You "Beta" Believe These Kids are Egg-cellent

Story and Photos by Linda Cicoira

The common quote, "It is better to give than to receive," is being practiced by all 43 students in the Senior Beta Club at Chincoteague High School. And it's happening with the help of native islander and math teacher, Lacey Potts Bueno, who has pushed the initiative in her first year of sponsoring the group.

"They just need someone to show them the way," the enthusiastic instructor said last week while preparing for a massive Easter egg hunt the students came up with and held last Saturday. It took three hours and 20 people to stuff 4,375 eggs that were hidden for local children to find.

"We have a great group of kids," Bueno said. "I'm showing them what you can do to give back. There are just things that they have enjoyed doing and I think that's important," she continued. "I'm trying to show them it's not about always getting something in return."

About four weeks ago, two of the students, Caroline Thornton and Zoe Mummert, both juniors, suggested helping the family of their friend, Madison Hudgins.

Madison's sister, Brianna Merritt, a Chincoteague Elementary School girl, is fighting leukemia for the second time. The club is holding a Superheroes 5k Walk/Run set for May 19. The goal is to

Marching for Babies: The Donoways

Fresh from a nap in their home in Cashville, Nolan and Dryden Donoway are fast to show their separate personalities. The twins, who will be 3 in July, give their mom, Meagan Donoway, a run around the living room gathering for a (mostly) unwanted portrait. Donoway smiles the whole time and takes the good with the bad as there was a time, three years ago, when she feared they may not make it out of the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit (NICU). The Donoways are this year's March of Dimes (MOD) Ambassador Family. This year's walk is Sunday, May 6, at the Old Onancock School.

Born at 32 weeks, Nolan, with curly blonde hair and less than thrilled to be bombarded with questions fresh from the Land of Nod, and Dryden, with brown straight hair, ready to chat, and three inches shorter than his womb-mate, came into the world at Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury, Md. Nolan weighed 4 pounds 10 ounces and Dryden weighed in at 4 pounds 4 ounces. They were in the NICU for 18 days before being sent home with their mom and dad, Joseph.

"I was high risk already with twins. I saw the doctor every two weeks from the get go," said Meagan, who went into labor that year on July 3 and was successfully delayed for ten more days thanks to prolonged medical care and advanced medicines.

"While my boys were in the NICU, they gave them surfactant to help their lungs develop," she said. Surfactant is a protein that keeps small air sacs in the lungs from collapsing. According to the Donoways MOD sponsorship page, <https://marchforbabies.org/Fundraising/Personal?personId=6570471&participantId=8570207&user=meagandonoway>, where readers can sponsor the walkers, "Premature birth affects about 380,000 babies here in the United States. I'm walking in March for Babies to get the message out about this terrible problem and you can help. ... Together we can help the March of Dimes fight prematurity so more babies can get the strongest start possible."

Come support Team Donoway Doubles. Anybody wanting to start a team or with questions can email MOD community director Susan Turner at sturner@marchofdimes.com

ANEC Records Seized From Former Hallwood Town Clerk

By Linda Cicaira

Transactions and billing statements from the home electric service of former Hallwood Town Clerk Angela Taylor, 45, and her husband, Gregory Taylor, 49, were seized earlier this month from Accomack Northampton Electric Cooperative as part of an embezzlement investigation, according to court documents.

Also taken were service records for the town and Gregory Taylor's business.

"The records are needed to further the investigation into the embezzlement of funds from the Town of Hall-wood," Special Agent Austin Pittman wrote in a warrant in February. Initially, that paper stated, "No documents seized."

However, it was later amended to show "transaction histories in electronic format and billing statements in paper format were seized under authority of the warrant on March 7, 2018."

"The records of Angela Taylor are requested because it is common practice for a person embezzling money in this manner to pay their personal bills," the warrant stated. "It is common for accounts to be listed in one or both of the spouses' names." The records were from Jan. 1, 2014, to Oct. 31, 2017.

Hallwood Mayor Jackie Poulson contacted the state police regarding "a possible embezzlement by the town clerk," according to the records. Last fall, he told officers, "The town's finances have been in a steady decline and in an effort to discover the reason ... the town council voted to have an audit conducted. Taylor was instructed to get the necessary paperwork together and provide it to the auditor."

"According to Poulson, Taylor gave the auditor some paperwork but described it as 'meaningless,'" the papers stated. When she delayed giving information to the auditor, Taylor was given a deadline of Oct. 11, 2017.

On Oct. 9 or 10, 2017, Poulson learned of a fire in Taylor's car. The fire occurred Oct. 7 and destroyed the vehicle and all the town records. The mayor "contacted the state police to investigate the fire, but the car had already been disposed of." He "then contacted the town's bank, BB&T, and obtained bank records that show numerous unauthorized checks being written to, signed by and endorsed by Taylor. Poulson stated that Taylor should not have received these checks. A town council meeting was held and Taylor's signature authority was revoked."

"After the discovery of the unauthorized checks, the electric company billing statements were compared to the bank records and it was discovered that payments made to ANEC were not being credited to the town's accounts," the papers stated. "The unmatched payments begin in 2014 and extend through 2017. The preliminary research shows $4,566.80 in unmatched payments."

Criminal warrants have not been issued against Taylor. Poulson recently said she has also not paid her taxes, and the council expects to take action to collect those funds at its next session in April.

Taylor has said she will not comment on the issue while there is an ongoing investigation.

Suspended Prison Term For Virginia Beach Abductor

By Linda Cicaira

A Virginia Beach man was given a suspended prison term Monday in Northampton Circuit Court for abducting his estranged wife outside Sting-Ray's Restaurant in Capeville in August 2017.

Larry Wayne Woods Jr., 36, of Ray Place, pleaded guilty to the charge in an agreement with Commonwealth's Attorney Beverly Leatherbury. The plea bargain called for Woods to be sentenced to 10 years in prison with all but time served suspended.

"I'm very sorry, your honor, that this happened," he told Judge W. Revell Lewis III.

Lewis admonished Woods for using cocaine when he was taking care of his then 10-month-old daughter. "Get back on track and father your child," the judge said.

Nine years and three months of the term were suspended. Woods will be on good behavior for 17 years, about the time his daughter will turn 18. Random drug and alcohol tests will be done while he is on probation.

Megan Woods, the wife, shared custody of the girl with the defendant, who was delivering the child to her mother at the Royal Farms in Townsend on Aug. 26, 2017. The parents had a disagreement and the defendant took the child and left. A short time later, they agreed to meet at Sting-Ray's. When the mother went to get the girl out of the van, he pushed Megan Woods into the vehicle and attempted to speed away. He managed to drive about 10 feet when Megan Woods opened the door, jumped out and rolled into the parking lot.

Larry Woods then left the child with her grandparents who were there with Megan Woods. "It was all captured on video," Leatherbury told Lewis.

Revisiting Martin Luther King Jr.'s Legacy

By Stefanie Jackson

The question of whether Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. ever visited the Eastern Shore may never have a definitive answer, but his influence is without question, according to at least one resident.

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of King's death on April 4, 1968, the Eastern Shore Post investigated reports that King had visited the Shore possibly early in his career. That investigation led to a conversation with the Rev. Kelvin Jones, pastor of First Baptist Church-Capeville, in Cape Charles.

Jones hopes that at least "some of the principles of Dr. King" are reflected in his service as a pastor and his work to attain "social justice" in the community.

Jones passed along the story told to him by Dr. H. Edward Whitaker Sr., who attended Crozer Theological Seminary with King and was interim pastor of First Baptist Church in 1987 and 1988, before Jones became the pastor in 1989.

Whitaker told of King preaching at the Capeville church when he was a young pastor just starting out, and First Baptist Church was without a pastor. Jones said the First Baptist Church congregation has always wondered how different the Shore might have been had the church invited King to be their pastor and he accepted.

According to First Baptist Church's website, it was without a pastor from 1953 to 1959. King started looking for a church before finishing his doctorate at Boston University in 1955; he began pastoring the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Ala., on Sept. 1, 1954.

It's possible King's visit to the Shore occurred sometime in 1953 or early to mid-1954. Whitaker can no longer share his story, having passed away Sept. 11, 2012.

There appears to be no documentation that King visited the Eastern Shore of Virginia, other than Whitaker's oral account, but the story is plausible. King attended Boston University from 1951 to 1955 and traveled up and down the East Coast, particularly during holiday breaks when he would go back home to Atlanta. He was frequently a guest preacher at churches in Boston, Atlanta and in between. King preached at First Baptist Church in Chattanooga, Tenn., at least twice in January 1954. On Sunday, Jan. 24, 1954, he was a guest preacher at Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in Montgomery, Ala., where he would become the pastor a few months later.

King often preached at churches of family and friends, and it is not out of the question that he could have stopped along his travels at some point to preach near the hometown of a former classmate.

The visit also could have occurred after King became pastor of Dexter Avenue Baptist Church in 1954, as Jones' telling of Whitaker's story states King was at the Capeville church "on a weekend on his way home to Alabama." Alabama was also the home state of King's wife, Coretta Scott, whom he met in Boston in 1952 and married at her parents' home in 1953.

King's professional career began not long after the Supreme Court decision in Brown v. Board of Education, May 17, 1954, outlawing segregation in public schools. The pastor and civil rights activist led the Montgomery bus boycott in 1955 prompted by Rosa Parks' arrest for refusing to give up her seat on a city bus.

He delivered his "I Have A Dream" speech Aug. 28, 1963, the same year Jones was born.

With King's story and legacy for inspiration, citizens continue to work towards attaining what Jones terms "social justice." He says in Northampton, blacks have been "disenfranchised" by unfair voting districts, and Commissioner of Revenue Charlene Gray is the only black constitutional officer in the county.

About one-third of Northampton's population is black, yet only one of five county supervisors is African-American, Northampton High School educator, Oliver Bennett.

Jones said Northampton citizens need more than "substandard housing" and seasonal tourism jobs. They need jobs that will allow them to purchase homes and have healthcare and retirement benefits. He would like to see the county become more "friendly to industry." The ongoing effects of Bayshore Concrete closing are particularly troubling to him.

Pastor of First Baptist Church for 29 years, Jones has served the community as chairman of the Commission For Persons With Special Needs & Disabilities for the Progressive National Baptist Convention, Inc. He was on the United Way of Virginia's Eastern Shore Allocation Committee. Jones received an award for organizing the Shore Aid Project, which raised funds for the Eastern Shore Area on Aging Agency.

Jones continues ministering to his congregation at First Baptist Church and advocating for "the betterment of Northampton County."

NORTHAMPTON MIDDLE SCHOOL SEEKS FULL ACCREDITATION

By Stefanie Jackson

Northampton Middle School Principal Laurel Crenshaw expects that by the end of the year, his school will have recovered from last year's shortfall on the SOL tests and become fully accredited.

He presented his objectives to the school board March 22.

Crenshaw's plan of action includes more support and guidance for teachers and more intense concentration and intervention in the core subjects of English and math.

NMS teachers are being provided with more professional development opportunities and administrative direction.

Weekly, lesson plans are reviewed and revised to ensure classroom activities align with state standards. Instruction is monitored through announced and unannounced observations, with supportive, constructive feedback provided.

Quarterly corrective teaching plans also are being developed and implemented to address specific student learning deficits in the core content areas.

English and math skills classes have been added to the master schedule to help students in these two vital core subjects. The Virginia Tiered Systems of Supports resource map is used to identify effective online interventions that can be used in the classroom and supplemented with direct instruction. Student academic and social data is discussed on a weekly basis.

Between the 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 school years, the middle school saw both gains and losses in SOL performance.

The most notable drop was the science passing rate, which fell from 79 percent to 62 percent. The drop indicated one of the more drastic consequences of teacher turnover. Last year, a new eighth grade science teacher was acclimating to the position after the previous teacher left.

The situation was further complicated by the fact that the eighth grade science SOL is cumulative and includes questions on sixth, seventh, and eighth grade science.

The drop in science performance appeared to overshadow the middle school's six-percentage-point gain in reading. Normally, a passing rate rising from 65 percent to 71 percent would mean attaining the benchmark, but English is the only core subject that requires a passing rate of 75 percent for accreditation. Math, science and history SOL passing rates must be at least 70 percent.

The middle school will likely benefit from the Every Student Succeeds Act, which went into effect this year and will base accreditation on more than just SOL passing rates. Schools that make adequate improvement can still qualify for accreditation, even if they fall short of the minimum passing rates in the core subjects.

Math SOL passing rates fell slightly, from 75 percent to 72 percent, but stayed above the benchmark. If Northampton Middle School students maintain or improve their math SOL performance this year, it will be an achievement, as the school lacks an eighth grade math teacher. There are three eighth grade math classes, two taught by Northampton High School math teachers, and one with no traditional teacher in the classroom. In this class, students rely on online "proximity learning."

As in reading, Northampton Middle School students made a six-percentage-point gain in history SOL performance, with the passing rate increasing from 70 percent to 76 percent.

Crenshaw wants to continue growing the Tier 1 student group. Students are grouped in Tier 1, 2 and 3 based on the level of educational intervention they need to succeed in school, with Tier 1 needing the least intervention and Tier 3 needing the most.

Crenshaw is emphasizing the STEM curriculum (science, technology, engineering and math), Odyssey of the Mind, and the BLAST program (Building Leadership and Academic Strengths Together).

About 44 percent of seventh graders and 35 percent of eighth graders are in Tier 1, 37 percent of seventh graders and 35 percent of eighth graders are in Tier 2, and 19 percent of seventh graders and 30 percent of eighth graders are in Tier 3.

Former Correctional Officer Convicted

By Linda Cicaira

Maria Danielle Owens, a former Eastern Shore Regional Jail (ESRJ) correctional officer, was convicted Monday in Northampton Circuit Court of providing a cell phone to an inmate she was guarding in October 2017.

The 44-year-old Parksley resident pleaded guilty last week to having sex with the same prisoner. The two were recorded professing their love for one another in telephone conversations made through the jail telephone service. They also argued over her monogamy and discussed pictures and a video she had on the cell phone he used.

Owens claimed this week she was innocent of giving a cell phone to Jodecii Kiiwaan Purnell, 26, of Westover, Md. Evidence included recordings between the two in which text messages were mentioned.

Lt. Frances Williams of the Northampton County Sheriff's Office (NCSO) testified prisoners do not have access to text messaging or any other electronic transmissions beyond the jail telephone service.

In an interview with Lt. Michelle Hallette, an investigator for the NCSO, Owens conceded that Purnell no longer had the phone, that Owens threw it away and that Purnell wanted Owens to bring him another phone.

Purnell has denied having relations with Owens and says he did not have a cell phone while he was a prisoner at ESRJ. He is now in Accomack Jail finishing his term for possession of a firearm by a felon. He was arrested for that offense while driving through the area. He has not yet gone to trial for possession of a cell phone by a prisoner. His case had been set for Monday, but was postponed.

Defense lawyer Brandon Matthews questioned why Purnell would have called Owens more than 200 times from the jail service phone if he had a cell phone. Matthews contended that since a phone was never found and texts and phone recordings from the phone were not admitted into evidence, there was no proof of the offense.

Lewis denied Matthews' motion to dismiss the case. "Circumstances that existed clearly indicate that he did have a cell phone" and "that he got that cell phone from you," Lewis told Owens.

A short-form presentence report was ordered. Owens was allowed to remain free on bond pending sentencing. No date was set.

Felony Charges for Four

Four men were charged with felonies in Accomack General District Court recently.

William N. Downs, 53, of Fisher Road in Parksley, is accused on Feb. 18, 2018, of failing to register as a violent sex offender. He turned himself in and was arrested on March 23. A secured bond was set at $4,000. Trooper T.M. Albright investigated.

Robert Lee Pettit Jr., 34, of Chandler Lane in Temperanceville, was charged with felony child abuse on March 24. The offense involves a child under the age of 18 for whom Pettit was responsible and includes a willful act or omission in the care of the child so "gross and wanton as to show a reckless disregard for human life." An unsecured bond was set at $5,000. Trooper Louis Milyko investigated.

Leeshawn Davis, 29, of Daugherty Road in Accomac, was charged with intentionally destroying or damaging property, on Dec. 17, 2017, belonging to Michael Parker that was valued at $1,000 or more. Davis also was charged with throwing a missile at a vehicle putting the occupant in peril. He is being held without bond. He was arrested March 22. Deputy B.K. Misener investigated.

Quarmin Deshon Bailey, 26, of Cutlers Court Road in New Church, was charged with making a false statement, on Feb. 23, 2018, on a consent form regarding his criminal history. He was arrested March 14. A secured bond of $1,500 was set. Trooper B.M. Tripp investigated.

Grand Larceny Charge for Cape Charles Woman

A Cape Charles woman was arrested late last week and charged with grand larceny, according to records filed in Northampton General District Court.

Sharon Yvonne Royster, 50, of Seaside Road, is accused of stealing an outboard motor, valued at $200 or more, that belongs to Robert Orsinger, of Fairview Road in Cape Charles, on March 15. She was arrested March 24. Unsecured bond was set at $2,500.

Deputy William Lewis of the Northampton County Sheriff's Office investigated.

Melfa Resident Sentenced for Embezzlement

A former Melfa woman was given a prison term in Accomack Circuit Court last week for embezzling about $10,000 from the Eastern Shore Community College in 2016.

Tenisha Chinyere Small, 34, of Portsmouth, was sentenced to four years with all but two months suspended. She was ordered to make restitution. The offense occurred on June 1, 2016. Small was also ordered to be on supervised probation for two years beginning on her release.

In another case, Ali Rashawn Savage Jr., 22, of Belle Haven, was found guilty of failing to re-register, on March 31, and Sept. 1, 2017, as a violent sex offender. A presentence report was ordered.

Nicholas Ryan Miller, 35, of Madison Avenue in Keller, was sentenced to three years in prison with all but 30 days suspended for possession of cocaine in connection with a May 27, 2017, incident.

Judgment was withheld for a year in the case of Cherelle LaStar Watson, 30, of Germain Lane in Parksley, regarding a count of making a false statement on a federal consent form to buy a gun on Feb. 20, 2016.

Tennessee Man Pleads Guilty

A Tennessee man pleaded guilty Monday in Northampton Circuit Court to 11 charges, including uttering, obtaining money by false pretenses, forgery and racketeering in connection with incidents in which local businesses were duped out of $69,000 last July.

Brandon Michael Maldonado-Caro, 24, of Cedar Creek Drive in Nashville, could face up to 170 years in prison plus fines and court costs for the crimes. Six other charges will not be prosecuted in exchange for the pleas.

The incidents occurred on July 28, 2017, at Casa Hispana LLC in Nassawadox, B&B convenience store in Machipongo and El Ranchito convenience store in Eastville. Investigator Terry Thomas of the Northampton County Sheriff's Office testified about his investigation of the case.

OBITUARIES

Patricia L. Fate

Mrs. Patricia L. Fate, 81, wife of the late Major Robert "Bob" Fate and a resident of Wachapreague, passed away peacefully on Thursday, March 22, 2018, at Shore Health & Rehab Center in Parksley. Born Nov. 30, 1936, in Bronx, N.Y., she was a daughter of the late William Joseph Faith and Anna McDonald Faith.

Mrs. Fate was raised in a Catholic home and was a member of Saint Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, in Onley. A woman of limitless talent and strength, Mrs. Fate had mastered everything from baking and decorating wedding cakes to assembling offshore fishing rigs; however, her greatest priority, and proudest accomplishment, was her commitment as a wife and mother. She and Bob moved to the Eastern Shore following his retirement in 1976, and together, they owned and operated "Bob's Offshore Tackle," in Wachapreague. Mrs. Fate loved going fishing, often seven days a week, and she was very proud of her 75 lb. tuna and 85 lb. marlin citations. Among her many traditions, Grandma Pat especially looked forward to teaching each of her grandchildren how to catch crabs off the dock with a chicken neck.

As the matriarch of her beloved family, Mrs. Fate's presence will be greatly missed, but her life forever celebrated through the many memories shared with her loved ones.

Survivors include her four children, Linda Scerbo and husband, Tom, of Long Valley, N.J., James Blaine and wife, Paula, of Canton, Ohio, William Blaine, of Bloxom, and Sean Fate and fiancée, Tracy Taylor, of Wachapreague; sixteen grandchildren, Kellyanne Andrucyk (Eric), Steve Scerbo (Danielle), Tim Scerbo (Rachel), Keanan Blaine, KrisAnne Lawson (Josh), CJ Blaine (Jamie), Parke Blaine, Rhiannon Blaine, Shelby DeBarr, Paige Ailing, Brandon Ailing (Christine), Cathleen Minnekine (Christopher), Hollis Parks (Terry), Jessica Taylor (Christopher), Heidi Taylor, and Olivia Blaine; fifteen great-grandchildren; several nieces and nephews; and her cousin, Maureen Robinson (John) of Long Valley, N.J., whom she shared a special bond with. In addition to her husband and parents, she was predeceased by her four siblings, Marilyn Choma, Barbara Blaine, and William and Thomas Faith.

Over the last several years, our family has been blessed by the love of Mrs. Fates' "little angel," Tracy Taylor, who has selflessly dedicated her time, care, and compassion to our Mom and Grams. We will be forever grateful for the unwavering love she has shown, and we are so thankful to have the addition of Tracy, and her family, into ours.

A memorial mass was held at Saint Peter the Apostle Catholic Church, in Onley, on Wednesday, March 28, 2018, with Father Rogelio L. Abadano officiating. Private interment was held in the Wachapreague Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to Intrepid Hospice, P.O. Box 770, Onley, VA 23418.

Memory tributes may be shared with the family at www.williamsfuneralhomes.com

Arrangements were made by the Williams-Onancock Funeral Home.

Manie J. Goodwyn

Mrs. Manie J. Goodwyn, 91, who was predeceased by her husband, Samuel Goodwyn Sr., and son, Wilbur Goodwyn, departed this life on Wednesday, March 21, 2018.

She is survived by six children, Mary E. Carey, Linda, Kurt, Lawrence, Clarence, and Samuel Goodwyn.

Homegoing services will be held Saturday, March 31, 2018, with viewing from noon to 1 p.m. and the service at 1 p.m. at Bethel AME Church in Eastville. The interment will be in the church cemetery.

Services were entrusted to Gray's Funeral Home in Cape Charles.

Mrs. Goodwyn

Carmela Flora Ioli Sacco

Mrs. Carmela Flora Ioli Sacco, 90, wife of Anthony Peter Sacco and a resident of Cape Charles, passed away Friday, March 16, 2018, at her residence. A native of Youngstown, Ohio, she was the daughter of the late Vincenzo Ioli and the late Vincenza Varelli Ioli. Her life is best described by the following words written by her loving husband.

"We were married 69 years, just short of 70 years of being together, devoted to each other with happy times and sad. Carmela was very beautiful, she turned down a screen test for Hollywood, her picture was displayed in Times Square, Broadway, N.Y.C.

She was a loving mother to our son, Anthony, who died in July 1972. Carmela worked for Louis Sherry Ice Cream and Candy Company in Queens, N.Y., in the '40s; she later became skilled in marketing paint brushes, and then ran a woman's clothing shop, A&C, that attracted some important people, like Geraldine Ferraro who ran as a candidate for Vice President of the United States of America with the Walter Mondale for President Campaign. Carmela would select clothing for her to wear in the campaign. Carmela and I traveled a lot, all of Europe and Italy, three times.

Carmela Flora was a Cub Scout den mother, and the children loved her cookies and milk. She decided after our son was taken away from us at the age of 17, she would become a home keeper and take care of her mother, Vincenza Ioli, and me. We took a few trips to the Eastern Shore and she loved it, so we moved here in 1989. She met new friends like Diane Langley, and that made her very happy. She enjoyed the fact that we moved to a place with great history, General Robert E. Lee; President George Washington; Martha Dandridge, who was first married to Daniel Parke Custis and then George Washington.

The grief of our son's death was never forgotten by either of us, and that took a big toll on Carmela.

Because I served in the military during World War II, she will be buried with our son in Long Island National Cemetery, Long Island, N.Y., and when I die we will all three be together again."

Online condolences may be sent to the family at www.doughtyfuneralhome.com

Services were entrusted to Salyer Funeral Home, Inc., on Chincoteague.

Arrangements were made by Wilkins-Doughty Funeral Home in Cape Charles.

Robin Wessells

Mrs. Robin Wessells, 61, of Parksley, wife of the late Beaufort Wessells, passed away March 25, 2018, at Heritage Hall in Nassawadox.

Born on Oct. 8, 1956, she was the daughter of the late John Williams and Mary Catherine Hart Lewis.

Robin is survived by a son, Matthew Wessells and wife, Megan, of Florida; a daughter, Stefanie Wessells, of Onancock; five grandchildren, Alysia, Matthew Jr., Jake, Elija and Ellie Wessells; a sister, Daisey Jenkins, of Accomac; several nieces and nephews; and a special niece, Rachael Blomquest.

Other than her parents, she was preceded in death by two brothers, Larry Paige Williams and Bobby Williams.

Funeral services will be private.

Arrangements were made by the Thornton Funeral Home in Parksley.

Sentara Healthcare and Optima Health Award $250,000 to Eastern Shore Rural Health

Sentara Healthcare/Optima Health has awarded Eastern Shore Rural Health System Inc. a $250,000 grant in support of the new Eastville Community Health Center. The grant is administered by the Sentara Foundation of Hampton Roads. Rural Health is replacing its aging Bayview and Franktown Community Health Centers with a new medical and dental facility conveniently located on Route 13, in Eastville.

“Sentara Healthcare, as a not-for-profit system, reinvests in our communities to enhance facilities and technologies, increase access to care, and serve the needs of the indigent, uninsured and underinsured. We are pleased to award a $250,000 grant to Eastern Shore Rural Health in support of their capital campaign for the new Eastville Community Health Center,” said Mary Blunt, senior vice president, Sentara Healthcare. “From expanding and enhancing services, to recruitment of health care providers, the new center will have a tremendous impact on the Eastern Shore. Sentara Healthcare is proud to help this capital campaign move forward and we look forward to being here when you cut the ribbon on the new facility.”

Rural Health has been tasked with raising an additional $250,000 to match this grant award, with $71,334 or 29 percent of the Sentara match already raised. As of press time, $438,298 in grant funding has been secured in support of the new $9.5 million Eastville center. Additionally, $1.176 million has been raised by the Eastville Capital Campaign. Funds generated by Rural Health operations and a U.S. Department of Agriculture loan also will be used to pay for construction of the new center.

The new facility will have more than 24,000 square feet compared to the 13,700 square feet that the current Bayview and Franktown have combined. By consolidating the two centers, Rural Health will be able to offer a state-of-the-art facility that will provide potential expanded hours to include 10-hour days and Saturday hours, digital x-ray, expanded lab services and hours, potential telemedicine and additional providers and staff. Digital x-ray is currently not at either facility. The current Franktown has dental services, but Bayview does not, so the new center will allow residents in the southern part of Northampton County increased access to dental care.

“Sentara Healthcare and Optima Health have been there for our patients for years and now they have supported us in efforts to build this much needed new center,” said Rural Health CEO Nancy

Stern. “We are grateful for the support!”

Work to gain access to the new Eastville site began in March 2018. Ground-breaking to follow in June 2018. The new center is anticipated to open in fall 2019. For more information or to donate go online to esrh.org/eastvillechc/ or contact Amy G. Bull, APR at abull@esrh.org or by calling 757-414-0400, ext. 1122.

LeMond, Wisneski Run For Cheriton Mayor

By Stefanie Jackson

Larry LeMond and Warren "Ski" Wisneski are running for Cheriton mayor in Northampton's May 1 town elections.

LeMond currently serves as Cheriton's interim mayor; he was selected by the council to take over after Joe Habel resigned from the position in February. He believes he and the council are "getting things under control," following the resignation and recent conflicts over Cheriton's new police department.

LeMond hopes to remain mayor and continue developing Cheriton into a "safe and vibrant town people can be proud of."

He would like to increase tourism revenue in Cheriton, though he indicated previously that he wants to preserve the town's unique character, not imitate Cape Charles. He said the town has a "visionary committee" working to create more events to draw visitors to Cheriton, like its summer Fun Day, anticipated to return this June.

At the end of 2017, LeMond retired after six years on the Northampton board of supervisors. During his time as supervisor, he was on the Eastern Shore Tourism Commission and during the last three years was the commission's chairman.

Other public service positions LeMond held include eight years on Northampton's appointed school board and two years on Cheriton town council. He was a 20-year member of the Cape Charles Rotary Club.

His first public service experience was on the Industrial Development Authority about 20 years ago, facilitating industrial and commercial development.

LeMond previously lived in Indiana and studied business administration and human resources in college. He spent his 28-year career with the railroad, first in Indiana, then for 20 years running the Eastern Shore Railroad.

He is a "come here" who wishes he'd been "born here." He lives with his wife, Stephanie; they have three grown children and five grandchildren.

LeMond's favorite things about the Shore are its nature and its people, and he calls it the "friendliest place to live ... I'd recommend it to anybody."

Wisneski is a retired entrepreneur and current member of the Cheriton Volunteer Fire Department and Cape Charles Rescue Service. He aspires to further "protect and perform good deeds for the town" of Cheriton as mayor.

This is Wisneski's second mayoral race. He lost to Habel two years ago, with less than half the votes.

If he were mayor, Wisneski would be "open and transparent" with citizens and council about town business. "I would not be deceitful and lie to the town," he said. All Cheriton residents "live by the same rules." As mayor, he would "lead but not dictate," Wisneski added.

Wisneski is a veteran of both the Army and Navy and ran his own handyman business for 40 years, from which he is "trying" to retire. He is active in community service, including his fire and rescue work and campaign for mayor. He was raised to believe that "you give back, period."

Wisneski's leadership experience includes past president of the Cape Charles rescue squad and past treasurer of the Cheriton fire company. He also has been a member of the American Legion. Wisneski often "took young people under my wing," employing and mentoring them in his business.

As mayor, Wisneski would support creating more opportunities enabling young people to stay on the Shore and make a living. There are "no stupid ideas," only matters of "feasibility," he said.

He considers the other members of the Cheriton fire company his "brothers" and has "never considered leaving" this "extremely unique" town where he has lived for eight years. Wisneski has lived on the Shore for over 30 years.

Wisneski said the atmosphere in Cheriton is "relaxed ... the location is phenomenal" and is the "best of both worlds" with its close proximity to the cultural offerings found across the Chesapeake Bay. "My life is wonderful," he said.

In last week's edition of the Eastern Shore Post, Smitty Dize was incorrectly stated as a native of Crisfield, Md. He is a native of Smith Island. Dize is the former Cape Charles harbormaster.

Northampton Supervisors Give EMS Garage the Green Light

Less than two weeks after Northampton's Director of Public Works and professional engineer, Chris Thomas, proposed building a garage for county EMS vehicles at a drastically reduced cost with him acting as general contractor, he had prepared two preliminary quotes for supervisors to review March 26.

Thomas's first quote for the project was $359,259, a savings of $189,130 compared to the bid of $548,389 submitted earlier this month by R.H. Contracting in Atlantic. Thomas's quote included all labor to be performed by outside contractors.

Thomas's second quote for the EMS garage was $302,259, a savings of $246,130, with a large portion of the labor to be performed by county employees, including Thomas's oversight of the project four hours per day for five weeks. The entire project, start to finish, would take about six months.

Supervisor Robert Duer opposed the second option. "When you take people out of their skill sets and put them doing something else, somebody's going to get hurt ... mark my words," he said.

He added that supervisors couldn't expect full-time employees to neglect their regular duties to work on a side project. Neither would Northampton school operations and maintenance workers have time to assist as Supervisor Oliver Bennett suggested, Duer contended.

No one opposed asking the school district permission to borrow any of its construction equipment to save extra money.

Duer made it clear he wouldn't approve a new building without seeing more detailed financial reports, though he preferred, for liability reasons, the turnkey option with outside contractors performing all the labor. Duer indicated the additional cost (about 20 percent more) was not prohibitive. Chairman Spencer Murray agreed.

Thomas's quotes included all the add-ons supervisors wanted: increasing the size of the building from 40 by 60 feet to 40 by 80 feet, constructing an addition adjoining the new garage to the existing building, and installing one extra garage door on the opposite side of the new garage to create a drive-through parking bay.

Though it appeared supervisors had the opportunity to get the building they wanted at an acceptable cost, Duer called any decision to move forward "premature." There was discussion indicating that scrapping the project altogether was not off the table.

Murray said the county has "close to a million" dollars in bond funds on which it is paying interest, which must be spent on infrastructure and may not be used for another purpose such as paying employee salaries, according to the bond agreement.

He believes protecting the EMS vehicles and the medications and equipment inside from extreme hot and cold weather is "the right thing to do."

Supervisor David Fauber motioned to allow Thomas to proceed with the project as he sees fit, with the understanding that supervisors prefer not to involve county employees in the work, and Thomas must confer with supervisors if the cost is expected to exceed $360,000. The motion carried 4 to 1, with Duer voting no.

Supervisors passed a motion rejecting the $548,389 bid from R.H. Contracting in Atlantic. According to Thomas's initial quote, the contractor will still perform the heating, ventilation, electrical and plumbing work for the project.

ESRHS Grant Application Withdrawal

Eastern Shore Rural Health System announced from Onley Community Health Center March 22 that Sentara Healthcare had awarded it a $250,000 matching grant for construction of the new Eastville Community Health Center. Groundbreaking is expected in June.

The pursuit of the $250,000 grant was part of an effort to make up for the rural health system's rejection of a $700,000 Department of Housing and Community Development grant, avoiding a 60-day construction delay that would have been caused by the lengthy process to obtain the funds.

The remaining difference was made up by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which agreed to increase its award from $2 million to $2.5 million.

Supervisors submitted the grant application on behalf of ESRHS, therefore it is their responsibility to withdraw the application. The deadline is May 2.

Murray clarified that Northampton "did nothing wrong" to "lose" the grant. ESRHS voluntarily turned down the funds, and he had been assured the application withdrawal would not hurt Northampton's reputation with DHCD.

Duer said, "There's no logic in borrowing money when you got free money sitting on the table."

Murray made the motion to withdraw the grant application, though he didn't believe anyone was "comfortable" with the inevitable decision; the motion passed with Duer abstaining due to a possible conflict.

John Bartman is Northampton's new zoning administrator. On his first day, March 26, he introduced himself to county supervisors, who welcomed him and offered their congratulations.

EASTERN SHORE REAL ESTATE

You have decided to buy or sell a home. This is one of the biggest financial decisions you will make, and the most important thing you can do is to make sure you have a professional on your side through the transaction. That person is a REALTOR®. Why use a REALTOR®? Because he or she is not only a licensed real estate agent but also a member of the National Association of REALTORS® and abides by its strict Code of Ethics.

4 Reasons to work with a REALTOR®

1. Real estate is local. Every day, there are state and national statistics shared showing the state of real estate. But do these statistics reflect what is happening on the Eastern Shore? Working with a local REALTOR® is going to give you the most accurate, up-to-date information about real estate in Accomack and Northampton counties. Our real estate market is unique, and you need to work with an expert in Eastern Shore real estate.

2. Your local REALTOR® is a professional. Using a local REALTOR® gives you a professional who is working on your behalf. A real estate transaction is complex, and having a professional by your side can mean the difference in getting your transaction to the closing table. Buying or selling a home requires a professional who has the knowledge of our local market and the negotiating skills to get you the best results.

3. Education and experience. Local REALTORS® commit to continuing their professional development and ensuring that they are the up to date on the latest laws, regulations and trends that affect real estate. The REALTOR® Code of Ethics, which all members agree to follow, essentially says that REALTORS® will deal with all parties of a transaction honestly and put the client's interest ahead of their own.

4. More than a sign in the yard. "But all a REALTOR® does is put a sign in the yard. I can do that!" While there may be a sign in your yard, that is just the beginning of what your REALTOR® will do for you. Taking you through all the many hurdles between you and the closing table and ensuring your best interests are represented is what your local expert will do for you.

CELEBRATING THE LEGACY OF MILES HANCOCK

The late Miles Hancock is an inspiration to many Eastern Shore carvers who, along with the rest of the world, are now able to visit his workshop at the Museum of Chincoteague Island at 7125 Maddox Blvd.

The workshop was dedicated last Friday not only to the memory of Hancock “but to all Chincoteague carvers past, present, and future.” In addition to making decoys, Hancock was a market and terrapin hunter and a hunting guide, who began working as a youth to help put food on the table.

EASTERN SHORE STREET HOCKEY LEAGUE GAME SUMMARIES

By Michael Garbacz

Game 1: Charles E. Morgan Termite and Pest Control Penguins 2, Grounds Keepers Lawn Care Capitals 3

With the playoffs just around the corner, defenses across the league were cinching up their belts in preparation. The first affair of the day was a great example of that, as the Caps topped the Pens by one. James Haley broke a 2-2 tie in the third with a goal off a feed from the Pat Trick, and the Caps were able to hold on through the final horn. Zach Webb pocketed the other two Capitals' goals; Haley and Julian Dedicatoria also added assists. For the Pens, the General put home both of their markers; Ethan Ayer tacked on a helper.

Game 2: EZ Loan Bruins 0, Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 2

Suffering a seriously short bench, the Bruins played a solid position game, but just could not muster enough offensive bite to solve Justin Wheeler.

Meanwhile, the father-son duo of Guy and Preston Shover proved to be all the spark the Wings needed, each scoring an unassisted goal in the first and second periods, respectively. Uncharacteristically, the Smooth Criminal couldn't manage to take over the game late to tie it up this time around, with Wheeler and the Wings' D slamming the door in the last frame.

Game 3: Grounds Keepers Lawn Care Capitals 7, Blues 1

In a bit of an odd game that was much closer for most of it than the final score would indicate, the Caps had all the right answers all game long to cruise to victory. Down 3-0 early in the third period, Danny Tweedy found the back of the net on a shot through traffic that Ol' Plugalong didn't see coming. Out of nowhere, Julian Dedicatoria single-handedly killed the Blues' momentum, summarily scoring a natural hat trick on three straight shots. Zach Webb produced a hat trick of his own, of the "pace yourself" variety, to go along with an assist; James Haley also scored; the Pat Trick registered two assists; Keith Hagler picked up one.

Game 4: Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 2, Charles E. Morgan Termite and Pest Control Penguins 3

In an extremely emotional tilt and easily the most playoff-like game of the day, the Pens managed to best the league-leading Red Wings. Once again, the General put the team on his back, producing 9 of the Pens' 12 shots on goal, and figuring in on every score with a goal and two assists. The Pens' defense impressively managed to contain the potent Wings offense, hanging on to close out the win. Preston Shover and Michael Vargas tickled the twine for the Red Wings in the loss; Jesse West picked up a helper. For the Pens, T.R. Hoyt and Ethan Ayer found the scoring touch.

Game 5: Blues 2, EZ Loan Bruins 1

In a showcase of gritty, defensive hockey, the Blues edged the Bruins to hold for a W, which the team desperately needed after a cold spell. In the first, Paul Thornes and Michael Garbacz each took one shot on goal, and it turned out that was all they needed to make a deposit apiece. The blueshirts held on from there, including a madcap final two minutes in which the Smooth Criminal took over the game, but could just not get one by the Parksley Original. However, Chris Potter ruined Stapleton's shutout bid, finding the back of the net in the chaos of the dying seconds of the game.

There's only one more week to go before the Parksley Cup playoffs begin! But before that, it's the ESSHL Senior All-Star Game and Skills Competition, Sunday, April 8, at 1:30 p.m., at Stapleton Rink in Parksley.

Come check out the league's best talent go head-to-head. Remember to check out www.esshl.org for standing, stats and more, and find us on Facebook.

Anglers Club to Host 2nd Annual Bolding/Mariner Surf Fishing Event

The J.T. Bolding/Bill Mariner Youth Surf Fishing Event will take place on Sunday, May 6, from 1 to 5 p.m., on Assateague Beach. Ages 10 to 15 may participate. Members of the E.S. Anglers Club Surf Fishing Teams will demonstrate surf casting, rigging, and reading the surf. Only 20 students can participate, so there will be plenty of hands-on instruction and lots of time for fishing. Everyone will receive souvenirs and a picnic will follow. Equipment will be provided, but participants may bring their own. Lots of awesome fish were caught last year.

Registration will be limited to club members only until a date closer to the event when, if needed, the opportunity will be open to all 10 to 15 years. Register by sending an email to Nancy Page, pagefarm@verizon.net, or call 757-665-5525. It is necessary that youth and adults who wish to attend the event give Page their names in order to be admitted to the refuge free of charge on the afternoon of the event.

Last year, most of the cost of the event was covered by a donation from a club member, who wished to honor J.T. Bolding. To help sponsor this event honor the memories of J.T. and Bill, you may do so by contacting Page.

is to assist with Brianna's medical bills and to provide hospital travel funds for her family while she is being treated.

"Two girls came up with it, but the whole group likes it and will participate," Bueno said. "It's a great way to show our support for them. We're just winging it right now, but it's going really well. I've learned so much this year about event planning and getting them where they need to be." The Beta members are "doing good things and that makes me proud of them."

The event will start at 8 a.m. in front of the high school. The group hired Commonwealth Timing, of Richmond, to promote and oversee the race. Registration is $20. The club will also sell T-shirts and circulate donation buckets. A permit to close streets during the run has already been received from the town.

"I think it's just cool that we're doing some nonprofit stuff," said club member, Madison Murphy. "This is the first year that Beta is really doing stuff in the community. She (Bueno) is literally the best sponsor we could have."

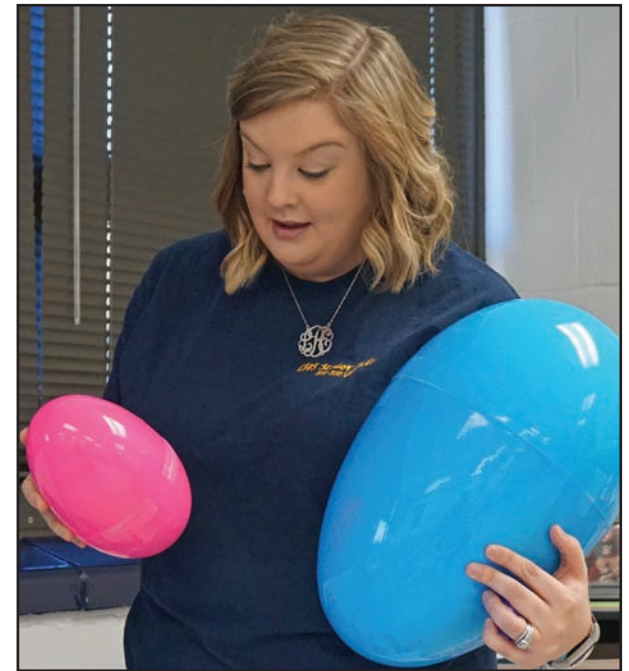

Bueno teaches pre-algebra, algebra and statistics. She said figures from the events can be used to make the statistics class more real to students. Club participants must have a grade point average of 3.5, on a 4-point scale, or better.

"They are learning how wonderful their community is," the teacher said. "I always loved Beta when I was in high school."

The group also sponsored a family for Christmas, provided Christmas dinner for four other families, and had a Virginia Diner peanut sale and two bake sales. Future plans include making scrapbooks of their activities.

"Some have asked to come back and help for events while they are in college," Bueno said.

The group's purpose is "to promote the ideals of academic achievement, character, leadership and service among elementary and secondary students." The senior club is for grades 10, 11, and 12.

Sexauer Represents Virginia at Electric Cooperative Youth Leadership Council

Submitted Article and Photos

Anna Sexauer, a 2017 Electric Cooperative Youth Tour participant and the daughter of Brooke Browning Sexauer, a member of A&N Electric Cooperative (ANEC), traveled to Nashville, Tenn. recently for the 76th Annual Meeting of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

As Virginia's representative to the national Electric Cooperative Youth Leadership Council, Sexauer participated in the Parade of Flags.

Aaron Lay, a senior at Sequoyah High School in Tennessee, who was chosen as YLC spokesperson, then addressed electric cooperative leaders from across the nation about his experiences in Washington, D.C., during the youth tour the previous June.

"Having the opportunity to stand on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. delivered the famous 'I Have a Dream' speech inspired me that I, too, a rural farm kid from east Tennessee, have a dream as well," Lay said.

More than 6,000 representatives from electric co-ops across the nation attended the annual meeting, which sets NRECA's organizational and legislative agenda for 2018. Co-op representatives also heard from NRECA officials, key public figures and business experts about issues affecting electric cooperatives and their consumer members.

"I'm constantly impressed by the ideas and enthusiasm of our youth tour participants," NRECA CEO Jim Matheson said. "Youth Tour is one of the brightest spots in the electric cooperative movement. The future of our nation is in good hands with leaders like Aaron involved."

While in Nashville, YLC participants engaged in leadership workshops, networked with leaders in the cooperative community, and participated in a community service project.

"Youth Leadership Council participants are an inspiration and are among the best and the brightest students from across the nation," said Patsy Goard, one of the chaperones for ANEC's Youth Tour delegation. "As part of the YLC, these students will continue that education as they build out their network and make connections with others from across the country that will last a lifetime. Our youth are our future, and we're proud to continue giving them the tools to succeed."

More than 1,700 students from across America take part in the Electric Cooperative Youth Tour each

June. While visiting the nation's capital, they meet their U.S. representatives and senators, and one student from each state is selected by their chaperones and peers to serve as its YLC representative.

Former Accomack County Superintendent Moving On

By Linda Cicaira

Former Accomack County Public Schools Superintendent Bruce Benson is moving on, again. This time, he's leaving Stafford to be the top dog in a North Carolina school division.

Benson, 58, resigned from the Eastern Shore position in 2014, after serving about three years. He left here to be superintendent of Stafford County Public Schools, where he has been for nearly four years.

Benson's next stop is the Alamance-Burlington School System (ABSS). The board of education there voted Monday to give him a four-year contract.

"Dr. Benson's distinguished 35-year career as a public educator, combined with his leadership experience and many accomplishments as a superintendent, made him the ideal choice among many outstanding candidates to lead ABSS," Allison Gant, the board's chairwoman, announced this week.

Benson will succeed retiring ABSS superintendent Bill Harrison on July 1. Harrison's last day will be May 31. An interim superintendent, whose name has not yet been announced, will serve for the month of June.

"I look forward to providing continued support for the good work already underway, as well as working with students, parents, teachers, system leaders, community partners and the board in attaining new levels of excellence," Benson said. "Moreover, my wife and I are excited about joining the Alamance-Burlington community."

He was offered the same pay, $200,000 a year, in the new district as he is making in Stafford. Accomack Schools paid him nearly $150,000 a year.

When leaving Accomack, Benson said, "The Stafford offer presented both a professional and personal opportunity, allowing me to be more involved with my family, including my grandchildren in Alexandria and Charlottesville."

Posted at Sea Level

By Linda Cicaira

If you've ever gone over the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel you know one way to get back home is to follow the seagull signs. It's that same bird you throw a French fry when you're sitting in the car at a fast food restaurant with the window down. They hang out in parking lots and on the beach. They like to rest on piers. They are a symbol of the Eastern Shore.

Well, guess what I just read? They are not seagulls at all. That is correct and I am as shocked as you are.

According to www.spwickstrom.com/seagull, "Seagull" is an informal way laymen refer to any of the species that belong to the family Laridae, or the gulls. In all actuality," the site says,

"there is no such thing as a seagull."

Can you really believe everything you read on the internet? Most likely not, but, I think this one is sad but true.

"There is not actually a single species called the seagull, but people all over the world refer to them as seagulls," the site continues. "They are actually, and correctly, referred to as 'gulls' ... most closely related to the terns and only distantly related to auks, and skimmers, and more distantly to the waders." And I thought waders were those high rubber boots watermen wore.

I went online to find out how to pronounce Laridae. What a crazy quest that was. The dictionaries kept asking me if I meant "lariat." Word people don't take "no" for an answer. Finally, I learned you say lair-a-day or lair-a-dee. The first one sounds like a loose woman and the second reminds me of the word "chickadee." I will not be recommending it as the next baby girl name of the year.

It is a Greek word meaning "ravenous seabird." I learned Laridae is in the bottom 10 percent of words by popularity. There are many, many species of gulls and I have seen them all. The Black-legged Kittiwake, the large Glaucous Gull, the annoying Laughing Gull and the Ring-billed Gull look the most familiar to me.

There were some "fun facts" about gulls too. They are monogamous. They will gang up on an intruder with up to 100 gulls to protect their breeding colony. They can survive drinking salt water due to the glands just above their eyes that flush the salt from their systems out through their nostrils. They have excellent vision, are expert flyers and are the state bird of Utah. And, I love to photograph them because they are not camera shy at all. Yippee!

Cleaning Up "Mighty Earth" Misconceptions

Dear Editor:

Linda Cicaira's article "Tyson Seen as 'Susceptible to Pressure' Under New Leadership" included many citizen viewpoints about poultry on the Shore, but it did not capture the vision behind the #CleanItUp-Tyson campaign. While it is true that Tyson Foods has new leadership, that did not spur the start of our campaign. Mighty Earth began this campaign because the manure and fertilizer pollution washing off corn and soy fields, which are used to grow feed for the meat industry, is the leading cause of water contamination in the country.

NOAA estimates that harmful algal blooms, caused mostly by fertilizer runoff, cost $82 million each year in lost fishing revenues and public health expenditures. Much of this burden falls on taxpayers. As the largest meat company in America, Tyson must reduce their pollution footprint, and they can do this by incentivizing best practices through the marketplace. The article mentioned that many farmers on the Eastern Shore already use BMPs. However, farmers don't always hear this helpful information because large ag companies seek to maximize profits and want to sell them chemical fertilizers. The USDA estimates that at least two out every three cropland acres fails to meet its best management practice criteria to prevent fertilizer runoff into nearby waterways. Getting Tyson to create a market for cover crops and third crops - such as grasses, clovers, or even vegetables such as radishes - will reward farmers already using BMPs, incentive more farmers to plant them, decrease water pollution, and increase profits.

Celeste Pepitone-Nahas, Accomack Organizer, Mighty Earth

Tyson Takes First Step

Dear Editor:

As reported by the Eastern Shore Post, the Tyson Foods announcement at the Accomack County Board of Supervisors meeting to use the shallow Columbia aquifer for 66 percent of their poultry house groundwater source was very good news. This is an important first step to address their many impacts with the addition of 270 units towards industrial poultry expansion. This is the beginning of an open dialogue about the long-term effects that will permanently alter the use of our agricultural land, our natural environment, and our rural livability in general.

Rather than a self-congratulatory attitude, that Tyson volunteered to keep to their current slogan of "being a good neighbor," my opinion is they most certainly should work towards groundwater conservation, lest their own wells run dry. That said, the County of Accomack and the State of Virginia need to hold Tyson to the highest standards of air quality protection, surface water monitoring, and nuisance reduction at all levels.

Accomack County residents and the state legislative body have worked hard to bring economic development opportunities in addition to poultry. Is the legislative body so carried away with as much as possible, land build-out of poultry that they have abandoned support for aquaculture, tourism, real estate interests, small farms and businesses?

Current poultry expansion has the potential to overwhelm and destroy these viable drivers of our local economy. Please Accomack County, re-examine zoning setbacks and provide additional space for balance in our communities. Help us to preserve the unique natural resources we all have here. Don't sacrifice Accomack County to industrial poultry. We have so much more to offer.
