Police Drug Operation Continues To Round Up Suspects

By Linda Cicaira

Local law-enforcement officers continued to round up suspects charged with drug offenses in the sting "No Refill" this week, according to Accomack Sheriff Todd Godwin and Northampton Sheriff David Doughty. Fourteen were arrested and eight more are being sought. Last week, 18 people were arrested in connection with the operation.

Still being sought are Princeton Bragg, 27, of Melfa; Pierre Brickhouse, 26, of Nassawadox; Markee (BG) Kellam, 24, of Birdsnest; Antonio (Lopez) Robinson, 26, of Birdsnest; Dedrion (Big Deke) Kelley, 27, of Onley; and Sheicora (Poodle) Bagwell, 34, of Melfa — all wanted for alleged distribution of a controlled substance. Norris

Malone, 39, of Norfolk is wanted on alleged ABC violations. Earl (Little Earl) Elder, 33, of Nassawadox is being sought for alleged felony distribution of marijuana.

Police continue to search for Jonathan Johnson (J-Rock), 28, of Cape Charles in connection with a firearms trafficking ring that was broken up last year. The federal charges also allege a cocaine conspiracy.

Arrested this week were:

- John David Aigner, 38, of Locustville, charged with manufacturing marijuana and possession of a firearm while possessing more than one pound of marijuana. Ninety-one marijuana plants with a street value of $250,000 and two guns were seized from his house, according to the sheriffs.

- Frank Downing, 49, of Melfa, charged with manufacturing marijuana for distribution.

- David Ward, 49, of Nelsonia, charged with possession of firearm while possessing marijuana with intent to distribute.

Charged with distribution of an unspecified controlled substance were Frank Washington, 51, of Cheriton; Hillard Poole, 40, of New Church; Jaron "Peanut" Johnson, 34, of Temperanceville; Norma Keyes Watts, age unavailable, of Painter; Andres Mishaun Rodrigues, 30, of Keller; Willard Lee Savage, 65, of Belle Haven; and Thomas (TJ) Smith, 38, of Painter; Maurice Brown, 50, of Melfa; and Heather Crutchley, 27, of Melfa; Glen Burton, 21, of Painter; and Jacinto Abundez, 32, of Bloxom.

Northampton Chosen for First U.S. Turbine Testing Facility

Gov. Bob McDonnell has announced that Virginia has landed a collaborative project to establish a facility for the testing and certification of large offshore and land-based electricity-producing wind turbines.

The project, called Poseidon Atlantic, will be the first such facility in the United States. The initial phase of the project is to be developed in Northampton County.

The Poseidon Atlantic project is a private-sector initiative developed by the companies Real NewEnergy, Fugro and Ecofys, with the support of the commonwealth, the Virginia Port Authority (VPA) and the Netherlands government.

The project will create 25 direct new jobs within two years. According to the governor, the growth of the offshore wind sector and its associated jobs over the long term could result in major and sustained industry creation in Hampton Roads and the Eastern Shore.

Lt. Gov. Bill Bolling announced the project at a dinner for potential stakeholders on Oct. 12.

McDonnell said, "The Poseidon Atlantic project will be ... transformational for the future development of offshore wind technology, as there is currently a worldwide lack of facilities that are suitable for full-service certification testing of offshore wind turbine technology. ... The building of this wind energy test facility in Northampton County will further Virginia's growing leadership role in the global wind energy industry, while creating good paying jobs for our citizens at the same time."

"The Poseidon Atlantic project has huge potential for Virginia," said Bolling. "If this industry takes root and matures, we could create thousands of new jobs in manufacturing, construction, logistics, operations and maintenance activities. Many of these jobs are skilled positions with very competitive wages and benefits, and they would produce a sustained and long-term economic benefit for Virginia."

Poseidon Atlantic LLC is a joint-venture between U.S.-based Real NewEnergy and Ecofys, a subsidiary of the Dutch utility, Eneco. Real NewEnergy is a renewable energy technology firm formed to introduce and leverage Dutch renewable ener-

Jamesville Man Dies in Crash

By Linda Cicaira

Harry Lionel Killmon Jr., 72, of Jamesville dies in a vehicular crash Sunday afternoon.

According to State Police Sgt. Michelle Anaya, the incident occurred at about 1:30 p.m. in Mappsville. Trooper D.N. Lawson investigated.

Killmon was driving a 2001 Infinity G20 south on Lankford Highway when a 2010 Dodge Caravan going north attempted to turn left on Groton Town Road and crossed the path of Killmon, Anaya said. The Dodge was struck in the passenger side. There were no passengers in either vehicle.

Killmon died at Peninsula Regional Medical Center in Salisbury, Md.

The driver of the Dodge was Donald Godwin, 47, of New Church.

Investigation of the case is continuing, Lawson said.

Killmon marks the 12th traffic fatality on the Eastern Shore in 2011.

New School Initiatives Introduced in Accomack County

By Linda Cicaira

Accomack School Board members took a pop quiz last week during their monthly work session. The test taught them a lesson about new teaching skills that are transforming the classroom and the way students think.

"Traditional classroom days are gone," said Jennifer Annis, principal of Kegotank Elementary School where the session was held. She said now the teachers are expected to have higher expectations for all students "using a curriculum that supports higher order thinking skills."

The test consisted of three questions. School Board members weren't expected to answer the SOL (Standards of Learning) queries used for 5th graders last year. Instead, Annis asked them to categorize the questions using a scale from Bloom's Taxonomy of Learning Domains that focuses on mental skills, growth through feelings or emotions and manual or physical skills.

"The question is how deeply are we asking kids to think," added Superintendent Dr. Bruce Benson. "The one who is doing the work is doing the thinking ... there's not always a clear-cut answer."

Teachers will lead the conversations and guide the students instead of always giving the traditional lecture. For the board quiz, the members were encouraged to work in pairs.

Member Audrey Furness wondered what the more experienced teachers were saying about the change. Annis said all the instructors will get the same training and will adapt.

The change is expected to help students become better prepared for college and job situations.

The board also discussed a naming policy regarding county school facilities, with an apparent speculation that a large sum of money would soon be donated to the division. The draft, which was posted on the agenda as a second reading, was not released to the public.

School Board member Ronnie Holden said he is opposed to naming facilities after individuals. "I think we really should stay away from that. Minds are impressionable," he added, explaining that it could lead to the issue of students being separated by "haves and have nots ... I think we're creating segregation, a problem with our kids."

Member Al McMath said he would consider supporting naming a facility or wing after a "person who was still known after 200 years."

Member Patricia White said they wouldn't want to turn down money if that was a deciding factor. She said the policy would be a guideline that could be changed later if necessary.

Member Camesha Handy said she sees no problem with naming a school after a donor or a person requested by the donor. "If someone has $500,000 to rename this library, let them do it. If they can do it, I say let them do it ... if they can afford it." She added, "At the elementary level, they (the children) don't care ... we're the ones that impose" those issues.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Rhonda Hall said the board needs to consider, for example, if money were given for a high-school stadium to be erected, would funds be available to maintain it.

Benson said he wanted to "take another shot at language" in the document based on the discussion.

The superintendent announced some future goals for the division, including increasing parent involvement by 20 percent by the end of the school year and decreasing discipline, guidance and bullying referrals by 15 percent. He also said that policies will be more accessible online in the future and minutes of meetings will be easier to find.

In addition, Benson added, staff will "research, develop, prepare and present monthly a financial report for the School Board to include meaningful financial measures by April 2012."

Trala Declares Candidacy

Larry Trala, Northampton County's incumbent District 5 supervisor, is seeking re-election for a fourth four-year term.

Trala said he has missed only one board meeting during his tenure, and holds a 90+ percent attendance record for all other committees.

Retired from Ford Motor Co., and a longtime resident of Exmore, Trala is involved in a variety of boards and commissions, including the Eastern Shore of Virginia Housing Alliance, Accomack-Northampton Transportation District Commission, Disability Services Board, 911 Commission, Eastern Shore Chamber of Commerce, Harvest Fest Committee, Regional Jail Committee - chairman, Literacy Council Board, New Road Revitalization Committee, Transportation District Commission, YMCA Board of Directors - Camp Silver Beach, Chesapeake Bay Advisory Committee - governor's appointment, Groundwater Committee - chairman, and Cononie Atlantic Inc. - chairman. Trala served as mayor and councilman in Exmore.

He said a priority of the supervisors should be economic development. "We need more balance in the government, with proper planning," he said, noting he also is concerned about workforce and housing opportunities, promotion of regional relationships, support for

Hubbard Running for Northampton Board of Supervisors

Richard L. "Rick" Hubbard has announced his candidacy for the Northampton County Board of Supervisors from District 4 as an independent candidate in the Nov. 8 election.

Rick has a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Richmond and has been married for 41 years to Catharine Hubbard. He has been active in numerous governmental and civic organizations, including the Eastern Shore Regional Partnership, the Northampton and Eastern Shore chambers of commerce, the Eastern Shore Community College Foundation Board, Northampton County Red Cross, and the Rotary Club of Cape Charles. He and his wife attend Christ Church in Eastville.

Hubbard is a retired businessman who operated a retail appliance store with locations in both Cape Charles and education, and preserving natural resources and the unique character of the Shore. "I envision a government for all people," Trala said, "and have a strong conviction in ... making all departments more accessible, receptive and responsible to the general public."

A U.S. Army veteran, Trala is a member of Bethel U.M. Church, Jamesville, where he serves on the Board of Trustees. He's a member of Broadwater Lodge 71 (past district deputy grand master, 13 Masonic District), Christian Businessmen's Association, Exmore Moose Lodge, and Khedive Temple Shrine, Scottish Rite 32 degree. He and his wife Joan formerly owned Joan & Larry's in Exmore, and have four children.

"It's been an honor and a privilege to serve my community," said Trala, "and I thank you for your continued support."

Correction

Last week's article announcing Dana Bundick's candidacy for re-election as Accomack County treasurer incorrectly identified her husband. His name is C.L.

Parksley for nearly 20 years. He said he feels that his constant contact with the citizens of Northampton County has given him a keen insight into their expectations for an effective county government and that any possible waste must be cut from all areas of county government.

Hubbard said he is a strong supporter of the public schools as his wife just retired after 41 years in public education and his three sons graduated from Northampton County High School.

Hubbard said he believes in managed growth and feels Northampton County needs to improve its image of not being "business friendly" on the regional and state level. He said the county needs to reach out to existing businesses to explore what they feel can be done to make current and future businesses more successful.

Car Care COOL IT FOR FALL DRIVING

It's the beginning of fall, and time to consider your coolant.

This is a good time to think about your engine cooling system. Regular inspections and pressure tests of your cooling system are of utmost importance, as is good maintenance by following the vehicle manufacturer's recommended coolant change intervals.

As time passes, the protective anti-corrosive additives in the antifreeze break down and lose their effectiveness. But antifreeze has two other very important jobs as well:

- It is used to decrease the temperature at which the coolant freezes.

- It is used to raise the temperature at which the coolant will begin to boil.

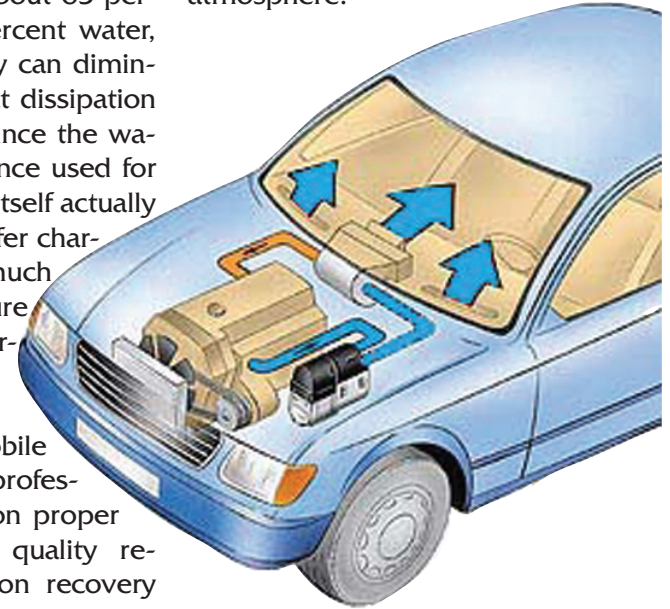

It is also very important that the proper ratio of water to antifreeze is always maintained. Unless specified otherwise by the vehicle manufacturer, the coolant in most vehicles should consist of a mixture of 50 percent water and 50 percent antifreeze before being added to the cooling system. This 50/50 solution not only prevents freezing, but also preserves proper cooling properties.

Also concerning the antifreeze to water mixture ratio: adding more antifreeze to the mix (once again, unless otherwise specified by the vehicle manufacturer) to increase its percentage in the mixture is not better. Generally speaking, after the ratio exceeds more than about 65 percent antifreeze to 35 percent water, freeze protection actually can diminish, but even worse, heat dissipation can radically decrease, since the water is the primary substance used for this purpose. Antifreeze itself actually has fairly poor heat transfer characteristics. Having too much antifreeze in the mixture can cause engine overheating.

When having your mobile air-conditioning system professionally serviced, insist on proper repair procedures and quality replacement parts. Insist on recovery and recycling so the refrigerant can be reused and not released into the atmosphere.

Ex-Maxine's Owner Dies

Mrs. Maxine Lawhorn Blake, 93, of Gargatha passed away Saturday, Oct. 8, 2011, at the Hermitage on the Eastern Shore in Onancock.

Born in Milton, W.Va., she was the daughter of the late John Sherman Lawhorn and Lula Parrish Lawhorn. She graduated in 1936 from Milton High School, where she was a tennis champion and excelled in other sports. She married her high-school sweetheart, Frank W. Blake, in 1939. She felt her "calling" was to care for her husband, their church members, and especially their two children. Mrs. Blake was an expert tailor and seamstress, designing many wedding and attendant gowns. When serving a charge in Burkeville, Va., she took courses in interior design at Longwood College in Farmville, which later directed her toward her dream of owning her own gift store, Maxine's Gift &

Jewelry Shoppe for 33 years.

Mrs. Blake loved to entertain. Until recent months, she baked cakes and prepared homemade candies for friends, and especially for those who lived alone. Ever the prankster, one never knew who would be the recipient of her next foolishness. Her favorite holiday was Christmas and she loved to don her Santa outfit to visit nursing homes with gifts for patients and staff.

Mrs. Blake was a member of Drummondtown U.M. Church since 1950.

She was predeceased by her husband, Rev. Frank W. Blake; a grandson, Andrew Brian Blake; a great-grandson, Jackson Blake Russell; her sisters, Elizabeth L. Crookshanks, Aileen L. Jordan and Eloise L. Braley; and her brothers, Prentice, Elwood and John Lawhorn. Survivors include her son, Frank W. Blake II (Judi); daughter, Betsye B. Russell (John); grandchildren, Frank W. (Bill) Blake III (Michelle), J. Warren Blake (Tracy), Ann Blake Holmes (Monty), Hunter B. Blake, Heather Wood Blake, J. Kenneth Russell II (Carla), and Kevin B. Russell (Ashley); great-grandchildren, Sara and Savannah Blake, Amanda Denton, Camden, Merritt, Madison and Morgan Russell, and Olivia and Andrew Holmes; sister-in-law, Eleanor Lawhorn; and many nieces and nephews.

A funeral was held Tuesday, Oct. 11, at Drummondtown U.M. Church, with burial at Edgehill Cemetery in Accomac. Reverends Betty Marshall, Phillip Godwin and Brian Kramer officiated.

Memorial donations may be made to Drummontown UMC, P.O. Box 267, Accomac, VA 23301; or Historic Cokesbury Church, P.O. Box 2, Onancock, VA 23417. Memory tributes may be shared at www.williamsfuneralhomes.com

gy experience and capabilities in the United States. Eco-fys is the leading sustainable energy consulting firm in the Netherlands and currently operates the largest wind turbine test-and-certification facility in Europe.

The Norfolk office of Dutch-based Fugro will provide engineering services associated with site location and development.

"The Poseidon Atlantic project perfectly illustrates the shared commitment between the Netherlands and Virginia to harness the power of wind energy," said Dutch Ambassador Renée Jones-Bos. "The potential long-term job creation from this initiative will build on the nearly 19,000 Virginia jobs already supported by our economic ties with Virginia."

"Northampton County is extremely excited with the prospect of being the home to the Poseidon Atlantic turbine test facility," said Willie Randall, chairman of the county's Board of Supervisors. "We look forward to doing our part to help the commonwealth and the nation explore alternative energy sources. Evidence of our support for this project can be seen in the wind ordinance that was passed by the Board of Supervisors as proof of our commitment to economic growth and innovation."

"I'm thrilled that this project is going forward for the commonwealth, the country, and particularly for the Eastern Shore of Virginia," said U.S. Representative Scott Rigell, who represents the Eastern Shore, Virginia Beach, and parts of Hampton and Norfolk.

NEW VOTER INFORMATION CARDS WILL BE MAILED SOON TO ALL REGISTERED VOTERS IN NORTHAMPTON COUNTY

~ Voters Receiving a New Card Should Destroy the Old Card ~

New voter cards will be sent to all registered voters in Northampton County. Your card should display your current residence address. If you do not get home delivery, you may have a residence zip code different from your mailing zip code. This zip code may not reflect the post office closest to your residence. All residence zip codes are tied to a post office that provides home delivery.

For this mailing, the State Board has designed a voter card as a section of a one page pamphlet. Watch for mail containing the Official Election Mail logo, an interpretation of the stars and stripes of the American flag, and the words "Official Election Mail," clearly visible over the designation - "Authorized by the U.S. Postal Service."

Please review your card to see if you have been assigned to a different polling place. If you do not believe the information on the card is accurate, or if any changes need to be made to your information, please call the registrar's office 678-0480, as soon as possible, for instructions on how to get your information updated.

Cards will be mailed no later than the last week in October. If you do not receive a card, and believe you are registered to vote please call 678-0480.

Post Coverage Fair, Important

Dear Editor:

As a full-time resident of Chincoteague and father of two fourth-grade students at Chincoteague Elementary School, I would like to thank Ms. Linda Cicoira for her recent article in the Oct. 7th edition of the Eastern Shore Post reporting on Chincoteague Town Council's response to U.S. Fish and Wildlife's Comprehensive Conservation Plan.

Ms. Cicoira presented the town's position in a clear and reasonable manner, without indulging in hyperbole or racy headlines. This issue is of huge consequence, not only to residents of Chincoteague, but to the entire Eastern Shore and Ms. Cicoira's accurate reporting of the facts is greatly appreciated.

In an effort to communicate the town's position, and the need to educate the public as to the intentions of U.S. Fish & Wildlife in regard to access to Assateague, clear-headed and straight-forward reporting such as that provided by Ms. Cicoira is crucial.

Thank you, Ms. Cicoira, for your interest and professionalism.

Mike Dendler, Chincoteague

Refuge Plan Comments Sought

Dear Editor:

Chincoteague Island National Wildlife Refuge is a national treasure that plays an integral role in Virginia's heritage. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is in the early stages of developing a Comprehensive Conservation Plan (CCP) for the refuge. Its public comment period has been extended to Oct. 31, 2011, to allow for additional feedback.

I have received much correspondence from constituents on the issue. I recently traveled to Chincoteague to talk to small business owners about the issue and visited the refuge to see the natural landscape first-hand. As a representative of the region, I encourage citizens to participate in the political process by making their views on the matter known.

In order to make an informed decision, citizens can read about the alternatives that are being considered and keep in mind that those alternatives are in draft form. Those alternatives can be found in a National Park Service document at http://www.fws.gov/northeast/chinco/PDF/CCP/Chincoteague_CCP_Newsletter_August2011_.pdf

Written comments should be sent to Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge, Attn: CCP Coordinator, P.O. Box 62, Chincoteague, VA 23336.

Emails should be sent to northeastplanning@fws.gov. Please put "Chincoteague" in the subject line.

I assure my constituents that I support access to the island to be maintained both for our tourism-related businesses and for recreational opportunities. It is essential that the local community comes together to do what is best for the local economy.

State Sen. Ralph S. Northam

ESCC Has Come a Long Way

Dear Editor:

Eastern Shore Community College (ESCC) celebrated its 40th anniversary on the college campus on Saturday, Oct. 1. Although the weather was a little touch-and-go and several other activities were underway at the same time, many students, staff, and community members enjoyed good food and music and reminisced about the four decades of community college education on Virginia's Eastern Shore.

In his book, "Eastern Shore Community College: A History, 1971-2001," former ESCC President Dr. John Fiege records that in 1971, the Eastern Shore Branch of the University of Virginia became the 20th college within the Virginia Community College System. The higher education concept of community colleges was not well understood at that time and there were certainly challenges that accompanied the transition; nevertheless, with a tuition rate of $5 per quarter credit hour, the college enrolled 106 students in the fall of 1971. Course offerings were held at the former UVA Branch location on Wallops Island and, thus, ESCC's 40-year journey began.

It has been said that "time does bring on changes" and ESCC has seen many changes. The college moved from Wallops Island to Melfa in 1974. Current fall enrollment is 1,025 and tuition is $111.50 per semester credit hour. The college began with seven full-time faculty members and currently has 19.

The level of faculty and staff commitment to student success has remained constant as we have graduated 2,835 students and awarded more than 2,951 credentials to individuals preparing to enter the workforce, transfer to senior institutions, or participate in other endeavors. Adjunct faculty members continue to be valuable resources. And another important constant for ESCC has been strong community ties through the ESCC Foundation and College Board and through service on program advisory committees and volunteer opportunities.

As ESCC celebrates its 40th Anniversary, we say "thank you" to the residents of the Eastern Shore for the opportunity to have served you over the past 40 years. ESCC has proven itself as an agent that enriches the lives of students, increases students' lifetime earnings, generates revenue, reduces the demand for social services and contributes to the growth of the economy and the overall improvement of the community. We look forward to continuing to provide quality education and training options over the next 40 plus years. We are proud to be a part of the Eastern Shore community.

ESCC President Dr. Linda Thomas-Glover

Yard Sale Church Money Gone

Dear Editor:

I would first like to thank the Town of Exmore for the opportunity to be part of its Community Yard Sale on Sept. 17.

The day started very well for us, but ended in tragedy. Everything we took to sell was taken there with the thought that the proceeds would buy items needed for the Food Pantry that we have monthly.

When the rain started, we anxiously sought cover for the furniture and clothing we were selling. In the process of rushing to get everything to safety, all of the money we made that day was lost. That money would have bought several months worth of food for our Food Pantry. When we realized that the money had disappeared, we desperately searched the grounds in the pouring rains to no avail. Broken-hearted, we headed home with what merchandise we were able to salvage.

If there is possibly someone who found the money, please understand it was not for anyone's personal gain, but rather to help those in need in the community this winter. If someone did find it, we would plead that they would turn it in to the Exmore Town Office or mail it to Pungoteague Community Church, P.O. Box 3, Pungoteague, VA 23422. No questions will be asked.

Thank you to everyone who supported our efforts that day.

*Bobby Carroll Huether, Pastor
Pungoteague Community Church*

Litter Petition Successful

Dear Editor:

A very big "Thank You" goes out to all the concerned citizens who signed Waste Watchers of the Eastern Shore's petition calling for the enforcement of local litter laws. The response was greater and more enthusiastic than we anticipated.

We will be presenting the Board of Supervisors and Sheriff's Office in each county with copies.

The public's continued active involvement will help "Clean Up the Shore" and keep it that way.

*Jenny O'Neill, President
Waste Watchers of the Eastern Shore*
