LOCAL ELECTIONS RESULT IN FEW CHANGES

In Accomack

Story and Photos by Linda Cicaira

Accomack Treasurer Dana T. Bundick defeated challenger Gregory L. Duncan Sr. in Tuesday's election. She will return for a fifth four-year term.

Bundick garnered 53 percent of the ballots to Duncan's 47 percent. With the same margin, Supervisor Sandra "Sandy" Hart-Mears of District 4 lost out to activist Kay Lewis. Sheriff Todd E. Godwin, who was appointed several months ago to fill the unexpired term of retiring Sheriff Larry Giddens, took about 60 percent of the vote, leaving two opponents in the dust. Accomack voters also returned Supervisors Laura Belle Gordy and C. Reneta Major in contested races.

Bundick took all but four precincts in the treasurer's race, capturing 4,620 votes

Godwin took all 17 precincts and the majority of the absentee ballots that were cast in the sheriff's race. He got 5,305 votes. Challenger Walter E. Marks, a retired state trooper and Onley's police chief, got 2,508 ballots and David A. Rogers Sr., a former deputy, took 942.

Gordy of Onley, vice chairwoman of the Accomack Board of Supervisors and the District 7 representative, got 820 votes to easily defeat challenger Emory F. Hurst Jr., a retired pharmacist from Cashville, who received 260 ballots. Mayor Bruce Paone of Onancock, who dropped out of the race and then died a few days before the election, got 78 votes, 6.25 percent. Troy J. Farlow, who also withdrew, took 88 of the ballots.

Voters overwhelmingly cast their ballots for Northampton Acting Treasurer Cynthia S. "Cindy" Bradford of Exmore Tuesday.

Bradford won all five precincts and more absentee ballots than her opponent, T. Charles Renner Jr., a former banker who lives in Franktown. She got a total of 2,327 (72.05 percent) votes. Renner took 817 (25.55 percent). Both were Independent candidates.

Carol A. Glowacki, who dropped out of the race, received 70 ballots or 2.17 percent. Glowacki asked her voters to support Bradford for the four-year term.

Bradford was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ilva James, who retired in May.

A precinct breakdown showed Bradford with 62.48 percent of the votes in Precinct 1 (Cape Charles area), 73.77 percent in Precinct 2 (Cheriton area), 81.41 percent in Precinct 3 Nassawadox area), 68.07 percent in Precinct 4 (Eastville area) and 79.05 percent in Precinct 5 (Exmore area). She also took 62.9 percent of the absentee ballots.

District 5 Supervisor Larry J. Trala of Exmore was returned to office with 467 (63.71 percent) votes. Trying to unseat him was M.E. "Betsy" Mapp of Jamesville, a former supervisor. She garnered 266 votes (36.28 percent).

Richard L. "Rick" Hubbard of Eastville beat out Yvonne Bagwell of Smith Beach for the redrawn District 4 seat. Bagwell ran a write-in campaign. Hubbard got 544 votes (76.72 percent). There were 165 write-in ballots (23.27 percent) recorded. It was unclear at press time how many of those were for Bagwell. The other three supervisor posts are on staggered terms and were not up for grabs.

Commonwealth's Attorney Bruce D. Jones Jr., Commissioner of the Revenue M.A. "Anne" Sayers and Sheriff David L. Doughty Jr. ran unopposed. Jones got 2,744 votes, Sayers got 2,810, Doughty, who had been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Jack Robbins who retired, got 3,011 votes.

Lewis, a Lee Mont resident who retired from the Northampton Social Services Department, took the District 4 supervisor's seat with 523 votes, nearly 53 percent. Incumbent Hart-Mears, a self-employed businesswoman who was seeking a third four-year term, got 464 votes.

The rest of the Accomack candidates who ran unopposed and therefore were returned to office include District 1 Supervisor Wanda J. Thornton of Chincoteague, District 2 Supervisor Ron S. Wolff of Assawoman, District 3 Supervisor Grayson C. Chesser of Jenkins Bridge, District 5 Supervisor John C. (Jack) Gray of Modest Town, District 6 Supervisor Robert D. Chincoteague Grapples With Cemetery Issue

By Linda Cicaira

Chincoteague Vice Mayor Ellen Richardson and resident Chuck Ward urged Town Council Monday night to establish a Cemetery Authority that could acquire grants and other funds.

After discussion, Mayor Jack Tarr asked Town Attorney Jon Poulson and staff to investigate the options and report back to Council.

"At this point, I don't think the town has the authority," said Poulson. "I don't see anything in the charter provision."

Ward said the town should adopt an ordinance to allow for it. "Ask for provisions from the state legislature," he said. "I strongly recommend it. Many would rather donate money" than labor to keep the cemeteries clear, he added. Ward also wants two members of the authority to be elected.

He said if the town started the authority with $5,000 "it would self fund after that. I don't have children," he added offering to leave an endowment for the cemeteries. "My father and mother are buried in perpetual care. I can't do anything for them."

Richardson showed pictures of cemeteries before volunteers recently cleared them. Vines and other thick growth covered the tombstones and surrounded properties at Reed's Cemetery and Holly Ridge. Richardson said three of the town's main cemeteries also were recently cleaned at a cost $1,200. The town will wind up paying $60 because the fund was emptied by the expense.

Both Poulson and Tarr suggested that interested parties set up a non-profit organization to handle the situation. They said the group could apply for grants and the town could work with it. "You can't just stick things on a ballot," said Poulson. He added, the town could accept donations without a Cemetery Authority. Tarr said that while a mechanism is needed, he is concerned that the government would not actually be in control as is the case with the nearby civic center.

"There's a lot of non-profits out there not run properly," said Ward. The authority "just seems like a more positive way to get people involved." Ward suggested the Virginia Municipal League be contacted to learn what other localities do. "It's in your charter," he said. "You have to do upkeep."

Councilman Terry Howard wants the problem to be given more consideration. "It looks bad on us as people," he said, explaining that visitors will think they don't care about their ancestors.

On Monday, Town Council also:

- made adjustments to its sign ordinance, whereby a banner is described as a temporary sign "attached to any non-rigid surface such as cloth, fabric or paper," limited home occupation signs "shall not exceed a total of four square feet" and on-premise "banners shall not be more than 32 square feet in area";

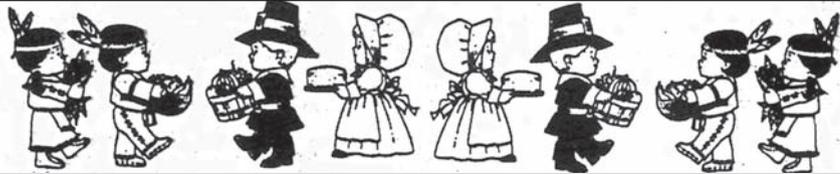

- renamed the old gym recently acquired from Accomack as "Island Activity Center" and appropriated $29,000 to insulate the structure and make other refurbishments, including new light fixtures;

- adopted a mooring guideline for

Curtis Merritt Harbor that allows Harbormaster Wayne Merritt to sublease slips that are not being used and decide whether boats are seaworthy. Councilman Terry Howard was opposed. Councilwoman Nancy Conklin was absent.

Town Manager Robert Ritter reported that the current year's meals tax fees amount to $399,524, an increase of $19,568 over last year; sales tax revenues are at $37,758, down by $3,603; the transient-occupancy tax is up by $9,601 at $474,578; and water income is up $15,253 to $451,854.

Ritter said 32 new water services were installed and sidewalk replacement was done on Anderton Avenue, storm water pumps and a broken drain pipe were repaired on Maddox Circle, decorative bricks were installed in downtown restrooms, Christmas light preparation work was completed and an electric junction box was installed at Robert Reed park. Ritter also reported that Kevin Krome and Steve Potts collected nearly $10,980 in donations for Christmas decorations for the town.

Accomack Circuit Court

An Accomack man was convicted in Accomack Circuit Court last week of abduction, malicious maiming, robbery and a firearms charge in connection with an April 16 incident, according to court records.

Donovan Robert Terek Weathers,

18, of Cooper Lane pleaded not guilty to beating John Gerald Sepeda Jr. with a baseball bat, shooting him in the arm and leg, robbing him, putting him in the trunk of a car and then leaving him for dead. Two other men also were charged with the crimes. Weathers was remanded to jail to await sentencing.

Records show Sepeda told police he left his home on Parsons Road in Greenbush to go to Royal Farms in Parksley at around 7:30 p.m. While Weathers and Sepeda talked, "an unknown vehicle approached their location from the rear of Sepeda's vehicle. Two ... suspects approached Sepeda's ... Blazer. Each armed with shotguns," the file stated.

Sepeda told police he thought Weathers said, "We want all your money." He then was forced from the vehicle, "beaten and shot with a shotgun at least two times." The records said Weathers "beat Sepeda with a baseball bat he had retrieved from his vehicle. ... Sepeda was dumped into the trunk of a car and ... discarded in a wooded area, where he advised he played dead so the suspects would leave."

In other cases:

•Jay Anthony McGlown, 18, of Killmontown Road in Melfa pleaded guilty to stealing three gold rings worth more than $200 belonging to Reed Ennis on April 4, 2011. Judgement was withheld and a presentence report was ordered.

•William Thomas Davis, 21, of Joshua Lane on Chincoteague pleaded guilty to two counts of receiving stolen copper pipes on April 13, 2011. Judgement was withheld. A presentence report was ordered. He was remanded to jail.

•Preston Lee Strand, 17, of Oak Hall was sentenced to a total of 10 years in prison for possession of a firearm by a felon and receiving stolen property. All but two years and a month was suspended. He was ordered to be on probation for three years.

•Shaquincia M. Singleton, 26, of A.S. West Road in Painter was sentenced to four years in prison for stealing two digital cameras worth $238 belonging to Walmart of Onley on Nov. 28, 2010. All but time served was suspended. Singleton will be on probation for two years and was ordered to make restitution and perform 100 hours of community service.

Northampton Circuit Court

A Jamesville resident pleaded guilty in Northampton Circuit Court to making false statements in order to gain public assistance, according to Commonwealth's Attorney Bruce Jones.

Ivonne Luis, 51, pleaded guilty to 16 charges of welfare fraud that allegedly occurred in 2005. According to court records, the matter was taken under advisement. A presentence report was ordered.

State Compares Local Residential Health-Care Facilities

By Linda Cicaira

Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital (RSMH) in Nassawadox has a Composite Efficiency and Productivity (CEP) score of 3.6, which is below the state-wide average of 2.5.

The Virginia Health Information 2011 Industry Report: Virginia Hospital & Nursing Facilities says the lower the score the better. Cost, productivity and utilization are considered in the rankings.

The average hospital visit for the not-for-profit facility costs $9,776, compared to the regional average of $8,357. The hours per admission were 126 compared to an average of 95 for Eastern Virginia hospitals.

RSMH's total margin, a percentage that expresses the difference between total revenue and cost, is -4.38. The regional margin average is 4.19. The report states, "The desired direction is toward a higher score."

The charity care average for the region is 14.63. For RSMH, it is 20.3. "The desired direction is towards a higher value," the report states.

The report shows that not-for-profit Arcadia Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Gargatha had 20,237 patient days for the reporting period, $122 paid per patient day, 4.49 hours per patient day (the average number of hours the facility paid to employees or an agency per adjusted patient day), 5.86 percent total margin and 76.9 percent Medicaid participation.

Heritage Hall in Nassawadox, a for-profit business, had 47,840 patient days, $125 paid per patient day, 3.81 hours per patient day, 6.47 percent total margin and 68.58 percent Medicaid participation.

Shore LifeCare at Parksley, a not-for-profit, showed 47,650 patient days, $142 paid per patient day, 4.45 hours per patient day, 0.78 percent total margin and 71.74 percent Medicaid participation.

Northampton Convalescent Center, a for-profit company, had 20,600 patient days, $188 paid per patient day, 4.15 hours per patient day, 9.88 percent total margin and 48.63 percent Medicaid participation.

The regional medians for the nursing facilities were $152 per patient day, 4.26 hours per patient day, 4 percent total margin and 68.37 percent Medicaid participation.

Car Care

WARNING: AUTUMN LEAVES AHEAD

Fall is the picture-perfect time of year when many drivers take to the road to view the autumn colors. The leaves are beautiful, but when wet or in piles on the roads, they present driving hazards unique to the season. The Car Care Council reminds drivers to prepare for fall driving conditions by having their vehicles' tires, brakes and wipers checked before heading out on the road.

"Drivers should be aware that wet leaves on the road surface can make stopping difficult, and piles of leaves can obscure potholes, curbs and street markings," said Rich White, executive director, Car Care Council. "Add to these hazards the fact that road conditions can change from ideal to miserable in a matter of minutes, and what you have is a potentially dangerous situation."

Tires can affect the car's ride, handling, traction and safety, and are a critical connection between the car and the road in all types of driving conditions. To maximize tire life and safety, check the inflation pressure and the tread depth, and inspect the sidewalls for cracks or punctures. As a general rule, tires should be rotated and balanced every 6,000 miles.

The brake system is the car's most important safety system. Brakes are a normal wear item for any car, and brake linings, drums and rotors, as well as brake fluid, should be checked at each oil change.

To help ensure the performance and safety of wipers, blades should be replaced every six months or when cracked, cut, torn, streaking or chattering. Windshield wiper fluid should be checked monthly and only washer fluid should be used.

Exmore Gets New Police Chief

By Ron West

Exmore Town Council has selected a new chief to head up its police department. Angelo DiMartino was promoted to the position after former Chief Tom Potts Jr. resigned the post earlier in the fall.

DiMartino told Council an additional officer is needed in the department, now down two positions from its eight-member force. He listed a number of serious crimes that the short-handed department has had to deal with recently, pointing out that on several occasions, officers have had to be backed up by county or state officers. Council agreed to advertise for one additional officer.

County Animal Control Officer Mindy Elliott addressed the increased risk posed by unleashed animals in the town. In recent months, several instances of dogs attacking citizens or other animals have occurred. She said the town needs to update its leash and tether ordinances to insure that someone charged with an animal-related offense can be prosecuted. Council agreed to have Interim Town Manager Artie Miles update the dog ordinance for review.

In other business, Town Council agreed to advertise for sale eight properties owned by the town.

The zoning issue regarding the town's firing range was resolved, thus allowing area law-enforcement officers to again make use of it.

Miles reported that unsightly buildings and debris are being removed. Councilman David Scanlan noted that the property being rented from the town for possible use as a farmers' museum appears to be beyond repair short of a major funding source. He indicated that the Farm Museum Committee is actively seeking an alternative property and would not likely oppose the town's use of the property for other uses. One recent request has been made for it to be used for a street hockey facility.

Hunters for Hungry Seeking Deer

The Eastern Shore Chapter of the Hunters for the Hungry has begun collection of deer and financial support for processing for the 2011/12 season. The goal this year is 300 deer.

The program enables hunters to donate a field-dressed deer to be processed into ground meat that is distributed through the Food Bank and Light-house Ministries. It costs $45 a deer to process, the expense paid by local fundraising. With a per-deer fee, hunters are encouraged to donate larger deer to further processing dollars and yield per deer. Deer donors are not required to pay any of the processing costs at drop-off, but funds will be accepted if they choose to donate toward the cost.

The processors this year are, Matt Killmon at Bucktrails in Onancock (787-1351), Brent Powell in Wachapreague (787-7107) and Bill Custis at the Deer Barn in Cashville (710-0892). There are refrigerated collection coolers at B&B Convenience Store in Machipongo and the Food Bank in Tas-

ley. The trailers have been substantially refurbished this year with donated labor to further the financial resources for processing.

The program has matching money available for donations from business, civic groups and other organizations. The program is a 501c3 and donations are deductible. The organization may be selected on the local United Way donation form. Donations may be made payable to Hunters for the Hungry and sent to P.O. Box 1702, Parkesley VA 23421.

For information on Hunters for the Hungry, call local director Worth Saunders at 665-4517 or 757-710-0049, or email eshunt4hungry@verizon.net

When Three Dog Night sang, “One is the loneliest number that you’ll ever do,” they weren’t talking about today because 11/11/11 is accompanied by so many ones it has to be the gladdest experience you’ll ever know.

The date was originally set aside as Armistice Day to commemorate the official end of World War I. It was changed to Veterans’ Day after World War II.

One also might want to wear a coat today. Exactly 100 years ago, the National Weather Service reports, a cold front moved through the central part of the country, “causing one of the most dramatic temperature drops ever recorded over such a large area of the United States. ... As a rule the fall was 50 degrees in less than three hours; and 65 to 70 degrees in eighteen to twenty-four hours.” There was also thunder, lightning, wind and hail.

Leonardo DiCaprio, Demi Moore, Kurt Vonnegut and Bill Moseley, actors and authors, were all born on Nov. 11. I’m thinking the “Titanic,” “Ghost,” “Slaughter House Five” and “House of 1,000 Corpses.” Seriously, that’s scary. Well, except for first one. Oh boy, the suspense just killed me in that movie.

And since 11/11 is on a Friday, is this possibly the new Friday the 13th? I think it might be.

Music station VH1 proclaimed this as National Metal Day and will have all kinds of corresponding programming. Illusionist Uri Geller says the date will open the portal to a parallel universe.

The new horror movie, “11-11-11” is set to debut with a tale about an entity from another world that enters the earth through Heaven’s 11th gate. That sounds pretty chilling. Personally, I’d rather see another film due out today called “Jack and Jill,” starring Adam Sandler who plays both himself and his twin sister.

Of course, in addition to the end of a world war, there were bound to be some good things about Nov. 11’s history. In 1889, Washington became the 42nd state. I’m quite excited about that, aren’t you?

Earlier this year, young couples began asking fertility experts when to conceive so the delivery would be today. They were told Valentine’s Day sex could lead to a visit from the stork today. Hmm. I thought they all flew south by now.

This is also an important day to spend money. In 1994, Bill Gates bought Leonardo da Vinci’s “Codex” for nearly $31 million on Nov. 11. Seven years earlier, Van Gogh’s “Iris” sold for $53.6 million at auction. In 1972, the Dow Jones Index moved above 1,000 for the first time.

Muhammed Ali had a victory over Floyd Patterson in 1965 in Las Vegas on Nov. 11. Brian Epstein and Ed Sullivan signed a three-show contract for the Beatles on this date in 1963. Three years later to the day, John Lennon and Yoko Ono appeared nude on the cover of “2 Virgins” album. And in 1959, the first episode of “Rocky and His Friends” aired.

Forty-one pilgrims landed in Massachusetts on Nov. 11, 1620, and signed the Mayflower Compact. Virginia Military Institute was founded in Lexington on Nov. 11, 1839, and another weather scare, the “Great Black Blizzard,” the first great dust storm in the Great Plains, occurred on Nov. 11, 1933.

All and all, I’d say it’s a day to make history. Good thing you’re almost done reading the paper. Now get out there and live.

Septic Issue Is Warning to Others

Dear Editor:

I attended Supervisor Ron Wolfe’s recent standing-room-only meeting and learned the particulars of a developer’s expected proposal to pipe sewage off-site from Wattsville to a farm field adjacent to the old incorporated Town of Atlantic.

I also discovered that the five-year Comprehensive Development Plan, which bans remote septic systems, can be changed by an amendment, a $450 county application fee and a majority vote of the supervisors.

Little was spoken of the possible loss of a lifetime home/farm investment in Atlantic because of this remote sewage system.

Developers look at the extra millions they can make by increasing the number of lots allowed. Developers aren’t required, unless through the courts, to pay homeowners for their losses.

The supervisors must vote to approve or deny any changes in the Comprehensive Development Plan, and later vote on the Atlantic Remote Septic System. We believe many would be in favor of the private septic field in Atlantic because of the potential enlargement to a public regional septic system for the northern part of the county. A private system would enable the county to avoid the “eminent domain” laws that require a just payment for any resulting loss of home value.

Tell me. What chance does a small town like Atlantic have against big money and big government? Don’t think it can’t happen in any other Accomack village.

Milton Hill, Greenbackville

More on Refuge Proposal ...

Dear Editor:

A few weeks ago I suggested in this space that the plan under review by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to replace the existing public beach and parking with an equivalent beach access facility a mile and a half to the north should be enriched by creating two all-season beaches that would be off-limits to private cars.

Now I suggest that this be done in such a way as to raise the money for Chincoteague National Wildlife Refuge to create an extensive array of ponds and boardwalks behind its Bateman visitors center. This would allow visitors opportunities for up-close contact with waterfowl and other wildlife.

One of the two new beaches would be in the vicinity of Tom’s Cove visitor center and would be accessed only by foot, bike, kayak, water taxi, or shuttle. The other, in front of the historic Coast Guard life-saving station at the elbow of Tom’s Cove Hook, would be reachable only by water. But to persuade the Fish and Wildlife Service to dedicate more beach to all-season use would clearly be out of the question without the promise of significant compensation.

What I’m suggesting is that visitors would pay a modest fee that’s significant in the aggregate, given the many tens of thousands of visitors these beaches might attract over a year’s time.

If only a tenth of the 1.4 million annual visitors to the refuge chose to visit these two beaches, their total visitation would be on the order of 140,000.

An abundant source of nonpotable water attractive to waterfowl for ponds behind the Bateman center could come, by special state permit, from a well tapping a relatively shallow brackish aquifer underlying Assateague Island. But during dry periods, any surface water is likely to quickly disappear into the sand.

A necessary remedy is to truck in enough clay from the mainland to make the pond bottoms relatively impermeable. The National Park Service is regularly trucking in clay to maintain the present parking lot at Tom’s Cove.

But the cost of all of this wouldn’t be trivial. That’s why a dependable new source of income is critical.

To add the ponds and boardwalks out back would provide an exceptionally enticing new round of natural exhibits. This should surely step up the visitation at Bateman, especially during the spring, fall, and winter.
