their own traditions around Pony Penning week.

If you have not attended Pony Penning, but would like to visit the ponies up-close, as of press time on Thursday, the Fall Pony Roundup was still on for this weekend. The fall roundup provides an opportunity for health check-ups for the herds. The north herd roundup is Friday at 4:30 p.m.; the south herd roundup is Saturday at 7 a.m.

Start your own tradition. Explore some of those already on the Shore. And maybe, eventually, I will convince a certain town to adopt a new event that will eventually become an Eastern Shore Tradition: an annual Ex-S'more festival. I'll bring the marshmallows.

Preserve our Shore

Dear Editor:

Fifteen years ago when I was starting a new life, I moved to the Eastern Shore of Virginia. I invested in the community of Pungoteague and Accomack County and bought a house. I now feel confused, and honestly, betrayed.

With the possibility of 24 commercial animal feeding operations (CAFOs) being built within a mile of my house, I feel betrayed by Accomack County leaders.

I am a visual artist and the Eastern Shore is an amazing place that can be preserved and protected for the future of our children. The Shore is full of potential with clean air, clean land, and clean water. There is so much about the Shore that is priceless. Twenty-four CAFOs in the small village of Pungoteague will be very destructive on the quality of life of the community members and to the land, air, and water. Pungoteague is situated at the beginning of Taylor Creek, which runs into Pungoteague Creek, which then leads into the Chesapeake Bay.

To bring a large number of CAFOs into Accomack County will be a tragedy and an ecological disaster waiting to happen. At this time there is no ceiling in how many are planned in total. Large masses of land transactions are going on and there are rumors that there could be as many as 2,000 CAFOs in the works.

This seems like "The Lorax," by Dr. Suess, or a Ray Bradbury story about the destruction of paradise by corporate greed. We can stop it if we all stand together and say, "No." Let us Pause POS (Preserve Out Shore).

Anne Winston Pinder Batchelder

Looking for Solutions

Dear Editor:

Some of us work nights and cannot attend Accomack County supervisor meetings. Isn't there a way that all of our residents can have a voice on the construction of "mega" commercial chicken farms in our county? Could there be a referendum added to an upcoming election in Accomack County to give voters a chance to approve or reject facets of this major construction which will effect all of us?

The construction of massive chicken houses by an outside industry is totally different from local chicken farmers who make a living raising chickens for local factories on their established properties. Couldn't these 200-plus houses in the works for Accomack County be just the beginning of developing our county into primarily a community for the housing of chickens for the poultry industry? Will this have an effect on the ability of the local watermen to harvest local seafood from polluted creeks or produce farmers from our fields? Are we ending a long era of many of our residents living off the land as produce farmers or watermen and turning to industrial poultry farming?

I'm not expert on any of this, but I feel like we might be getting into something that needs to be tightly controlled or it could have a negative impact on many aspects of our Eastern Shore lifestyle.

Even though I wouldn't want to cuddle a chicken like he was a puppy or kitten, chickens are living creatures and humans are the only voice they have to help their situation which is apparently horrendous in the world of vast poultry farms. Maybe by simply imposing compassionate laws regarding the living situation of the helpless chickens, we may make Accomack County a less comfortable place for the industry to expand.

I don't know much about stopping a ball this big once it starts rolling, but Northampton County was able to stop a pretty fast rolling Brown and Root industry and a large prison complex and you don't see chicken houses taking over residential areas of Northampton County. So apparently there is a way to stop it. I agree that we need to develop jobs on the Eastern Shore, but I don't think big industry chicken houses are the answer. Christine Muhic
