Supervisors Grill Riverside Execs on Rehab Center Closing

Riverside took a verbal beating Monday night as its Vice President of Lifelong Health Division, Ed Heckler, tried to explain to Accomack supervisors and around 200 concerned citizens why Riverside Shore Rehabilitation Center, also known as the Parksley nursing home, where about 90 people live and 130 work, is going to close in October.

The Aug. 22 announcement came as a shock to local folks. Employees, some of whom had been there for decades, were told that morning. The local hospital board, also a Riverside institution, was informed around noon. Family members and officials learned about it on Facebook.

Journalists were invited to join a conference call, but were not told what it was regarding. Some got a press release just before the call. They were told there were only around 30 beds available in other local facilities and about the same number of job openings in other Riverside facilities on the Shore. One reporter sent the release to the county, as officials had not been formally notified. It was published on Riverside's website on Aug. 23.

Robert Crockett, chairman of the supervisors, who is also vice-chairman of the hospital's board of directors, appointed a committee to look into the matter. He listed state Sen. Lynwood Lewis, Del. Rob Bloxom, Supervisors Billy Joe Tarr and Paul Muhly, Vice President Ed Heckler of Riverside's lifelong health division, Administrator John Peterman of Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital, County Administrator Mike Mason and Director of Planning and Community Development Rich Morrison, as members.

County Attorney Celia Berge advises the Accomack Board of Supervisors it has no authority in the closing of Riverside Shore Rehabilitation Center in Parksley.

Crockett promised that the group would meet "soon."

He said the unexpected news created "an atmosphere of panic." He asked County Attorney Celia Berge to figure out if the county could delay or stop the closure.

"It's my belief the board of supervisors has no authority in this matter," County Attorney Celia Berge advised officials Monday. She said Riverside must abide by federal and state health department requirements. She en-

Riverside Sought to Transfer 80 Rehab Beds in 2015

Two years ago this month, Riverside Health Systems was trying to move residents from the nursing home in Parksley to the Hermitage of the Eastern Shore in Onancock, according a request it made of the state and then withdrew a few months later.

Wednesday by the Eastern Shore Post states Riverside Hermitage Inc. applied for a Certificate of Public Need (COPN) to transfer 80 nursing facility beds from Parksley to the Hermitage. The rest of the beds, or more than 55, would eventually have been eliminated.

Northampton Teacher of the Year Instills ‘Growth Mindset’ in Students

By Stefanie Jackson

Northampton sixth grade math teacher Danielle Black has discovered the formula for classroom success. She was named the Teacher of the Year at Kiptopeke Elementary and district-wide for the 2016-2017 school year. This September marks the beginning of Black's fifth year teaching.

Black's advice to fellow teachers: “You have to believe in each and every student ... or they won't believe in themselves.” Students can achieve great things when teachers help them build confidence, she says. “If you have high expectations of them, you'll be surprised at how many rise to the challenge.”

Black's greatest strength in the classroom is likely her creative ability to engage her students. It is essential “to draw them in and get their attention,” she says. Each of her lesson plans includes “something engaging every day ... definitely anything hands on.” Black prefers to “stay away” from worksheets whenever possible. Instead, students go on scavenger hunts around the room to find problems and answers. They sing and rap about math. They calculate probabilities using M&Ms and Skittles. Sometimes, they even get to write math problems in shaving cream on their desks.

Black instills in her students what she calls a “growth mindset,” reminding them that their brains will grow and improve, and that “they are capable of learning anything” if they “work hard and believe (they) can do it.”

She contacts every parent at the beginning of the year to gain their support, calling periodically to keep parents “in the loop” on grades, behavior, or just to praise a student for a “great week.”

Though Black earned the honor of Teacher of the Year with only four years of classroom experience under her belt, education wasn't her immediate career of choice. The former camp counselor and basketball coach entered the University of Delaware with an undeclared major. After taking a few education courses and getting some hands-on experience in the classroom, she realized that teaching was “super rewarding” and decided to pursue it as a profession.

Black first learned Northampton County needed teachers when she attended a University of Delaware job fair. Her first interview was conducted via Skype, followed by an in-person interview. Black had no apprehension about moving to a new state, having lived in seven states as a child, moving as her father's job required (not in the military). Originally from New Jersey, she spent much of her childhood in Texas.

Black said “human resources was very helpful” in finding her a roommate – a fellow teacher – and housing in Cape Charles. Living in town is “really nice, because a lot of things are in walking distance,” like the beach. Black enjoys frequent outings across the Bay by traveling with friends and splitting the tolls.

Black could be the poster child for teacher retention, having openly embraced a life and career on the Eastern Shore. She described a positive experience during her new teacher orientation, led by Division Teacher Mentor Karen Foley. Black said new teachers were taken on a boat trip and visited Barrier Islands Center during orientation week, which “definitely made us feel welcome.”

She said Kiptopeke Elementary offers a “close, tight-knit environment” for teachers and administrators working together. The “relationships are awesome,” and Subrina Parker, Kiptopeke's principal since Black was hired, “has been incredibly supportive about everything.” She also benefited from the collective knowledge and experience of the “sixth grade team of veteran teachers” who received her.

~ Teacher of the Year ~

Black didn't become Teacher of the Year by spending her summers doing educational research. "I spend a lot of time with my family," she says. If you don't take time for yourself, "you'll be burnt out really quickly," she warns.

In August, Black starts gearing up to go back to school, reading up on the latest instructional strategies, talking to her teacher friends, and searching Pinterest for creative classroom ideas, always looking to "try out new things."

Black will be extra busy this year, as she recently began working on her master's degree through a Michigan State online education program. "I feel like one day I might want to get a Ph.D.," she said, but first she wants to gain much more experience in her current position. Black is interested in teaching education at the college level. She enjoys teaching children, but hopes for a future opportunity to "pass down my wisdom to pre-service teachers" and "pay it forward."

NORTHAMPTON WANTS TO ASK GOVERNOR TO REVISE SCHOOL FUNDING FORMULA

By Stefanie Jackson

The closing of Riverside Shore Rehabilitation Center in Parksley and auctioning of Arcadia Nursing and Rehabilitation Center and Quail Run Assisted Living Facility in Nelsonia will be addressed at the next regular Northampton Board of Supervisors meeting on Sept. 12.

The the legal notice for the Oct. 2 auction in Norfolk was published less than a week after the announcement of the Parksley nursing home's scheduled Oct. 21 closing. The shutdown leaves 89 residents searching for beds and 128 employees searching for jobs. Supervisor Robert Duer added that the closing of G.F. Horne Assisted Living Facility in Onancock leaves the Shore with no mental health facility. The discussion took place at Monday evening's recessed meeting.

Northampton's school personnel attended, including Superintendent Eddie Lawrence, fresh off the district-wide school opening earlier that day, where seasoned teachers received anniversary pins alongside "lots of enthusiastic new teachers," Supervisor Oliver Bennett said.

Chairman Spencer Murray brought up the composite index, the calculation used in Virginia to determine each county's ability to pay for education. Murray said the composite index puts poor but "land-rich" rural counties like Northampton at a disadvantage concerning state education funding. He urged the entire Northampton school district to sign a petition to reformulate the composite index. Murray said the board of supervisors would follow the petition with a resolution and "get it to the governor's desk in November." Murray recommended school board member Randall Parks write the petition.

Northampton County Sheriff David Doughty and Finance Director John Andrzejewski responded to concerns brought up by supervisors Aug. 8 regarding the county jail's phone commission account. The jail earns commissions of $2,000 to $3,000 per month from inmate phone usage, through a contract with Pay Tel Communications, renewed every three to five years.

The account has a current balance of approximately $160,000. On Aug. 8, Andrzejewski requested a budget amendment of $58,601 to purchase a prisoner transport vehicle and a maintenance truck using funds from the account. Supervisors were surprised at the six-figure balance and questioned whether these were public funds that could be used elsewhere. They decided to delay voting on the budget amendment until hearing from Doughty.

Referring to a 2012 decision by the state's attorney general, Doughty confirmed that the jail's phone commissions qualify as public funds that can be used outside the facility. He recommended reserving phone commission revenue for the jail's capital needs. Doughty said to date, the jail phone commissions have only been spent on vehicles, and the current account balance is high because the funds haven't been touched in five or six years.

Murray mentioned the cameras monitoring the jail's interior are "extremely old," but replacement would cost far more than the $100,000 that will be left in the phone commission account after purchasing two new vehicles. Doughty said eventually, money would be needed to fix the HVAC and other maintenance issues in the 10-year-old building.

Director of Public Works and Operations Chris Thomas updated the board on the Willis Wharf harbor dredging project. Only one, "astronomical" bid was received from a contractor willing to complete the project by the tight Oct. 31 deadline. The $373,495 bid included $190,000 for site work, four times the amount anticipated. With more time to complete the project, the cost of dredging would be reduced from $15 to $13 or $14 per cubic yard, and the cost of site work would likely be cut in half, Truckner said. He recommended tabling the project until early next year, when there would be more time to acquire competitive bids. The board agreed.

RECYCLING CHALLENGE WILL SCORE LANDSCAPE IMPROVEMENTS FOR AN ACCOMACK SCHOOL

By Linda Cicaira

It's a 30-day challenge for Accomack elementary schools, but it is meant to instill the "good habit" of recycling for all Eastern Shore residents. The competition will begin Sept. 11 when special bins will be set up for each school at county convenience centers.

Linda Mrozinski, Accomack's recycling and litter control specialist, said refuse will be weighed and the school with the most recyclables will win $500 worth of trees, bushes and flowers for its landscape.

"The school can choose the plantings," she said. "I will deliver to the winning school and hopefully, with the help of some volunteers, plant and mulch them," added Mrozinski. "To comply with the grant, I must place the plants there. I have to take before and after pictures."

"The goal is to foster the development of good recycling habits from a young age, and therefore create a more environmentally friendly generation," Mrozinski said. "As the children bring their family's recycling in and deposit it into the bin, they can see what they are doing to help to keep our landfills from becoming full. ... With residents using our convenience centers for most of their waste/recycling needs, we should see a decrease in littering."

The county can fund such a contest because it was awarded one of the four $2,000 state beautification grants recently. The money will also be used for the bins.

Despite Accomack's stellar efforts to recycle, garbage is still piling up in the county landfill.

"The (landfill) cell the county is closing down is approximately 130.3 feet in height. That's over 13 stories high," said Mrozinski. It is approximately 2,909.0 feet in diameter that would be just about a half-mile around at the base. The second cell was opened around 2003. That means it took only 14 years to bring it to its capacity," she said. It cost the county $2 million to shut the cell down.

"Just think if we all recycled we may have been able to keep the cell open longer, as in years longer, and maybe had lower tax, or more services offered by the county, or more jobs," she said. "Who knows? This is, for me anyway, a very good reason to recycle. It's not that hard. Everything goes into the same container, no sorting."

The state Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) announced in July that Accomack Solid Waste Planning Unit achieved a recycling rate of 52.4 percent for 2016, an increase of more than 10 percent over the previous year. The mandated rate is 15 percent.

The rate has increased steadily from 6.6 percent in 2004, through the combined efforts of citizens, businesses, waste recyclers and haulers, local organizations and public agencies. Last year, 23,274 tons were recycled out of a total of 49,055 tons generated. Accomack received the maximum credit of 5 percent for source reduction programs for materials that include textiles, electronics, and vegetative waste.

Recyclable items include aluminum cans and foil, number 1 and 2 plastics, which include milk jugs and drink and detergent bottles; mixed paper, including newspapers with inserts, brown paper bags, magazines, catalogs, junk mail, cereal boxes, paper boards, telephone books, glass bottles and jars, steel cans, metal and cardboard.

All items except tires, used oil (petroleum products), lead acid batteries, cell phones, rechargeable batteries and plastic bags can be recycled together. Attendants need to be seen for assistance on these items.

Non-recyclable items for the centers are food waste, hazardous waste, styrofoam, pizza boxes, frozen dinner trays, ceramics, glass that is not a container, coated cardboard containers, light bulbs, bubble wrap, wood, yard clippings, hypodermic needles, paint cans, aerosol cans, plastics numbers 3-7, (which includes yogurt containers, medicine bottles and some other plastic food containers) and water hoses.

Yard waste is accepted at the landfill at the Painter convenience center only. Yard waste includes dirt, trees, brush and stumps up to 12-inches in diameter.

"We are in hopes of getting the children's family, extended family and neighborhood involved, thereby making our beautiful Eastern Shore, Accomack County, a clean, healthy, green place to live, grow up and thrive," Mrozinski.

Abbreviated Final General Management Plan for Assateague Seashore Released

By Linda Cicaira

The 210-page Abbreviated Final General Management Plan/Environmental Impact Statement for Assateague Island National Seashore was released to the public this week and is available for viewing at <https://parkplanning.nps.gov/document.cfm?documentID=82260>

It includes an analysis of comments made about the proposal with responses from the National Park Service (NPS) and editorial corrections. The shorter format allowed for a “simple brief document and to avoid costly reprinting of the entire 650-page draft.”

Portions that apply to Virginia’s Assateague Island National Seashore include the Park Service proposal to consult with Virginia and Maryland to “develop a process to gradually reduce and eliminate horseshoe crab harvest within park waters over a reasonable length of time. Consultation would consider broader issues related to the horseshoe crab fishery management in Delaware Bay, including the additional pressure on horseshoe crab stock in other areas, as noted by ... Virginia, that might result from the NPS management decisions at Toms Cove.”

“The NPS is not proposing to prohibit aquaculture in park waters in Virginia around Assateague Island,” an announcement stated. “In recognition of the long history of aquaculture within seashore water predating the establishment of the national seashore, the NPS would issue a special use permit ... to allow for the continued practice of commercial aquaculture and maintenance of the historic setting.”

The Virginia Marine Resources Commission would continue to issue commercial aquaculture leases, have regulatory oversight, and continue to be responsible for managing the leases and ensuring that commercial aquaculture within seashore waters is consistent with special use permits. The parks service “would initiate an assessment of oyster watch houses and hunting blinds to determine their legal status and the authority for their presence.” Only those unauthorized would be removed.

The NPS would also conduct an ethnographic study and collaborate with local and regional cultural and academic institutions to develop interpretive programming and other information that would further illuminate the significance of activities associated with oyster watch houses and hunting blinds. In addition, the NPS would study commercial fin fishing activities within its waters.

The NPS will issue a final decision on the abbreviated final plan no earlier than 30 days from the date the Environmental Protection Agency published its “Notice of Availability of the Abbreviated Final GMP/EIS” in the Federal Register, which was on Aug. 25, 2017.

The crime happened on June 5, 2016. He was put on probation for three years. Catalano was also given 30 days for possession of marijuana, a misdemeanor. The term was set to run concurrently with the other sentence. His driver's license was suspended for six months.

OBITUARIES

Emma Trower Bell Beatty Allis

Mrs. Emma Trower Bell Beatty Allis died Aug. 25, 2017, one month before her 110th birthday. In more than a century she experienced a world of change, from horse and buggy (she and her three sisters went to school in a pony and cart) to the space and computer age.

She was born in Birdsnest on the Eastern Shore of Virginia. She grew up riding bareback and playing games with her sisters and cousins. The challenge was to gallop across the field, standing, and jump the fence while falling off. After she was married she returned with her family every year to the Eastern Shore of Virginia. She never lost her Virginia accent.

At 16, she went to Harrisonburg State Teachers College (now James Madison University). After graduating in 1928 she came back to the Eastern Shore to teach school. In 1933, she married Kenneth Bowers Beatty from Cape Charles. They traveled all over the country for two years on assignment as a part of a team of accountants who were auditing the Federal Reserve and federally chartered banks.

After her husband died in 1978, she married Frederick Ashton Allis in 1990 at the age of 83. They were fortunate to have 11 years together until he died in 2001.

She and her family lived in Upper Montclair, N.J., for 50 years where she was involved in many civic activities, including being a Girl Scout leader and president of the Montclair Garden Club, where there is now a Till Allis award for horticultural excellence. She was known for her flower arrangements, and at St. James Church she taught other Altar Guild members in liturgical design. She studied landscape design at Rutgers and received a landscape design certificate. She volunteered at the Montclair History Center, Van Vleck House, the Montclair Art Museum, and the beautification committee for the town of Montclair.

She is survived by two daughters, Tilly-Jo Emerson of Morristown, N.J., and Betsy Boocock Matlack of Bernardsville, N.J.; six grandchildren, Kenneth, Cathy, and Libby Emerson, Rich, Andrew, and Lindie Sanford, and 11 great grandchildren.

A graveside memorial service will be held at Johnsons Methodist Church Cemetery, Bayside Road, Machipongo, on Sunday, Sept. 3, at 4:30 p.m., with the Rev. Clarence Bowen officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to The Montclair History Center, 108 Orange Rd., Montclair, NJ 07042.

Students 'Swamped' With Art, Have Stars in Their Eyes, After School Summer Camp

By Stefanie Jackson

Less than two weeks before the first day of the 2017-2018 school year, Northampton County School Board members met to reflect on the success of summer programs and discuss new instructional programs and strategies to be implemented this fall.

Teacher and Camp Director Brad Ford reported on Northampton's first annual elementary summer camp program, offered to third through fifth grade students and held at Occohannock Elementary. Two camps, a visual and performing arts camp and an astronomy camp, were led by Ford and instructors Tatum Ford and Melissa Stein in June. Twenty students were accepted to each camp, from a pool of 33 applicants for the arts camp and 26 applicants for the science camp. Applicants wrote essays and/or drew pictures explaining why they should be chosen. The weeklong day camps were free to students, including breakfast, lunch, and transportation to and from school.

Arts campers learned many new mediums, from mosaics to print-making. Local artist Willie Crockett visited and painted a picture for the children on the spot. Astronomy campers created models of asteroids and solar systems. They viewed all sorts of astronomical wonders, from the moon and stars to the great American solar eclipse, inside a portable, "pop-up" planetarium. The astronomy camp was conducted in partnership with the University of Virginia.

Students demonstrated their learning June 22, with a performance of the 30-minute musical, "Swamped!" by the arts campers, and a star-viewing party with the astronomy campers. Each of the 40 students received two guest tickets for the special event, and 75 to 80 parents attended. Instructors hope to continue and possibly expand the summer camp program next year.

Director of Special Programs Keren Plowden hired four new special education teachers for the upcoming school year. They will be working three days a week at the two elementary schools, alternating the remaining time between the middle and high school. Pilot programs this year include robotics at the middle school and Spanish at the elementary schools. The second and third grade reading programs will implement UVA's CLEAR Curriculum (Challenge Leading to Engagement, Achievement and Results). Place-based instruction for rural areas will be introduced.

Andrew Teeling, board member of the Northampton County Education Foundation, is organizing a "state of the school community forum," scheduled for Oct. 17, and is sending 100 invitations to stakeholders including school board members, businesses, and business associations. He wants the community "to list the successes" of Northampton schools as well as share ideas on making them better.

Teeling reported a drop in teachers applying for NCEF grant funding. In response, he has streamlined the application process. The application is now only one page long, and may be submitted online.

Teeling, who started the new career mentor program at Northampton High School, said it was an immediate success, and has already grown beyond its original scope. The program, designed for retired professionals to provide career mentoring to high school students, received 17 mentor applications at its outset. Within its first year, the program expanded to include working professionals and craftsmen, with more than 35 participating mentors. At least one permanent hire resulted from the program's initial run, with a student securing a job at a local marina.

Superintendent Eddie Lawrence briefly discussed school accreditation statuses. Occohannock Elementary is fully accredited; Kiptopeke Elementary is accredited with warning after dropping to a 68 percent SOL passing rate in math this year. Northampton High needs at least two more seniors to complete their graduation requirements within the next month or two for the school to attain an 85 percent graduation rate and full accreditation.

Reminder for Drivers to Stop for School Buses Boarding or Discharging Students

By 1st Sgt. B.E. Jeffrey Jones
Virginia State Police

With the school term approaching, I wanted to take a minute to remind drivers the law requires them to stop for school buses loading and unloading children.

The Virginia Code states: A person driving a motor vehicle shall stop such vehicle when approaching, from any direction, any school bus which is stopped on any highway, private road or school driveway for the purpose of taking on or discharging children, the elderly, or mentally or physically handicapped persons. The driver shall remain stopped until all the persons are clear of the highway, private road or school driveway and the bus is put in motion.

Anyone violating those requirements is guilty of reckless driving.

The driver of a vehicle, however, need not stop when approaching a school bus if the school bus is stopped on the other roadway of a divided highway, on an access road, or on a driveway when the other roadway, access road, or driveway is separated from the roadway on which he is driving by a physical barrier or an unpaved area.”

I will have troopers in covert vehicles to address violations for the first time this year. I have spoken at length to many of the school bus drivers and I am going to focus enforcement efforts based their communications.

1 Two-lane roadway:

When school bus stops for passengers, all traffic from both directions must stop!

2 Two-lane roadway with a center turning lane:

When school bus stops for passengers, all traffic from both directions must stop!

3 Four-lane roadway without a median separation:

When school bus stops for passengers, all traffic from both directions must stop!

4 Divided highway of four lanes or more with a median separation:

When school bus stops for passengers, only traffic following the bus must stop.

PONIES, YELLOW JACKETS EARN WINS IN SEASON OPENERS

Story by Krystle Bono

Football season is officially underway for some of the Eastern Shore varsity teams with last Friday night's home kick-offs.

The Northampton Yellow Jackets and the Chincoteague Ponies grabbed wins in their respective home openers, with the Yellow Jackets defeating Mathews, 49-18, and the Ponies topping Windsor, 27-6.

Northampton marked up the board to a 15-6 count with just five minutes left in the first half. Cody Goller pushed the Yellow Jackets up another six points, but the Blue Devils answered on a return to narrow Northampton's lead, 21-12.

With just 42 seconds left before the halftime buzzer, Tamaze Brisco's touchdown and an extra point by Eduardo Mateo-Hernandez would rest the first half in favor of Northampton, 27-12.

After halftime, the Yellow Jackets continued the momentum to finish on top, 49-18, to claim their first W of the year.

Northampton will travel to Northumberland tonight (Friday) for a 7 p.m. contest. The Indians are fresh off a win of their own over Surry County, 54-12, last Friday night.

Earning a 27-6 win over Windsor put the Ponies in the positive for the start of their season, and Chincoteague will look to extend that against Hampton Roads Academy tonight at 7 p.m.

The Nandua Warriors and the Arcadia Firebirds each recorded their first loss of the season, with the Warriors suffering a 50-7 deficit to Rappahannock and the Firebirds dropping a 56-36 loss to First Flight.

Jaden Davis scored Nandua's lone touchdown for the night.

The Warriors will be back in action tonight at Windsor for a 7 p.m. kickoff.

Arcadia faced a tough battle in Oak Hall, but Head Coach Tony Nock was impressed with the effort his team put forth in their first regular season outing.

"That was a learning experience for a lot of these kids. For our quarterback, the first three passes were two for interceptions for the other team, but he got himself together. We had five kids that it was their very first varsity game, ever," reflected Nock.

"First Flight is very well coached and a very good ball club. So, to play that caliber of football and come back like they did; we had two runningbacks with over 100 yards rushing and 390 yards rushing as a team, but we had 5-6 turnovers, and you just can't do that and expect to win. But they learned and got that experience and a lot of kids grew up; they found themselves."

The Firebirds will face the Stephen Decatur Seahawks in Berlin, Md., tonight at 7 p.m.

VARSITY FOOTBALL PREVIEWS

By Krystle Bono

The Chincoteague Ponies varsity team, led by Nick Howard, finished last season with a solid 8-4 record. The Ponies lost eight seniors at the conclusion of last year, but they do have some starters back in key positions, including quarterback and runningback. With some rebuilding to do, Coach Howard is looking to strengthen the defensive end.

"I'd like them to continue to be able to run the football and build our defense. That's where we want to see improvement," said Howard.

With the loss of seniors, came a wave of young players, made up of a number of freshman and a rather large sophomore class.

Howard, now on his 18th season with the Ponies, said he will have three of his six seniors in the starting lineup, and the rest will be underclassmen.

Two four-year starters, quarterback Dustin Holloway and VoShawn Davis, now seniors, will return to help lead the team.

The Broadwater Vikings are also in a rebuilding stage. Head Coach Noble Palmer, in his sixth season with the Vikings, has a young squad that will get a good amount of playing time.

They are "very, very young. We've got some speed and good receivers. Quarterbacks throw the ball well. I'm worried about the offensive line because we don't have a lot of depth this year."

The Vikings lost four seniors last year and have four seniors this season. The latter part of the team is made up of nine freshmen, two sophomores and six juniors.

New to Broadwater's football program this year is Joe Ortelli, who has previously coached with the Yellow Jackets, both in head coaching and assistant coaching positions.

"I'm excited about having Coach Ortelli here as defensive coordinator. He's going to make our defense a lot better. I've coached with him before. He was with me when I was at Northampton for a while, so it's nice to be back together again," expressed Palmer.

The Broadwater Vikings will kickoff their regular season tonight (Friday) against Blessed Sacrament-Huguenot in Powhatan.

In Oak Hall, the Arcadia Firebirds have dug in deep this summer, and according to Head Coach Tony Nock, there is a lot of excitement for the season to come.

"We look good. We've got all of our linemen back. We only graduated five [last season]. It helps to have that experience – that's something you can't coach. We're excited. We are pumped about this season," said Nock.

Arcadia finished the 2016-17 season 4-6 overall, and had a number of players named to the Eastern Shore All-District teams, including one of three District Athletes of the Year, Control Brown.

The team does have a new quarterback this year; a 10th grade lefty, who has shown a lot of promise. Arcadia's roster is also eight-seniors deep this year. Nock also remarked that he will suit up a few from the junior varsity squad.

"[We've got] one freshman and five sophomores, and a couple of those guys are playing a little JV, too, but most will find themselves on the varsity roster," according to Nock, now on his 21st season with the Firebirds, "They are playing above the JV level at this point."

With all the teams having opportunities to get a pre-season game or two in before the regular season began, coaches and players alike are anxious to see how their efforts play out against one another over the course of the 2017-18 season.

ESY&CC Ladies Golf Invitational

Story and Photos by Bill Sterling

The Ladies Golf Association held its annual Eastern Shore Yacht and Country Club Ladies Invitational on Aug. 20, attracting 64 golfers, with many traveling several hours to compete in two-woman teams for low net and gross prizes.

This year, for the first time ever, there was even a waiting list. Proceeds went to benefit the Eastern Shore Coalition Against Domestic Violence (ESCADV).

Barbara Murphy said one golfer who made this tournament a success, could not be there. She was referring to Debra Bergner, a LGA member, who died last November from complications of multiple sclerosis.

Bergner, born in Idaho, moved to the Eastern Shore in 1996 after she and her husband built a house in Hacksneck. She had served in the U.S. Navy for 12 years, attaining the rank of Petty Officer First Class and was among the first women to be assigned to sea duty, as well as one of the first to become Surface Warfare Qualified.

She joined the ESY&CC and was active in the LGA, agreeing to chair the Ladies Invitational Tournament with Murphy, her sister-in-law, in 2009. The tournament started in the early 1990s but faded until Bergner and Murphy became involved.

Following the tournament, Murphy recalled Bergner's influence on the growth of the tournament. "Debra was a computer whiz and used her skills to market the tournament as far south as North Carolina, west to Richmond and north to Delaware. We contacted every club we could find online."

"Deb was definitely the 'face' of the Invitational. She was quite extroverted and loved interacting with the people. She had the knack of making all the guests feel welcome and special. She had great organizational skills. I was the silent partner working behind the scenes managing the golf part of the tourney and prizes."

"This year, 52 of the 64 players came from off the Shore," Murphy added.

Many of the ladies we know are older and had stopped traveling to tournaments, but they love coming over here playing a practice round on Monday, staying in a hotel and then playing the tournament on Tuesday."

Murphy said the tournament has also benefited from partnering with the ESCADV, which holds a reception for the players on the night before the tournament.

Peaches Dodge, past president of the ESCADV Board of Directors and an avid golfer who chairs the ESCADV golf tournament, says the it has been "a wonderful partnership," generating significant revenue but also raising awareness.

"The tournament has a special feeling and tone, especially the energy of hope, compassion and caring," says Dodge, who adds the ESCADV has been providing emergency shelter for victims of domestic and sexual assault for over 30 years on Virginia's Eastern Shore.

The ESCADV has a 16-bed undisclosed shelter for survivors and their children. There is a 24-hour, 7-day-a-week hotline (757-787-1329) for people in crisis. The ESCADV serves up to 200 people a year, with three to seven percent being men.

Dodge adds, "The community support is critical to enable us to secure grant funding. That is why we are so thankful for the wonderful support we received from over 40 hole sponsors and the 64 golfers plus generous individuals and businesses donating prizes for auction."

Winning the low gross prize was the twosome of Carole Lloyd and Mary Francisco, both from the Piankatank River Golf Club, with a best ball score of 78. Second was Regina Custis and Julie Whitaker, also from Piankatank, with a round of 80, followed in third by Donna Ruark and Connie Lewis, from Great Hope in Westover, Md., with an 82.

Winning first place for the best net score was the twosome of Myree Tyler and Barbara Murphy, both from the ESY&CC, with a 62. In second was the team of Helen Rosson and Linda Knight, of the Brookwoods Golf Course with a 64. In third were Sue Conners of the ESY&CC and Sharon Winter of the Sea Trail Golf Association with a 65.

Margie Byrd of the ESY&CC won the prize for the longest drive. Closest to the pin was Mary Francisco.

Peaches Dodge, past president of the Eastern Shore Coalition Against Domestic Violence Board of Directors, is assisted in the raffle drawings by Jon Bergner, husband of the late Debra Bergner, who was largely responsible for the growth of the ESY&CC Ladies Invitational Golf Tournament before her death last November.

Fishing from the Shore

By Bill Hall

Just as angling action started to improve, along comes a major weather system up the coast producing tropical conditions on Tuesday. How this will impact the fishing is anybody's guess.

Prior to the arrival of the system, puppy drum had started to appear in the seaside creeks, along with snapper bluefish in the creeks and along the surf. The population of spot was increasing on a daily basis on the bayside, as were speckled trout. I don't anticipate the system hurting the lower bayside red drum fishery, although it could start to wind up this year's fantastic cobia run.

Chincoteague – Donna Rae, at Captain Bob's Marina, reported that small bluefish in the 10-14" range have moved into Assateague and Chincoteague Channels as well as the Assateague Surf. These snappers are hitting almost anything, but fresh cut bait has been the top producer. Spot catches were being made in the surf on bloodworm and bloodworm-flavored Fishbites. Flounder catches improved prior to Tuesday's blow, with keeper-sized fish pulled from the Chincoteague Channel as well as along the Queen Sound Bridge, where a few keeper trout were also encountered. Closer to the inlet, puffers and sea mullet (kingfish, whiting) were still available. The same area remains a hotbed for catching coastal sharks.

The subway cars produced nice catches of flounder in the 22-25" class earlier in the week but fell off over the weekend. Captain Steve's Bait & Tackle weighed in flounder up to 6.10. Triggers and trout were a welcome bycatch of the deepwater flounder fishery. Catches of dolphin (mahi) were made over the Bone wreck. Maryland angler Brent Redmiles trolled up a 5-14 Spanish Mackerel while pulling a Clark Spoon two miles off the Assateague shoreline.

Wachapreague – Capt. Lindsay Paul, at Trident Tackle, reported that the Foxy Lady with Captain Nat Atkinson found yellowfin tuna and a king mackerel in the vicinity of 21 Mile Hill. Another vessel trolling the same seamount was rewarded with three yellowfin and a wahoo. Captain Paul said that a couple of white marlin releases were made in the Washington Canyon. Inside the inlet, a steady population of croakers had moved in, although most of them were on the small side. Inshore anglers were also catching sand mullet (whiting), puppy drum and mostly under-sized flounder.

Lower Shore – Chis Snook, of Chris' Bait & Tackle, reported that spot catches were improving off Kiptopeke, where a nice population of kingfish (whiting) was still hanging out. According to Chris, catches of over 300 whiting per boat were reported. Along the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, sheepshead catches were improving, while the population of triggerfish and spadefish remained steady. Large red drum were being released over the shoals, while cobia were still being caught by sightcasters, though the fish were becoming more finicky after being targeted all summer. Puppy drum catches were reported along the lower Shore Seaside creeks.

Upper Chesapeake Bay – Speckled trout action continued to improve in the middle bay, primarily from Watts Island up to Smith Island and South Marsh. Parksley's Ethan Willett registered a citation 5-5 speckled trout at Don's Tackle Shop. Some larger rockfish, to almost 30 inches were encountered by bait anglers inside Tangier Sound, off the Manokin River. Farther down the bay, large red drum from 40 to over 50 inches in length were being caught and released from off Occohannock Creek down to Cape Charles.

If you enjoy fishing on the Chesapeake, make plans now to enter the 27th Annual Onancock Bay Challenge Fishing Tournament on Sept. 16. Eight different bay species will be eligible for first and second place catches in both adult and youth divisions. For more information, go to www.esanglersclub.org or call 757-709-8697.

Bill Hall was the first Eastern Shore resident to achieve Virginia Salt Water Master Angler Status. He has been named Virginia Saltwater Angler of the Year and Virginia Saltwater Release Angler of the Year. Bill is an I.G.F.A. International Committee Representative and a longtime member of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament Committee. Car Show to Benefit Relay for Life

By Connie Morrison

A group of Eastern Shore car aficionados is turning its passion for autos into a boon for local charities.

"The purpose of the group is to bring people together and to raise money for charity," said Eastern Shore Cruisers club president Dave Wright.

Once a part of the Antique Auto Association, this group formed separately because it wanted to include all people who were passionate about their cars, not just those with antique cars. In fact, its car shows are open to members and non-members alike.

The two clubs have what Wright described as "interlocking boards," with the same people serving in the positions of president, vice president, and secretary for both groups.

The club has hosted 10 shows this year, raising more than $1,300 for local charities, including a recent show to benefit the Tasley Fire Department and an upcoming Sept. 9 show for the American Cancer Society during Relay for Life. An earlier Relay for Life car show netted $400 for Relay for Life of South Worcester County.

"Though we will always share a passion for motorized machinery, our primary purpose is to have plenty of good, family-friendly fun," said club secretary Keith Hornsberger.

The Relay for Life Nandua car show starts at 4:30 p.m. at Nandua High School. Registration begins at 3:30 p.m. and is $10 for club members, $15 for non-members. Trophies are awarded at 8 p.m. and the show ends at 8:30 p.m. Proceeds from the show are given to the Relay For Life Nandua, which is the Relay for Life event for Virginia's Eastern Shore.

Said Wright, "Our goal is to have as many shows as often as possible to better the lives of people in the community."

Free Outdoor Performance of Hamlet Sept. 22

Submitted Article

“All the world’s a stage!” says Shakespeare, and Friday, Sept. 22, at 7:30 p.m., the Exmore Town Park will become the stage for a free, full-length performance of Hamlet, one of Shakespeare’s most significant plays.

Presented by the Town of Exmore, in partnership with the Brown Box Theatre Project, a Boston-based, professional performing arts troupe, Shakespeare’s classic tragedy will take place outdoors with the Eastern Shore’s dark night sky and brilliant stars overhead, and nature as a backdrop. This is Shakespeare as “groundlings” might have viewed the play in Elizabethan times.

The atmosphere is informal and family-friendly with grassy spots for picnicking, and a playground nearby for restless children. It’s a uniquely Eastern Shore experience, intended to make classical theatre more easily accessible to everyone.

“This production marks the beginning of a series of annual events the town is planning as we work to establish Exmore as a cultural and entertainment anchor point for the ESVA,” said Exmore Mayor Doug Greer. “The arts are essential, and we want to make them more available.”

Hamlet is one of Shakespeare’s most widely-known plays, and is often ranked among the most powerful and influential tragedies in world literature. The unfolding plot reveals political ambitions and motivations while exploring a range of human emotions from love and grief to violence and greed. Shakespeare wrote for the masses, with plenty of bawdy humor and elements of comic relief. Yet, his plays are too rarely accessible to the community at large. The Town of Exmore and the Brown Box Theatre Project intend to dissolve the barriers that can exist between classical works and today’s audiences. In doing this, they are expanding the reach of professional performing arts by bringing the best in performance, design, and collaboration to communities that may be underserved or too far off the grid for most professional touring groups.

“There’s plenty of free parking, and we expect a large turn-out,” adds Mayor Greer. “Come early, and bring a lawn chair or blanket.”

The Exmore Town Park is located at 3330 Main St.

Chincoteague Island Library ‘Rides Into Reading’ This Fall

Submitted Article

The Chincoteague Island Library invites children 2 to 5 years old to “Ride into Reading” this fall. “Tales 4 Tots” stories, songs, finger plays and crafts will be held every Thursday at 10 a.m. from Sept. 14 through Dec. 14 (except Thanksgiving Day). The weekly themes will include school buses, trucks, trolleys, police cars, fire trucks, rockets, broom sticks and more. There will be visits by “Stormy,” a Chincoteague trolley and other special guests. Open to all and no registration is required. Children must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Linda Ryan, president of the Chincoteague Island Library board of directors, announced recently that more than 350 children of residents and guests were served by the library during the summer “Tales 4 Tots” and “Young Explorers” programs.

“During the summer, the library offered children and their families the opportunity make the library a Thursday morning destination. Taking full advantage of what the Chincoteague Island Library had to offer and the opportunity to utilize the new Chincoteague Island Arts Organization Annex (CIAO) has resulted in record participation this year,” said Ryan.

The Chincoteague Island Library offers programs and services to children and adults all year, free and open to the public. For more information about the library’s programs and services see the Library webpage at www.chincoteagueislandlibrary.org or visit the Chincoteague Island Library Facebook page.

Spouting Off

Several water spouts were seen last Friday, Aug. 25, over the Chesapeake Bay. Photographer Cecil Watts happened to be crossing the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel around 9:15 a.m. when he saw them beginning to form. He was able to pull off at the first tunnel heading south and capture several photos. One of those is pictured, left.

ANEC Holds Annual Meeting, Elections

A&N Electric Cooperative (ANEC) held its Annual Meeting on Thursday, Aug. 24 at Nandua High School.

ANEC reported its year-end financial status, updates on what's ahead and held elections for three directors representing districts 1, 2 and 3, which cover lower Accomack and Northampton Counties.

Director James N. Belote III was re-elected to the board in a contested race with Ronnie E. Holden in District 2.

Belote has served on the cooperative's board of directors for 19 years.

In 2016, he received the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association Gold Leadership Credentials and has been a member of numerous cooperative committees throughout his tenure as Director.

"It has been an honor to serve you as your representative," Belote said. "I am extremely proud to be associated with an organization such as ANEC."

Director Robert L. Nock, in District 1, and Director R. Wayne Browning, in District 3, ran unopposed for their seats and were re-elected to the board.

More than 2,600 members participated in the election of directors either in person or by proxy.

were exploring options of collaborating with other community partners to serve the long-term care needs for residents on the Eastern Shore,” Peter Glagola, Riverside’s public relations director, said Wednesday. “After significant due diligence, we learned that it was not feasible under the current regulations and decided not to move forward.”

Accomack officials voiced dismay Wednesday about not being told of the plan.

“It tells me that they wanted to get out of there for a while,” said County Administrator Mike Mason. “This isn’t such a rush judgment” to close the nursing home as was announced last week. “I just think they failed to acquire the Hermitage like they wanted. My guess is they couldn’t work the deal. There’s no requirement for them to notify the local government,” Mason said. “Everything that I’m telling you is speculation.” Getting a COPN would have been the first thing Riverside would have needed to do. “There are countless possibilities.”

“Well, that’s interesting,” Supervisor Donald Hart said Wednesday in a telephone interview. “I don’t know what to think right now. I would have thought they would have told the county about that. It bothers me to think we were working on the hospital at the same time. The whole thing concerns me. Upsets me.”

“No beds will be added in the planning district as a result of this transfer,” the application stated. “These beds will be open to the public and dually certified (for) Medicare and Medicaid.”

“Looks like Riverside Hermitage Inc. was a joint venture between Riverside and Virginia United Methodist Homes, formed to do the proposed project together,” Peter Boswell, director of the COPN Program for the Virginia Department of Health, wrote in an email Wednesday. “We don’t know and applicants are not required to give a reason,” he said regarding the request to put the project on “indefinite hold.”

George Phillips, who represented Riverside, contacted Boswell in December 2015 by email, and wrote, “Some issues have arisen that will take some time to resolve.”

The application included a long list of problems at the Parksley facility like the need for “a full kitchen replacement.” It needed a new dishwasher exhaust, kitchen hood exhaust, kitchen freezers and coolers. Mounting is “rusted through to daylight. Exhaust is extremely loud and causes kitchen communication issues. Kitchen flooring cracked and damaged, various floor electrical boxes need to be recessed — trip hazard, door frames rusted and need replacement, dry storage area does not meet regulatory temps for food storage during summer months — additional HVAC required, grease interceptor needs to be evaluated for upgrade.”

The application also noted, “door frames throughout the facility need to be replaced at $20,000.” Parking lots should be patched and sealed, drainage needs to be addressed and rotting boards should be replaced in the interior courtyard and elsewhere, air supply throughout the building needs to be replaced and return lines are leaking and/or sweating and need replacement and/or insulating. The fire alarm system needs to be replaced because parts are no longer available and many devices “appear to be original to the (circa 1967) building.”

Wastewater treatment needs a $100,000 overhaul to last for 18 months. The plant was being evaluated at that time. “A five-year plan would ... include a brand-new wastewater plant.” In addition, the pump station needs a new cover, retrievable basket and grinders, blowers need to be moved to ground level and replaced, air handling system and diffusers need to be replaced, electrical panel on tanks needs to be re-wired and the chlorine contact tank needs to be replaced.

A new nurse call system was needed at $55,000. The report also noted that various roof sections were replaced during the past year (2014) but, additional roof leaks in non-repaired sections continue to occur during heavy rain, screened-in porches need to be removed and or/rebuilt due to condition, exterior painting needed and public restrooms do not meet American Disability Act requirements.

There were also problems with flooring, the nurses’ station, drywall vs block wall, HVAC units more than 25 years old, boilers that were installed in 1979 and electrical systems there were at maximum capacity.

Edward Heckler, vice president of Riverside’s lifelong health division, told local officials Monday that $1.8 million had been spent on the facility since the company obtained it. He did not specify how the money was used.

“Originally constructed and operated as Accomack County Nursing Home in the early 1950s, the property was acquired by Shore Health Services in 1996 and re-named Shore Lifecare at Parksley,” the application stated. “Since 1996, relatively little renovation has been done to the original physical plant other than an addition of a nursing wing in 1975.” The work that had been done was described as “patch and repair maintenance.”

Riverside acquired the property as part of the 2009 merger with Shore Health Services that resulted in Shore Memorial Hospital.

“While the latest (2015) licensure survey did not cite any building deficiencies, Riverside consultants agree that the facility needs to be replaced in the near term.”

Discussions began with Virginia United Methodist Homes and Riverside on a joint venture, which “led to the creation of a jointly owned organization and the recommendation to” merge. “The 80 transferred beds would be de-licensed at Parksley, leaving 56 beds at that facility. These remaining beds would be closed over a period of time yet to be determined and consistent with a plan approved by the Office of Licensure and Certification,” the application continued.

“My first reaction is I’m very disappointed,” Supervisor Grayson Chesser said Wednesday. “I’m really shocked because we’ve been kept out of the loop on a lot of things that we should have been included in early on. It’s very disheartening to me when it seems like the Accomack Board is the last to know.”

The Hermitage was established in 1948. The physical plant opened in 1966. It has “undergone a number of renovations and new construction projects over the past five years. Hermitage is a mission-driven facility with an excellent reputation in the community,” the COPN application stated. “However, the size and scope of services in today’s health care environment have presented significant financial challenges to the continued operation of the present small facility. There are currently 13 patients in the nursing facility, a number insufficient to cover expenses.” The joint venture would allow for the operation of Hermitage in the form of a non-profit corporation. “Riverside will provide day-to-day operational management, and as part of the agreement ... All beds transferred will be dually certified (Medicare and Medicaid) ... This covenant assures that the original mission of the Hermitage will continue and will be bolstered by the administrative expertise and assets of Riverside Health System.”

“Given the physical deficiencies with the existing building ... the only alternatives ... are to construct a new building at the present site, replacing the existing structure; renovate the existing building; or relocate the facility to the new hospital site in Onley,” the application continued. The Parksley site is 15.52 acres, “Insufficient to accommodate the existing building and construction land required to build a new facility.” The document said the cost of merging the two would be much less.” To keep the Parksley facility would require such extensive renovation that patient care would be disrupted and would be “detrimental to efficient operation.” It would also be cost prohibitive relative to the construction of a new facility, and when renovated, the facility would still be an old physical plant.”

Putting a nursing home at the new hospital site in Onley “would make sense logistically,” it stated. “Sufficient land and utilities are available at a significant savings in construction costs. However, in comparing the costs of a new structure with those required to move the beds to Hermitage, the merger alternative will be much more cost effective since the support services at Hermitage are sufficiently sized to accommodate the 80 additional beds without the need for expansion.”

Nursing Home ‘Jeopardy’ Citation Was for Signs

“Immediate Jeopardy” was the term used for the citation that Riverside was given for recent problems at the Parksley Nursing Home.

After a complaint was filed and Riverside reported a water problem, the state health department visited the site and conducted a survey, which has not yet been completed. Riverside officials say they were given 24 hours to put up more signs on sinks and fountains alerting residents not to drink the water after a well pump was replaced. They were waiting for tests to show the water was safe to ingest. Meanwhile drinking water was brought in.

“When a nursing home gets a serious citation or fails to correct a citation for a long period of time, this can result in a penalty,” according to medicare.com “A penalty can be a fine against the nursing home or a denied payment from Medicare.”

couraged the supervisors “to work with them in any way possible” and for Riverside to help the residents, their families and the workers.

“The end-of-life experience is a very powerful one,” 70-year-old Supervisor Grayson Chesser told the crowd later in the session. “I’ve been through it with a lot of friends (and) family members. Many folks here, their families have been here for a hundred years. We know everybody. If we’re not related to them, we probably just don’t know it ... I can’t think of anything more horrible than to be separated from your family or friends. I don’t care how well it’s run ... across the bay is not a good option for us. We’re very tight knit ... families and friends are not going to be able to be with them — doctor, medicine, is not more important than that. I do hope and pray you will show compassion ... what a hardship (for) people who have to stay behind and worry.”

The supervisors urged Riverside to operate beyond 60 days. At the session’s end, Supervisor Harrison Phillips, who represents the Parksley area, made a motion to send a letter to Riverside officials. Supervisor Ron Wolff, whose mother-in-law lives at the nursing home, complained that the chairman would not allow public comment at Monday’s session, and was permitted to add an amendment to the motion asking for Riverside to hold a public forum.

Heckler didn’t hold out much hope, as the decision had been made. He said Riverside would give the facility to the county or sell it to another company. Heckler did not answer questions about previous plans to continue upgrading the building or to build a new facility at the hospital complex in Onley. Heckler repeated the initial announcement regarding the age and condition of the nursing home that was erected in 1967. It “leaves us open to risk ... of potential emergency evacuation in the future.” He said Riverside had already spent $1.8 million on the facility. “The transition of residents is now a top priority ... we continue to provide excellent care and support to our residents.”

Several of the supervisors have been frequent visitors at the home recently, as Wayne Burton, director of parks and recreation, is there recuperating from a severe knee injury.

“My initial impression was ‘wow, what a clean facility,’” said Muhly. “No one was pushed in a corner by themselves ... People p o p p e d their heads in to check on him. You have to be commended for a very well run facility.”

Muhly said he found out about the closure on Facebook. “This board has been very supportive of Riverside when you were building the hospital,” he said, also questioning the apparent absence of the former plan for a nursing home on the hospital site. “We’re not going to grow a lot, but the elderly population is going to grow a lot. I would strongly request Riverside re-plan its approach. We have people here on the Eastern Shore still living in the houses built in the 1600s and 1700s,” Muhly continued. “Our court house was built in 1800s. We’re going to put a new roof on. It will be around for another 100 years.”

Riverside “had poor public relations in this matter is not even beginning to touch on how this was handled,” said Wolff, whose wife also read about it on Facebook. “She was told Riverside would contact every single family. We were not called ... I find this to be totally unacceptable,” he said.

The crowd started clapping and cheering. Crockett called for quiet. “Stop applauding,” he said, reminding the audience of the timeliness of the issue. “If you would, keep it down, and let the parties speak.”

“If you don’t do proper maintenance,” Wolff said, “the building will fall down.” He said a lightning strike to the well pump or fire board should have been covered by insurance. Wolff also praised the facility. “When you walk in that building, it looks like this,” he said of the school where the meeting was being held. “It doesn’t smell from urine ... the staff goes above and beyond ... I believe the flooding came in from the east door ... water just piled up and came through the door. To say the building has outlived its usefulness is very, very hard to believe.”

About two months ago, Wolff said an employee reported Riverside was getting ready to spend $1 million at the facility. “What has changed?” he asked.

Heckler said the lightning strike hit the fire panel. They do not know what exactly caused the pump issue but there was a surge. He never addressed insurance. He also apologized for the way the information spread through the community as “not in the prescribed way that we intended ... I absolutely agree with you, our staff does a great job.” Heckler also said Riverside has been approached by several companies “in this community” willing to offer job opportunities.

Wolff insinuated that Riverside’s intention is to transfer residents to its other facilities where Medicaid pays higher rates.

Heckler denied the closure was for profit. He said they own 10 other nursing homes that are at 80 percent capacity just like the one in Parksley. “Metropolitan areas do get higher rates,” he said.

Wolff then went on to say he calculated the additional money Riverside would get from moving the residents and it totaled $604,800 a year.

“That is not correct, exactly,” Heckler said. “Each one has a different rate set by the legislature.”

Wolff said even if a Medicaid waiver allowing residents to go to Maryland were obtained, there aren’t many spots close by. “Most would not be very receptive to across the bay where their loved ones would not be able to visit. Why would you have not worked harder to reach an agreement with not only Virginia but also the neighboring states of Maryland and Delaware?”

“We are working with the Department of Social Services on the process,” Heckler said.

“That’s it?” Wolff sarcastically asked. “You mention Social Services. There are many residents who have no one to speak for them. Are those going to be the first to go to your facilities across the bay?” Wolff asked.

“We’ll be working with the residents and responding parties,” Heckler said.

Wolff said he and his wife have been looking for another place for his mother-in-law. “Hartley Hall in Pocomoke, about a half-hour away, they have no openings. Crisfield, Md., which is probably almost an hour away, one female opening and four male openings ... none of which will take Virginia Medicaid unless they are pre-approved. This arrangement for our most vulnerable citizens, your residents, leaves them with almost no hope ... to find a place ... we’ve done our homework and we can’t relocate one. How are you going to relocate ... 89?” Wolff rhetorically asked. “Sixty days notification is just the bare minimum.”

“As I said we’re working with each family,” said Heckler. “Imagine how hard (it would be) in a 24-hour notice.”

“When Riverside came to us and said they wanted to be a part of this community ... be good neighbors. ... We took them at their word,” Wolff said. “We did everything ... for an easy transition.”

Riverside is “very much committed to the Shore community,” Heckler said. Since 2009, they have made $130 million in capital investments to the community. “I don’t think that commitment has wavered.”

Supervisor Donald Hart noted, “The Eastern Shore is not a part of Virginia” due to the cost of crossing the bridge-tunnel. “It’s very upsetting for us. Medicaid is a problem.

I’ve never known of waivers ... We would like to have alternatives. We have to have your license to operate ... We need you to relook at it ... I thought you all were going to have a 50th anniversary celebration. How nice that would be. I wish you would be thinking about that. At least ... until we can find something else. We’re scared to death ... once that shuts its doors, it’s going to be almost impossible. Maybe you can get the ones above you to have a big, big celebration. Please take that back to them. I would appreciate that very, very much,” Hart said.

Health Matters Hurricane Safety & Preparedness

Department of Health

Hurricane season continues through Nov. 30, 2017. Forecasters at NOAA's Climate Prediction Center say the Atlantic could see another above-normal hurricane season this year. Not only can the strong winds associated with hurricanes cause severe damage, hurricanes can also result in storm surges, floods and tornadoes.

Here are several steps you can take to keep yourself and your loved ones safe this hurricane season.

- Have an emergency kit prepared with supplies for your home and vehicle.
- Download the Ready Virginia mobile app to receive alerts and use a NOAA weather radio to stay informed.

Understand Weather Terminology

Hurricanes are classified into five categories based on the predicted wind speed and the potential to cause damage:

Category One	Winds 74-95 mph
Category Two	Winds 96-110 mph
Category Three	Winds 111-129 mph
Category Four	Winds 130-156 mph
Category Five	Winds 157 mph +

During hurricane season, storms may be tracked using the following link: <http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/>.

Hurricane Warning: A hurricane warning is issued when a hurricane with sustained winds of 74 mph or higher is expected. Because hurricane preparedness activities become difficult once winds reach tropical storm force, the warning is issued 36 hours in advance of the anticipated onset of tropical-storm-force winds. The warning can remain in effect when dangerously high water or a combination of dangerously high water and waves continue, even though winds may be less than hurricane force.

Hurricane Watch: A hurricane watch is issued when storm conditions appear possible in the warning area within the next 48 hours. The hurricane watch is issued 48 hours in advance of the anticipated onset of tropical storm force winds.

Before a Hurricane

Check Your Emergency Supply Kit:

Before hurricane season begins, check the contents of the emergency kits in your car and home and replace items that may have expired. If you do not have an emergency kit, a supply checklist with basic items that every supply kit should include is available for download.

Reduce Outdoor Hazards

Debris, such as signs, roofing material, siding, and small items left outside, can cause injury and damage property due to strong winds from a hurricane. Before the storm be sure to:

- Bring in lawn furniture, garbage and recycling carts and other items that are not tied down and could become airborne.
- Have trees and shrubs professionally pruned before a hurricane approaches to reduce the risk of flying debris during a storm.

Make an Evacuation Plan

Before a hurricane, it is important to know the evacuation routes in your area should you need to leave due to flooding or a storm surge. Discuss your evacuation plan with your loved ones, especially if you are in a low-lying area or within the greatest potential path of the storm. Find out if you live in an area that may be prone to flooding due to storm surge.

•Mandatory Evacuation Order: Imminent threat to life and property exists. Individuals MUST relocate and seek refuge in an inland, non-evacuation area.

•Voluntary Evacuation Order: A threat to life and property may be imminent. Evacuation not required, but would be advantageous, particularly for tourists, elderly and those with special needs.

If a hurricane warning is issued for your area or you are directed to evacuate the area:

- Take only essential items with you.
- If you have time, turn off the gas, electricity, and water.
- Disconnect appliances to reduce the likelihood of electrical shock when power is restored.
- Make sure your automobile's emergency kit is ready.
- Follow the designated evacuation routes—others may be blocked—and expect heavy traffic.

During a Hurricane

During the storm, stay indoors during the hurricane and away from windows and glass doors. Because of the strong winds associated with a hurricane, flying debris and falling trees are possible. Seek shelter in an interior area of your home and refrain from going outside; winds often pick up strength as the eye of the storm passes.

Other tips for staying safe during a hurricane:

- Continue to monitor the radio or TV for updates.
- Stay inside and away from windows, skylights and glass doors. Find a safe area in your home (an interior room, a closet or bathroom on the lower level).
- Ensure a supply of water for sanitary purpose such as cleaning and flushing toilets. Fill the bathtub and other larger containers with water.
- If you lose power, turn off major appliances such as the air conditioner and water heater to reduce damage.

•Do not go outside.

After a Hurricane

Many injuries occur in the aftermath of a hurricane.

- Discard any refrigerated food that you suspect has spoiled.
- Stay out of impacted areas; do not sightsee.
- Do not operate charcoal grills, propane camping stoves or generators indoors.
- Do not drive or walk through standing water.
- Stay away from downed power lines.

DOMINION SEEKS APPLICANTS FOR ARTSTARS AWARDS

•Grants totaling $50,000 will be awarded to school-based arts and education programs
•Awards recognize K-12 programs that advance cultural arts in schools and communities
Dominion Energy invites nonprofit arts organizations serving K-12 students in Virginia to apply for a Dominion Energy ArtStars award. One Shining Star Award of $10,000 will be awarded in each of five regions to arts and cultural programs that make communities more vibrant by engaging students in theater, art, music and other artistic forms.

"ArtStars is all about giving back to smaller, community-based arts organizations that are inspiring students to find their own creative voices," said Hunter A. Applewhite, president of the Dominion Energy Charitable Foundation.

Past ArtStars winners represent a wide variety of artistic expression. Last year, for example, Shining Star awards were given to organizations teaching filmmaking, modern art, and Appalachian blue-grass music.

To be eligible, organizations must have a qualifying arts and education program and an annual budget of less than $1 million.

For details on eligibility and to apply, visit www.dominionenergy.com/artstars. The application deadline is Oct. 31, 2017, at 5 p.m., and only online applications will be accepted.

Chincoteague Fire Co. Donation

96.5 CTG, WOW 101.5 and a handful of community-focused businesses created a PonyVision video providing detailed information as well as past videos and pictures from Pony Swims of the last 91 years to help guide tourists for this year's events. As part of that project, each business also contributed to a $2,000 donation made to the Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Company's new building fund. Skip Dixon and Greg Bojko from GSB Media presented the donation check to Chincoteague Vice Mayor Denise Bowden, of the Fire Company, on stage at the Firemen's Carnival on Pony Swim night.

Eastern Shore Trading POST

Announcements

I want to thank all the people of the Eastern Shore who have prayed for me during my recent illness (a brain tumor in the right temporal lobe). I especially want thank the congregations of St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, Onley Methodist Church, Oak Grove Methodist Church, Painter Garrison Methodist Church, Smith Chapel Methodist Church, and their respective pastors for their prayers during their services. I truly believe these prayers called on the Lord, who in turn accompanied me into the operating room and guided the skillful hands of the excellent neurosurgeon who successfully removed the tumor. It is only through prayer and belief in God that we are healed and we on the Eastern Shore are truly blessed with wonderful God-fearing people WHO give of themselves to others and take care of others.

We are TRULY blessed!
GOD BLESS YOU ALL!! THANK YOU!!

The Board will assemble at 9:00 a.m. to conduct site visits.

A.) VMRC 2017-1317: Joe and Marta Rose is requesting authorization to install a 132-foot long stone revetment for erosion protection. The project will consist of regrading several areas of beachfront bluff which experienced severe erosion during Hurricane Sandy. Additionally, the existing armor protection was breached and pulled down away from the original placement due to the tidal surge and wave action. The original armor protection was installed in the fall of 2000 and we found that over the last 12 years that the rip-rap installed was insufficient in both size and depth of bury at the toe of slope. In order to improve or even repair what exists we will need to remove the failed armor stone, re-establish the 3:1 slope, establish a temporary trench, place 2 layers of filter fabric, place interlocking 8" thick x 35'-0" long 8,000 psi concrete slabs weighing 15.5 tons each and reinstall the existing armor at the toe. The property is located at Chesapeake Bay at 4027 Bluff Lane in Northampton County and described as Tax Map 117A-4-E-1.

Anyone interested in the above matter should attend the scheduled public hearing. The application may be viewed in the Planning, Permitting, and Enforcement Office located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA. You Can Always Come Home Again: Welcome Home Blue Devils

*By Carla Savage-Wells
Special to Eastern Shore Post*

Why, Yes! We're approaching the end of the summer. Route 13 is crowded with come heres, go theres, friends, family and fares stopping on or passing through Delmarva in an effort to squeeze in one more visit to the city or the sea. Facebook is filled with fecund families celebrating the birth of their newest members and gatherings that grieve the transition of another.

A unique reunion (the third annual), honoring the memory of the Tasley Fair, the legacy of educator Mary N. Smith, and the love that exists in the community of lower Accomack (LA) is serving to educate the iGen and Millennials of the cultural heritage of those entities. The vibrant T-shirts celebrating kinfolk linked by love, legend and legacies provide additional decoration to our social media profiles and pages. We can color coordinate

Three times in the last 30 years, I've worked along with friends and family to produce a reunion of another kind. This Saturday will mark the third Labor Day weekend reunion of Onancock High School Blue Devils who are All About the Memories (1997) and remain, More Loyal as the Years Go By (2007). This decade, a gathering of more than 300 Blue Devils will demonstrate that they are "More Loyal as the Years Go By." The theme references the last line of the school's alma mater and serves to call home schoolmates from 1944 to 1984. There are even a few Nandua High graduates we've dubbed "Devil Warriors," who connect so strongly with the College Avenue campus

they will brave the whims of the weather

er to attend the indoor/outdoor activities planned for the former Margaret Academy.

With the razing of Parksley High School, the deterioration of Central High and the renovation and retirement of Atlantic High in Accomack County, only baby boomers from Chincoteague, Mary N. Smith and Onancock High can welcome their alumni back into the hallowed halls. The opportunity to experience the views of the creek, the creak of the original floorboards, and a peek at ones' classmates was an irresistible lure that made risking the weather and renting the outdoor shelter and seating needed to accommodate alumni, worth the gamble. I pray for fair weather.

Local merchants demonstrated their interest in welcoming travelers home to the Shore. The Onancock Business and Civic Association offered support of the reunion and serves as a great resource for finding things to do when returning home. There seems to be a special excitement about the prospect of serving customers who may remember the names of the stores that originally occupied the space. The Dize, Marsh and Williams families continue to operate from long established locations in Onancock.

There's no place like home. Home is where the heart is. Poet Robert Frost provides my favorite definition: "Home is the place where, when you have to go there, they have to take you in." That's a blessed assurance. You can always go home again.

TrumpCare is No Care

Dear Editor:

TrumpCare is a GOP/Dixiecrat ploy to deconstruct Medicaid in the Commonwealth of Virginia. The poor, the sick and the ignorant don't stand a chance. Vote Ralph Northam. God bless America.

Community Invited to Habitat Gala

Dear Editor:

The Fourth Gala to support the Eastern Shore Habitat for Humanity will be held on Saturday, Oct. 7, at the Historic Eastville Inn. We have learned a lot about asking for donations and getting just the right items for bidders to raise their hands to purchase. We will have carvings by Billie Crockett, Ed Kuhn, a Turner sculpture, an aerial photo by Gordon Campbell, dinner in your homes and many more items from local artisans and merchants.

We will begin arriving at 5:30 p.m. for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres, and dinner will be around 6 p.m. After dinner, auctioneer Henry Nicholson's will present items for sale.

We have kept the ticket price at $75 a person which includes dinner, dessert, wine or beer, tea or coffee.

Tickets may be purchased from Market Street United Methodist Church (787-4873), the Habitat Office (442-4687) or by visiting the Habitat website, www.easternshorehabitat.org and using the "DONATE" button.

We are grateful for past support and we hope that Habitat for Humanity can once again count on the community this year.

Nancy Gonzalez, Habitat for Humanity

With Deepest Gratitude

Dear Editor:

The 44th annual Fish Fry at Edwards' Seafood was a huge success! On Aug. 12, 2017, the Onancock Rotary served over 500 meals! Its success wouldn't have been possible without the gracious support of our community and the generous sponsors that contributed financially.

We extend a special thank you to Edwards' Seafood and their generosity of space, labor and cooking duties, to the Onancock Rotary Club for preparing, cooking and serving the meals; to Onancock General Store for the ice cream and our many cake bakers; to the Broadwater Academy students, Eastern Shore Community Services Board staff and the many volunteers that participated and tirelessly worked to help make our annual fundraiser such a success! We are so very grateful for our faithful attendees who purchased dinner tickets and our supporters who offered additional donations. What a blessing this community is to The Arc!

Congratulations to our raffle winners! They are: Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel Tour, Vernon Bell; Twilight Cruise, Andy Teeling; Baseball Package, Trudy Myles.

The success of the day belongs to all of you, and for that we send our sincerest thanks! The money raised will help The Arc to continue to be a voice, resource and friend to the intellectually and developmentally disabled here on the Shore; to provide ongoing support for present and future programs and services for "A Life Like Yours."
