Teenage Terror on Tangier

By Linda Cicoira

A 14-year-old Tangier Island boy is being held in Norfolk Juvenile Detention Center after threatening to “shoot up” Tangier Combined School earlier this month.

According to a warrant, three school employees overheard the boy make the threats on March 6. The boy is not being identified because of his age. He announced to classmates and his teacher that when he gets older he is going to join the dangerous, extremist group ISIS (Islamic State of Iraq and Syria) or maybe a Mexican cartel.

“He stated that he was already a member of ISIS, online,” the court document noted.

“You’re not going to believe me,” the boy said to others at the school. “But, one day I’m going to get my gun and come shoot this place up.”

The boy is charged in juvenile petitions with making threats of death or to commit serious bodily harm to persons on school property and threatening to bomb or burn a school, Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin said.

The officer who serves the island was away doing 40 hours of training that is required every two years. “They called us (at the office) and then we took our boat over” and handled the matter, Godwin added.

According to court documents, the statements were heard by special education teacher Loni Charnock, special education assistant Barbara Parks and support assistant Kelly Wheatley. The boy lives with his father and grandparents. The house on West Ridge Road was searched on March 14. Seized were an HP laptop computer with camo cover, Toshiba laptop computer with black cover, an Amazon Kindle tablet with black cover, five USB thumb drive storage devices, a blue Tracfone and three boxes of .22 shot ammunition. The internet search history can also be studied.

Investigator Sam Castiglia of the Accomack County Sheriff’s Office investigated.

Superintendent Chris Holland declined to talk about it Wednesday. “I can’t comment on a student manner.”

The boy, who was wearing a camouflage jacket, was taken to Accomack Circuit Court for a detention appeal Thursday that was closed to the public.

Carney, Dize Run for Cape Charles Mayor

By Stefanie Jackson

Terry Carney and Smitty Dize are running for Cape Charles mayor in the May 1 town elections.

Carney, a retired FBI agent, current business analyst and background investigator, is a candidate who doesn’t view himself as a politician. “I call it as I see it,” Carney said. He believes in using common sense to solve problems, and would act as a “liaison to opposing views” if he were mayor.

Carney wants continued promotion and development of small businesses and the town harbor, which he envisions as Cape Charles’ “crown jewel.” He supports leveraging the town’s existing infrastructure to create “prosperity for the community,” maintaining the town’s character and not trying to be another “Myrtle Beach.”

Carney has held leadership positions on the federal Organized Crime Drug Enforcement Task Force and the FBI Evidence Response Team. He was security director for an emergent acquisition company, and served on the architectural review board in Petersburg, Va.

Carney and his wife, Nancy Cardone, began visiting the Eastern Shore in 2003 and moved to Cape Charles in 2009. She owns two businesses, a medical spa in Richmond and Love Letters, a specialty retail shop in Cape Charles. They have a blended family with three grown daughters.

In his spare time, Carney enjoys fishing, photography, and golf.

The people of Cape Charles “can trust in me” to keep “their best interests in mind,” Carney said, and pledged to listen

SEARCH FOR THREE ARMED ROBBERY SUSPECTS

By Linda Cicoira

Police are looking for three men who were dressed in dark clothing Sunday night when they approached another man outside his Seaside Road residence near Painter and robbed and shot him, according to Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin.

Godwin’s office was alerted to the incident at about 7:45 p.m. March 18. When deputies arrived, they found the man suffering from a gunshot wound. The victim was not identified for his protection. He was taken to Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released. The suspects fled on foot.

Anyone with information about this or any other crime is asked to call Godwin’s office at 757-787-1131 or 757-824-5666. Tips may also be submitted through the sheriff’s website at accomackcountysheriffsoffice.org to and address all their concerns, “whatever they may be.”

Dize is the Cape Charles harbor master and manager of The Oyster Farm at King’s Creek marina.

He is campaigning on four main points:

“transparency ... inclusion ... accountability ... and honesty.” Dize wants to ensure all Cape Charles citizens and business owners remain aware of the activities of

Sheriff Godwin Signs Apology

By Linda Cicaira

A $30,000 settlement in Accomack Circuit Court came with an apology note signed by Sheriff Todd Godwin and went to a man who spent 10 days in jail after being falsely arrested because he had the same first and last name as a suspect.

Keith V. Bailey of Gardys Mill Road, in Kinsdale, Va., formerly of the Eastern Shore, is happy with the arrangement, his lawyer Moody E. “Sonny” Stallings of Virginia Beach said Tuesday. He added that the sheriff’s department freed Bailey as soon as they realized the mistake.

Godwin referred any questions to his lawyer John Norris, who did not return a reporter’s telephone call.

The letter states, “Despite our good faith effort to investigate the underlying incident, it is my sincerest regret that you were arrested for a crime which you did not commit and for any negative reactions caused by that arrest.”

Initially Bailey filed a $250,000 lawsuit in April 2016. He named Godwin and Deputy Simone (Sam) Castiglia in his complaint. Bailey said Castiglia showed “complete disregard” for his rights and “acted with such disregard that his conduct constitutes gross negligence.”

Bailey had requested a jury trial and wanted $200,000 in compensatory damages and the rest in punitive damages.

He said on Nov. 6, 2014, the sheriff’s office and Castiglia “issued a warrant for the arrest of one Keith Bailey for two felony offenses of credit card fraud greater than $200,” occurring Oct. 8, 2014. During an investigation, “Cas-tiglia interviewed a store clerk at Vernon Powell Shoes in Onley ... Florence Mathews, who identified the individual committing the credit card fraud via a composite pulled from surveillance video from Walmart” in Onley where the first fraud was alleged to have been committed. Mathews said the suspect’s name was Keith Bailey.

“The correct Keith Bailey’s build was particular and easily distinguishable in the composite as a tall and slender build,” the complainant, who is 5 feet, two inches tall and weighs 198 pounds.

On Feb. 2, 2015, Bailey was arrested in Warsaw, Va. He was held in North Neck Regional Jail and later taken to Accomack Jail. He said he told Deputy R. D. Taylor, who arrested him, “numerous times that he had not lived in Accomack County for years and specifically was not in Accomack on Oct. 8, 2014.”

Despite Bailey’s continued plea of innocence, he was imprisoned and held until Feb. 11, 2015.

The lawsuit claims “the plaintiff made numerous attempts to assert his innocence and mistaken identity ... by requesting to speak with law enforcement officials and speaking with his attorney.”

On April 15, 2015, the commonwealth’s attorney’s office decided not to prosecute the charges, citing “bad ID by victim, wrong Keith Bailey.”

Bailey claims “that the arrest ... was an intentional restriction of (his) freedom of movement,” and that he suffered greatly as a result.

The “other” Keith Bailey was never arrested and charged with the crimes, according to court records.

NO NEW TAXES, CHICKENS CONTINUE TO BE HOT TOPIC

By Linda Cicaira

Accomack Supervisors passed the county's fiscal 2018-19 budget of $57.5 million Wednesday with no tax rate increases for personal property or real estate.

Chairman Robert Crockett said it was possible despite the drop in tax assessments because of the very diversified economy in Accomack.

The plan included additional paid fire medics, salary increases for county and state-supported positions, about $547,700 for an addition to the fire training center and local money to increase pay for deputies. The county school division got about $500,000 more than it did in the current budget. About $856,000 will be added to the county Rainy Day Fund. An increase in the landfill tipping fee of $5.50 was part of the action, a 7.9 percent increase. The rate goes from $69.50 to $75.

Supervisors also voted to hold a public hearing on April 18, regarding a request to rezone property at 24227 Greenbush Rd. from General Business to Industrial to allow East Coast Dismantling to move to Tasley.

In regard to the popular chicken house topic, Bill Satterfield of the Delmarva Poultry Industry reported 84 chicken growers are in Accomack with 331 poultry houses in use. He said a larger figure includes houses not in use. Satterfield said the average grower has 3.9 houses. Throughout Delmarva, growers have an average of 3.2 houses.

In 1950, there were 1,100 chicken farms in the county with 16 weeks of growing time. Until the industry was wiped out due to a hurricane in 1962, there were as many as a million chickens on Chincoteague, which is the reason for the name Chicken City Road, he said.

Calvin Washington, of Nelsonia, assistant plant manager at Tyson, told his story of working his way up the ladder at the Temperanceville plant. "I was always told if you're going to make a great living, you have to leave this Eastern Shore. ... It's that money that comes from Tyson Foods that allows us to shop locally. ... To me this poultry industry is awesome. ... I'm proud to be a poultry worker," he said.

Dave Lovell, of Onancock, a grower, agreed the industry has "treated us well. We're not the prettiest thing in the county, we've not the best smelling thing ... but we pay the bills around here."

Lynn Rogers, of Bunting Point Road near Wachapreague, said she is concerned about the expansion of chicken houses and lack of regulations. "Big City by the Sea has turned into Big Chicken by the Sea," she added referring to the meaning of the name, Wachapreague. "Loss of quality of life ... has happened on your watch," she told the supervisors. "You can be part of the solution."

Brett McMillan, a hydrologist who has been working with the Eastern Shore Groundwater Committee for 22 years, told the supervisors the promise Tyson made to take water for poultry house cooling from the Shore's upper aquifer is "very significant. ... It would be a positive example hopefully for others to follow."

McMillan said he worked with Cape Charles and the saltwater intrusion that was predicted. He said the town didn't grow as once anticipated and desalting hasn't been needed. In Chincoteague in the early 1980s, a well created saltwater issues but a second shallower well solved the problem. "Sometimes you can reconfigure," he said, adding, "The cost of the desalting units on average have decreased by 10 fold every 10 years. We expect to see that trend continue."

Supervisor Grayson Chesser urged Perdue Farms to follow the example.

Nunez Hired as Accomack's Deputy Director of Planning and Zoning

By Linda Cicaira

Former Northampton County Administrator Katherine (Katie) H. Nunez, who lost that job in a restructuring move in August 2016, was hired recently to serve as Accomack's Deputy Director of Planning and Zoning. She was formally introduced to the Accomack Board of Supervisors at the panel's session Wednesday.

Nunez was selected from a pool of 12 applicants. She has 20 years of experience working for governments in Virginia and Massachusetts. She will be working in the first 18 months towards certification.

"The position is not new and was last held by Gary Pusey, who left in May 2017," said County Administrator Mike Mason. "She started on a part-time basis in September and is now moving to full-time." Nunez's annual salary is $75,000 plus benefits.

"We are certainly excited about bringing someone with Katie's qualifications and proven skills into the organization," Mason added.

When Northampton officials restructured their government they said it was to make things more "effective and efficient." They accepted Nunez's resignation and eliminated the job of economic development director, held by Kris Tucker. "We feel like we need new management," Chairman Spencer Murray, of Northampton Board of Supervisors said at that time.

Nunez held the post of administrator for about 11 years and was given a severance equal to a year's pay and benefits. Her salary was more than $121,000. Murray said her benefits were around 30 percent of her pay. Nunez was hired back as a consultant about a week later at $75 an hour for up to $7,500 to help close the county's fiscal 2016 books and prepare for an audit.

Local Developer Has Big Plans To Lure Chick-fil-A, Wawa Near Melfa

By Linda Cicoira

A developer is hoping to lure a Chick-fil-A restaurant, along with a Wawa convenience store, on his property along Lankford Highway next to the state police barracks near Melfa. His project, The Fox Meadows, also includes 45 apartments.

Jack Siesmon, of Accomack Properties Inc., told the Accomack Planning Commission last week that he did not yet have a contract for the restaurant, but would be pursuing the plan.

The property is southwest of the barracks and south of Dogwood Drive. The business parcels would be 2.52 acres and 2.30 acres. A third adjacent parcel of nearly 14 acres is being proposed for three apartment buildings with 15 units each, which is permitted with the conditional use permit being sought. The 1, 2, and 3-bedroom apartments would be in three-story buildings, 41 feet tall, with covered parking and elevators.

“This development will serve a vital need in the county for modern work force housing,” the plan stated. “This will allow the county to be competitive in relocating and retaining skilled healthcare and education professionals, many of whom are at the beginning of their careers and often prefer renting to owning.”

Siesmon is also asking for the property, which is one parcel, to be split into three and to be rezoned for the businesses from agricultural to general business and for the apartments from agricultural to residential. Ground level brick facade with metal garage doors topped by fiberglass swings, fiberboard siding on the upper stories, vinyl-cased windows, screened porches and low-maintenance deck and railings are part of the apartment plans.

“The proposal is within half a mile to the incorporate town limits of Melfa and within one and three quarters of a mile from the incorporated town limits of Onley,” according to a county staff report.

The comprehensive plan states “the county’s number one planning objective is to direct development towards existing population centers. ... In order to maintain the existing high speed sections of Route 13, future development should be limited to existing commercial centers such as T’s Corner, Temperanceville, Nelsonia, Fisher’s Corner at Route 176, Accomac, Onley, Melfa, Painter and Belle Haven.” The county plan also stresses the need for housing.

Action was postponed until a traffic impact analysis is completed and reviewed by the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT).

The three apartment buildings proposed would house 15 units.

remembered for his enjoyment of life (all 97 years!), his delight and generosity to his friends and family, his passion for the love of his life, his wife, Lucy Lingo Phillips, his joy of dancing, especially square dancing, his kind and trusting spirit, his enthusiasm for traveling nationally and internationally, his devotion to his faith, and his dedicated work ethic in both business and serving his community.

Mr. Phillips was a native of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Born in Melfa, he attended Onancock High School and served in the U.S. Army during World War II from 1940 – 46, stationed in France and Germany. The majority of his life was spent in his beloved Onancock.

After returning from the war in 1946, Mr. Phillips rejoined his brother, Custis, in the bakery business in Onancock on Main Street. The bakery business was in his blood, and he had bakeries in both Onancock and Parksley, and even a bakery section in his Western Auto Store in Parksley. His dream came true in 1980, when he opened the Corner Bakery in Onancock. His dedication of getting up at 2 a.m. for 20 years paid off. He brought thousands of smiles to children and adults with his cream puffs, cinnamon twists, doughnuts, and sweet potato biscuits.

Mr. Phillips's love for his community was displayed in his dedicated involvement in the Onancock Lions Club, serving in many roles, including president. He was also involved with the International Lions Club and the Veterans for Foreign Wars.

It was important for Mr. Phillips to participate in the sacraments and to worship God. In 1946, he and Lucy were married in St. George's Episcopal Church in Pungoteague. He became a very active member of St. George's and held past positions of senior warden, treasurer, and search committee chairman. In his later years, he was welcomed, and enjoyed fellowship, at Drummondtown United Methodist Church and Baptist Bible Church, both in Accomac.

Mr. Phillips loved to travel! He especially loved going to baseball games and supported the Shorebirds team in Salisbury, Md. In his younger years, he coached many little league players. He loved dining out, eating clam fritters, and he loved the chicken and dumpplings at Cracker Barrel. He was a meticulous bookkeeper, and his interest in details, especially at the Corner Bakery where he was still a daily visitor, remained with him throughout his life.

Mr. Phillips was preceded in death by his wife of 61 years, Lucy LeCato Lingo Phillips; his parents, Minnie Viola White Phillips and Vernon Watson Phillips; his brothers, Custis, Elmer, and Bobby Phillips; his sisters, Lottie Mancuso, Ellen Adams, and Gladys Davis; and his brothers-in-law, J. B. Lingo and Dr. John Kellam Lingo.

On Friday, March 23, 2018, his life will be celebrated with a funeral at St. George's Episcopal Church in Pungoteague, at 2 p.m. A reception will follow in the Parish House. A private family interment with military honors, will be held at Fairview Lawn Cemetery in Onancock.

Anne Lambertson Smith

Mrs. Anne Lambertson Smith, 85, passed away peacefully at her home on Jacobia Lane in Cape Charles on March 16, 2018. Born Sept. 2, 1932, to parents Henry Jennings "Jake" Lambertson and Elizabeth Gentry Lambertson. She was predeceased by a beloved husband, William H. Smith, a son, William H. Smith Jr., and brother, H. J. "Herky" Lambertson Jr.

Born and raised in Cape Charles, she graduated from Cape Charles High and attended the College of William & Mary. After marriage and the birth of two sons, she took the reins of supermom: everything in its place, meals on the table, never missing a band concert or ball game. Raising a family in the "big city," she was one of the many loving and generous mothers whom "helped raise a village." She was thought of by many as a second mom, a shoulder to cry on, or a friend with whom to share a smile.

Mrs. Smith was a lifelong member of Trinity United Methodist Church in Cape Charles, which was built by her grandfather. She served on the Altar Guild, Board of Stewards, and as a Sunday school teacher. She was a charter member and past president of the Young Woman's Club of Cape Charles and owner of The Laundry Basket.

She was a breast cancer survivor of over 44 years with the good Lord keeping her here to console, encourage, uplift and laugh or cry with the dozens of friends and acquaintances, helping each in her special way, when they were going through their own trials and tribulations.

Almost daily she mailed out a card or emailed a friend with words of encouragement, strength, thanks or empathy. All that knew her were influenced in some way to help make this world a better place.

She was devoted to her husband, children and the joy of her life, her grandchildren. Affectionately known as "Mimi," her grandchildren remember her as their confidante, a best friend, game player, and hug giver. Her singular focus was always the love, care and protection of her family. She was an unashamed world class guardian of each child and grandchild. The love, guidance, dedication and commitment that she showed her family was an honor to witness, instilling in all her family their own ability to feel and express deep love and affection. In the end this will be her enduring legacy. She set the bar, and she set it high.

Left to cherish her memory are her son, Steven D. Smith and wife, Christy Fugate Smith; her grandchildren, Palmer Elizabeth, William Wade and Henry Fugate Smith; her sister-in-law, Eleanor Bull Lambertson, of Eastville; nieces and nephews, Pamela Lambertson Parks, Brenda Dunton, Kim and Russ Dunton, and Bruce and Violet Lambertson; and several great- and great-great nieces and nephews.

A graveside service will be held Sunday, March 18, at 2 p.m. at Cape Charles Cemetery with the Revs. Linda Lowe and Jeff Conrow officiating.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 22478, Oklahoma City, OK. 73123, or Riverside Shore Hospice, P.O. Box 615, Onley, VA. 23418.

Cape Charles Appoints Burge to Council

By Stefanie Jackson

Cela Burge was appointed by the Cape Charles Town Council last week as the interim replacement for former councilwoman Dora Sullivan, who resigned Feb. 26 with more than two years of her four-year term left.

The Cape Charles resident has worked as Accomack's county attorney for the past two years, and has a decade of previous experience as an attorney working for Turner & Turner in Eastville. Burge has a law degree from Regent University School of Law in Virginia Beach. Before receiving her law degree, she worked as Cape Charles' town manager from 1998 to 2005.

Burge was one of four candidates whom council interviewed for the position, and the only one whose nomination was seconded March 15.

Since Councilman Chris Bannon's nomination of Butch Vest failed without a second, Councilman Andy Buccholz nominated Burge, seconded by Councilwoman Joan Natali, and council voted her in, with Bannon voting "no" and Councilman Charles "Sambo" Brown abstaining.

Council congratulated Burge in front of the crowd gathered in the civic center, that applauded.

A special election is expected to be held in November, coinciding with the general election, to determine who will complete the last 18 months of Sullivan's term.

Mayor George Proto and several council agreed all the candidates were worthy, and encouraged them to run.

TOWN MANAGER SEARCH

Mayor George Proto, Councilwoman Joan Natali, Town Clerk Libby Hume and Assistant Town Manager Bob Panel comprise the committee in charge of finding a new town manager to replace Brent Manuel, who resigned effective April 6.

Natali reported a headhunter offered the committee his assistance on a volunteer basis. The town paid a recruiter $20,000 three years ago to find Manuel. Since the search is being conducted "in-house" this time, costs should be "extremely minimal," Natali said, presenting a savings of up to 75 percent.

Costs will be limited to advertising the job listing through professional organizations such as the Virginia Municipal League.

Council approved a motion to begin posting the ads the following day, March 16.

Northampton Looks to Improve Safety on Route 13

By Stefanie Jackson

Improving safety on Route 13 and repairing secondary roads in Northampton County is a priority the Virginia Department of Transportation has been working on in early 2018.

Chris Isdell, local VDOT administrator, updated Northampton supervisors March 13 on the department of transportation's active projects.

Formerly, at certain intersections of Route 13, traffic lights would signal green on both sides of the highway simultaneously, allowing vehicles to cross or turn onto the highway from opposite directions at the same time.

This signal pattern created confusion and was hazardous. Four intersections now have been converted to "spilt phase" intersections, meaning the traffic light pattern was changed so vehicles approaching from opposite directions now take turns crossing or turning onto the highway.

The split phase intersections are located on Route 13 at the county line and Shore Plaza shopping center in Exmore, and at the main intersections of Nassawadox and Cape Charles.

Other intersections in Northampton will soon have flashing yellow arrow signals, Isdell said, which should be treated like "yield" signs and allow drivers to turn left at the traffic signal as long as there is no oncoming traffic.

VDOT's number-one priority of its ac-

Strangulation Charge Certified for Nandua Teacher

By Linda Cicoira

A Northampton district court judge found probable cause last week in the case of a Nandua High School teacher accused of strangling another man at a Cape Charles nightspot during Christmas break 2017.

The felony charge made against Jeffrey Antonio Wayman, 39, a physical education/driver education instructor, was certified to the county's grand jury, which will meet again in May. Misdemeanor charges of assault and battery and disorderly conduct were also sent to the jury in connection with the Dec. 24, 2017, incident.

A defendant typically does not provide evidence or a defense at a preliminary hearing.

Retired Judge James A. Moore of the fifth judicial circuit was appointed by Chief Justice Donald W. Lemons of the Virginia Supreme Court to oversee the preliminary hearing. Judge Gordon Vincent recused himself because Clerk of the District Court Karen Sparrow Merritt is Wayman's aunt, according to court documents.

Wayman is free on $5,000 unsecured bond specifying he "may not leave Virginia, no excessive alcohol, no possession of firearms or other dangerous weapons, no contact with the complaining witness and good behavior." The Belle Haven man has continued to work for Accomack County Schools.

When reached by telephone Wednesday, Superintendent Chris Holland said that was the first he heard about the case being certified. "Nothing's changed. This is a personnel matter."

Tyler Combs, 21, of Seaside Road in Capeville, was the victim in the incident at Kelly's Gingernut Pub on Mason Avenue in Cape Charles. He was initially charged with carrying a concealed weapon and brandishing a firearm, both misdemeanors. But those charges were not prosecuted. Combs pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and reckless handling of a firearm, both misdemeanors. Moore sentenced him to six months in jail for each of the offenses with all but a month suspended. He will be allowed to serve the time on weekends. Combs was also fined $250.

The Accomack School Board could have taken action to suspend Wayman from his job until the case is decided. They met Tuesday night. However, his name was not included in personnel changes that were listed. Wayman continues to teach classes at the high school. Superintendent Chris Holland did not return a reporter's phone call Wednesday.

Chief Jim Pruitt, of the Cape Charles Police Department, said both men had been drinking. "Some words were exchanged and then the two got into a scuffle. It could have been a really bad situation. The other issue we have is nobody called and reported it" despite there was apparently a room full of people in attendance. No shots were fired.

The Eastern Shore Post will continue to publish Accomack County honor roll recipients in an upcoming edition.

Melfa Mayor Resigns

By Linda Cicoira

Long time Mayor Denise Bendick, of Melfa, resigned this week because of poor health, she told the Eastern Shore Post Tuesday.

"My health hasn't been very good," said Bendick, who has been mayor for 14 years and was town clerk before that for about a dozen years. "I feel like I haven't been able to do 100 percent as mayor, so I'm giving it up."

It's going to take awhile. But Bendick expects her health to improve.

"I'm really going to miss it," she said of the mayor position. "I'm going to miss the people. It's been a pleasure." Bendick said since the start of the fiscal year she has been absent for three meetings. "I don't like missing meetings. I feel like I'm dropping the ball a little bit. I'm probably not. Let somebody else in better health take it," she added.

Bendick said she gave a month's notice to the council. "I will miss working with the town and wish you all well in keeping the town straight," she noted in her letter of resignation. "I feel I did (my) best for the town. My hope is the town will continue to have our picnic and get more help from locals." She signed the letter, "With love and care to the whole town."

Bendick said Sheriff Todd Godwin has been a "Godsend" to Melfa as he has provided officers for events like fingerprinting and has brought police dogs for visits with area children. He will continue to offer a police patrol three days a week, she wrote.

Bendick also mentioned Supervisor Donald Hart's sorrow in her leaving. She said she called to give him the news.

The former mayor said she will be around to help those who take over by showing them how to complete the necessary forms for fire funds and the litter grant.

Councilmen Brian Langley and Charles Wilbur have both expressed an interest in being appointed to fill out her term. A more permanent mayor will be elected by town voters in November.

Warriors Top Booker T. Washington, Yellow Jackets Fall to West Point

By Krystle Bono

The Nandua Warriors girls and boys varsity soccer teams hosted Booker T. Washington Monday night in Oak Hall. Both Warrior clubs came out on top, with the girls shutting them out, 3-0, and the boys grabbing a 12-1 score.

Last Friday night, both teams faced out of town contests; the girls fell to Franklin, but the guys edged out Oscar Smith, 4-2.

The Lady Yellow Jackets hosted West Point Monday afternoon in Eastville and suffered a 3-1 loss, in their first home game of the season. Northampton was held scoreless through the majority of the game until Wendi Martinez converted on her third attempt of the day on West Point's goal, and with the ball safely between the pipes, the game would settle to a 3-1 count.

EASTERN SHORE STREET HOCKEY LEAGUE GAME SUMMARIES

By Michael Garbacz

Game 1: Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 3, Blues 2

The day's games started with either a thrilling come-from-behind win or a heartbreaking loss, depending upon your perspective, as the Wings topped the blueshirts by one. The Blues started off strong, going up 2-0 and keeping in there heading into the third period. But the Red Wings stormed back, scoring three unanswered goals to steal the win. Guy and Preston Shover, along with the Huntsman, found the back of the net for the Red Wings; the senior Shover, Stapleton and Mike McCready picked up assists. For the Blues, Paul Thornes and Scott Millikin were the goal-scorers; Danny Miller added a helper.

Game 2: Charles E. Morgan Termite and Pest Control Penguins 1, EZ Loan Bruins 3

The Pens and Bs followed up an exciting affair with a playoff-like contest of their own. In an interesting turn of events, the Pens' defense held the Smooth Criminal almost completely in check, as the Bruins' captain only registered two shots on net. In response, he merely shrugged and handed the keys over to the kids. "Sharkey" Parks and Brandon Morgan provided all the scoring power necessary, putting home one and two, respectively. Meanwhile, the Pens outshot their opponents 19-16, but could just not solve President Ford. Ethan Ayer ruined his shutout bid, however, with an unassisted goal in the first. Devon picked up a helper for the Bruins.

Game 3: Grounds Keepers Lawn Care Capitals 2, Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 1

The tension ratcheted up further as the league's top two squads got together for the third tilt. The Caps absolutely smothered the Wings, keeping their total shots for the game to just 9, while doubling them up at the other end for 18. But netminder Justin Wheeler stood strong, keeping his team in it until the very end. The deciding goal was a bit of a controversial one, as a quick-handed Wings defender was able to bat the ball in midair from out of the net before it hit the ground, but it was still deemed to have crossed the line completely. Zach Webb made each of the deposits for the Caps; Robby Parker added an assist. A late goal off the stick of the Hunstman spoiled Ol' Plugalong's shutout soufflé; Michael Vargas picked up a helper on it.

Game 4: Blues 3, Charles E. Morgan Termite and Pest Control Penguins 6

With each team looking to rebound after a tough first-game loss, it was the Penguins who came out wanting it more. And they came like bats out of you-know-where too, to the tune of 32 shots on the Parksley Original. In a burst of offense within a span of about two minutes, the Pens scored four goals to essentially put the game away immediately in the first period. Then they came out harder in the second, shellacking the Blues 11-2 in shots and adding two more goals. The Blues never went away, but couldn't muster a third period comeback to tie it. The General produced two goals and an assist for the Penguins; Ethan Ayer had a goal and an assis; T.R. Hoyt tickled the twine twice; the Animal and Ray Schreffler each picked up a helper. For the Blues, Danny Miller, Scott Millikin and Danny Tweedy each found the back of the net; Ben Bundick and Miller also each had an assist.

Game 5: EZ Loan Bruins 3, Grounds Keepers Lawn Care Capitals 3

The day's final affair was such an evenly-matched one that, sure enough, it ended in a tie. It was a lively one to boot, featuring lots of crisp passing, cycling and sharp stickhandling. The Bs jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first period on goals from Brandon Morgan, C.J. Jones and the Smooth Criminal. However, the Caps remained consistent in their efforts, stuck to their game, and by the third period were able to knot it back up. It stayed 3 apiece at the final buzzer, so the game went to a shootout. There, of the three shooters available for each side, Sharkey for the Bruins and Logan Woermer for the Caps were able to sneak one by. So, the knot couldn't be broken this time around, and the draw stood.

Second Annual Eastern Shore Gospel Night

Rev. Michael L. Gray and the congregation of St. Stephens AME Church in Cape Charles hosted the Second Annual Eastern Shore Community Gospel Night March 17 at the Oyster Farm in Cape Charles. The featured speaker was Rev. Russell Goodrich (right), of Cape Charles Baptist Church. Below, singers Yvonne Powell and Sylvia Bundick, members of African Baptist Church in Cheriton, offer musical selections, and at left, receive certificates of appreciation for their contributions.

tive projects in Northampton is Old Cape Charles Road, at a cost of more than $11.5 million, expected to be completed in April or May of this year.

Chairman Spencer Murray asked Isdell who is responsible for the end portion of Old Cape Charles Road leading to Bayshore Concrete. Isdell said VDOT maintains the road all the way to, but not including, the entrance onto Bayshore Road.

The second-highest priority is Cemetery Road in Belle Haven, but VDOT was unable to obtain the estimated $7.5 million required to move that project forward.

VDOT has since decided to perform a "full-depth reclamation" of the road, at a far lesser cost of about $924,000. This cheaper method of rebuilding a roadway entails pulverizing the existing asphalt, mixing it with cement and water, and compacting it to create a solid base for a new asphalt or concrete surface.

There is a funding shortfall of less than $20,000 for the Cemetery Road project with the new estimate, but Isdell is confident that the funds will be obtained and the project will go out to bid and undergo construction in 2022 or 2023.

The Bayside Road project, which would have extended that road to Broadwater Road, was canceled, and its funding was transferred to the Cemetery Road project.

Within VDOT's secondary six-year plan (SSYP), Northampton is designated funds of $41,618 per year, from 2018 to 2023, for a total of $249,708.

The new "smart scale" approach to fund VDOT projects has heavily influenced the SSYP program. SSYP funds are now used for small, realistic projects, and the project list has been cut to reflect the program's more realistic goals. New projects can be added to the list when old projects are completed or reprioritized.

"Old formula" project funding was planned to be pulled statewide, but Northampton did not lose any funding, Isdell reported.

Severe winter weather is hard on roads, and creates a lot of potholes, Isdell said. He asked citizens to report potholes to ensure their repair. Since January, VDOT has repaired 322 potholes in Northampton, Isdell said.

Citizens have recently raised concern about drainage, which Isdell said is an ongoing problem on the Shore, which VDOT addresses at every opportunity.

EMS GARAGE

The most recent bid received to build a new garage for Northampton's emergency services vehicles was $548,389, even higher than previous bids which supervisors deemed exorbitant.

Murray asked Director of Public Works Chris Thomas why the bid included such a high amount for site work - $125,000. Murray believed that a lot of site work, such as installation of well and septic service, had already been done.

Thomas rattled off a laundry list of site work that still needs to be completed, including: breaking up and removing the road bed where Route 13 once ran, stripping the top soil and gravel, excavating, placing fill for the concrete pad, widening the driveway, landscaping, and electrical work.

With the situation appearing to continually worsen rather than improve, Thomas offered an inventive alternative: As a professional engineer, he could act as the general contractor for the project and drop overall costs to $300,000 or less, he said. For example, by dealing directly with the manufacturer, the building itself could be purchased for $89,000, Thomas said.

The project would take six months to complete, he estimated.

Supervisor David Fauber approved of the idea, and informed Thomas he was confident in his ability to do the job.

Others were more skeptical. Supervisor John Coker thought that Thomas' estimate, cutting project costs nearly in half, was a "stretch."

County Administrator Charles Kolaowski pointed out the project would consume a lot of Thomas' time, whose plate is already full with day-to-day activities and other major upcoming projects he will have to oversee, like the rehabilitation of Willis Wharf. Moreover, additional county workers would have to contribute their time and efforts, and supervisors were unsure whether those employees possess the knowledge and skills the job would require.

Supervisors took no action on Thomas' offer March 13, but thanked him for the suggestion.

Crisis Intervention Team is 100 Strong

The Eastern Shore Community Services Board's crisis intervention team hit a milestone in February, when 23 first responders became certified in crisis intervention and raised the team's presence on the Shore to more than 100 strong.

The crisis intervention team is a relatively new way in which CSB supports mental health on the Shore, providing emergency behavioral interventions for individuals suffering from mental health crises.

Crisis Intervention Team Coordinator, John Konkol, first heard about the program from Lisa "Mimi" Sedjat when she became ESCSB executive director in August 2014. He was a CSB outpatient therapist when Sedjat sent him to crisis intervention training in Richmond in January 2015. Konkol said he "had no idea what CIT was all about when I arrived, but I saw the value" during the class.

The Virginia Crisis Intervention Team Coalition defines CIT as a "jail diversion program for the mentally ill," with the purpose of "addressing system change for crisis care within the community."

The crisis intervention team assists those who come in contact with police or other first responders while presenting "symptoms or behaviors that are misinterpreted as criminal in nature, inappropriate, dangerous or violent," and may need mental health treatment.

Officers alert the CIT to an emergency mental health situation by calling the 24/7 crisis line at 757-442-7707, and reaching one of six certified prescreeners on rotating duty. If the prescriber determines further evaluation is needed, arrangements are made with the individual's family and the magistrate and/or law enforcement officer.

An individual requiring further mental health evaluation who is detained under an emergency custody order is sent to the CIT assessment site based at Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital's emergency room. The site is open 10 hours per day, from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m., staffed by a CIT-trained officer of the Accomack sheriff's department, and is open to all Shore law enforcement agencies.

The CIT program benefits both mental health crisis victims and law enforcement officers, quickly getting victims help - from outpatient therapy to inpatient psychiatric treatment - without overburdening law enforcement. Normally, a police officer must monitor the subject of an emergency custody order for up to 8 hours, but at the hospital CIT assessment site, custody may be transferred to the crisis intervention team member on duty.

The crisis intervention team offers help to "all individuals in crisis, regardless of previous mental health history," Konkol said.

All first responders, including police, firefighters, EMS, 911, and mental health personnel, are eligible to train and become certified on the crisis intervention team. The free, 40-hour, weeklong class is held once every September and March in the Eastern Shore Regional Fire Training Center in Melfa.

The Shore's crisis intervention team of 100-plus members include law enforcement officers from Virginia State Police, Accomack and Northampton sheriffs departments, Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, Chincoteague, Onley, Onancock, and Parkley. Staff from the magistrate's office, 911 center, adult and juvenile probation and parole centers, Northampton EMS, Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital, and the Eastern Shore CSB are also represented.

For more information, call John Konkol at 757-442-7707.

I like to refer to the Painter area as my stomping grounds. Those borders in my mind go from Belle Haven to Onancock. I know all the roads in between these areas, a lot of the people who live in those parts and many of the visible changes that have occurred.

So it is no wonder that the falling of my favorite tree, the one I have watched for years, caused me to adjust my thinking recently. It was a wake up call for mortality.

If that great tree, that stood so tall between two sections of woods and a wide open field, could rise up and do its job everyday, then surely I could do the same. The tall pine had stood there cheering me on through many a sad day. It was the checkered flag that urged me to coast into work on time and meet my deadline. And it blocked the sun so perfectly.

So what will give me inspiration?

I guess the tree's demise happened during a recent wind storm because it was there one day and gone the next. I was driving north on Bobtown Road north of Pungoteague when I realized it. I just cleared the woods, looked to the right in hopes of glimpsing a deer and then to the left and, oh my God, my tree was gone. I could hardly believe it. I've been looking at that tree for decades and decades.

I didn't go down the long dirt driveway that leads to it. I never had before. It is probably someone's driveway. But, I wanted to say goodbye. I could see it lying on the ground. I decided to just wave from my window and I've been doing that every day since.

However, I fear, that at some point when someone takes it away, the world will be a different place.

I have been wondering if it will mean my ability to stomp will be gone. My youth will vanish. I am going to have a gigantic birthday this year. So could Mother Earth be sending me a sign? I will try to remember the spot where my favorite tree was but will I soon forget? It is like a piece of history has been removed.

My family arrived in Painter when I was nine. We lived on Main Street and in our yard was the oldest tree in town.

It was great for hide and seek games and shade. Its leaves provided a place to jump. It too is gone, cut down by the owners. The house still looks so bare to me. I can hardly recognize it as my former home.

So now my search will be on for a new tree to give me inspiration. I'm going to have to ride the roads and visit old trees. The first Christmas tree I had after moving out on my own is planted in the yard where my parents lived at Cedarview. It has gotten really tall. But that tree is not on my way to work nor are the ones Mom planted after getting seedlings from the Forestry Department more than 40 years ago. They are reaching the sky now.

The quest for the tree is on. Where is your favorite tree? Could we share our love for it? Yippee! Let me know by sending a picture and location via email to shoredog@verizon.net Thanks!

Poultry Farms Raise Questions

Dear Editor:

As a citizen of Accomack County, I am greatly concerned about the expansion of industrial scale chicken farming and its impacts on our environment including the abundance and diversity of aquatic life on the seaside. I purchased property in 2004 along Assawoman Creek in preparation for retirement from a federal career as a wildlife biologist. I was attracted to the Shore due to the pristine nature of the seaside bays and barrier islands.

I believe that this County has a limited carrying capacity of land and water resources to absorb the waste of chicken production. Agriculture, including chicken production, has been and always will be an important component to the region's economy and lifestyle. However; I believe stringent controls on runoff and air pollution are warranted on these new huge production facilities. This can only be achieved if local, state and federal officials rigorously monitor and enforce existing regulations that limit pollution from the large scale facilities such as those belonging to Tyson Foods.

I wonder: does the future of Accomack County include my demographic or will folks like me avoid or flee Accomack County as the water quality of our seaside bays, fisheries, ground water, smell and appearance continues to worsen?

Accountability for Ad-Takers

Dear Editor:

There has been some confusion about whether information provided in a full-page ad in the Feb. 16 Post (which was signed by "Shore citizens supporting sustainable economic development while protecting our incredibly sensitive and unique ecosystem and environment," with an email address provided) was coming from anyone associated with our organization.

Post Office Mail

It was not, and the ad was full of factual errors and misconceptions. Unfortunately, we have now been accused of providing misleading information, which we work very hard to avoid. One source of this confusion is that the ad was not signed by any individual or recognizable organization. To avoid any confusion in the future, I would ask that you develop and adhere to a policy requiring either a 501(c)(3) registered organizational name, or the names of the individuals responsible, for any paid ad with sponsored content. Anyone publishing their opinions, just as in a Letter to the Editor, should be willing to stand by those opinions with their own name.

Virginia's Broken Justice System

Dear Editor:

I am writing to inform readers of the inefficient justice system in Virginia. I am from Pennsylvania, but have visited Virginia every year for as long as I can remember. Last year, while visiting with my family, my grandson got into some trouble after drinking. He was placed in jail. All of this is justified, but the length of time he has had to spend there is not.

He was placed in a jail where there was no room for him and had to sleep on the floor for several weeks. There was no hot food and no air conditioning. This was July 11, 2017. He was not allowed bail and his trial date was not set until January 18, 2018. That is 6 months in jail without even being convicted of a crime. After finally receiving a trial, he now has to wait for another 3 months for presentencing. He was assigned a probation officer that has not started work yet and will be in training until March 22 2018 - another 3 months in jail without even being assigned a sentence.

Your taxpayer money is paying for these prisoners to waste time in jail because there are not enough prisons, court dates, or probation officers to handle all these presentence reports that should be done while the person is waiting for trial, not after. What a waste of everyone's time and money! Some of these prisoners would benefit more from treatment, not jail. And they wonder why there are repeat offenders.

Whatever happened to having a hearing and getting sentenced on the same day? Pennsylvania's system is much better, and we also have treatment courts instead of everyone being thrown in jail, if they need it.

I, for one, have spent my last vacation in Virginia. I might get a traffic violation and have to spend 6 to 9 months in jail waiting for a hearing.

Something has to be done! Please write to your lawmakers. I already have.
