Jury Still Deliberating Verdict in Baby's Death

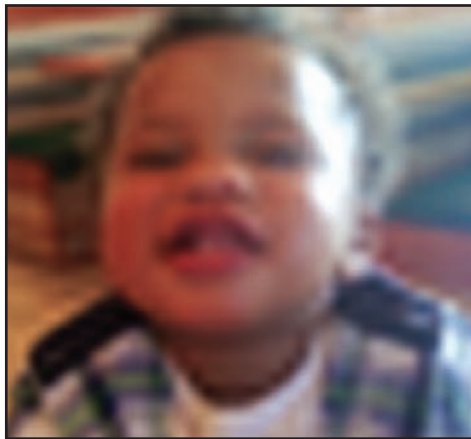

By Linda Cicoira

Infant Isaiah Russell of Justiceville Road near Parksley (pictured at right) died last year from "blunt-force head injuries," a medical examiner told an Accomack Circuit Court jury this week.

The boy's skull was fractured in three places. His brain was swollen and the encompassing membranes and his retinas hemorrhaged. Bruises marked his face, head, shin, elbow and buttocks. The child's optic nerves were bleeding and he was in the early stage of pneumonia when he died.

"I don't know how to quantify the kind of force" that was used, said Dr. Elizabeth Kinnison. "It was clearly enough to crack the skull ... it takes some effort."

Other testimony revealed the injuries occurred when the mother was at work in a local chicken factory and her fiancé, Brian Terrell Walker (pictured at far right), 25, who was on vacation from the plant, was in charge of the daytime care of the boy and his toddler sister. A third child — Isaiah's 9-year-old sibling — was in school.

After deliberating for 90 minutes Thursday, the jury adjourned for the day at about 5 p.m. and was scheduled to continue its discussions today.

"The case is circumstantial because we don't have an eyewitness," Accomack Deputy Commonwealth's Attorney Matthew Brenner told the court. "He was the one in care of the baby." It was "preposterous" that someone else broke into the house. "Wouldn't they try to take out the sleeping boyfriend first?" he asked. "We have a the intentional death. It is a homicide. It is a murder."

Defense lawyer Benjamin Hamlet of Virginia Beach motioned for the charge to be dismissed. Judge Stephen Mahan took the matter under advisement. He said, "The court has some thoughts about whether all those links in the chain exist. But there is a chain."

Hamlet said, "This case is a whodun-

Accomack Indictments Include Onancock Worker

By Linda Cicoira

Another Onancock worker has been accused of stealing from the town.

William Russell Wood, 46, of Market Street in Onancock was indicted Monday by an Accomack Grand Jury on charges of stealing "a large number of brass water meters" that belonged to the town.

The incident allegedly occurred between January and February of 2010 while Wood was working at the construction site of Onancock's new wastewater treatment facility. He technically worked for the contractor building the plant and was allegedly salvaging the metal.

When questioned by police, Wood admitted to stealing the property, according to Circuit Court documents. It was discovered that the meters were missing after another man, who was charged with stealing metal from a northern Accomack business, squealed on Wood in an effort to gain leniency.

The information was obtained from Michael Allen Turner, 55, of West Main Street in Onley, according to the records. Turner was indicted by the Grand Jury on a charge of a third offense of petty larceny. The incident involves the theft of scrap metal from Old Virginia's First and Last Convenience Store near New Church on Jan. 26, 2011.

Also indicted were:

- Lemoin Brandon Brady, 26, of Lankford Highway in Machipongo, on a count of stealing an $800 iPad belonging to Phil Hebrank on Feb. 23, 2011. Cpl. C.A. McPherson of Accomack County Sheriff's Office (ACSO) investigated.

- James Michael Carpenter, 23, of Cattail Road in Mears on a count of stealing tools and other items belonging to Jeff Miller of Onancock on Sept. 5, 2010, while he was doing carpentry work for Miller. McPherson investigated.

- Susan Clifford, no age nor address available, on three counts of welfare fraud that allegedly occurred between Sept. 1, 2009, and Feb. 28, 2011. Fraud Investigator Jack Thomas of the Department of Social Services investigated.

- Mashonda Davis, 37, of Bayside Road in Onancock, on three counts of embezzling money or property from the Accomack Department of Social Services between June 2009 and November 2010. Trooper W.W. Williams investigated.

- William Thomas Davis, 21, of Joshua Lane on Chincoteague and William Young, 18, of Fletcher Road in Bloxom, on counts of receiving stolen copper pipes on April 13, 2011. A warrant alleges that Davis and two others stole the copper from Pennsylvania and brought it to Virginia to sell at a salvage yard. Sgt. K.A. Reese of Chincoteague Police Department investigated.

- Ricky Drummond, 20, of Coal Kiln Road in Painter, on a count of stealing a car stereo valued at $315 from Walmart in Onley on Nov. 15, 2010. ACSO Deputy John Spivey investigated.

- Jay Anthony McGlown, 18, of Killmontown Road in Melfa, on a count of stealing three gold rings worth more than $200 belonging to Reed Ennis on April 4, 2011. Spivey investigated.

- Pamela Powell, 35, of Lighthouse Motel on Chincoteague, on a count of credit-card larceny that allegedly occurred between Dec. 31, 2010, and Jan. 1, 2011. Capt. R.K. Fisher of Chincoteague Police Department investigated.

- Shaquincia M. Singleton, 26, of A.S. West Road in Painter, on a count of stealing two digital cameras worth $238 belonging to Walmart of Onley on Nov. 28, 2010. Spivey investigated.

- Macio Lafonza Stewart, 34, of Christopher Lane in Painter, charged with breaking into Onancock Building Supply on April 10, 2011, and stealing property. Sgt. Dean Carroll of Onancock Police Department

2 Boards Consider School Improvements

By Ron West

In an effort to foster unity, the Northampton County Board of Supervisors and School Board met to iron out the school system's long-range Capital Improvement Plan (CIP) and to consider merging the employees of both groups into one healthcare plan.

Supervisor Richard Tankard expressed concern over the CIP's bottom line of $22 million and how to fund it. The CIP calls for an outlay of $13 million in one year to make substantial improvements to the high school. Tankard called on the school system to update the CIP estimates and prioritize items to see what can be afforded.

Tankard suggested that funds be set aside each year toward the CIP items. School Board Chairman Dr. Richard Drury indicated that regardless of how the needed improvements prioritized, the plan will require a sizable infusion of funds. School Board member Kristin Webb said it is unrealistic to believe that the CIP could be fully funded without borrowing money.

Commented Webb, "We don't want to reach a point where someone comes in and says that the schools are unsafe and must be fixed or replaced."

School Board member Ann Terry said, "One way or the other we need to get money put aside from some source to reduce the amount that is borrowed for the CIP. At some point, the county will need to bite the bullet for the schools."

School Board member Deloris Lindsey advised the supervisors that they needed to have a plan for how to fund the CIP. In response to a comment made about seeking grants to help fund the CIP, she said, "Education is too important. You can't just play with it. You can't just go out and look for grants to fix the things that need to be done."

Board of Supervisors Chairman Willie Randall summarized that they need to move forward and seek funding sources. He said, "Let's see what happens as we get closer to 2015," when the county debt service will begin decreasing noticeably. "A lot of things can change by then."

School Board member Mickey Merritt suggested that the supervisors look at using some of the delinquent tax revenue to help offset the cost.

The second issue tackled by the two boards involved possibly merging the health-insurance plan for all county employees. Currently, the school system operates under a different plan from other county employees.

County Administrator Katie Nunez suggested that by merging the two groups, some employees would see a savings.

The supervisors agreed to the proposed merger while the School Board will continue to seek input from employees before making a final commitment. It was agreed that there would be a joint committee to review future health plans.

Rigell Sponsors Bill for Wallops Research Park

U.S. Representative Scott Rigell has introduced legislation that would spur development of Wallops Research Park.

At the request of the Accomack Board of Supervisors, Rigell introduced a bill that would remove the deed restriction on a piece of county property next to NASA Wallops Flight Facility. This parcel, which was designated for recreation but seldom has been used and has become overgrown in recent years, would become part of Wallops Research Park, a joint project among NASA, Accomack County, the Marine Science Consortium and the private sector.

"The Board of Supervisors came to me with a smart, reasonable request that will create jobs, and that's music to my ears," Rigell said. "There is room for economic growth at Wallops Park, and we need to foster any ember of economic potential that we can. I couldn't have been happier to help facilitate this project."

According to Accomack County Board of Supervisors Chairman Donald L. Hart Jr., "The development of Wallops Research Park is a critical component for future economic development in Accomack County. We thank Representative Rigell for this effort in Congress to remove the deed restriction at Wallops Park so that we can move forward with this project."

Planners Oppose Permit Request, Recommend Change in Zoning

By Ron West

The Northampton Planning Commission spent nearly five hours Tuesday debating a request for a special-use permit (SUP) and a request by the Northampton County Board of Supervisors for a zoning text amendment.

In the first issue, Townsend area resident William C. Parr was seeking a minor SUP to allow for a holiday and special-events venue on property zoned as Agricultural/Rural Business at 24021 Seaside Rd. The property includes nearly 23 acres, along with a century-old barn that has been renovated. Parr began seeking the permit in April and the planners tackled it at three public sessions.

The principal opponents of the application, former Supervisor Andrew Barbour and his wife, who live on the adjacent property, stated that they are concerned over loud music, alcohol use, and increased traffic. Residents of a subdivision spoke of concerns over noise and safety. A petition was presented to the planners urging them to turn down the application.

Parr stated that historically, the property was a large farm and until recently was used by an industrial tomato grower. As such, he said, large numbers of field workers and farm equipment operated on a daily basis. Parr said his plan would fit in with the county's Comprehensive Plan, which encourages agra-tourism.

Despite the fact that opponents to the application had insisted on a large number of stipulations, such as keeping most of the proposed events participants indoors, requiring security officers onsite, and limiting the times of operation, they continued to press the planners to oppose the permit.

In the end, the Planning Commission voted 7-1 not to support the application, with Commissioner Severn Carpenter the only member who supported Parr's request. The application now goes to the Board of Supervisors for a public hearing at its June 14th meeting.

The second topic fielded by the planners was a request by the Board of Supervisors for a text amendment concerning lot sizes, setbacks, and allowed uses for the county's two Waterfront Villages of Oyster and Willis Wharf.

In April, aquafarmer Tom Walker requested a zoning change that would enable the growth of his business in Willis Wharf.

Those who spoke against the zoning request indicated that they opposed the possible influx of businesses or residential units to the area. Peter Kafgian of Willis Wharf stated that he opposed allowing apartments or other residential units not water dependent and consistent with the waterfront.

Supervisor Spencer Murray, who spoke in favor of the application, noted that there are no applications before the Planning Commission for any residential or commercial development of either of the waterside villages.

The planners focused their opposition to the request on concerns over possible future development in the Oyster area. Commissioners Mary Miller and Roberta Kellam pressed to insure that any commercial construction at the waterfront have adequate "boat parking" for anyone who would visit the area by watercraft.

Over two hours of discussion ensued over what constituted a water-dependent commercial venture. Commissioner David Kabler urged the planners to focus on the recommendations of the county planning staff. He argued that the zoning ordinance is stifling tourism and there was a need for compromise. "We need to support services for recreational boaters and mixed-use commercial businesses in the county," Kabler said. Kabler suggested that if there are concerns over what might be built in the waterfront villages, the planners could recommend requiring a special-use permit for certain types of commercial uses, which would necessitate a public hearing before permits are approved.

Just prior to midnight, the planners agreed to forward the text amendment request to the supervisors, who will hold their own public hearing on it at their June 14th meeting.

WARNING: GET COMFORTABLE BEFORE YOU READ THIS

By Linda Cicoira

People who live in Accomack and Northampton counties like to watch television with the lights on, knock back beverages from a favorite vessel and walk around their homes with their shoes off.

Seventy-three percent of those participating in an e-mail survey conducted by the Eastern Shore Post prefer to drink from a particular, glass, tumbler or mug. The latter was the favorite.

Fifty-two percent view their TV with the lights on, 22 percent turn them off and 26 percent do either at various times, the survey showed. About 60 percent of the participants do not wear their shoes in the house, while 14 percent said sometimes they do and 26 percent always wear shoes or slippers when at home. Citing laziness, half said they don't untie their shoes when they take them off.

Linda Mitchell of Pungoteague likes to drink from a coffee cup. "It's the most beautiful cup in the world — it has the desert floor depicted around the bottom, then the sky with some white stars and the moon and then the dark blue of space." She watches TV with "one small light on. I can see better that way." Mitchell "never!" wears shoes in the house.

Lauren Seltzer of Painter likes "mugs as they have big handles. ... If we are going with brands of dishes ... I collect Fiestaware because I LOVE the colors." She doesn't untie her shoes and watches TV with the lights off because "HD looks better in the dark."

Jennifer Simpson of Exmore has a few favorite dishes. They are pink and clear and are left from a set she gave her mother when she was in the fourth grade. Those favorites "ALWAYS remind me of my extraordinary mother," she wrote.

Craddockville resident Nathan Metzger's favorite "mug ... was my grandfather's and it has an old German toast on it."

Erin Hall of Cheriton wonders why anyone would untie his shoes. "It is too much effort, I mean, that's a long way down." She watches television with the lights on. "Like reading, it is bad for your eyes if you watch TV in the dark," she said.

"Definitely not," was her response to wearing shoes in the house. "I would go everywhere without shoes if it were safe and sanitary. Plus, I don't want to track dirt all over the carpets where my son practically lives."

Tom Rakowski of the Melfa area has a "mug for my coffee, just right amount and keeps it warm." He keeps the lights on when watching television "so I can read during commercials."

Steve O'Kusky of Maine, formerly of Craddockville, likes to drink from a Navy mug "from an attack submarine that I worked on." It is "dark blue with the sub's name, emblem and motto in gold, large and heavy ceramic so it keeps coffee nice and warm ... it reminds me of the great crew on that boat."

Ann Stubbs of Chincoteague drinks from a blue mug, too. "It is quite heavy with a large enough handle to fit my fingers in; sort of like a USN mug," she noted. She can't "just do one thing, so I watch TV and I read at the same time or I might crochet or knit."

Tanna Mullner of Cape Charles doesn't untie her shoes when taking them off. "I'm American and lazy!" She watches television with the light off "because I want to see the 'boob tube,' not the glare!" Her decision about wearing shoes in the house corresponds with 'how dirty my floors are.'

Bobby Carroll Huether's favorite drinking vessel "came from the glassware of the old Pungoteague School" near his home. "It's funnel shaped. I use it all the time." He watches television in the dark. "About the only time I get to watch TV anymore is in bed. I set the timer ... and fall asleep watching it."

Joyce Green of Parksley prefers an insulated tumbler of "Hatteras Light-house, my favorite vacation spot." She's "too lazy" to untie her shoes before taking them off and watches TV with the lights off "if I am doing nothing else at the time. It's more relaxing." Green said, "No!" she does not wear shoes in the house.

Linda Regula of Machipongo also has a favorite mug. "It is one my daughter gave to me when she was in grade school; it looks like it has a wooden crate on it and it says 'World's Cratest Mom.'" She watches television with the lights on "because my husband insists on it."

Greg Bundick of South Carolina, previously of Tasley, favors drinking from "a highball glass, last of a set of 8 from '90s." It's "slim, sweats just right on hot SC day, neat and has lasted the test of time."

Patrick Belote of Onancock turns the lights off during a good suspenseful movie. It "seems better with the lights off — like the theater," he wrote.

James Price of Cape Charles is another Fiestaware user. "Made in the USA!" He uses "low light" when watching TV because "sometimes others are doing something else in the same room."

Jessica Bonniwell of Willis Wharf drinks from "My Philadelphia Eagles Cup because I love my Eagles! ... I don't watch TV," very often, she wrote. "When I do, it's lights off because I'm in bed when I do get a chance to watch it."

Janet Dudley of Cape Charles said, "Anything that holds good food" is her favorite dish. She watches television with the lights on "because my mom told me I would ruin my eyes if I watched with the lights off."

Jessica Long of the Cape Charles area loves "my Donald Duck mug that I got from the Disney ImagiNations Competition. ... I do not wear shoes inside the house... who wants all of that outside dirt tracked everywhere?"

Dan Hillman of Locustville said his answer regarding the wearing of shoes in the house varies "on whether my wife is home or not!"

Cumming Appointed Temporary ~ Murder Trial ~

Onancock has a new interim town manager.

Will Cumming, the Eastern Shore's former Virginia Department of Transportation resident engineer, agreed to take the job until the town can find a permanent replacement.

The four members of Town Council who attended the special session Monday night voted unanimously to appoint Cumming for 60 days to give themselves more time to choose a permanent manager. The Onancock man is expected to start work this week possibly as early as Thursday. Town Manager Sandy Manter resigned, effective June 1.

Council was expected to reconvene at about 5:30 p.m. yesterday (after press time) to again tackle the issue.

Cumming

Mayor Bruce Paone and Councilwoman Michelle Marsh were absent from Monday's session. Vice Mayor Fletcher Fosque acted as mayor and did not vote. After an hour-long closed session, casting their ballots in favor of Cumming's appointment were Councilmen Chris LaMontagne (chairman of the Personnel Committee), Travis Bradley, Richard Pearsall and George Miles.

Cumming will get paid an hourly wage based on an annual salary of $50,000 a year. LaMontagne said Cumming has not applied for the regular manager position. He said Council is "in the final stages" of making a selection and has been "making reference calls. We're not at the point of taking a vote right now."

Cumming worked for VDOT for 33 years, 22 as resident engineer, before retiring. Town officials approached him about taking the temporary job, he said.

LaMontagne also said the town is continuing to search for the best-qualified candidates for maintenance worker and town clerk.

it, not a whatdunit." Walker "is a loving father of two sons ... an easy-going guy ... hard working ... he took care of" Isaiah. There was "no motive, no intent." Hamlet said the boy's mother, Jessica Russell, didn't want the child, desired the life-insurance money to leave town and had another "child who died under suspicious circumstances."

But Russell testified that her other son died in a miscarriage and that Isaiah's insurance money — about $2,500 — went straight to the funeral home.

The defendant, who lived with Russell and the kids, pleaded not guilty to murder. He did not testify.

Former Investigator Tom Hedge testified that Walker told him he was asleep when the injuries occurred and wasn't aware the child was hurt until the younger sister awakened him saying the boy "couldn't breathe."

Hedge told the court that Walker said that after feeding and bathing the children, he placed Isaiah in a crib, put a TV show on for the toddler and then watched the two fall asleep before he drifted off. He also told officers he was a deep sleeper and was unsure how long it took the girl to wake him up.

Walker told Hedge that he found the boy on the floor "gasping" for air. He claimed he didn't know what happened but speculated that the sister tried to get Isaiah out of the crib and possibly dropped him or that someone else came in while he was sleeping and hurt the boy.

According to Hedge, Walker told police that as soon as he saw the infant in distress, he "grabbed him up" and went for help. His cell phone was dead and he had to go to a neighbor's house (estimated by Hedge to be a football field away) to call 911. Walker told officers that he followed dispatchers' instructions for CPR until an ambulance arrived. A rescue worker confirmed that Walker was trying to help the boy when he got there. Isaiah was taken to Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital and then transferred to Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters in Norfolk where he died two days later.

Photos of the autopsied baby taken by Kinnison were given to the jury and shown to Russell and her mother so they could identify the child. Bloody tissues and a small bloody towel that Russell turned in to police were entered into evidence. Russell testified that she found them in a pile of dirty clothes as she hurried to get back to the hospital because they were going to "pronounce" her son that day. DNA analysis showed secretions from the tissues belonged to Walker while the ones on the towel could have belonged to either the man or the child.

Walker showed police a scab on his leg and said he used the tissues and shirts to stop the bleeding days before Isaiah was injured.

Dr. Verena Wyvill, who works with a child abuse program, testified that Isaiah was underweight; he should have been about 19 pounds based on previous medical records and was only about 16.4 pounds. Dr. Wyvill said the injuries were consistent with a fatal car crash or a "TV falling on the head," not a drop from a crib. She added that Isaiah was likely small because he was not given proper nutrition.

Russell testified that the day started with the usual routine. She gave Isaiah milk and then made breakfast for the others. She said her son was the easiest of her children to take care of. "I never had to punish him." Russell said her son was fine when she left except for a cold.

She said she didn't take Isaiah to scheduled doctor's appointments because she couldn't get out of work, but admitted she went to her own doctor's appointment the week he died. She denied having a facebook.com account that called Walker "too stupid to see he is being set up by me. That's not my screen name ... you can copy and paste."

Car Care

Pre-Trip Vehicle Checks Make for Safer, Gas-Saving Summer Road Trips

With millions of people planning to hit the road this summer, two things will be on their minds — getting to their destination safely and the high price of gas. The Car Care Council recommends a pre-trip vehicle inspection to make sure your vehicle is safe for travel and is running efficiently.

“To avoid the inconvenience and potential safety hazards of breaking down miles away from home, a pre-trip vehicle check can determine how road-ready your vehicle is so you can take steps to have the problems fixed before heading out for vacation,” said Rich White, executive director of the Car Care Council. “Plus, with the average price of gas around $4 a gallon, making sure your vehicle is running efficiently will get you more miles to the gallon.”

The pre-trip vehicle check recommended by the Car Care Council includes:

- Scheduling a tune-up to help the engine deliver the best balance of power and fuel economy and produce the lowest level of emissions.

- Checking the brake system and making sure the battery connection is clean, tight and corrosion-free.

- C h e c k - ing filters and fluids, including engine oil; power-steering and brake and transmission fluids; as well as windshield washer solvent and antifreeze/coolant. Dirty air filters can waste gas and cause the engine to lose power.

- Checking the hoses and belts that can become cracked, brittle, frayed, or loose or show signs of excessive wear. These are critical to the proper functioning of the electrical system, air conditioning, power steering and cooling system.

- Checking the tires, including tire pressure and tread. Underinflated tires reduce a vehicle’s fuel economy and uneven wear indicates a need for wheel alignment. Tires also should be checked for bulges and bald spots.

- Checking that the gas cap is not damaged, loose or missing to prevent gas from spilling or evaporating.

“A thorough inspection will give you piece of mind as you travel and help make your journey safer,” continued White. “By also avoiding aggressive driving, observing the speed limit and avoiding excessive idling, you will spend less on fuel and have more money for vacation fun.”

Community Notes

Exmore Town Council reviewed the town's proposed budget this week with an eye toward providing a 3 percent cost-of-living allowance (COLA) for town employees who have seen no increase for quite some time.

Interim Town Manager Arthur Miles noted that the proposed budget includes a $4 increase in monthly wastewater fees. Additionally, Miles suggested a small fee increase for large water users (using in excess of 10,000 gallons per month) to encourage water conservation. Approximately 50 of the 700+ users would be affected. The increase would amount to $2.50 per 1,000 gallons used above the 10,000 GPM mark.

Council agreed to hold a public hearing on the $1.2 million general fund budget and $439,000 proprietary budget for water and wastewater on June 20 at 7 p.m. As proposed, the budget is approximately $100,000 above the current budget.

In other business, Town Council granted Star Transit permission to provide a shelter at its bus stop site adjacent to the Town Office on Main Street. Star Transit will provide the shelter and town employees will install it.

The town Police Department asked Council to change the curfew time for minors (under 18) from 10 p.m. to 9 p.m. to help decrease vandalism or other illegal activities by youngsters. A public hearing will be conducted on the proposed ordinance change on June 20 at 7 p.m.

The Cape Charles Historical Society has announced the award of a third $10,000 grant to fund the interior ceiling repair and installation of a new roof at the Cape Charles Museum and Welcome Center. The $10,000 one-for-one matching grant is from the Marietta McNeil Morgan and Samuel Tate Morgan Jr. Foundation of Richmond. It requires the Historical Society to raise $10,000 specifically designated as challenge match contributions for the ceiling/roof project. Members have so far provided nearly $2,000 toward the match.

In January, the Historical Society received $10,000 from the Richard and Caroline T. Gwathmey Memorial Trust of Richmond and another $10,000 from the Eastern Shore Community Foundation. The ceiling repair was completed and inspected on March 10, and bids for the roof and drain work will go out shortly.

The Historical Society would appreciate donations toward the required match. Checks may be sent to the Cape Charles Historical Society, P.O. Box 11, Cape Charles VA 23310. To pay by credit card, send an e-mail to ccmuseum@hughes.net and you will be billed via the Internet.

The next meeting of the Virginia Liberty Project will take place tonight, June 10, from 7 to 9, in Onancock, to discuss the relevance of the U.S. Constitution to solving today's political and economic problems.

All are welcome, but RSVP is necessary as dessert will be served. To do so, call 787-8291 or e-mail easternshorelibertyproject@gmail.com

Nassawadox and Painter Approve Town Improvement Plans

Nassawadox and Painter town councils have approved landscape plans for their towns. These plans are part of the Eastern Shore Tourism Commission's effort to enhance the visual impact of the Lankford Highway corridor and attract tourists.

A cooperation effort by Bay Coast Railroad, Nassawadox, Painter, ENDESIGN and the Tourism Commission made these plans possible. Bay Coast Railroad is the lessee of the Canonie Atlantic Company-owned property in the town centers that is vital to the landscaping efforts. The railroad and Canonie have made a commitment to provide a long-term lease to the towns if the towns implement the plans and accept maintenance responsibility.

John Schneider of ENDESIGN, a Virginia certified landscape architect, donated his time and expertise to prepare the plans.

According to Robert Lentz, Highway 13 Beautification Project leader, the plans provide the momentum and ammunition needed to compete for grants, stimulate business investments and bring interest groups together to make the plans a reality.

The Tourism Commission will continue to assist the towns in preparing cost estimates, seek funding and provide technical help.

The Nassawadox Landscape Plan captures the Victorian home character. It creates a town center with a town clock, Victorian-style streetlights and a shelter in character with the railroad. A "Land Between the Waters" exhibit is planned just beyond the town center, which would feature interpretive signs capturing the history of the town and landscaped with plants used by Native Americans. The intent is to encourage visitors traveling along Lankford Highway to stop, view the exhibit and support the businesses.

The south end would be accented by groups of crape myrtles and shrubs along an attractive fence. The area would enhance opportunities for art-and-craft shows, markets and other community events.

Nassawadox Mayor Estelle Murphy said, "I am very excited about the landscape plan and feel that this project will be an asset to our town. I only hope that the town is able to find grants and/or funding."

The Painter Landscape Plan links both sides of the highway. Drainage is a major consideration that Schneider addressed by designing an infiltration basin just beyond the downtown area. This area would feature native plants, create green space and provide an opportunity for nature interpretation.

A shelter would be located near the town center, reminiscent of the railroad and agriculture history of the town. An evergreen tree would provide a centerpiece for Christmas decorations, and parking and picnic tables along the west side of the highway would provide an opportunity to relax. The plan recommends walkways and landscaping in front of existing businesses to improve the curb appeal. The large area north of town would be used for various town events. New town signs on the north and south entrance to town would invite visitors to stop, relax and shop.

Painter Mayor Connie Campbell said, "We are excited to be working on this project to beautify our town. ... We are working with individuals who have the expertise to help us accomplish the overall beautification goal."

Each plan was approved in concept by Town Council, recognizing that as implementation begins, changes would be required to address the existing conditions and funding. Both councils added a patriotic touch by including a flagpole.

If you want to support the effort and help implement these two plans, contact the mayors or Robert Lentz at rlentz1@verizon.net

PUBLIC NOTICE

Effective Saturday, June 4, 2011, there is hereby imposed an Open Burning Ban for all of Northampton County by order of the Northampton County Administrator, due to the excessive dry conditions currently existing. Certain exemptions, such as controlled burning operations in connection with tomato harvesting, campfires conducted in designated campgrounds or other camping facilities, and brush-pile burning conducted by the County at the sanitary landfill, are still allowed under the Ban.

The ban will remain in effect until such time as the County Administrator deems it advisable to lift it.

Ballard Earns CG Award

Ballard

Coast Guard Petty Officer First Class James Ballard recently received the Cmdr. Ray Evans Outstanding Coxswain Trophy Friday at Coast Guard Station Cape Charles.

The trophy is annually awarded to the Coast Guard's best boat driver for sustained superior performance, exceptional boat handling skills and exemplary leadership

"It's an honor for him but also for me to have him here," said his supervisor at Station Cape Charles, Chief Petty Officer Justin Uyttewaal. "He is a dedicated and hard-working individual that continually hones his skills to be the best he can be. I am very proud of what he's done."

Among other achievements, Ballard received the award for his role in saving two crewmen from the 75-foot fishing vessel Mandy Lee on the night of Dec. 5, 2010. While at the helm of a Coast Guard 41-foot utility boat, he navigated it through eight-foot waves and rapidly deteriorating weather conditions to rescue the two men from their sinking vessel.

"It's important for all boaters to keep an eye on the weather forecast," Ballard advised. "Not just what is happening when they leave the dock, but also what the weather is supposed to do later, so they can make it back safely."

Northampton High Grad. Completes Degree

Dominick Dorriel White, son of Jerline White, grandson of Virginia Mapp of Exmore, has received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Marketing from Grand Canyon University in Phoenix, Ariz. A graduate of Northampton High School, White graduated with a 3.9 GPA and plans to pursue his graduate degree.

Shore Naturalists Recognized

Gov. Bob McDonnell recently announced the winners of the 2011 Governor's Environmental Excellence Awards, which recognize significant contributions to environmental projects, programs, or land conservation.

The Virginia Master Naturalist Program won a gold medal in the Government Environmental Programs Category. "Activities of the Eastern Shore Chapter of the Virginia Master Naturalists were important in this achievement," commented Dot Field, Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation's Eastern Shore Region steward. "The chapter is one of the most active in the state."

Memorial Service Tomorrow

A memorial service will be conducted at Williams-Onancock Funeral Home Saturday, June 18, at 1 p.m. for Dr. Rosalie Talbert, who passed away peacefully at home on Feb. 15, 2011, at the age of 89.

Born on the Shore, she graduated from Longwood College and then went to The College of William and Mary, where she earned a master's degree in biology in 1945. She continued her studies in invertebrate zoology and entomology at the University of Wisconsin in Madison and earned a PhD in 1952. She met her husband, George Talbert, during her graduate studies. They were married in 1947. The couple later moved to Brooklyn, N.Y., where they both pursued academic careers.

Dr. Talbert was a professor emeritus of biology at Nassau Community College on Long Island, where she taught for over 20 years. She wrote several laboratory guides and had strong interests in the environment, women's rights, and education.

In 1991, the Talberts retired to Quinby, where they built a house overlooking the marsh. During their retirement, they traveled to Europe, the Middle East, Africa and Central America, as well as all 50 states. In 2001, the couple moved to Redlands, Calif., where they stayed until Mr. Talbert passed away in 2008. They had been married 61 years. Mrs. Talbert moved back to the East Coast in 2009 to be closer to her family.

She is survived by her daughters, Susan Talbert of New York, N.Y., and Jean Talbert of Falmouth, Mass.; and grandchildren, Bryce Davidson of Falmouth and Jason and Kate Talbert of New York City.

Memory tributes may be shared at www.williamsfuneralhomes.com

Arrangements were made by Williams-Onancock Funeral Home.

Lighthouse Ministries Housemother Dies

Miss Virginia Ann Peters, 71, a resident of Melfa since 2006, formerly of Keller, and Bristol, Tenn., died Tuesday, May 31, 2011, at her residence.

A daughter of the late John Jarvis Ragan and Amanda Katherine Pickle Ragan, she was born in Bristol, where she was a member of Paperville Methodist Church. Since moving to the Eastern Shore, she has been a member of Onancock Baptist Church, and a devoted volunteer housemother for Lighthouse Ministries.

Survivors include her daughters, Deena Parks of Melfa and Karen Thornes, and husband, Steve, and grandson, Matthew Annis, all of Parksley; granddaughter, Kareena Green (and husband, Eddie) and great-grandson, Nathan, all of Conewango Valley, N.Y.; and many nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her son-in-law, Tim Parks; sisters, Nova Ragan, Rosa Bowers, and Retha Lois Rice; and brothers, James W. Ragan, Zelous Ragan, Victor Paul Ragan, Tunis Ragan and Marvin Ragan.

A memorial service was conducted at Onancock Baptist Church Worship Center Sunday, June 5, by Rev. Sean McKenzie and Mrs. June Charnock.

Memorial donations may be made to Hospice of the Eastern Shore, 165 Market St., Suite 3, Onancock, VA 23417. Memory tributes may be sent to www.williamsfuneralhomes.com

Arrangements were made by Williams-Onancock Funeral Home.

“The early bird catcheth the worm” is one of those proverbs first recorded in the 1600s by a British philosopher who was trying to say that those who prepare well and put in the effort reap the rewards.

This guy was not talking about getting up at the crack of dawn on a Saturday to go to a yard sale!

I realize I’m taking liberties here but I really doubt the man was setting the standards for getting rid of one’s junk. Can’t we ever start a sale at noon so the night owls of the world can have a chance at the treasures? Or even later — let’s say 2 p.m.?

Everybody knows the good stuff is picked over by sunup scavengers who arrive an hour before the event begins. In some cases, I’m talking 6 a.m. HELLO! It’s Saturday morning. Doesn’t that mean it’s time to watch cartoons?

I’d have to stay up all night to get up at 5:30 a.m. And then I’d be too tired to shop ... oh, wait a minute. That could never happen. I love to shop. I repeat. I love to shop.

There was an unknown author who said, “I’d like mornings better if they started later.” I can relate.

I love that saying, “If people were meant to pop out of bed, we’d all sleep in toasters.” Are you picturing burnt bread with a face? I know I am. Is it ejecting like the seat in Batman’s car? Oh yeah.

Whoever said “early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise” was so wrong. I say, “She is fast asleep. She is counting sheep ... late to bed, late to rise, makes this woman such a prize.”

OK, so that rhyme is lame. But you get my drift. I want to buy your unneeded stuff. I want to look at your collections. The dollars are burning a hole in my pocket. Or is that the dimes? It is just toooooo early in the morning to think.

The late Henny Youngman had the best saying, “If you’re going to do something tonight that you’ll be sorry for tomorrow morning, sleep late.”

Now he had style.

But, back to the toaster. Does anyone else’s husband fiddle with the setting? After more than two decades of marriage, I cannot get used to the way Lloyd changes light to dark on the toaster dial. I know it seems like a small thing. But every time I use it after him, I burn the first piece of toast. AHHHH.

Lloyd thinks he’s a famous chef. Well, he follows the words of Julia Child. “I have trouble with toast. Toast is very difficult. You have to watch it all the time or it burns up.”

It makes sense that Lloyd must have read her words somewhere. Why else would he keep changing the setting? He keeps looking at the bread. Does everyone do that? NO! Most people put the bread in the machine and when they heard it pop out they start slicing the butter.

There’s the proof. If yard sales were later in the day — after I burn the toast — I could go out and get another toaster. His and hers toasters!

And no I don’t need an alarm clock, thank you very much.

Accomack County Needs To Live Within Its Means

Dear Editor:

The recent reported promise by the high-salaried lobbyist (which we can’t afford) to secure a natural gas pipeline from the north is late, I feel. We have enough gas already emitting from agencies of the county to put us all to sleep.

Asleep long enough to hire for big money and spend big money for pie-in-the-sky happenings. This and the still-pending runway for private business.

Again asleep and drowsy enough to believe all the suggested computer problems that keep the county from collecting money it is owed.

For appearances, it is high time to forget the announcement that Accomack County has dropped to 14th position in Virginia. Keeping up with your neighbors is bad for your health. Should we keep up with the Joneses, then watch the paper to see when their foreclosure sale is going to be? Does the multiple — sometimes 15 — auctions of default on real estate per week suggest conditions and instill thoughts of belt-tightening and running the county as a business? Hasn’t it sunk in that local conditions demand immediate attention?

It would be well to make the fellow with the coat, tie and briefcase holding his carrot on a stick, stand in the hall while the working taxpayer speaks to the board for his allowable three minutes and pleads “Spend our money like it’s coming out of your pocket.”

For the love of our unique peninsula and what remains of our enjoyable lifestyle, those in power would best serve by not greeting every new face with a fancy dessert, but make the menu meat and potatoes.

The communication would suggest I am living in the last century. I am — and remembering how comfortable and sensible it was.

Shore Christian Academy Grateful for Community Support

Dear Editor:

On Saturday, May 28, Shore Christian Academy held its Second Annual Family Fun Day on property that will soon be the site of our new facility. God truly blessed this event in many ways. Support from the community and participation were outstanding.

As a result, some $7,000 was raised for the SCA building fund, scores of children had a wholesome day of fun in the sun, many were blessed by the talents of local musicians, and word was spread about the ministry of our school.

There is no way to adequately thank everyone who helped make this event a huge success, but we want everyone who had a part in it to know we are grateful, and we pray for God’s blessings upon you.

Candy Farlow, Principal
