HITCHING

POST

THE SHORE'S ONLY LOCALLY OWNED NEWSPAPER

One More For The Road ...

By Connie Morrison

Labor Day is set aside to acknowledge the contributions workers have made to our nation's strength and prosperity, but the weekend also traditionally marks the end of summer vacation.

To help get the most out of the few precious summer moments remaining, the Hitching Post has assembled a list of local weekend highlights. They all touch on at least one of everyone's favorites - food, festive, or free - and some manage to hit two or more. For a full listing of weekend events, see the calendar on Page 2.

Pizza Party

Start the weekend by relieving the cook in the family with a Friday night pizza purchase from New Church Volunteer Fire Co., 4264 Firehouse St., New Church. Choose a large cheese or pepperoni pizza for $12. Pick up your pizza between 5 and 8 p.m. For more information go to ncvfr.org, or call 757-824-9724.

Chincoteague Decoy Carvers' and Artists' Association Decoy Show

Local carvers and artisans will show the fruits of their labors this weekend at the 27th Annual Chincoteague Decoy Carvers' and Artists' Association Decoy Show, held at the Chincoteague Community Center, 6155 Community Dr., Saturday, Sept. 2, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, Sept. 3, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Organizer Cinda Walls expects 800-1,000 visitors will peruse the carvings, hand-made fine jewelry, antiques, photography, quilling, stained glass, paintings and other exhibited art, much of which will be available for purchase. "There are one-of-a-kind treasures," she said.

Dust off your decoys because Joe Engers, of Decoy Magazine, will be on hand to appraise them.

Featured carvers will include Caroll Lee Marshall, of Saxis, Ronald Justis, of Chincoteague, Jimmy Bowden, of Assawoman, and Billy Crockett, of Parksley.

Admission is $3 (12 and under are free with paid adult admission); a two-day pass is $5. Lunch will also be available for purchase. For more information, please call 410-546-1635.

Shakespeare in the Park - "Hamlet"

To be, or not to be there for the second outdoor theater event of the summer: That is the question. The answer is, "Be there." The Brown Box Theatre Project returns to Chincoteague for Shakespeare's "Hamlet," 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 3, at Robert Reed Downtown Waterfront Park. The event is co-sponsored by Chincoteague Cultural Alliance and Chincoteague Island Arts Organization, which have been working overtime to provide art-filled weekends all summer on the island.

Bring a chair or blanket. In case of rain, the performance will be at the Island Theater at 4074 Main St. For more information visit ChincoteagueCulturalAlliance.org

Labor Day Weekend Yard Sale

What better way to observe Labor Day than sailing? Or in this case, "saling," as in yard saling. The Chincoteague Island Library will be holding its 2nd Annual Labor Day Yard Sale, Saturday, Sept. 2, and Monday, Sept. 4, from 8 a.m. to noon, at 4077 Main St. Proceeds will benefit the library by providing funds for programs, materials and maintenance. The sale will feature toys, tools, books, furniture, household items and more. Maybe there will be a book or painting about the other kind of sailing. Since it is indoors, plan to shop for bargains, rain or shine. For more information, contact the library at 757-336-3460.

Fishing from the Shore

By Bill Hall

Just as angling action started to improve, along comes a major weather system up the coast producing tropical conditions on Tuesday. How this will impact the fishing is anybody's guess.

Prior to the arrival of the system, puppy drum had started to appear in the seaside creeks, along with snapper bluefish in the creeks and along the surf. The population of spot was increasing on a daily basis on the bayside, as were speckled trout. I don't anticipate the system hurting the lower bayside red drum fishery, although it could start to wind up this year's fantastic cobia run.

Chincoteague – Donna Rae, at Captain Bob's Marina, reported that small bluefish in the 10-14" range have moved into Assateague and Chincoteague Channels as well as the Assateague Surf. These snappers are hitting almost anything, but fresh cut bait has been the top producer. Spot catches were being made in the surf on bloodworm and bloodworm-flavored Fishbites. Flounder catches improved prior to Tuesday's blow, with keeper-sized fish pulled from the Chincoteague Channel as well as along the Queen Sound Bridge, where a few keeper trout were also encountered. Closer to the inlet, puffers and sea mullet (kingfish, whiting) were still available. The same area remains a hotbed for catching coastal sharks. The subway cars produced nice catches of flounder in the 22-25" class earlier in the week, but fell off over the weekend. Captain Steve's Bait & Tackle weighed in flounder up to 6.10. Triggers and trout were a welcome bycatch of the deepwater flounder fishery. Catches of dolphin (mahi) were made over the Bone Wreck. Maryland angler Brent Redmiles trolled up a 5-14 Spanish mackerel while pulling a Clark Spoon two miles off the Assateague shoreline.

Wachapreague – Capt. Lindsay Paul, at Trident Tackle, reported that the Foxy Lady, with Captain Nat Atkinson, found yellowfin tuna and a king mackerel in the vicinity of 21 Mile Hill. Another vessel trolling the same seamount was rewarded with three yellowfin and a wahoo. Captain Paul said that couple of white marlin releases were made in the Washington Canyon. Inside the inlet, a steady population of croakers had moved in, although most of them were on the small side. In-shore anglers were also catching sand mullet (whiting), puppy drum and mostly undersized flounder.

Lower Shore - Chis Snook, of Chris' Bait & Tackle, reported that spot catches were improving off Kiptopeke, where a nice population of kingfish (whiting) was still hanging out. Catches of over 300 whiting per boat was reported, according to Chris. Along the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, sheepshead catches were improving, while the population of triggerfish and spadefish remained steady. Large red drum were being released over the shoals, while cobia were still being caught by sightcasters, though the fish were becoming more finicky after being targeted all summer. Puppy drum catches were reported along the lower shore seaside creeks.

Upper Chesapeake Bay – Speckled trout action continued to improve in the middle bay, primarily from Watts Island up to Smith Island and South Marsh. Parksley's Ethan Willett registered a citation 5-5 speckled trout at Don's Tackle Shop. Some larger rockfish, to almost 30 inches, were encountered by bait anglers inside Tangier Sound, off the Manokin River. Farther down the bay, large red drum from 40 to more than 50 inches in length were being caught and released from off Occohannock Creek down to Cape Charles. If you enjoy fishing on the Chesapeake, make plans now to enter the 27th Annual Onancock Bay Challenge Fishing Tournament on Sept. 16. Eight different bay species will be eligible for first and second place catches in both adult and youth divisions. For more information, log on to www.esanglersclub.org or call 757-709-8697.

Bill Hall was the first Eastern Shore resident to achieve Virginia Salt Water Master Angler Status. He has been named Virginia Saltwater Angler of the Year and Virginia Saltwater Release Angler of the Year. Bill is an I.G.F.A. International Committee Representative and a longtime member of the Virginia Saltwater Fishing Tournament Committee. He is the Virginia Recreation Fishing representative on the ASMFC Striped Bass Management Panel and is a past recipient of the CCA-VA Virginia Outdoor Writer Conservation Leadership Award.
