Eastern Shore CIRCULATION 15.000

THE SHORE'S ONLY LOCALLY OWNED NEWSPAPER December 28, 2018

The Hermitage, Valued at Almost $6M, Sells For $750,000

By Linda Cicoira

Hermitage of the Eastern Shore, in Onancock, was sold last week for $750,000, according to records in Accomack Circuit Court. The retirement home was valued at $5.851.800.

The buyers, MCAP Eastern Shore LLC, announced in October that it would make $3 million in capital improvements after they purchased it. Court records also showed the senior living limited liability company borrowed nearly $3.6 million. In addition, the company paid $1,000 for Cokesbury tracts E and F valued at $458,900.

The properties were owned by Virginia Methodist Homes Inc. Christopher P. Henderson, president/CEO of the home Methodist home group, signed the final documents.

In October, an MCAP spokesperson said the skilled nursing wing would be transformed into memory care for residents with Alzheimer's disease and dementia, and independent living services would be added to the already upscale center.

MCAP, which also uses the title Commonwealth Senior Living, of Charlottesville, Va., has 21 such communities in Virginia. The facility will be renamed Commonwealth Senior Living at the Eastern Shore.

Commonwealth Living has "successfully operated communities throughout the state for almost 17 years, including buildings in the nearby Southside, Peninsula. Middle Peninsula and Northern Neck areas," the announcement stated.

Christmas Eve Crash Kills Cape Charles Teen, Driver Charged With DUI And Manslaughter

By Linda Cicoira

A 40-year-old Exmore man was charged with DUI, manslaughter, and endangerment and neglect in connection with a single-vehicle traffic crash that killed a teenager on Christmas Eve morning near Cape Charles.

Sgt. Michelle Anaya, of the state police, said the incident was reported about 2:45 a.m. It occurred at the 23000 block of Lankford Highway, south of Parsons Circle. An officer determined a 2003 Saturn VUE, driven by Calvin E. Berryhill Jr., was going north on the highway, ran off the road, overturned, and struck several trees.

Trevonne Avant Stith, 17, of Banks Road in Cape Charles, died at the scene. Three other juvenile passengers, who were not identified, were able to escape from the vehicle and run to a nearby residence for help, Anaya said. Those three were later taken to the Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters, in Norfolk, Va., for injuries that were not life-threatening.

Tracy Shavonn Stith, mother of the dead teenager, was also in the vehicle. She was taken by rescue squad to Norfolk Sentara Hospital, in Norfolk, also with injuries that were not life-threatening.

Berryhill is being held in the Eastern Shore Regional Jail without bond. His relationship to the Stiths was unclear.

Ratification of Equal Rights Amendment Is Among Bills Introduced in General Assembly

By Linda Cicoira

Nearly 47 years after the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) was passed by Congress in 1972, advocates are hoping Virginia will finally approve it and it will become ratified.

Two Virginia bills have been proposed in favor of the amendment. Last year Nevada approved it. In May, Illinois became the 37th state to do so. If Virginia approves, it will be the final state needed but the deadline and extension for ratification have long passed so a legal battle is expected.

Supervisor Reneta Major brought up the ERA during the Accomack Board of Supervisors' final meeting of 2018 last week. "Equal rights is long overdue," she said. "Some localities are sending letters of resolutions."

Supervisor Paul Muhly also said he favors the bill. "I think all are in favor." Major said Sunday. "Hopefully a resolution will be on the January agenda." County Attorney Cela Burge said she will continue to follow the bills.

"If the ERA is ratified it would codify into law equal protection from discrimination for all people, regardless of sex," the website www.equalrightsamendment.org stated. It will also provide "a clear federal judicial standard for deciding cases of sex discrimination. a strong legal defense against a rollback of women's rights, (and) improve the United States' standing in the world community.... The first and still the only right that the constitution specifically affirms equally for women and men is the right to vote. amendment passed in 1920, almost 100 years ago.

A long list of other proposed bills and commendations has been introduced. The General Assembly session will begin Jan. 9 and continue for 45 days.

Included in the proposals are bills:

Requiring anyone who lawfully possesses a firearm to report its within 24 hours of discovering it is missing. Violation would be punishable by a civil penalty of $50 for

The Equal Rights Amendment reads:

Section 1: Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex.

Section 2: The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Section 3: This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification.

a first offense and between $100 and $250 for any subsequent offense.

- Raising grand larcenv threshold from $500 to $750.
- Allowing cal school boards to set the opening day of the school year thereby eliminating the post-Labor Day opening requirement.
- Requiring the court to consider domestic and child abuse, in addition to family and sexual abuse, when determining the best interests of the child for custodial visits.
- Allowing private or religious schools to employ a school security officer and to authorize the officer to carry a firearm.

- Requiring the Department of Elections to develop a pilot program for conducting elections by mail.
- Directing the State Corporation Commission to allow for association health plans that are consistent with regulations of the U.S. Department of Labor. The proposed regulation broadens criteria of the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERI-SA) to allow employers to form an association for the sole purpose of sponsoring a group health plan for its employer members.
- Exempting emergency medical services agency vehicles, fire company vehicles, fire department vehicles, and law-enforcement agency vehicles from the requirement of securing a child in a safety belt, restraint device, or with a safety belt.
- Requiring those who have offended drug laws in other states to petition the general district court of the county or city (Continued on Page 5)

Dr. Ed Bull and Janet Bull offer Spinal Decompression therapy for patients with disc problems, sciatica, and spinal stenosis. Many patients are able to avoid back surgery, which has only a 40% success rate, by utilizing spinal decompression. We also offer class 4 laser therapy that relieves 80 to 100% of symptoms associated with Peripheral Neuropathy. The laser is also effective for joint issues such as shoulder pain, hip, knee, elbow tendinitis, swelling and more. The laser is also effective for both pre- and postsurgery. We offer chiropractic services including stretching, BEMER Therapy, other therapeutic modalities and nutritional counseling. Dr. Bull also offers advice on exercise training as well. in which he resides for a restricted driver's license.

- Requiring the court to provide the option of community service instead of fine payment.
- Imposing a tax of five cents per bag on disposable paper and plastic bags provided to customers.
 Proceeds would go to localities for mitigation of pollution and litter.
- Establishing a tax credit, for tax years 2019 to 2023, of 35 percent of an employer's expenses when providing paid leave to an employee making an organ donation.
- Allowing absentee voting without an excuse.
- Requiring the Department of Corrections to submit an annual report to the General Assembly and the governor regarding the use of solitary confinement. Another proposed bill requires the department to submit an annual report regarding the restrictive housing.
- Requiring the board of education to provide licensure of teachers

- with an endorsement in the Montessori method of education.
- Directing the Virginia Lottery to regulate sports betting. An entity would be required to apply for a three-year permit and pay a $250,000 application fee. Renewal would be $200,000.
- Making it a Class 1 misdemeanor to knowingly and intentionally cause a drone to enter airspace within a mile of a military airfield or military helicopter landing zone.
- Allowing a pharmacist to include information regarding the proper disposal of medicine when giving counsel to a person who presents a new prescription.
- Making it illegal to smoke in a vehicle in the presence of anyone under 18. Currently, it is when someone eight or under is in the vehicle.
- Requiring a school board to have a memorandum of understanding with a police department that supplies resource officers to establish officer's powers and duties. The agreement would be reviewed once every five years.
- Allowing a lottery winner's name

- to be withheld for a year.
- Requiring the Department of Elections to provide mail voter registration application forms to colleges that are eligible to participate in the Tuition Assistance Grant Program.
- Permitting a governor, elected in 2021 and thereafter, to succeed himself in office. The amendment allows two four-year terms and prohibits a third. Service for more than two years of a partial term counts as service for one term.
- Making a person civilly liable for a wrongful death resulting from the use of a firearm that came into the possession of the criminal because the gun was not secured against theft or unauthorized possession.
- Allowing a student who possesses a valid certificate to use cannabidiol oil or THC-A oil to possess it on school property, on a school bus, or at a school-sponsored activity.
- Making it illegal to prohibit or discriminate an employee who also serves as a member of a local electoral board, an assistant registrar, or an officer of election because he

- or she works at a polling place on election day.
- Changing the definition of sexual abuse of a complaining witness under the age of 13. The abuse includes the "intentional touching of any part of a complaining witness's body, either on the skin or the material covering the complaining witness's body ... and the act is committed with the intent to sexually molest, arouse, or gratify any person. The bill repeals the current provision relating to adult penetration of the mouth of a child under the age of 13 with lascivious intent."
- Changing the date of the June primary from the second Tuesday to the third Tuesday of the month. Filing deadlines would also be extended.
- Making it illegal to kill or injure a police dog.
- Allowing Virginia residents to purchase a trip hunting license in lieu of the hunting license.
- Allowing recorded statements made by a child regarding abuse or neglect, and including

Route 707 (Wagram Road/Dunns Swamp Road) Culvert Replacement Accomack County

Willingness to Hold a Design Public Hearing

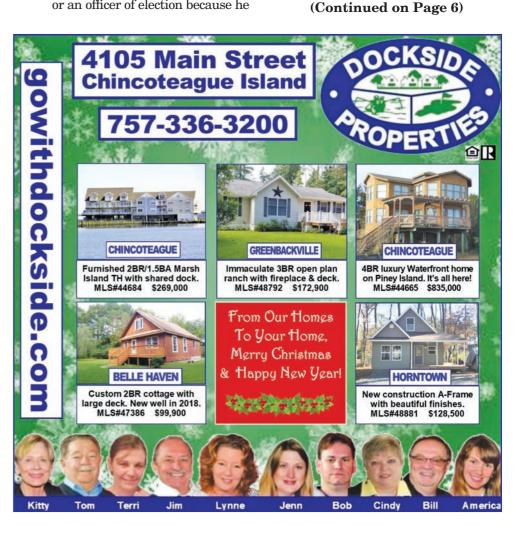

Find out about the proposed plans to replace a culvert on Route 707 (Wagram Road/Dunns Swamp Road) over Pitts Creek in Accomack County. The Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) is proposing to replace the single-barrel aluminum culvert with a new, single-span concrete box bridge.

Review the proposed project plans and the National Environmental Policy Act document in the form of a Programmatic Categorical Exclusion (PCE) at VDOT's Hampton Roads District Office located at 7511 Burbage Drive, Suffolk, VA 23435, 757-965-3000, 800-367-7632, TTY/TDD 711. You may also review the project information at VDOT's Accomac Residency Office located at 23096 Courthouse Avenue, Accomac, Virginia 23301, 757-787-5856. Please call ahead to ensure the availability of appropriate personnel to answer your questions.

If your concerns cannot be satisfied, VDOT is willing to hold a public hearing. You may request that a public hearing be held by sending a written request to Mr. Jesse Allen, Virginia Department of Transportation, 7511 Burbage Drive, Suffolk, VA 23435 on or prior to January 3, 2019. If a request for a public hearing is received, notice of date, time and place of the hearing will be posted.

VDOT ensures nondiscrimination and equal employment in all programs and activities in accordance with Title VI and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. For more information or special assistance for persons with disabilities or limited English proficiency, contact VDOT's Civil Rights Division at 757-956-3000 or TTY/TDD 711.

descriptions of sexual acts, to be used as evidence.

- Requiring "adequate shelter" of an animal to mean "provisions that protect an animal from exposure to heat or cold" rather than the adverse effects of heat and cold.
- Allowing "an animal control officer to presume that fowl have been, are, or are intended to be used in animal fighting" if one or more of the fowl are tethered.
- Entitling a person who will be 65 or older on election day to vote by absentee ballot.
- Giving a substitute judge the power to enter a final order in any case taken under advisement for seven days after the date of a hearing of such a case.
- Allowing retired officers to be employed as school security officers.
- Putting a moratorium on new major fossil fuel projects beginning Jan. 1, 2020.

- Clarifying for the purposes of the informed consent exemption to abuse and neglect of incapacitated adults, that the informed consent of the incapacitated person must have been given when such person was not incapacitated.
- Renaming the Special Day of Appreciation for American Indians Living in the Commonwealth as Indigenous Peoples Day.
- Allowing the electric cooperatives to increase or decrease their rates for any services without the approval of the State Corporation Commission.
- Stating "a student at any elementary or secondary school shall not be guilty of disorderly conduct in public places if the disorderly conduct occurred on school property or a school bus."
- Making it a Class 5 felony to manufacture, import, sale, transfer or possess a firearm that after removal of all parts other than a major component

- is not detectable as a firearm in detection devices used for security screening.
- Requiring the high school family life education curriculum to be offered at least four times during grades 11 and 12, for students with intellectual or developmental disabilities on a variety of topics, including social skills, self-esteem, sexuality, and rights and responsibilities.
- Increasing the civil penalty for passing a stopped school bus from $250 to $500.
- Authorizing the killing of nuisance species from a vehicle.
- Replacing the terms "husband" and "wife" (as well as related terms) with gender-neutral terms throughout the Code to comport a U.S. Supreme Court decision. The bill makes the relevant law regarding children born as a result of assisted conception applicable to both same-sex and opposite-sex married couples. The bill also repeals the statutory prohibitions on same-sex marriages and civil unions or other arrangements between persons of the same sex purporting to bestow the privileges and obligations of marriage and makes conforming changes to various laws involving married individuals and their rights stemming from marriage. Further, the bill makes applicable to all persons, regardless of the gender of the victim, the crimes of assisting or aiding in the abduction of or threatening to abduct a female under 16 years of age for the purpose of concubinage or prostitution, placing or leaving one's wife in a bawdy place, and defaming the chaste character of a female. The bill provides that a defendant placed on probation may be ordered to provide support for the defendant's spouse; currently, the law only provides for support of a defendant's wife. The bill also amends various criminal and criminal proce-

- Authorizing the issuance of special revenue-sharing license plates for supporters of addiction recovery, state parks, and the Virginia Aquarium.
- Requiring new school buses to be equipped with seat belts consisting of a lap belt and shoulder strap in every seat, no later than July 1, 2037.
- Requiring school counselors to spend at least 80 percent of work time counseling individual students or groups of students.
- Requesting the Secretary of Commerce and Trade study the state's observance of daylight savings time and the potential consequences of using either that or standard time year-round.
- Asking the Department of Environmental Quality to study the economic impact of litter on fishing, farming, water quality, and other components of Virginia's economy and to propose strategies, campaigns, and necessary state actions to protect the state's economy from harm caused by litter and promote Virginia's economic welfare.

- Allowing a taxpayer to itemize for state income tax purposes regardless of how federal returns were made from tax years 2018 to 2025.
- Giving the General Assembly authority to make technical adjustments to legislative electoral district boundaries following the enactment of any decennial reapportionment law.
- Establishing the sole qualifications to vote as being a U.S. citizen, 18 years old, residing in Virginia, and registered in accordance with the constitution of the state. It removes the disqualification of those convicted of a felony or being judged as mentally incompetent.

Maryland Man Pleads Guilty To Copper Wire Theft

A Maryland man pleaded guilty to eight counts of grand larceny last week in Accomack Circuit Court in connection with the theft of green copper wire from several areas that belonged to the Accomack-Northampton Electric Cooperative (ANEC).

A presentence report was ordered for Darek Earl Synder, 38, of Costen Road in Westover, Md. His wife, Amanda Lea Grover-Snyder, 35, pleaded guilty to the charges a couple of weeks ago. Both confessed to the crimes. Darek Snyder has family ties in Maryland and Tangier, a court document stated.

In another case, Ronald Lee Hess Jr., 19, of County Road in Parksley, pleaded guilty to the strangulation of Mehreen Awan on July 26. Awan told authorities Hess "would not let her leave his residence although she asked to leave several times." She "had multiple marks across her face, head, chest, neck, and back that appear to be consistent with an assault," according to court records.

In a plea bargain, the charges of abduction and assault in connection with the incident were not prosecuted. Hess was sentenced to three years with all but time served suspended.

William Brent Laird, 37, of Tangier, was sentenced to three years with all but time served suspended for possessing of Adderall on Sept. 8.

Jermel T. Rowe, 38, of Pineridge Road in Melfa, was given a two-year suspended sentence for receiving a stolen credit card on Aug. 4, 2017. He got 90 days for credit card fraud to be served on weekends. Restitution of $173.91 is owed to Union Bank & Trust.

Thomas Phillips Collins, 46, of Hemlock Lane in Horntown, was sentenced to three years with all but time served suspended for making a burn threat to Judith Meske. Counts of making the threats to Charles Eisner and Elaine Baseman were not prosecuted. A condition of the sentence was that Collins have no contact with the victims. He was put on indefinite probation and on good behavior for five years.

The case of James Ernest Logan, 35, of Logan Road in Onley, was continued for a jury trial in April. He is charged with the March 18 robbery, use of a firearm in a felony, and malicious wounding of a man outside the victim's home on Seaside Road in Painter.

Hallwood Man Charged With Rape

A Hallwood man was arrested last week on a charge of rape through the victim's incapacitation, according to records filed in Accomack General District Court.

Bert Like, 36, of Main Street, was arrested Dec. 20, for the April 18 crime. He is being held without bond in Accomack Jail. Investigator Meghan Patterson, of the Accomack County Sheriff's Office (ACSO), investigated. A March 4 preliminary hearing was scheduled.

Jeremi Antonio Smith, 22, of Diamond Springs Road, in Virginia Beach, Va., was charged with eluding police on Dec. 24. Secured bond set at $4,000. Deputy J. Sharp, of ACSO, investigated.

Mairah Myshelle Moore, 27, of Main Street in Hallwood, was charged with felony DUI on Dec. 22. She was convicted of the charge twice before in the last five years. Trooper Zachary Beaver investigated. Court records state Moore was going 69 miles per hour on Route 13 near Stuckey's in Mappsville, when he pulled her over. "Driver had a strong odor of alcohol and had six children in the car ages 3,4,5,7,12, and 13." She tested poorly on four sobriety tests.

In Accomack Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, Moore was charged with six felony counts of child abuse/ neglect in connection with the incident. Moore is being held without bond.

Leo Ayres Jr., 43, of Tasley, was charged with stealing property valued at $200 or more on July 30, 2017. Ayres is free on $1,000 secured bond. He was arrested Dec. 23. Deputy B.K. Misener, of ACSO, investigated.

OBITUARIES

Marion Schneeweiss Bartlett

Mrs. Marion Schneeweiss Bartlett, age 94, passed away in Onancock on Dec. 16, 2018. A longtime resident of Absecon, N.J., Mrs. Bartlett and her husband, Bud, moved to the Eastern Shore of Virginia in the late 1980's after selling the family business, Bartlett Chevrolet, in Ab-

secon, N.J. They

lived in Machipongo (Vaucluse Shores) and Onancock (The Hermitage Eastern Shore).

Mrs. Bartlett was born in Pleasantville, N.J., on April 21, 1924. She graduated from Pleasantville High School in 1941 and went on to earn her Bachelor of Education degree from Maryville College in Maryville, Tenn. She taught home economics in both Maryland and New Jersey. She served as president on the Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Atlantic County Home Economics Advisory Board and was a past president of the Absecon Garden Club.

She was predeceased by her husband of 49 years, Ralph "Bud" Bartlett; her parents, Henry and Marie Schneeweiss; and her five siblings, Gertrude Starkey, Emma Beckman, Henry Schneeweiss, William Schneeweiss, and Ruth Buzby. She is survived by her stepdaughter, Kim Bartlett Natwig and husband, Gary, of Austin, Texas; her granddaughter, Britta Natwig Hinze and husband, Scott, and great-grandchildren, Brock and Baxter Hinze, of Fort Worth, Texas; her grandson, Kirk Natwig and wife, Jessica, of Austin, Texas; and numerous nieces and nephews throughout the United States and abroad.

Planning the next wonderful trip was always a priority. A world traveler, she had wonderful stories about trips taken over the years with her husband, Bud. She was a stellar leader, master gardener, awesome cook, naturalist and amateur birder, accomplished artist, avid reader, excellent needle worker, seamstress, hand-quilter, and crafter.

She was a wonderful stepmother, grandmother, teacher, and friend. She will be missed by everyone she knew. As her husband, Bud, would say, "She was a Peach of a Teach!"

Mrs. Bartlett had been a member of Reformation Lutheran Church in Absecon, N.J., Hungars Episcopal Church in Machipongo, and Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Onancock.

A Memorial Service will be held at Commonwealth Senior Living (formerly The Hermitage) on Feb. 2, 2019, at 2 p.m., with the Revs. Berkley Ford and Robert Fletcher officiating.

Memorial contributions may be made to Riverside Shore Hospice, P.O. Box 615, Onley, VA 23418.

Marcie William Evans

Mr. Marcie William Evans, 81, husband of Sue Taylor Evans and lifelong resident of Saxis, passed away peacefully on Monday, Dec. 24, 2018, at his home.

Born May 16, 1937, in Saxis, he was a son of the late Leland Thomas Evans and Lois Chase Evans.

Mr. Evans' love for the water began at a young age as he worked alongside his father. For most of his life he remained a waterman, owning and operating Marcie Evans Seafood. After decades of running his business, he began working as a full-time security officer for Sea Watch International, formerly Eastern Shore Seafood.

A collector of many things, Mr. Evans enjoyed searching for hidden treasures at yard sales and flea markets and was especially proud of his stockpile of King Syrup cans. He loved model boats, decoys, and all things relating to his passion for the water. Above all else, he adored his family and there was nothing he wouldn't do for them.

In addition to his wife of 49 years, he is survived by his four children, Tony Dean Evans, of Salisbury, Md., Victor William Evans, of Sanford, Michelle Evans Marshall, of Chincoteague Island, and Jenna Evans Redmond and husband, Ian, of Atlantic; three grandchildren, Victor William Evans II, Mason Maxwell Marshall, and Alexis Taylor Marshall; and several nieces and nephews.

In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by his brother, Homer Gerald Evans.

To honor Mr. Evans' wishes, no public service will be held.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Saxis Volunteer Fire Company, P.O. Box 98, Saxis, VA 23427.

Shirlee Hicks Turlington

Mrs. Shirlee Hicks Turlington, 83, wife of B. Eugene Turlington Sr. and a resident of Chancetown, passed away Monday, Dec. 24, 2018, at her residence. Formerly of Onancock, she was the daughter of the late Guy S. Hicks and the late Bertha Johnson Hicks. She was a devoted wife, mother, and woman of strong faith.

In addition to her loving husband of 64 years, she is survived by four children, B.

Mrs. Turlington

Eugene "Chip" Turlington and Mary, of Chancetown, Pamela T. Widgeon and Paul, of Belle Haven, Kandice Bruno and Eric, of Exmore, and Peter Turlington and Catherine, of Onancock; a sister, Betty Richardson and Ivan, of Snow Hill, Md.; 11 grandchildren; 11 great-grandchildren; and numerous nieces and nephews.

Shirlee and Eugene were high school sweethearts and founded Turlington Farm's Incorporated in the 50's. They loved the farm life in Chancetown and family activities. She enjoyed nurturing and teaching children and will be fondly remembered by those who attended Miss Shirlee's Mini School and Camp Speck. Over the years, she opened her heart and her home to anyone who needed love, guidance, a cooking lesson or help finding their way in life through her faith in God's plan.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday, Dec. 29, 2018, at 11 a.m. at Melfa United Methodist Church with the Rev. Glenda Turlington officiating. Private interment will be held in the Turlington Home Place Cemetery. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Melfa United Methodist Church, 19444 Main Street, Melfa, Virginia 23410.

Helen Burton Vincent

Mrs. Helen Burton Vincent was born May 16, 1920, in her family home in Onley. She was the second child of Vernon Swanger Burton and Loleta Boggs Burton. She graduated from Onancock High School in 1937 and attended Mary Washington College for several years.

Growing up in Onley, Mrs. Vincent's house was between her grandparents

Mrs. Vincent

(William A. and Sarah Burton) and her aunt and several cousins (the Waters family) and across the street from another aunt and more cousins (the Parsons family).

At Mary Washington, Mrs. Vincent was a history major. She always enjoyed reading history, biographies, historical novels, and genealogy. She enjoyed studying antiques, playing bridge with friends, and was fascinated by archeology. Her tables were filled with open books, magazines, and crossword puzzles, all of which kept her mentally active until the end.

Mrs. Vincent shared two vivid memories of her student days at Mary Washington. She was living with many other girls in the dormitories when Orson Wells made his famous radio broadcast announcing that Martians had landed in New Jersey. Many of the girls were crying and calling home in distress, but Mrs. Vincent, ever positive and well grounded, did not believe the broadcast. She also recalled the day her father sent her an entire shipping crate of fresh Eastern Shore strawberries. Mrs. Vincent was the most popular girl in her dorm that day.

After leaving college, Mrs. Vincent worked in Baltimore during World War II. She then returned to the Eastern Shore, working briefly at Farmers & Merchants Bank in Onley and for years at the Eastern Shore Citizens' Bank in Onancock. Mrs. Vincent married Lacy S. Vincent in 1953. They lived just outside Onley until 1960, when the family moved into Mrs. Vincent's family home on East Main Street in Onley. Later, she worked as an Avon representative, at a jewelry and gift store in Parksley, and as an office manager at an alcoholism treatment center in Onancock.

Mrs. Vincent was a faithful member of Onley United Methodist Church from 1931 until her death. She taught the nursery class for many years, and always loved babies and little children. She was also a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Hermitage Guild, and served the Eastern Shore Historical Society as a Ker Place volunteer.

Until her final year, Mrs. Vincent was blessed with excellent health. She lived independently, in a two-story house, cooking her own meals, driving her red mini-van, and walking to church, until she was 97. She will be remembered for her cheerfulness, positive outlook, and her love for others.

Mrs. Vincent is survived by her son, Judge Gordon S. Vincent and his wife, Carol H. Vincent, of Onley, and two grandchildren, Joseph V. B. Vincent, of College Park, Md., and Elizabeth H. Vincent, of Washington, D.C. Also surviving are two nephews, William Butler Burton and John D. Burton, and numerous grandnieces, grandnephews, and their children. She was predeceased by her husband, Lacy S. Vincent (1922-2013); her brother, Joseph A. Burton (1914-1986); and her niece, Delano Burton May.

Private interment will be at the Fairview Lawn Cemetery in Onancock. A memorial service will be held at Onley United Methodist Church, Saturday, Jan.12, 2019, at 2 p.m., with the Rev. Charles W. Parks III officiating.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Onley United Methodist Church Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 98, Onley, VA 23418.

Sen. Lewis: Budget and School Funding Top Governor's and Legislators' Agenda

By Connie Morrison

The takeaway from Sen. Lynwood Lewis' Dec. 18 town hall meeting was this: election years are difficult ones for progress, but certain things must get done.

The difficulty with election years is that even the most routine legislative matters can become mired in politics. All 100 delegate seats and 40 senatorial seats are up for election. "To make it even worse, about a two-seat swing in either chamber will change control of either chamber," Lewis said.

Lewis began the information session by outlining Gov. Ralph Northam's legislative priorities for the year. The first is to tackle the budget.

"We ended the last fiscal year with a roughly $500M surplus," he said, but all of the revenue surpluses are designated as mandatory deposits into the clean water fund and the budget stabilization fund (also called the rainy day fund).

After those mandatory deposits are the questions of conformity to the federal tax code. It is usually a pretty standard format and noncontroversial.

"It helps people plan, make decisions, and get ready for federal taxes," said Lewis. "This year it's kind of been stood on its head" because of federal tax changes. The legislature must decide whether to conform, and the policy decisions that come with that, or to not conform and foist on Virginia residents what accountants have said will be a 15-page state income tax return.

Conformity includes the question of what constitutes adjusted gross income. "What we do after that," he said, "assuming we conform, is wide open."

Gov. Northam "has proposed that we make Virginia's earned income tax credit fully refundable," as the federal credit is. The federal credit was created in 1975 and is referred to as help for the working poor, Lewis said. "Ours is simply a credit against their state obligation" and is not refundable. The proposal will cost about $250 million.

Lewis said about 3,900 tax returns in Accomack County, and another 1.500 in Northampton, have claimed the federal earned income tax credit, so a substantial portion of the population in both counties would be affected by the governor's proposal.

"I don't think the governor's plan is going to have much of a shot," he said in a candid response to a question from an audience member.

Complicating matters is that the federal tax change is not permanent - it would last about 4 years - "so we would have to key into the limited life span on that, and there is obviously controversy about that," he said. The governor feels strongly about his proposal. "We'll see how it plays out," he said.

The second big decision is whether to tax internet sales following a Supreme Court decision affirming the right of states to collect tax from internet transactions.

"Brick and mortar retail folks are very happy about that because they have been clamoring for that for years," said Lewis. He estimated revenue from that proposal at $300 million, but acknowledged much of the sales tax revenue is dedicated and the net discretionary revenue is estimated at $60-$70 million.

Other options include taking a look at Virginia's standard deduction, personal exemption, and tax rates. "Our rate is 5\% percent at the top end on the income tax and we haven't done anything since 1987," he said. "So there are options."

Gov. Northam is proposing a significant increase in K-12 funding, an additional 2 percent pay raise for public school teachers. "When we fund a pay raise for our teachers, we fund the state share. There is a local share as well that has to be funded." he said.

"In addition, we propose to put $88 million into construction through the literary fund" as a first step toward meeting a $4-$6 billion school construction need across the commonwealth.

The governor wants $46 million for broadband. "We've got about a $20 million price tag on full build-out here," he said. "Hopefully, we can get access to government monies."

Lewis' own priorities will include getting money into the coastal resiliency fund, encouraging use of the Columbia aquifer, and establishing enabling legislation for localities to partially exempt from taxation real property prone to flooding if the owner makes flooding resiliency improvements. The latter measure was approved by voters in the November election. Lewis also expects proposals to surface — and bills to be drafted — from the aquaculture work group.

Campbell Retires From BB&T After 45 Years Connie

It was February of her senior year at Central High School in 1974 when Connie Widgeon was told by her guidance counselor, Nancy Irvin, that Irvin's husband had mentioned he needed help at the bank. She advised the 12th grader to go see him for an interview.

Things happened pretty quickly after that.

Widgeon got the job, worked half days after school for the next four months, graduated from high school June 5 as the valedictorian of her class, married William Campbell two days later, and started work full time at the bank as soon as she returned from her honeymoon.

Today, Campbell is the vice president and market leader for the BB&T branches at Onley and Mappsville. She is the senior BB&T officer on Virginia's Eastern Shore. The last day of 2018 will be her final day with the bank after almost 45 years working with the same organization, though the name of the bank has changed a few times.

"When Melvin Irvin hired me, the bank had just changed from First National Bank to First Virginia Bank, then it became First Virginia Eastern Shore, First Virginia Tidewater, and First Virginia Hampton Roads. About 10 years ago, we changed over to BB&T," said Campbell, sitting in her office at the Onley branch.

Campbell's life has been all about stability and relationships. When she married her husband, four years older and also a graduate of Central High School, she moved one block over in her hometown of Painter. They still live there.

She had a hand in planning the bank's move from downtown Onancock to the highway in Onley in 1976, and except for six years when she was manager at the Mappsville branch, she has been in the same location her entire banking career.

"When I look back, it just seems everything evolved over time," said Campbell. "When I was still in high school, Melvin Irvin showed me how to wrap coins with flat wrappers, a method I still prefer, and I did some filing, clerical work and most anything that needed to be done. I had some wonderful mentors in Nancy Custis, Anna Hampton, and Bobby Taylor. Eventually, I became a teller."

Campbell first became a manager 10 years after joining the bank and never thought about changing careers. "I found I really loved the experience of helping people with their banking needs. Whether it is answering a question about their account, helping them with a loan for a car or house or setting up a savings plan, it is very rewarding when you can be of some help to somebody. The customers come and go as some of the older clients pass on, but then you find yourself helping their children. The relationships both inside the bank and on the outside were the most important thing to me," said Campbell. "That is what I will miss the most."

And though Campbell is reserved and displays a very pleasant demeanor, she became somewhat of a barrier crasher in the banking world on the Eastern Shore. When she first joined the bank in the mid-'70s, it was a male-dominated world where women were tellers or secretaries and men were managers.

"I don't think we had a woman on our board of directors until about 10 years ago," said Campbell.

She recalled a time after she became manager when the branch had a male lending officer, somewhat younger than she, located in the office next to hers. "Customers would come in and tell the banking associate out front they wanted to speak to the manager, pointing to the man. The associate would tell them if you want to speak to the manager, they needed to see me. It was frustrating sometimes, but I never let it bother me."

Campbell was part of that generation who entered the working world when records were kept on paper. They used items like carbon paper and white out — now about as obsolete as eight-track tapes and vinyl records — and then had to adapt to computers while watching millennials look like whiz kids on the keyboards.

"Computers have certainly allowed us to access information more quickly today," said Campbell. "Everything was on paper when I started, and then I remember having records on microfiche. That could also be a tedious process to locate what you needed. What has really changed is the way people bank today using their phones and their computers. It's pretty amazing when I look back at the changes I've seen. I always tried to stay up with the times, but I was never afraid to ask for help when I needed it."

Campbell also witnessed the changing landscape of banking as mergers, consolidations, and name changes developed swiftly around her. "I always made it a point never to say anything negative about another bank. Customers would come in and complain about something another bank was doing or had changed, and I would say, Well, you know, all banks have their rules and regulations, just like us."

Campbell, who will turn 63 in early January, does not fear being bored in retirement. "I am looking forward to having time to do things I've been neglecting, like some rooms in the house that need attention and some yard work. I also used to do a lot of handiwork, such as crocheting, cross-stitching or knitting. I would like to pick that back up."

Campbell also wants to be available for babysitting if needed by her daughter, Amy, a special education teacher in Accomack County and married to Chris Budd. Campbell has a grandson, Blake, and a stepgranddaughter, Brooke.

There are numerous other interests as well for Campbell. She is the treasurer at Painter Garrison United Methodist Church; president of Kiwanis Club of Accomack County; longtime mayor of Painter, having served on the town council now for 30 years; and president of the Ladies Auxiliary for Painter Volunteer. Fire Co., where her husband is fire chief. He plans to retire from the maintenance department of the Accomack County School System next year, and the Campbells hope to travel as well.

Raised on the Shore by David and Annette Widgeon, with her mother passing just in the past year, Campbell always has worked hard, but also tried to give back to the community. In her teen years, she worked summers at J.E. Bundick General Store in Painter, then was the store's gift wrapper during the Christmas season. "I would stand in one place and wrap Christmas presents all day," recalled Campbell. "And some days there were lots of gifts."

She is proud her bank has not only supported many local fundraising events, but also has an in-house program that has helped with both funds and labor for the Foodbank, Eastern Shore Coalition Against Domestic Violence, the public library, and other organizations.

She credits her sister, Patricia Sturgis, who retired from banking, with helping deal with many of the financial affairs following the death of their mother in the past They year. had earlier lost an older brother, Jennings, a Vietnam War vet-Their eran. father died in the late '80s. "When you lose a fammember.

there are times when you want to pick up the phone and talk to them before realizing they are no longer there," said Campbell.

Looking back, Campbell said she enjoyed her career so much that the time seemed to pass very quickly. She recalled sharing a desk with Muriel Carmine and Nancy Bonniwell in the old Onancock office, with Melvin Irvin and Bobby Taylor having desks in the same room. Those cramped quarters hastened the move to the larger office in Onley two years later.

She is the only employee left with the bank who made the move from Onancock to Onley, though she noted that Debbie Moore, who also became a BB&T branch manager, was also there and retired only a few years ago.

There has been a retirement party and a host of farewells already leading into the final days of Campbell's banking career. She said it has been an emotional time, but she clearly is looking forward to her next step in life. "A couple of people have said to me that I was their mentor and appreciated I took time to show them how to do certain things. That means a lot to me because I can remember all those people who helped me along the way."

Local Varsity Football Players Participate in Eastern Shore Bowl

By Krystle Bono, Submitted Photos

Seniors varsity football players from the Eastern Shore district, which included athletes from Nandua, Arcadia and Northampton, were selected to participate in the 11th Annual Eastern Shore Bowl held on a snowy Dec. 9, in Cambridge, Md.

Corey Smith, Carlton Smith Jr., and Josh Splawn represented the Yellow Jackets; Kristo Castillo and Damani Baines participated from Nandua; and Bryden Bibbins, Chris Beasley, and Shykeem Jacobs were selected from Arcadia.

The three participating Shore high schools were members of the South team, along with Sussex Tech and Milford high schools of Delaware, and Parkside, Wicomico, Snow Hill, Bennett, Decatur, and Washington high schools in Maryland.

The rivals from the North consisted of teams from Cambridge, Kent Island, Old Mill, Colonel Richardson, Dundalk, Annapolis, Queen Anne's, Easton, North East, and North Caroline high schools in Maryland, and Kent County, of Delaware.

Scouts from several Maryland and Delaware colleges were also in attendance during the game.

The South broke a seven-game losing streak against the North, coming out on top by a 35-13 count.

Many of the Shore athletes helped lead the South in the victory, including Arcadia's Jacobs, who ran a 2-yard touchdown to score in the second half of the game and received a total of 4 yards. Nandua's Castillo punted 62 yards in the game.

Arcadia's Bibbins received 12 yards during his time on the field for the South, and Northampton's Carlton Smith Jr. helped lead, contributing 15-yards worth of kick returns.

Nandua's Baines had a 3-yard carry, Northampton's Corey Smith had a tackle, and teammate Splawn had two tackles.

Nandau's Damani Baines (left) and Kristo Castillo joined athletes on the South team from across Delmarva to play in the bowl.

Final Push for Hunters for the Hungry

The Eastern Shore chapter of Hunters for the Hungry is in its final few weeks of deer donations for this season. The deer harvest season closes on Jan. 5. Since 1997, the program has received and processed over 4,000 deer donations. The deer donated have been processed into over 500,000 servings of this nutritious lean meat to the clients of The Food Bank of the Eastern Shore and other agencies. There is no charge to the hunter to donate the deer. The deer must be properly harvested and registered, field-dressed, and taken to one of the processors or collection points.

The chapter goal this year is 150 deer.

The program raises funds from local individuals, businesses, and civic organizations to pay the processing cost of the deer. This year the cost of processing a deer is $50. The processors help the program by processing the deer at almost half their regular cost. Since the program pays a perdeer processing fee, please consider a larger bodied deer. Processors have the right to refuse any deer donation that has not been field-dressed or cared for in a manner that ensures quality usable meat.

The processors this year are Brent Powell, Powell Processing (21397 Trower Rd., Wachapreague, 757-787-7107) and Scott Hines, Eastern Shore Outfitters (4306 Main St., Exmore, 757-442-4009).

Collections points are The Food Bank at Tasley (24530 Coastal Blvd., 757-787-2557) and B&B Market (13001 Lankford Hwy., Machipongo, 757-678-7236).

The program is a 501(c)(3) charitable organization and donations are deductible as allowed by law. The program is a listed agency for the local United Way campaign. There currently is a dollar for dollar match for donations from businesses, civic organizations, and Ruritan clubs.

Donations, made out to Hunters for the Hungry may be sent to P.O. Box 1702 Parksley, Va. 23421.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

USDA to Gauge Financial Well-Being Of Virginia Farmers and Ranchers

Submitted Articles

Beginning in late December, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) will spend several months gathering information about farm economics and production practices from farmers and ranchers across Virginia, as the agency conducts the third and final phase of the 2018 Agricultural Resource Management Survey (ARMS).

"ARMS is the only survey that measures the current financial well-being of Virginia producers and their households as a whole," said Herman Ellison, NASS Virginia State Statistician. "The results of this survey will help inform decisions on local and federal policies and programs that affect Virginia farms and farm families."

In an effort to obtain the most accurate data, NASS will reach out to more than 30,000 producers nationwide, including 750 in Virginia, from January to March. The survey asks producers to provide indepth information about their operating revenues, production costs, and household characteristics. The 2018 survey includes versions focused on soybean and cattle and calf sector costs and returns.

"We realize that this survey is lengthy and some producers may have questions," explained Ellison. "In February, our interviewers will begin reaching out to those farmers who have not yet responded to answer any questions they may have and help them fill out their questionnaires."

In addition to producing accurate information, NASS has strong safeguards in place to protect the confidentiality of all farmers who respond to its surveys. The agency will publish data in an aggregate form only, ensuring the confidentiality of all responses and that no individual respondent or operation can be identified.

The expense data gathered in ARMS will be published in the annual Farm Production Expenditures report on Aug. 2. That report and others are available at www.nass.usda.gov More reports based on ARMS data and more information about ARMS is available at

USDA to Conduct Census of Agriculture Special Studies on Aquaculture and Irrigation This Winter

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) will conduct two special studies as part of the 2017 Census of Agriculture to collect more detailed information on aquaculture and irrigation practices in U.S. agriculture.

On Dec. 17, NASS will mail the 2018 Census of Aquaculture to all farmers who indicated on their 2017 Census of Agriculture forms that they produce and sell aquaculture products. Results from this survey will help provide current and comprehensive industry-specific data at the state and national levels, including production volume and methods, surface water acres and sources, sales, and more. Federal, state, and local governments, agribusinesses, trade associations, and producers use the information to make informed decisions that can impact the sustainability and growth of the U.S. aquaculture industry. The deadline for producers to respond is Jan. 14.

On Jan. 3, NASS will mail the 2018 Irrigation and Water Management Survey, formerly called the Farm and Ranch Irrigation Survey, to a sample of producers who reported irrigation practices on their 2017 Census of Agriculture forms. The survey provides the only comprehensive information on irrigation activities and water use across U.S. farms, ranches, and horticultural operations. When responding to this survey, producers will be asked to provide information on topics such as water sources and the amount of water used, acres irrigated by type of system, irrigation and yield by crop, and system investments and energy costs. The results of this survey will aid efforts to develop and promote efficient irrigation practices and long-term sustainability of water resources. The deadline to complete the survey is Feb. 15.

Producers can respond to these questionnaires online, by mail, or by phone. The online questionnaire has timesaving features such as automatic calculations and the convenience of being accessible on mobile and desktop devices. As part of the Census of Agriculture Program, these special studies are conducted once every five years with federal law (Title 7 USC 2204(g) Public Law 105-113) requiring all those who receive a form to participate. The information collected is completely confidential and will be used for statistical purposes only. To prevent disclosing the identity of any individual producer or farm operation, NASS will only publish tabulated totals.

Results of both the 2018 Census of Aquaculture and the 2018 Irrigation and Water Management Survey are scheduled for release in fall 2019 at www.nass.usda.gov

Northampton Farm Among 10 in Virginia Awarded For Efforts To Improve Water Quality

The Virginia Clean Water Farm Grand Basin Awards are presented each year to farmers or farm owners who are doing exceptional work to protect soil and water resources. One winner is selected from each of Virginia's 10 major river basins.

The awards are sponsored by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation in partnership with Virginia's 47 soil and water conservation districts. Awards were presented last week during the Virginia Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts annual meeting in Roanoke.

"These farms represent the best in conservation farming in Virginia," DCR Director Clyde Cristman said. "These producers are enhancing their operations and improving conditions for people who live downstream by voluntarily implementing practices such as stream fencing, cover crops, riparian buffers, nutrient management plans and more."

For a description of each farm, download the awards program at www.dcr.vir-ginia.gov/soil-and-water/cwfa-winners

Readers Share Favorite Books of 2018, Plans for New Year's Day

By Linda Cicoira

Dr. Seuss, the famous children's book author, said it best, "The more that you read, the more things you will know."

Members of the Eastern Shore Post staff and others from the community recently disclosed their favorite books from 2018. They also told us what they like to do on New Year's Day. In turn, we are sharing that information with you in hopes you'll have a wonderful 2019.

Editor Connie Morrison had two favorites as she is an avid reader.

"Little Fires Everywhere," by Celeste Ng was her top pick and is soon to be a Hulu Limited Series starring Reese Witherspoon and Kerry Washington. "It explores relationships between mothers and daughters, society's views of motherhood and judgments of mothers," said Morrison. "It challenges the idea that you can plan your life out and have everything turn out the way you want it to."

the Year by People, The Washington Post, Bustle, Esquire, Southern Living, The Daily Beast, GQ, Entertainment Weekly, NPR (National Public Radio), Amazon, Barnes & Noble, iBooks, Audible, Goodreads, Library Reads, Book of the Month, Paste, Kirkus Reviews, and St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The other Morrison pick was, "Sing, Unburied, Sing," by Jesmyn Ward. "It's so touching the way (the main character) cares for his sister, Kayla. It's just a heartbreaking story but there is redemption in this novel," Morrison said. "It really is a moving story."

www.amazon.com wrote, "Jojo is 13 years old and trying to understand what it means to be a man. He doesn't lack fathers to study, chief among them his black grandfather, Pop. But there are other men who complicate his understanding: his absent white father, Michael, who is being released from prison; his absent white grandfather, Big It was named a Best Book of Joseph, who won't acknowledge his existence; and the memories of his dead uncle, Given, who died as a teenager."

Morrison plans to read, "A Midwife's Tale: Life of Martha Ballard" by Laurel Thatcher Ulrich. The Pulitzer Prize-winning volume is set in Maine in the 18th-century. "Ballard attended 816 births in 27 years," Morrison said.

Cara Burton, of Parksley, takes "a hike and is thankful to enjoy the first day of 2019." The director of the Eastern Shore Public Library (ES-PL) picked "The Bolter," the story of Idina Sackville, by Frances Osborne. It was chosen "because it took place during WWI, which had a major anniversary in 2018, and it highlighted the challenges of women in society in that era."

NPR wrote, "Sackville's great-granddaughter, Frances Osborne, creates a lively portrait of the United Kingdom-born troublemaker, a woman who took countless lovers, raised hell in England and Africa, inspired novels by Nancy Mitford and carried around a dog she named Satan."

Sharyn McQuaid, of Melfa, is president of Friends of the ESPL. Her pick was "The Orphan Band of Springdale," by Anne Nesbet, she said. "It's in the juvenile section."

According to www.amazon.com, "With the United States on the verge of World War II, eleven-year-old Gusta is sent from New York City to Maine, where she discovers smalltown prejudices — and a huge family secret."

Sally Tuttle, of Wachapreague, and her family, eat black-eyed peas on New Year's Day. The best book she read in 2018 was "Cutting for Stone" by Abraham Verghese. "It was very different. It was not like a whodunit, which is the typical story I like. It was about twin boys who were orphaned at birth and their lives. One immigrated to the United States."

Michael Stephano, of Cashville, chose "American Fire: Love, Arson, and Life in a Vanishing Land," By Monica Hesse, as his favorite in 2018, a story of the famous arson fires on the Eastern Shore. "I was in it and I lived it," Stephano said. "I shoot the shotgun off at midnight and go to bed," he said of New Year's Eve. The next day is "typically" spent with "a ride on the beach, weather permitting."

Linda Cicoira, a writer at the Post, chose Copy Editor David Martin's memoir, "Losing Everything," as the best book she read in 2018. "It provided me with insights of my favorite grammar Nazi, who adores the evil serial comma, and works at the Post."

"Also, a friend lent me 'White House Confidential: The Little Book of Weird Presidential History.' I am going to have to purchase this book because I see material for a column and I want to use a highlighter on it," Cicoira added. "I dip cut-up apples in honey and eat them for good luck on New Year's Day and I avoid house cleaning so I won't have to do it all year."

Patricia Hart, of Wachapreague, plans to do "nothing" on Jan. 1, 2019. "You're supposed to make some money on New Year's Day, so you'll make money during every day of the year. Even if it's five dollars."

Hart picked "Before We Were Yours," by Lisa Wingate, as the best book in 2018, "because it got to my heart." It involves the life of orphan children before they were adopted.

Angie H. Crutchley, of Exmore, the Post's classifieds manager, watches television and tries "to eat one mouthful of black-eyed peas," on Jan 1. "I'm ashamed of how little I read this year. I've started David Lozell Martin's 'Tap, Tap,' and hope to have it finished during the holidays." In the book, "Peter Tummelier uses his newfound vampire powers to embark on a bloodthirsty quest for vengeance on the enemies of his childhood friend, Roscoe Bird, and to seduce Roscoe to the vampire life," according to www.amazon.com

Martin fittingly reads on New Year's Day. He chose "The Guns of August," by Barbara W. Tuchman, "because it shows the insanity and tragedy of stupid decision-making by leaders." On New Year's Day, "We cook a big pot of 18-bean soup with ham hock and fried cornbread," wrote Robert Doughty, of Chesconessex. He selected "A Narrative About Life on Hog Island," by L.E. Doughty as his top read in 2018. "It spans 1910 through 1923 and is basically written in the first person, so you the reader are right there with him living his life."

Doug Hollingsworth, of Painter, said, "Ot's Queen Rearing: A Survival Guide for Beekeepers Worldwide," by Mel Disselkoen, "was an informative book." According to the back of the book's cover, "Disselkoen, a master beekeeper, has kept bees for more than 40 years and is familiar with all facets of beekeeping." Hollingsworth likes to sleep on New Year's Day.

Beverly Lynch, of Painter, starts her year doing bookkeeping. "I've read so many, I can't remember them all or when I read them," she wrote in an answer to a survey sent out via email by the Post. "The Napoleonic Source Book," by Philip J. Haythornthwaite, "was good — full of interesting anecdotes and information." www.thriftbooks.com described the book as "a brief chronological account of the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars." Lynch also suggested "The Quiet Gentleman" by Georgette Heyer "because I liked the hero, the 19th-century slang, and it had a happy ending."

Lisa Cropper Johnson, of Horntown, rests on New Year's Day. Her top book in 2018 was "Draw the Circle: The 40 Day Prayer Challenge," by Mark Batterson, "because it stretched me to persist."

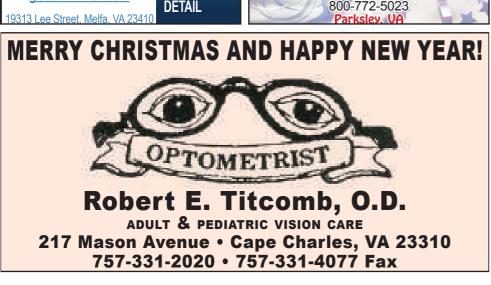

Anthony LoFaso, of Onancock, "sleeps, eats, and watches sports or movies on New Year's Day." He recommended "The 49th-Mystic," and its paired book "The Rise of the Mystics," both by Ted Dekker. "They teach the truth that Christians need to realize who they are in Christ in this life and live in light of that truth."

Carrie Jacobson, of Wachapreague, stays in on the first day of the year. "The Spirituality of Imperfection," by Ernest Kurtz and Katherine Ketcham was her top choice. "It is fascinating, compelling, and current. I haven't finished it yet," said Jacobson.

Denise Bowden, of Chincoteague, picked "The Come Here," by Daniel Turner Thomas. "Dan is such a great guy and reading his story of how he came to the Shore from overseas was fun and informative," Bowden said.

Judy Hunt, of Captain's Cove, eats pork on New Year's Day. "Stuck in the Onesies,' written by a friend, Diana McDonough, who lives in Ocean Pines" was her favorite book for 2018.

Nicki Tiffany, of Cape Charles, likes to get together with friends to play board games and eat on New Year's Day. "Thank You for Being Late," by Thomas Friedman, was her favorite book. It includes "tips on surviving the escalating times in which we live."

Nikki (Shawna) Davis, of Accomac, doesn't have time to read, she said. On New Year's Day, "Me and my daughter might take in a movie."

Linda Nicola, of Onancock, said, "Every Day," by David Levithan, is about a person, gender unknown, who travels to and takes over another body every day." A, as he calls himself, never knows who he'll wake up to be the next morning. A has occupied the bodies of a footballer player, an obese teen, a suicidal girl, the boyfriend of a girl he loves. A has no parents, no home, no friends, as every day, A is someone else."

Nicola said Levithan "offers unique insights into all these people ... I consumed this book in nearly one sitting. The ethical dilemmas were most intriguing to me. A can access the thoughts and memories of his host. A tries very hard to give the host a good day and not to leave them with problems. A respects their privacy except in a few cases. Those few cases and A's attempt at a love life drive the story."

Janet Rochester, of Onancock, suggested "We," by Yevgeny Zamyatin. "It is a novel of a dystopian future that inspired (George) Orwell's '1984.' It has many similarities to 'Brave New World,' but preceded it in publication."

Diana Davis, of Craddockville, eats black-eyed peas and reads on Jan. 1. She selected "Everyday Matters," by Danny Gregory. "I have read it about four times. It is about appreciating and seeing the beauty in everything."

Ace Seybolt, an owner of the Post, also loves to read. He picked, "Churchill Walking with Destiny," by Andrew Roberts, as his favorite for 2018. Seybolt enjoys biographies. "I learned a lot from his perseverance."

Stefanie Jackson, of Pungoteague, another Post writer, eats "a dinner of pork and sauerkraut for good luck. My mother and I, and my mother-inlaw are all originally from Pennsylvania, so it's a tradition all the way around. We've tried throwing in a southern tradition with some blackeyed peas a couple times, but nobody likes them."

"I've always loved to read but I can't think of any books I've read in their entirety in 2018," Jackson said. "I've been too busy reading stories in the Eastern Shore Post."

Public Notice

The Northampton County Wetlands Board will meet Wednesday, January 16, 2019 at 10:00 a.m. in the Board Chambers located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA, for the purpose of considering the following wetlands/coastal primary sand dunes matter under public hearing and to conduct regular business. The Board will assemble at 9:00 a.m. to conduct a site visit.

A.) VMRC 2018-1836: Vincent Rende is applying for a permit to construct a 30' by 18' riprap structure around and along the southern boundary of his lot. The new structure will be a continuation of the existing rip rap on the Bayford side of the lot. The primary purpose of this project is to protect the property from erosion due to wave action from the Chesapeake Bay. The property is located at the end of Arlington Chase Road and is further described as Tax Map 97A, double circle 1, parcel 36.

Anyone interested in the above matter should attend the scheduled public hearing. The application may be viewed in the Planning, Permitting, and Enforcement Office located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA. Written comments can be submitted to the Planning, Permitting, and Enforcement Office P.O. Box 538, Eastville, VA 23347.

Handicapped Assistance Available: Please call (757) 678-0440 extension 516 at least 48 hours in advance.

Well, I've done it now. It's official. As of 2:03 p.m. on Dec. 26, this girl became an adult. That's right, I turned 40! You didn't read that wrong. I'm sure many of you wanted to wish me a happy 22nd birthday, but no, dear friends, I'm already a quarter-way through life (I plan to live to 150.).

There are markers in life that bend us and sometimes break us, and I'm standing in the corridor with my arms outstretched and ready to go. I'm grateful for the lessons I've learned and more than grateful for the friends and family that held my hand down this beautiful back road of life. I sure did like to get them lost along the way. It's no secret, if you were looking for a sidewinding train ride without a conductor, then baby, hold on tight because those have always been the best travels.

Some lessons came at costs I never want to pay again. Others were easier.

I spent the year with family and friends taking little trips to celebrate their 40th birthdays and my last year of my 30s. I am the youngest in the group, after all. We hit the slots in Dover, Del., saw the oldest oak tree just outside of Charleston, S.C., drove Skyline Drive in the fall, took cheesy tourist pictures in Ocean City, Md. (see Page 32), and sat on Santa's lap (I'm so sorry, sir; I apologize again) in Cape Charles. There have been dozens of friends and family that I haven't seen in years. They died and in their honor I make sure I live and laugh most days.

I've learned two things (and that's pretty much it). Life is a circle. If times are dark and hopeless, assuredly the light will break the clouds again. The second is to keep my big mouth shut. That includes typing on Facebook. There's a scene in "Braveheart" where William Wallace's men are facing the English calvary. The calvary is coming at them hard and fast and the soldiers want to raise their spears. Wallace says, "Hold...hold...HOLD!" At the last second he gives the command to raise the spears and ultimately wins the battle. Whenever I'm in a situation where I want to say something, whether political or in response to someone who may be acting a fool, I repeat those words in my head: Hold...hold...HOLD! It's served me well – waiting before I speak.

It's an oldy but a goody, but I try very hard to be kind to people. It's mutually advantageous. It'll get you higher than THC. I love people. I give my friendship freely, and there's nothing better than a laugh. Being a friend doesn't mean you have to agree with everything the other party does. A friend should be able to withstand a moderate amount of constructive criticism and I should be able to take it.

I love my parents (Hi, Mom, see I didn't forget to pay the electric bill this month.). And I hang out with kids (not in a creepy way). A couple years ago, people finally stopped asking me when I was going to have kids (except Mom, she's convinced I'll have a kid by 60). Maybe God didn't want me to have kids so I could enjoy all the nieces, nephews, and friends' kids. And I think they like me too ... probably because they think I'm their age. Thanks to the kids who texted me or sang to me on my birthday: Julian, Olivia, Noelle, Devon, and Mallory. As Olivia so kindly texted, "Party hard on your 21st birthday!" I think I will.

Maybe adulthood begins at 41?
