Accusations Fly at School Board Selection Commission Free-For-All

By Linda Cicaira

When the term “mudslinging” was coined in the 1800s, the Eastern Shore probably did not come to mind. An Accomack School Board Selection Commission meeting on Tuesday night changed all that.

It started in an orderly fashion with Jesse Speidel, a native of Chincoteague, asking to be appointed to the school board to fill the unexpired term of Travis Thornton, who resigned earlier this month after 18 years.

But before the 90-minute selection meeting was complete, it had turned into a free-for-all with accusations flying.

“I think the School Board is doing a very good job,” said Speidel. “I’d like to continue what they are doing now.” Speidel works with Thornton at Wallops’ National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. He said as “a team player” he “knows how to bring people together.” He went to school on the island and has three children, ages 2, 5 and 8. Speidel said multiple choice mandatory testing is the biggest issue in schools. He suggested “a letter-writing campaign” might work to change that.

Thornton supported Speidel and was applauded and thanked for his own service. “He is a very big family man,” Thornton said of Speidel. “He’s got the patience of Job.” Speidel is a Navy veteran, active in the community, a member of the Chincoteague YMCA Board of Directors and a leader of the soccer association.

“I think he would make an excellent board member,” said Thornton. “He’s no nonsense. He’s not

Police Chase for Speeding Nets of Robbery Suspect

By Linda Cicaira

A suspect is in custody following an armed robbery Wednesday at St. Peter’s Catholic Church in Onley, according to Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin.

A report of the incident was made to the sheriff’s office at 12:18 p.m. After deputies arrived, it was determined that a black female wearing dark clothing entered the church and robbed an unidentified victim of an undisclosed amount of money. The suspect fled on foot.

Meanwhile a state police chase resulted in the arrest of Bertisha Rose Johnson, 52, of Onancock, who was pursued after she allegedly was speeding.

She was later charged with robbery, abduction and use of a firearm in a felony in connection with the incident at the church.

Trooper Kurt Johnson attempted to stop a 2001 Ford Focus, operated by Bertisha Johnson, on Front Street in Accomac, 1st Sergeant Ben E. Jeffrey

The approved Accomack School Board budget was $49.5 million, not $48 million, as reported last week.

In addition, Superintendent Chris Holland clarified in a May 19 memorandum that cost of living increase for classified workers employees is 2.68 percent, bringing their raises in line with teachers who will receive cost of living adjustments of 1.34 percent and step increases averaging 1.34 percent. Administrators will receive a 2 percent cost of living adjustment.

Cape Charles Recognizes Coast Guard for Helping To Reduce Boat Accidents

By Ron West

The Cape Charles Town Council recognized the U.S. Coast Guard and Auxiliary this week for their efforts in helping to reduce boating accidents and fatalities in the nation.

Vice Mayor Chris Bannon read a proclamation urging all boaters to operate vessels with caution and to wear life jackets. He presented the proclamation to Auxiliary Division 12 Vice Commander Jack Cranford and Auxiliary Flotilla 12-02 Vice Commander John Pavlik.

About 700 boaters are killed annually in the U.S. In 2016, 21 died in boating accidents in Virginia, most were not wearing a life jacket, unexpectedly ended up in the water, and were unable to stay afloat.

Council members also discussed the need to reposition recycle dumpsters and agreed to do so insuring business owners currently using them can continue to do so.

Resident Donald Middagh asked to operate a Tropi-Cool Ice cart. The vendor would sell Italian Ice, drinks and snacks to those on or near the beach and central park. The business is required to be 150 feet from exiting restaurants and food trucks. Council agreed noting a business licenses would have to be obtained.

Bannon also reported a budget work session would be held at press time and town offices would be closed May 29 for Memorial Day.

Supervisors Ask Staff To Look at Carport Fees

By Linda Cicora

Accomack Supervisors agreed last week to have county staff study carport fees after Supervisor Harris Phillips complained that the current rate is too high.

"I would estimate most of the people who get these carports, don't even get a permit," said Phillips, adding he probably wouldn't bother if it cost more than $200 for the permit for an $800 carport.

"Isn't this a poor man's garage?" asked Supervisor Paul Muhly. "It seems to me it's way out of proportion."

Mark Bowden of the county building and zoning department said the fees are 35 cents per square foot for residential and 45 cents per square foot for commercial. Buildings up to 256 square feet or less than 12-foot high do not require a permit.

A $1,295 carport that is 12 X 26 or 312 square feet would cost the minimum fee of $159.12, Bowden said. That includes the 2 percent state required surcharge. Depending on the location, another $59 for a zoning permit could be charged.

Phillips said comparably, the permit for a $140,000 house is about $558.

Governor Sees Strong Future in “Beautiful” UAV Airfield at Wallops

By Jasmine Foeman

Gov. Terry McAuliffe was welcomed recently to the NASA Wallops Flight Facility for the ribbon cutting of a new runway, known as the Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport’s Unmanned Aircraft Systems Airfield.

Dale Nash, executive director of Virginia Space, the owner and operator of the Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport, called the runway “beautiful.”

Stretching 3,000 feet long by 75 feet wide, it has a concrete pad measuring 130 by 120 feet at the far east end and is located in the middle of NASA’s restricted airspace. It is one of the largest areas to test over both land and water. The governor was extremely proud of what Wallop’s has done with the runway because no other state has a runway like it.

Secretary of Transportation Aubrey Layne, other representatives from the Virginia Department of Transportation and Langley Research Center, Sen. Lynwood Lewis, Del. Rob Bloxom, and other dignitaries also attended.

The runway is located on a secured facility with limited access. Layne promised the runway enhances the investment that was already made by the government. He also said that the entire process was administered by VDOT; from making the plans to the actual construction of the runway. “We have a great partnership with NASA” and that made the project easier to implement and complete, said Nash.

McAuliffe outlined a vision for the duration of his term, including an emphasis on diversification of the economy, and within that, diversifying what the state does with technology. He wants to “lead the nation in data centers,” which he believes will rebuild Virginia’s economy.

After the May 18 ceremony, a demonstration of a medium altitude unmanned aerial vehicle, or UAV, named the Aurora Centaur, was given, with the craft flying over the runway. The UAV was being controlled from the control center. It is one of the two ways that the UAV could be controlled; the other is with a pilot on board.

Governor McAuliffe flew in the Centaur over Wallops Island, giving him an aerial view of what the Spaceport had accomplished with the new runway. Afterwards he said he was truly pleased.

His ultimate goal, he said, is that “Virginia will dominate air, land, and sea.”

Driver Flees Flip-Over Crash Scene

By Linda Cicaira

A car flipped over and onto the roadside after failing to negotiate the curve and over-correcting Tuesday night near the intersection of Boston and Pennyville roads, according to 1st Sergeant Ben E. Jeffrey Jones.

At 6:10 p.m., Trooper Brandon

Tripp responded to the single vehicle crash. Two occupants fled on foot down Pennyville Road. Jones said witnesses provided a description of the driver and passenger. The vehicle, which was not described, was driven by owner, Clelia Jane Marie Sheppard, 26, of Capes Charles.

Governor Appoints Onancock Man to Bridge and Tunnel Commission

By Linda Cicaira

Stephen Johnsen, of Onancock, a retired insurance executive, was chosen recently by Gov. Terry McAuliffe to serve on the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel Commission, effective May 15.

"I've been involved with the commission (in the past) with handling their insurance," he said Wednesday. "I'm interested in maintaining the thoroughfare that we have, which is one of the most unique" in the world.

As a youngster, Johnsen lived in Hampton Roads. "We used to ride the ferry boat ... to visit up north," he remembered. "It's a sincere pleasure to ride the bridge-tunnel. I've taken thousands of trips across. If you stop and think about what it would be like for the Eastern Shore" without it, "you need that kind of link. Some people had some very, very sound thoughts."

"I'm extremely enthusiastic about the new tunnel," he added. "It is a design-build project, which means the responsibility is on the builder to design and build. The authority had people who traveled extensively to study other boring tunnels. The boring machine is built for this particular project ... they are very positive about the soil. A lot of it is sand but a lot of it is clay. The engineers are very positive about what can be done."

Kiptopeke Elementary: A Mile of Quarters For Special Olympics

Submitted Article

Kiptopeke Elementary School is hoping to help raise a mile of quarters.

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Law Enforcement Torch Run Committee is pleased to announce this new fundraising campaign to support Special Olympics Virginia. Through June 2, Kiptopeke School is seeking supporters for their mile of quarters campaign entitled "Igniting the Flame." All money raised will be donated to Special Olympics Virginia. The overall goal is to raise 63,360 quarters, or $15,840, equal to one mile.

Students and faculty alike will be supporting the campaign by donating,

Johnsen said drilling by going underneath is important because traffic on water and the bridge will not have to be obstructed "and it's much less expensive." He said the contract was signed when rates were lower." The commission "got a very, very competitive bid."

The other tunnel is 50 years old and has a life expectancy of twice that.

"The maintenance of the tunnels is excellent," he added.

Johnsen was ready to participate in his first meeting at press time Thursday.

as well as soliciting, a quarter, a foot of quarters ($3), a yard ($9), or whatever amount they wish, to help reach the goal. All classes will be "competing" between one another to see which raises the longest distance (raises the most money), with a special end-of-the-year reward for the top class. Individual incentive prizes will be awarded to everyone who participates, with the highest "money makers" receiving the best awards.

Northampton Sheriff David Doughty, Virginia Law Enforcement Torch Run Region 13 (ESVA) director benefiting Special Olympics Virginia, says reaching the goal would mean a lot for the program. "The cost of providing quality competition and training events for our local Special Olympics athletes on a year-round basis is staggering," said Doughty. "When we raise money, it covers 100 percent of the costs of the programs. No funds are used for salaries, as we are all volunteers. So we hope the entire school will help support this program by helping raise enough quarters to make a mile."

If you would like to volunteer, please contact Investigator Terry A. Thomas, Northampton County Sheriff's Office, at (757) 678-0495 or email tthomas@co.northampton.va.us.

Jones reported. She failed to stop and the pursuit ensued. The trooper used the Pursuit Intervention Technique (PIT) in an attempt to apprehend the suspect.

The PIT maneuver is a tactic “by which a pursuing car can force a fleeing car to abruptly turn sideways, causing the driver to lose control and stop,” an online dictionary states.

The suspect continued to flee. “The vehicle she was operating was located abandoned in Parksley,” Jones said. “Ms. Johnson was taken into custody on Adams Road in Greenbush after she was spotted in the wood line” by Accomack deputies.

She was also charged with felony eluding, felony assault of a law enforcement officer and multiple traffic infractions, Jones said.

“The excellent cooperation between the Accomack Sheriff’s Office and the State Police was paramount in the successful apprehension of Ms. Johnson,” Jones noted. Assisting the sheriff’s department were Onley and Onancock police.

State Police Step Up Enforcement Over Memorial Day Weekend

Submitted Article

Memorial Day signifies the official start of summer, and the Virginia State Police is taking this opportunity to remind motorists to do what’s right when they see lights – #MoveOver.

The “Move Over” law is a lifesaving law intended to protect public safety professionals and highway workers who help to maintain the safety of the Commonwealth’s roads.

Drivers are required to change to another travel lane or, when unable to change lanes, cautiously pass emergency personnel stopped on the side of the road. The law also includes highway maintenance vehicles and tow trucks equipped with flashing amber lights.

From 2006 to 2015 nationwide, 128 law enforcement officers were struck by vehicles while conducting traffic stops, assisting motorists, directing traffic, or otherwise working at the roadside.

Last year, five State Police troopers were injured after being involved in crashes in which a motorist failed to “Move Over.” Nationwide, 15 officers were struck and killed outside their vehicles.

“Every day first responders and highway workers knowingly take on the dangerous task of working along the roadside to assist motorists or improve our highways,” said Colonel W. Steven Flaherty, State Police Superintendent. “We’re asking drivers to help protect those men and women by doing what’s right when they see flashing red, blue or amber lights – Move Over or Slow Down. It’s the law, and it could save a life.”

Since the 2017 Memorial Day holiday weekend falls within this year’s “Click It or Ticket” campaign, state police troopers will be even more vigilant in their efforts to increase seat belt usage among adults, teenagers and children. The two-week, concentrated educational and enforcement initiative runs through June 4, 2017. The annual Click It or Ticket campaign combines high visibility enforcement of seat belt and child safety seat laws with outreach and education.

Of the 761 total people killed last year in crashes throughout Virginia, 304 were unrestrained.

The state-sponsored, national program encourages law enforcement agencies to increase visibility and traffic enforcement efforts on major travel holidays, like Memorial Day. The program also means that all available Virginia State Police troopers will be on patrol through the holiday weekend.

There were 11 traffic fatalities statewide during the five-day period (May 27, 2016 – May 31, 2016) of the 2016 Memorial Day weekend. In 2015, there were 14 traffic deaths and, in 2014, Virginia experienced eight fatalities on Virginia’s highways during the holiday weekend.

Two Cases Certified to Grand Jury

Two felony cases were certified to an Accomack Grand Jury recently from the county's juvenile and domestic relations court.

A charge of making a bomb threat to Claude Linton, of Temperanceville, on March 27, 2017, and two counts of violating a protective order will be heard by the jury next month regarding Christopher Paul Linton, 39, of Dream Drive in New Church. Deputy B. K. Misener investigated.

Charges of abuse and disregard for a child's life were certified to the jury in regard to Kenya Sha-Ree Crusoe, 27, of Criston Drive in Newport News. The incident occurred April 3, 2017.

The charge involves "being a parent, guardian or person responsible for the care of a child under 18 years old, commit a willful act or omission in the care of such child so gross and wanton as to show a reckless disregard for human life."

Records state the weight of evidence is strong. Another description of the charge that was listed in the file was reckless driving and failure to have a child under the age of 8 in a proper safety seat.

Crusoe told a magistrate, "She was driving back from New York and was just trying to get home."

Deputy David Gladding investigated.

Charge of Threatening to Burn a Building Certified to Grand Jury

Probable cause was found Monday in Accomack General District Court to certify a charge of threatening to burn a building to an county grand jury.

Randolff Millien, 44, who was listed as being homeless is accused of making the threat on April 15. He was arrested the same day and is being held without bond. A creole interpreter was provided for the preliminary hearing to make sure Millien understood what was being said.

Brian Collins, of Oak Hall, identified Millien as the man he noticed going into his garage. He asked him to leave the property. "He wasn't welcome," Collins said. "He told me he would burn this ... down. The man and his wife had been in their yard walking their dogs when the incident occurred.

Collins said he took the animals inside. Millien got on his bicycle to leave. "I proceeded to chase him down" in a truck. Collins blocked him from leaving and said he "shoved him off the bicycle. That's when I smelled gasoline and I saw he had a gas can ... At first I didn't holler at him, until he came back with that remark that he was going to burn my garage down ... he got back on his bicycle and proceeded down the road. We continued following him until the police got there and arrested him."

Gabrielle Lynn Kromer, 26, of Rices Lane in Onley, was charged with breaking into Simply Storage of Delmarva and stealing more than $200 on May 9, 2017. She was arrested May 21.

Investigator Edward Perry of the Accomack Northampton Sheriff's Office investigated. Kromer is free on $5,000 unsecured bond.

Frank Nick Piliro Jr., 34, of Atlantic, was arrested May 2 and charged with failure to reregister as a sex offender on Sept. 23, 2016. Trooper T. M. Albright investigated.

Donald Edgar Godwin, 53, of Holland Road in New Church, was convicted Monday of making a false statement to a law enforcement officer, which is a misdemeanor. He was initially charged with the felony, making a false statement on a voter registration form, on Oct. 13, 2016. Godwin was fined $100.

Two Charged with Felonies in Northampton

Two people were recently accused of felony charges, according to warrants filed in Northampton General District Court.

Shauntea Arnez Giddens, 38, of Bayford Road in Exmore, was charged with receiving stolen property on May 3. She was arrested the same day. Deputy Barry Randall of the Northampton County Sheriff's Office investigated.

Yosbel Rodriguez Rodriguez, 35, of Miami Gardens, Fla., is accused of grand larceny on May 2. He was arrested May 10. Sgt. Jason Campbell of the Exmore Police Department investigated.

Preliminary hearings for both defendants were set for June.

Defendant Changes Plea Mid-Trial

After hours of testimony before a Northampton Circuit Court jury, an 20-year-old changed his plea for drug, license and firearms charges and was sentenced to 18 years in prison

Javon Scarborough, of Eastville, signed a plea bargain with Commonwealth's Attorney Bruce Jones that suspended all but seven years and 10 days of the terms. He made an Alford plea meaning he contended his innocence but accepted that there was enough evidence to convict him.

He was sentenced to: 15 years for possession with the intent to distribute cocaine with 14 years suspended, five years with four suspended for possession with the intent to distribute more than a half-ounce but less than five pounds of marijuana, the mandatory five years for possession of a gun while possessing cocaine, and the mandatory 10 days for driving on a revoked license three or more times in 10 years. His license was also suspended for six months and he was put on supervised probation for 20 years.

The incidents occurred in November 2015. Charges of possession of a firearm by a violent felon and obstruction of justice without force were not prosecuted.

Northampton Supervisors Welcome New County Administrator

Northampton Supervisors welcomed the county's new administrator, Charles Kolakowski, this week, just in time to help finalize the proposed $43.8 million fiscal 2018 budget.

He served as town manager in Bedford, Va., was raised in New Jersey and graduated from the College of William & Mary. Interim County Administrator John Andrzejewski, the finance director, and Deputy County Administrator Janice Williams were thanked for their work since August 2016, when former County Administrator Katie Nunez left.

The budget includes local, state, federal and grant funds. The proposed rates for solar and wind generating facilities will go from 49 cents to 83 cents per $100 valuation. There are no wind facilities. A solar facility is under construction in the county. Other tax rates are set to stay the same as last year.

Superintendent Eddie Lawrence was the only person to speak at a public hearing for the financial plan. He thanked the supervisors for their past support of the schools and asked that they fund the school budget.

The budget is scheduled to be approved at the board's next session on June 13.

Chris Isdell of VDOT gave an update for Northampton's six-year road plan. Old Cape Charles Road is slated for completion by the end of the year. It will connect Route 642 to Stone Road, making a more direct passage from the Bay Shore Concrete to Route 13. The plant has been unable to bid on some projects because larger trucks can't navigate the current winding road.

Isdell said improvements could be made to a portion of Cemetery Road

in Belle Haven. He also mentioned the Bayside Road project at Hadlock.

Speed studies were requested by Supervisor Robert Duer on portions of Wardtown Road. Supervisor Granville Hogg asked for the caution light on Route 13, near Cheriton, to flash when traffic is crossing, rather than constantly as it does now.

Supervisor Oliver Bennett wants improvements to Parallel Road in Treherneville, which is unpaved and runs adjacent to the railroad right-of-way. Large potholes make it difficult for vehicles to navigate to nearby homes. Isdell said since the road is not part of the state's secondary system, VDOT could not make improvements to it unless it becomes state property. That process would involve property owners surrendering a portion of land so the road could meet width standards. An alternative would be to obtain funding to fill and grade the road.

New Director for Literacy Council

The Eastern Shore Literacy Council, which has provided free tutoring to adult residents of the Shore for 31 years, is pleased to announce the appointment of Richard Chagnon as its new executive director.

Chagnon joins the council after a career as a consultant in outplacement and talent management for several large corporations. He graduated from the University of Ottawa and later continued his education with business courses at Rutgers and Temple University.

His love of the Shore dates back more than 39 years when he and his late wife, Lucille, honeymooned on Chincoteague. They talked about retiring there and later owned several rental properties, before making the move 10 years ago.

Chagnon's passion for literacy developed in conjunction with his wife Lucille's lifelong commitment to making a difference through literacy education. He worked alongside her, managing her business, Literacy Acceleration Consulting, proofing her books, participating in events and volunteering here on the Shore. They adopted twin boys and the family includes five grandchildren, all of whom live in New Jersey.

Richard Chagnon's vision is to continue building up the people of the Eastern Shore by providing resources they need to move up social and economic ladders and fully participate in their communities and schools.

Betty Mariner, president of the Literacy Council board, stated, "We are thrilled to have someone like Richard with his wealth of professional experience and a long-term commitment to literacy."

Area Senior Citizens Enjoy a Prom of Their Own

As senior proms are being held throughout Accomack and Northampton counties, another senior prom was also happening at the Chincoteague Community Center. The "Senior Citizen Prom" was an event to honor older adults from both counties. Accomack County Parks and Recreation and the Eastern Shore Area Agency on Aging/Community Action Agency sponsored this event, the 17th Annual Older Americans Extravaganza and Luncheon.

It was a dual-purpose event that gave area senior citizens a chance to get dressed up in yellow, the theme color for this year, enjoy a lunch in fellowship, and to cut loose and cut a rug, all while receiving valuable information about their health and wellbeing.

As the seniors were entering the center and registering, they were able to visit vendors that were there specifically for them. The program itself was also geared toward seniors, offering information about topics such as living alone with a disability and hurricane preparedness.

During the program, a letter of greetings was read from Lt. Governor Ralph Northam and special thanks was given to those who helped with this event throughout the years.

While music played in the background, senior-friendly activities such as dancing, music, singing, door prizes, and games made for a lively time. The center was filled with smiles, laughter, and conversation between the seniors and the organizers of the event, as participants appeared to be having a great time.

Althea Pittman, director of the Eastern Shore Center For Independent Living, let participants know that living alone with a disability is possible. She encouraged attendees not to let their disabilities define them. She also let them know her agency is a non-profit organization, willing to help people of all ages.

Just like any other prom, there was the crowning of the king and queen; but rather than voting, royal titles were awarded by age.

Something else special about this prom is that the money for this event was raised by the youth of the county's parks and recreation programs. The youth also helped to serve at the event.

Barbara Boggs, special events coordinator, thanked the community and businesses for their support. "Don't forget our seniors because they are important to all of us," she said.

Accomack County Parks and Recreation and the Eastern Shore Area Agency on Aging/Community Action Agency sponsored a senior prom, luncheon and information event. From left are Ellen Jordan, Mary C. Holmes, Ida Giddens, Betty Custis and James Custis.

Jerry Clark Burkhead grew up in the town of Lee Mont with his 11 brothers and sisters and graduated from Parksley High School in 1966. Like so many patriotic young Americans, he wanted to serve his country, so after graduation, he joined the U.S. Marine Corps. After training, he deployed from Camp Pendleton, Calif., to Vietnam as a M-60 Marine Corps squad leader.

On Jan. 22, 1968, Burkhead and members of his squadron were flown by helicopter to the Khe Sanh Combat Base. The mission was to protect the southern perimeter of the 26th Marines at the base. The Marines took a defensive position on a small hill, shaped like a football, that became known as "Hill 64."

On Feb. 8, 1968, at 4:15 a.m., the North Vietnamese Army began a brutal attack that lasted until April 1. The 26th Marines was opposed by numerically superior forces and firepower. Despite the overwhelming odds, the 26th Marines remained resolute and determined and they held Hill 64. But there was a heavy price to pay for their bravery. Twenty-eight young Marines were killed and 21-year-old Burkhead was one of them. All of these brave young men received the Presidential Citation for extraordinary heroism in action from President Lyndon Johnson.

Stories like that of Burkhead are common on the Eastern Shore. Hundreds of Eastern Shore families have lost loved ones in service to their country. Shirley Johnson, Burkhead's sister, and her family knew this and they wanted to make sure none of them would ever be forgotten.

So, they rolled up their sleeves, called on family and friends and got to work raising the thousands of dollars needed to build an Eastern Shore Veterans Memorial. The Town of Parksley donated land in the town square. Throughout 2016, there were bake sales, brick sales and bingo games. Literally hundreds of volunteer hours were spent fulfilling this dream. Their determination paid off.

The dedication of the Eastern Shore Veterans Memorial will take place Memorial Day, May 29, 2017, from 10 - 11 a.m. in the Parksley Town Square.

Representatives for all the armed services branches will participate in the ceremony and POWs will be honored by the Brothers at Arms. There will be a Marine color guard, congratulations from Sen. Lynwood Lewis, Del. Rob Bloxom and Accomack Board of Supervisors Chairman Robert Crockett. Navy Cmdr. Jeffery Lock, from Surface Combat Systems, Wallops, will attend to congratulate the volunteers and Adm. Craig Quigley will give the keynote address.

All are invited. Limited seating is reserved for veterans, so attendees are asked to bring lawn chairs.

Ruritans Announce Eleventh Annual Bayside Poker Run

The Pungoteague Ruritan Club will sponsor its annual small boat "poker run" on Saturday, July 29. This 11th annual Bayside Poker Run will be a fun day on the waters of the Chesapeake Bay and adjoining creeks in the club's community service area.

Any boat owner may register to participate in the event, which is an opportunity to explore the Bay from Onancock Creek to Nandua Creek in a fun and leisurely finish. It is not a race, but simply boaters choosing their own course and own pace to locate and visit five pre-chosen locations designated on a nautical chart with notes and guidelines.

Registration for the event is $90; Captains may include as many crew members aboard as Coast Guard regulations allow. Registration forms must be received in advance and will be limited to the first 30 boats and are available from any Pungoteague Ruritan member or by calling Paul Custis at 757-442-2931.

Registration forms are also available at Sandpiper Marine, Western Auto in Exmore, Shore Marine, Davis Wharf Marine, Don's Tackle Shop, K&E Marine, Deep Creek Marina, Island House Restaurant, Seaworthy Marine, H.W. Drummond, Mallard's at the Wharf and Eastern Shore Outfitters.

Competition in the event will be in two parts. The "navigational skill" part will be for boaters to plot a course which will enable them to "log in" at five specific locations within designated time allowances. These locations will be spread among Onancock, Pungoteague, and Nandua creeks and will be disclosed to all captains simultaneously at a captains' meeting on the morning of the event. Points in this competition will also be earned in 'survivor-type' challenges in various activities.

The "luck" part of the event will involve boaters picking up a playing card at each of the five locations and bringing a poker hand to a final destination at 5 p.m. At this location all boats meet to disclose their hands and have navigation sheets evaluated.

The navigation prize will be $500 and the poker prize will be a fall vacation getaway package of equal value for a grand prize total value of $1,000. Additional 'dock prize' drawings will be held for fishing gear, boating accessories, and other marine items. Complimentary hotdogs and hamburgers will be enjoyed during the awards ceremony at a beautiful bayside setting.

Proceeds from this event will benefit the club's scholarship program and its handicapped access ramp project fund.

Fishing from the Shore

By Bill Hall

When the weather cooperates, this spring is turning out to be one of the most productive fishing seasons in recent memory with nice catches of fish coming from every corner of the Eastern Shore. Summer species have already started to show up, weeks ahead of schedule and the only thing holding anglers back has been the unstable weather.

The first cobia catches of the season have been made in the lower bay. The VMRC has instituted a mandatory Recreational Cobia Permit for anglers wishing to retain the fish. Permits are free and available at <https://webapps.mrc.virginia.gov/public/mpermits/index.php>. Cobia season begins on June 1 and runs through Sept. 15 and there is a one-fish-person limit and no more than three fish are allowed per boat, with only one of those fish 50 inches or longer. The minimum size limit is 40 inches. A reminder, it is illegal to gaff a cobia, so a large landing net is a must.

Anglers who were able to take advantage of the opening of the black sea bass season last week were rewarded with easy limit catches of the tasty fish. As pressure for this species increases on the offshore wrecks, expect decreased catches as the population will quickly be thinned out on those structures which are targeted the most.

Lower Shore — Mark, from Chris's Bait and Tackle, reported that black drum and red drum continue to be caught off the Fisherman's Island shoals, as well as off Buoy 13, and the Cabbage Patch. Some sheepshead catches have been made by anglers targeting black drum. The top three catches in the shop's recent black drum tournament were: First place - Christian Seay 75-13, second place - Clinton Lessard 61-5, and third place - Stephen Perkins Jr. 59-1. Sea mullet have started to show up but he had not heard of any croaker catches yet. Flounder catches were reported from the area in front of Wise Point, and along the small boat channel of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel. Tautog catches have come from around the bridge pilings, the rock islands and the cement ships. Spadefish have made an appearance at the Chesapeake Light Tower, Plantation Light, and the Cell.

Wachapreague — Capt. Lindsay Paul, at Trident Tackle, reported that flounder catches have been more consistent than the weather with catches of up to 20 fish being made per boat. Approximately one out of every 3-4 fish are keeper size. Paul cited the Hummocks, Burton's Bay, and Bradford Bay as some of the more productive areas. White or green grubs with minnows have been productive baits during the last week. Don's Tackle Shop saw flounder to five and a half pounds. There have not been any reports received of anglers making the first trips to the offshore waters yet, though big bluefish have been reported at 21 and 26 Mile Hills.

Chincoteague — Jimmy, at Capt. Steve's Bait and Tackle, reported that there were still a few large rockfish remaining in the surf, but the smaller (schoolie) population is increasing every day. Bluefish to 13 pounds have been taken in the last week by anglers fishing the beach at Assateague as well as a couple of black drum in the 30-pound weight class. Kingfish (whiting) have started showing up and Jimmy recommends the East Coast Surf Balls and Jumbo Surf Balls rigs for this type of fishing. Buck Rippeon limited out on Sunday with a catch of flounder in excess of 17 inches. The Assateague Channel, Black Narrows, and Queens Sound have all produced flounder catches. Mike, at Captain Bob's reported that flounder fishing was slow during periods of wind and rain but catches were still being made by anglers concentrating in water depths of 5'-10', particularly in Chincoteague Channel and Assateague Channel.

A six-pound flounder was caught from the waters of Tom's Cove. The shop's Flounder King and East Coast Rigs have been the hot ticket fished with minnows, silversides and/or Gulp Swimming Mullet. Donna Rae said that there were "lots and lots" of snapper blues in Chincoteague Channel, in Chincoteague Bay towards Wildcat, as well as inside Chincoteague Inlet.

Upper Chesapeake Bay — Last week's opening of the Chesapeake Bay spring striper season has been a bust so far for the most part, with very few fish meeting the 20-inch minimum size limit. Anglers fishing the shallows using soft crab and peeler baits are finding a lot of under-sized rockfish, but also a few speckles to 20 inches and a decent population of red drum on the 2-35 pound size range, with an occasional larger fish. Matt Abell, from Seahawk Sports Center, has enjoyed recent success in the shallows with casting Bass Assassins on ¼-ounce heads in the Albino Ghost and Opening Night color schemes. Scattered catches of bluefish, sand mullet, and flounder have been made over the deepwater rocks.

Last Call for "Clean the Bay Day"

Submitted Article

Volunteers have until midnight on Wednesday, May 31, to sign up for Clean the Bay Day. The Chesapeake Bay Foundation's annual shoreline litter cleanup will be held across Virginia on Saturday, June 3, from 9 a.m. until noon.

Thousands of volunteers are needed on foot and in boats to help pick up litter and debris along the shoreline of the Chesapeake Bay and the many rivers and streams across Virginia. Last year, more than 6,000 volunteers participated in Clean the Bay Day at more than 260 sites, removing approximately 138,000 pounds of litter and debris along 440 miles of shoreline.

Cleanup sites are available in Richmond, Hampton Roads, Virginia's Eastern Shore, across Central and Northern Virginia, and at many state parks. To register at a site near you, visit cbf.org/clean, send an e-mail to ctbd@cbf.org, or call 1-800/SAVEBAY.

afraid to take on a tough issue. He's dedicated to whatever he does."

Speidel said he knows the time that would be involved for the post as he served on Chincoteague's board of zoning appeals during the real estate boom. "I don't think it would be a problem," he said. "But it is a large commitment."

Tom Wilson, a former selection committee member, also spoke in favor of his fellow surfer, Speidel. He has the "DNA of leadership of our county ... educated ... men, women, black, white, just like this group" of selection members, said Wilson. Selection committee member Dreux Alvare, is another local surfer. Six letters of favor were written to the panel for Speidel, Chairwoman Jodie Greene announced.

A more controversial position came next: the District 4 representative.

"My time served on the board was very rewarding but at times very challenging," said School Board Member Margaret Miles, a retired teacher and school administrator, who is seeking reappointment to the board. Her term will expire June 30. "It allows me to continue to help make a difference in the lives of all children." She is marking a half-century in education. "My attendance has been good in the last four years" considering "the illness and death of my husband in 2014," she said. A challenge included picking three superintendents.

Ida Nedab, a 33-year teacher in the division, spoke about Miles. She is "one of the greatest educators ... teachers, and administrators in Accomack," she said. "She has a desire and passion for students' education." Since her retirement, Nedab said Miles volunteers as a guest reader, a judge for career day and "sometimes she just stops by to check on us."

Thornton, Chairman Ronnie Holden and Vice Chairman Paul Bull also commended her.

"We might not agree all the time," said Holden. "But we all agree she has a heart for the kids of Accomack ... always, we work as a team."

Bull agreed. "It's a tough job we don't always agree. We do it civilly. We do it professionally. It kind of gets me upset when people talk poorly about what we do."

"She a very dedicated board member," said Thornton. "It hurts my feelings" that someone "would take a jab at her ... we get quite a few folks who come to meetings who constantly put us down." He said privacy laws keep them from making explanations. "They don't know because we can't say."

In this case, Thornton was referring to parent Margaret Hampton of Onancock. She would have none the sugarcoating. Miles "missed eight meetings last year," Hampton said. Scores on the Virginia Department of Education website show Accomack Schools ranked 107. "We are 23 from the bottom," she said. "For the last three years we have trended down. How low will we go before changes are made?"

Hampton said the board has a track record of not holding accountable those responsible for missteps. She cited a $6.2 million surplus that has been a contentious issue with the board of supervisors, alleged private meetings with a superintendent candidate and relaxing out-of-district standards for a member of Miles' family, and pointed to the temporary pulling of the classic novels "To Kill a Mockingbird" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" from school shelves as examples. "We suffered from international embarrassment, she said. "Our school division banning classic American novels, only to discover later they had not followed their own policy but ... an outdated policy from years past ... many of the ... scandals occurred while Mrs. Miles was chairperson."

Wilson again spoke in favor of appointed boards. "I wish our board of supervisors were selected the same way ... who are in there for money... or health insurance ... it doesn't happen on the school board as far as I know. I applaud what you all do," he told the commission. "I applaud Mrs. Miles."

The selection meeting was attended by six school board members - Holden, Waldenmaier, Bull, Miles, Furness, Aaron Kane - and Thornton. They did not call a meeting to order of their panel, despite having a quorum. The three who spoke for Miles were the same members who were accused of having a secret meeting regarding the hiring of a superintendent. Only one camera was reviewed. The others around the school had been cleared, officials said.

Opposing Miles was Connie Burford, a school advocate from Bloxom, who was once Miles' student. Burford said she did not mean to be disrespectful to Miles by seeking the board seat. "It's just to give a new perspective," said Burford.

"As a lifelong resident of the Eastern Shore, and a single parent of two children, I am very aware of the difficult decisions the school board faces continuously," she said. Burford's son was born with autism and learning disabilities. Trained as a licensed practical nurse, Burford said she became a "warrior for special education" after a school administrator said her "son should be in an institution, never to be interacting with regular education students again." She has made it her mission to learn everything possible about the regulations that govern special education.

Burford has volunteered extensively in the classrooms and at school and district levels, including the Budget and Finance Committee "until it was recently disbanded by our current superintendent," she said. The committee was started due to public outcry for transparency regarding money and "the need for better health care prices for ... employees. None of which were able to be accomplished," said Burford.

She served on a parent advisory committee with three superintendents and was the only parent on a committee that developed the athletic handbook for the division. Burford has also been co-sponsor of Arcadia's BETA Club, which has been recognized the last two years as a National BETA Club School of Merit. She served on the School Health Advisory Board for health and healthy lifestyles.

"As a special education advocate, I receive countless phone calls from parents ... regarding their children, many of whom are referred to me by school board members," she said. "I offer advice, make phone calls, provide them with websites and/or paperwork. I have noticed ... a major need for advocacy ... regarding special education. ... I am always the liaison. ... The employees feel comfortable reaching out to me when it seems that all other doors have been closed to them."

Speaking in her favor was Paul Muhly of Parksley, a member of the Accomack Board of Supervisors. A letter of support was sent to the commission on Burford's behalf from parent Meredith O'Brien. "Ms. Burford understands what it is like to be in the trenches every day as an advocate for her child. All you have to do is spend a day volunteering at one of the schools to see that representation for special needs students and families is an absolute need on a school board. Without that, the school board would not be accurately representing the community."

Burford's daughter Colby Burford-Dunton, told the commission, "She's a strong advocate for every single parent. She knows all the policies ... she'll stay up until 2 a.m." studying. "She just wants the best for everyone. I would want someone like her on the school board. ... She already puts in the time," her daughter said.

"Connie Burford is the wrong person to appoint," said School Board member George Waldenmaier, a retired teacher and administrator, calling her "unethically suited for this board." Her having a special needs child no more makes her qualified for the school board than "the fact that I have a pancreas (so) I am a gastroenterologist." He complained that she shouts and snarls through "clenched teeth" at meetings, alleged she is a bully, said she was escorted by police from Nandua High School at the request of Principal George Parker. He added allegations of crimes in Wicomico County, Md., and Accomack County.

Burford said Waldenmaier's comments and accusations were retaliation for having spoken against him about actions he took against students for whom she was advocating when he was seeking a seat on the school board. When she began to elaborate, she was told by Greene to only address Waldenmaier's allegations. "I'm not going to get into a ping-pong match," she said. "I just don't think that its appropriate. ... He acts inappropriately. They are false accusations."

Burford said Principal George Parker of Nandua High called the police on her because she made a video of him yelling at her. She offered to show the video to division administrators but none would watch. "I was asked by (School Board Member) Mrs. (Audrey) Furness and Dr. Holden to let the incident with Mr. Parker go."

Burford said she did so until Parker would not allow her son to ride a bus with other swim team students because he didn't qualify for the competition. Yet, when the bus was unloaded, there were three other students who did not qualify for the competition on the bus.

"He was so excited to be on that swim team," Burford said. He was never allowed to play sports before. “Do you think my child was treated fairly?” she asked. “Do you think I was treated fairly? I was escorted out of a building. That whole board including Mrs. Miles would not listen ... to what had happened. Do we need a change on that board? I say we do.”

Burford later addressed the criminal accusations. She said she does not have a criminal record in Accomack. But has a misdemeanor conviction in Wicomico from 2002. Burford said she was at the mall with her children and an item was placed in her stroller without her knowledge. When she left the store, an alarm went off and she was charged.

“I believe it is the selection committee’s job to monitor the attendance and effectiveness of sitting school board members, and to investigate issues when they arise before reappointment, rather than rely on a citizen to force-feed data,” Hampton said. “You as a committee seem sadly unaware of the standing of our schools, that many of the school board members never speak during meetings, that no give-and-take is done in public as would be expected from a governing body. Indeed, members of the select committee went out of their way to offer excuses. It is the administration’s responsibility to act, not the school board, and if the administration fails, then, what? I submit to you if oversight is not the school board’s responsibility, why do they exist as a body?”

Miles also brought up her reprimand of former School Board Member Janet Turner, who was not reappointed by the commission and was in attendance at Tuesday’s session. Miles reported in July 2016 that the school district’s attorney insisted she reprimand Turner at the December 2016 meeting for accusing the others of meeting secretly. Miles told the commission Tuesday that she was glad to be able to finally tell her side.

Turner was absent due to a family emergency the night she was reprimanded. She was upset that the topic was brought up again. “I don’t appreciate Mrs. Miles dragging my name into her selection process,” she told the panel. “The letter she read was of her own volition ... that was not voted on” by the board.

Selection Commission member Martha Simpson repeatedly asked Burford how many special needs students were in the county. When Burford said she didn’t know, members in the audience were quick to respond. Simpson also accused Burford of sending her son to an out-of-district school. Burford said her son was in Arcadia’s district but attended Nandua because the only teacher for his special needs was there.

A NAME AND A DAY

Over 500 million have been killed, not counting the 19th and 20th century, over a name and a day. Each Abrahamic religion changes the name of God and scriptures with their own Bible. Some thought God's name was too sacred to speak, which is not in the scriptures.

When Jesus walked the Earth he and the people around him spoke Aramaic language. In Aramaic language God's name was Allaha in the Aramaic language the Muslim spell it without an A.

That fulfills the prophecy of Revelation 12:9 "The whole world will be deceived."

By Linda Cicaira

Because I report on Accomack School Board meetings and have to write about the not-so-good news, people sometimes think I am anti-schools and that just isn't true. I really want local kids to get educated and I believe public schools are the way to go since they kick start the real life experience of dealing with the public.

I went to Accomack schools from Grades 5 to 12 and marvel at how many improvements have been made since I was a kid. It's been several decades.

There wasn't a gym at Central High School in Painter when I graduated in 1975. We played our basketball games at the Onancock Armory and won the state championship despite our disadvantage.

But it sure would have been awesome to have such a facility. The metal building behind the now abandoned structure came after I moved on to college.

I learned in a recent School Board meeting that high school gyms here are getting air-conditioning. The only place with that luxury at Central was the office of Principal John Parsons. It was a window unit. The students and teachers just had to sweat it out, even on the second-floor. And in the winter, wearing your coat during class, was not that unusual.

By the way, Central was added to the national register of historic places in 2011. It's that place on Lankford Highway that was abandoned after a New York artist planned and then failed to make a show place and retail establishment for local talent there.

And while I mentioned the decades since I was in school, it wasn't all that different either. We didn't heat the rooms with wood or write on slates nor did we bring our lunches in a pail. But, we sure didn't have practice gyms. The first one of those I've seen was on Chincoteague in much more recent years. I couldn't believe it. It is awesome. Perhaps I would have been athletic if those amenities were around back then. On second thought, probably not. But one of my classmates might have been.

Peer pressure was similar to today and bullying was really rampant back in the 70s. There was no such thing as security. Did we need it? Probably.

There was also no such thing as dual enrollment in those days. I think being able to earn college credit for classes taken in high school is pretty great. Technical courses in those days was home economics for the girls and shop for the boys. You didn't cross over. It just wasn't done. I would loved to have taken shop. There were a lot of tools in that building at Central. It looked pretty interesting.

I never took home studies at Central but I learned a lot from Mrs. Martha Simpson, who taught the course at Mary N. Smith. She is retired now and on the Accomack School Board Selection Commission. I learned sewing from watching Irene Willett of Painter at her kitchen table. However, I actually sewed a project myself in Mrs. Simpson's class. Then I sometimes used my grandmother's sewing machine. It has been handy knowledge.

We did not have 3-D printers! And likely wouldn't have had them even if they had been available. Nor did we raise money to take journeys to Iceland or even overnight anywhere. Our senior trip to Washington was done in one long, long day. I don't think athletes stayed overnight either.

Of course, no one had a computer or iPad back then. There was no such thing. We were learning typing on manual machines or fancy electric ones, if we took higher business classes. For many, our goals and expectations weren't as high as teenagers today. They have plans I never ventured to think about. I didn't think those things were possible for me. Now they can be anything and if they don't think so, someone at school is telling them they can do it. If they aren't and you're a student reading this, I think I just told you, you can! Yippee!

As Temperatures Rise, So Do Number of Con Artists

By Trooper John Feryus,
Crime Prevention Specialist
Virginia State Police

As we approach summer here on the beautiful Eastern Shore of Virginia and the temperatures are continuing to creep up, we, the law enforcement officers in your community have also been seeing something not so beautiful on the rise: scams. We are primarily seeing a drastic increase in identity theft and telephone scams.

These scams, on the surface, range anywhere from winning a foreign lottery, needing money to cover the taxes on your winnings, to someone pretending to be from a law enforcement agency asking you to pay bail for a loved one who has allegedly been arrested, or a utility company demanding payment on a delinquent bill.

Criminals are becoming more shrewd by the minute and are armed with more personal information about you now more than ever before. They primarily obtain this information via social media and use it to build credibility and trust with you when they initiate communication. These callers will appear to be very legitimate, and ask for your private personal data such as your social security number or account passwords in an effort to "log you in to your account." If a scammer is requesting money they will typically ask for payment via money orders, or gift cards.

You are the first line of defense in protecting your identity and your hard earned money. You are not going to win a foreign lottery that you didn't play, or receive government grants that you did not apply for. No legitimate organization, utility, or law enforcement agency will request payments via money order or gift cards. And no legitimate organization, utility, or bank, etc., will request private personal data over the telephone. Remember the old adage, "if it sounds too good to be true, it probably is." Never hesitate to question the validity and legitimacy of the other party on the phone. Write down the date and time you received the call, the phone number and name of organization and person you are allegedly speaking with. Exercise caution, hang up and go to that organization in person if possible and inform them of the attempt to gather your information or collect money from you.

If you do find yourself to be a victim of identity theft, report it to local law enforcement as soon as possible and try to provide as much detailed information as possible.
