Northampton Decides on Redistricting

By Ron West

A public hearing Tuesday on Northampton County's proposed redistricting plan was conducted Tuesday, with only one member of the public speaking on the issue.

Cookie Francis told the Board of Supervisors that a many people are concerned over the plan as it would reduce the number of voting precincts, which could result in some citizens finding it more difficult to cast their vote. Following a brief discussion on the proposed plan, the board voted to forward it to the U.S. Justice Department for approval.

The supervisors reviewed and reprioritized their Six-Year Secondary Road Plan at Tuesday's meeting.

Bobby Isdell of the Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT) reported that the Cobbs Station Road project is complete and that approximately $1.1 million in highway improvement funds remained for use on the next proposed project. According to Isdell, the previous plan listed Cemetery Road in Belle Haven as next on the list for improvement, followed by a connector road that would join Hare Valley Road to Broadwater Road across from Shore Plaza Shopping Center in Exmore.

Supervisor Oliver Bennett suggested that Parallel Road in Treherneville needs to be added to the list to provide access for residents who live to the east of the railroad tracks in that area. It was pointed out that a good portion of Parallel Road is on property that belongs to Bay Coast Railroad and thus not currently eligible for consideration. The board agreed to look into seeking a solution to the issue in order that the road could be added to the list at a later date.

Supervisor Sam Long Jr. requested that Old Cape Charles Road (Rt. 642) be added to the list due to its current condition and the amount of traffic that uses it.

At left, a platoon of cooks turns out delectable clam fritters at the annual Seafood Festival at Tom's Cove Park on Chincoteague last Saturday. The fried mollusks were but one of the many traditional seafood delicacies and all the trimmings cooked for the masses who attended. It was the first time the event was sponsored by the Chincoteague Chamber of Commerce and the first time it was held on a Saturday. For decades, it has been held on the first Wednesday in May.

Deputy Charged in Death of Dog

By Linda Cicaira

Northampton Deputy Charles E. (Chuck) Graham was arrested Tuesday after being indicted last week by a county Grand Jury on a felony count of animal cruelty and a misdemeanor charge of maliciously wounding an animal in connection with the shooting of a hunting dog on his property on Feb. 26.

The 61-year-old Townsend resident is free on $7,500 unsecured bond, according to court records. A court date has not been set. State Police investigated and Suffolk Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Susan Walton is handling the case.

"Deputy Graham was placed on suspension without pay for a period of thirty days following the incident," Sheriff David Doughty said in a prepared statement. "He currently has been put back on suspension pending the outcome of the court proceeding. Deputy Graham has been ... a deputy for the Northampton Sheriff's Office since 2007."

Graham wrote on his Web site on poultrycommunity.com, "I was woken by the sound of my chickens freaking out and a barking dog. Went to the back door saw the chickens milling about in a pile on the yonder side of the run and saw an unknown dog shoot past from direction of the chicken run."

Graham continued, "Went back inside and ... grabbed my pellet rifle. I'd rather not kill any animals. As I walked out back I spotted the dog in my neighbor's yard come out from behind her shed. I cranked off a shot from about 100 feet. Didn't know if I hit it or not."

"I then saw a couple of other dogs run out," he wrote. "Just then I saw the fellow who lives behind me walking in the woods shout to the dogs. I yelled to him to get them out of the area. He yelled back that they were hunting rabbits. I went back into the house to try to get back to sleep."

But before he could, he said, "A state trooper came by to take a report. He said that the neighbor was at the vet with his dog. I gave him the report. About a couple of hours later my supervisor called and told me that the dog had been euthanized. The trooper says he will be talking to the commonwealth's attorney about bringing charges against me. ... Just being charged will mean the loss of my job. What a drag. And I'm really bummed out about the poor dog on top of everything else."

The owner of the dog is Graham's neighbor, Bill Heath.

Isdell noted that Cemetery Road has been accepted as part of the federal road system, making it eligible for federal money to pay for 80 percent of the cost. Following additional discussion, the board agreed to place Cemetery Road, Old Cape Charles Road and the Bayside Road connector on the list in that order.

Patti Kiger, representing Eastern Shore Community College, urged the board to support a healthy lifestyle concept for the county in an effort to improve the overall health of its citizens. Kiger noted that the Eastern Shore has a high incidence of cancer, diabetes, and cardiac problems, which can often be traced to unhealthy eating habits, lack of exercise, and smoking.

The board reviewed several budget amendments for the school system and agreed to allow the transfer of $34,381 to allow fuel tanks to be filled over the summer. A request for funding to adjust for the food service program in the amount of $890,367 was tabled by the board until additional data can be reviewed.

County Administrator Katie Nunez announced that there will be a meeting regarding fire and EMS services in the county Sunday, May 15, at the former Northampton Middle School in Machipongo beginning at 7 p.m. A dinner, beginning at 5 P.M., will precede the meeting, which will include a discussion on the current status of emergency services, as well as plans for the use of the county's ambulance operations.

A final issue discussed was a report by the Hospital Task Force presented by Supervisor Spencer Murray. He noted that the current plan by Riverside Health Services continues to omit Emergency Room facilities in Nassawadox once the hospital is moved to Accomack County.

Car Care

Prices at the pump are moving upward in time for spring and summer road trips. While many motorists may panic as gas prices continue to rise, a little planning, perspective and a few simple steps from the Car Care Council can go a long way to combat the soaring price of fuel.

"It's easy to be alarmed by the cost of gas, but when motorists take a look at the big picture, they'll see that much of the increased cost can be offset by adjusting driving habits and implementing a proactive vehicle preventative maintenance plan," said Rich White, executive director of the Car Care Council. "Fuel economy is related to vehicle maintenance, yet when gas prices rise, some motorists think they can save money by putting off needed maintenance. What they don't realize is that neglecting their vehicle can end up costing more."

The Car Care Council offers these gas-saving maintenance tips:

- Keep your car properly tuned to improve gas mileage by an average of 4 percent.

- Keep tires properly inflated and improve gas mileage by 3 percent.

- Replace dirty or clogged air filters and improve gas mileage by as much as 10 percent.

- Replace dirty spark plugs, which can reduce mileage by two miles per gallon.

- Change oil regularly and gain another mile per gallon.

The council also offers these gas-saving driving tips:

- Observe the speed limit. Gas mileage decreases rapidly above 60 mph.

- Avoid excessive idling. Idling gets zero miles per gallon. Warming up the vehicle for one or two minutes is sufficient.

- Avoid quick starts and stops. Aggressive driving can lower gas mileage by 33 percent on the highway and 5 percent in the city.

- Consolidate trips. Several short trips taken from a cold start can use twice as much gas as one longer, multi-purpose trip.

- Don't haul unneeded items in the trunk. An extra 100 pounds in the trunk reduces fuel economy by 1 to 2 percent.

Proposed Redistricting Would Remove McMath from School Board

By Linda Cicoira

Al McMath, who lives near Onley, has served on the Accomack County School Board for about 16 years, representing Election District 7. He's been chairman of that board several times and helped decide educational policy from school funding, to teacher salaries. In recent weeks he has assisted in the search for a new superintendent.

But as this article goes to press, unless McMath wants to move, he probably won't be eligible to serve another four-year term — at least not in District 7. If things go as planned, he won't live there anymore.

No, McMath isn't leaving home. But proposed new district lines would put his home on the District 8 side of Locustville Road. People who reside across the field and street in Colonial Village would remain in District 7.

"I don't think they (Accomack supervisors) did it intentionally," McMath said. "They have a job to do."

He joked about the possibility of picking up his homestead and setting it up house across the way since he owns property on both sides of the road. But he was definitely kidding. The measures also call for his father to vote in Melfa for the first time, after casting his ballots in Onley since World War II.

"I've enjoyed being on the School Board," McMath said. "Hopefully, I've contributed a little bit. But life goes on."

Of course, McMath said, it would be ideal for him if the supervisors ran the line along a creek behind his house. "If it can be done, I'd appreciate it," he said. "I do plan on continuing to work for the public schools. Whatever I can do. ... Believe me, I have enough things going on." He might even take up tennis again.

"I'm sure when the process works out, they'll have good people on the School Board," McMath noted.

He wrestled with whether he would even attend the public hearing set for Thursday (May 12) at 7:30 p.m. "I haven't told anybody to come out," McMath said. "I haven't encouraged anybody. What they do is what they do."

"Maybe it's time for someone else to do it," McMath said of his post.

"I know 10 years ago, they moved it (the proposed line) just for him," Tom Brockenbrough, the county's GIS (Geographic Information System) coordinator and acting director of planning, said Tuesday of McMath.

"This year they went for a cleaner line," he said. "It's a very easy-to-follow line — Locustville Road to the creek." Previously, Brockenbrough said, Taxcotown was split in half. The supervisors' goal and one urged by the U.S. Justice Department is to keep communities together.

County Attorney Mark Taylor said that according to state law, "Local officers, including members of the school board ... in office on the effective date of a ... redistricting ordinance, shall complete their terms of office, regardless of loss of residency in a particular district due to ... redistricting. So, Mr. McMath would complete his present term in office, regardless of his loss of residency under the proposed redistricting."

Marks Running for Sheriff

Onley Police Chief Walter Marks has announced his candidacy for sheriff of Accomack County in the November General Election.

The retired trooper served more than 35 years with the State Police. This is his second bid for sheriff. He was defeated four years ago by Sheriff Larry Giddens. Also vying then was Tommy Carpenter, who is now Parksley police chief.

Marks said Monday that if he wins the current race, he would make Carpenter his chief deputy. Giddens is expected to step down in August and let Maj. Todd Godwin take the job for the remaining months of Giddens' term. Godwin is also seeking election.

Marks said he wanted to "dispel the rumors and put them to rest" regarding job security when he is elected sheriff. Everyone who works at the sheriff's office will still have a job, he said.

"I want to make it so you can feel safe going out any time of night," Marks said of his plans for the job. "To do that you have to be proactive. It's time for a change. They (officers who work for the sheriff) need more support to be able to do their jobs. There needs to be more cooperation between the (police) departments from state, towns, game wardens, Virginia Marine Resources Commission and everywhere in between — sharing the information." He said the way to do that is "when something happens to make sure everybody knows what's going on and utilizing the resources that we have to pass on that information."

Marks lives in Onley with his wife, Wanda, who is the nurse at Nandua Middle School, and three children. He is a member of Chincoteague, Melfa and Onley volunteer fire companies and is active with a special needs program at Camp Occohannock.

Historic Dig Underway

Where is Francis Makemie? That is the question being asked by those searching for the founder of Presbyterianism in the United States.

The answer lies five miles west of Temperanceville and down beyond Saxis Road at the Makemie Monument Park near Sanford. The actual quest is for the cemetery where the late minister and his family are buried so the graves can be marked.

A state archeologist and local volunteers dug in marked areas around the Anderson homestead last week. They didn't find the burial site yet. But they unearthed some rusty nails, pottery pieces and animal bone. They also figured out where the graves aren't, which narrowed the field.

The three-man crew followed a map with thermal markers, carefully digging layers into the dirt. Then they dumped buckets of the earth through a sifter. After about nine inches, archeologist David Hazzard of the Virginia Department of Historical Resources determined that the particular plot was not the grave. He could tell the soil hadn't been touched "in a million years." All informally agreed the cemetery is likely closer to a wooded area on the site.

Mark Fisher, a local history buff and member of the Francis Makemie Society, helped with the sifting. He said the site is the most historical place on the Eastern Shore. In the 1960s, the original monument was vandalized, Fisher said. "They came down and shot the face of the statue." Fisher later held the lower end of the stone face, which was found on the site about three weeks ago.

In 1995, the society was formed. Members cleaned up the area. "It was a disgrace," said Fisher. "We put a priority on one thing after another."

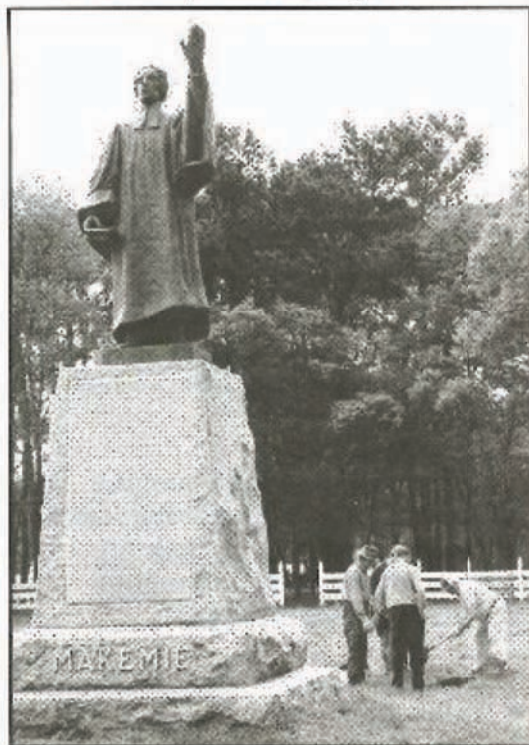

Now a fence surrounds one area and a newer statue made by the local Turner sculptors is in place. All the old appliances and trash that were dumped over the years were removed. Tables were put under the trees, providing a good place for picnics, with a breeze gently blowing away mosquitoes. Down past the fence, boy scouts and other groups go fishing.

Makemie and his wife, Naomi (who was an Anderson), moved to the site when she inherited it from her parents, Fisher said. The minister died in 1708 when he was about 50 years old. A monument of Makemie was later erected near the creek, which empties into Pocomoke Sound and was once the setting for baptisms.

Fisher remembers his mother telling him that the original monument was put up in 1908 when she was 8 years old. A ceremony was held and she attended with about 2,500 others.

Fisher pays tribute to Makemie as "a man who never got his just for what he did for this country."

At left, a state archeologist and his volunteer helpers (members of the Francis Makemie Society) dig in marked areas near the Makemie monument in search of the graveyard where the minister who founded Presbyterianism in the United States and his family are buried.

Accomack Circuit Court

By Linda Cicaira

A Maryland man was sentenced last week in Accomack Circuit Court to 15 years in prison for setting fire to his girlfriend's house in New Church.

All but six years of that term was suspended for Anthony Schoolfield, 27, of Market Street in Snow Hill, according to court records. The incident occurred on Oct. 21, 2009, at 29313 Tyler Dr. Schoolfield told police that he set the fire because he and his friend were having "relationship problems." He said he set the fire with a "match" and "a piece of paper" in the "hallway near the back door."

Schoolfield also was given a two-year suspended sentence for obtaining money under false pretenses involving four checks in December 2009.

He was sentenced to a year on each of five counts of making threatening text messages and 12 months each on two counts of making false reports to police. All of those terms were suspended.

Pierre Antonio Justice, 31, of Smith Lane in Temperanceville was sentenced for possession of cocaine to 12 months, with all but 30 days suspended. He also was given five years for possession of a firearm while in possession of cocaine. The incident occurred on Oct. 25, 2002. The initial finding of guilt was overturned on appeal. According to court records, Justice pleaded guilty in a plea agreement in the new trial. Justice already served his sentence, which was the same as the first time.

In other cases:

• William Somers Bloxom, 71, of Bennett Street in Parksley was given a 12-month suspended sentence for felony shoplifting at Dollar General Store in Parksley on June 15, 2009.

• Robbie Harris Jr., 21, of Saxis Road in Temperanceville was convicted of the Sept. 5 robbery of Vernon West. A presentence report was ordered. Harris was remanded to jail.

• Angela Marie Rivera, 42, of Pocomoke City, Md., was convicted of two counts of writing bad checks on May 5, 2010, for $577.44 to Shore Electronics in Onancock and for $1,654.69 to Meyers and Tabakin in Onley. Court records show that the checks were written on a bank account that had been closed. A presentence report was ordered. Rivera remains free on bond.

• Kimberly Dawn Kenney, 35, of Vernon Road in Wattsville was convicted of stealing a credit card on Oct 1, 2009, and of passing bad checks for $55.99 and $56.81 at Food Lion in June and July of 2010. Sentencing was deferred pending a presentence report.

• Shanikqua Menique Giddens, 19, of Virginia Avenue in Exmore was given a three-year suspended sentence for the Oct. 10, 2010, larceny of a purse and contents belonging to a Quinby resident at Nandua High School. Giddens made restitution of $235.85.

Community Notes

After many years, Historic Onley Station has gotten a new sign. The Society for the Preservation of the Onley Train Station, Inc. recently mounted a new, custom-made sign designed after the original Pennsylvania Railroad station signs that incorporated the familiar keystone. The original station sign, which was made of cast iron, has been missing for many years. This is the first of many improvements planned for the station over the next several months, such as installing a new roof, scraping and painting the exterior, and making the station handicap-accessible.

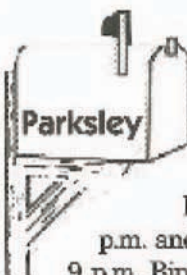

On May 28, the Town of Onley will hold its Spring Fling, featuring town-wide yard sales. SPOTS, Inc. will be at Historic Onley Station selling coffee, doughnuts, Danish, plants and vegetables, and will introduce its new program, "Play With Trains," designed to introduce children to model railroading.

The next monthly meeting of the Virginia Liberty Project will take place tonight, May 13, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Onancock.

The purpose of this study group is to discuss in depth the relevance of the U.S. Constitution to solving today's political and economic problems.

All are welcome, but an RSVP is necessary as coffee and dessert will be served.

For information, call 787-8291 or e-mail easternshorelibertyproject@gmail.com

Shore Lifesavers' "I heart Mom" bingo will be held at Parksley Volunteer Firehouse, Thursday, May 19.

Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. and the last game will be at 9 p.m. Bingo cards are $1 each. All moms will receive their first card free. Refreshments will be sold and there will be a cake raffle. This month's caller is Onancock Police Officer Keith Greer. Proceeds will benefit the American Cancer Society.

Upcoming Town Meetings

Announcements

Daniyah Ny'Shae Nock
 5/10/2003-5/29/2009
 Happy 8th Birthday

our precious and dearest love. We miss you more & more as we feel your presence streaming down from above. Our God picked you as one of his most precious roses, so young, tender & new. Though many other roses were available, for our God only you would do. Blessed are you among the holy angels so far beyond the sky. And you will always live in our hearts, so to you we will never say goodbye. So Sadly Missed, Daddy-Daniel, Jr., Sisters-Danaisha and Jymirah, Brother-Daniel III, Grandpop and Grandma, Daniel Sr. and Joanna, and Aunt Keta.

Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to enforce the lien of the Plaintiff for delinquent taxes against certain real estate described as follows:

All that parcel of land adjacent to the Town of Wachapreague, Accomack County, Virginia, known as "School House Property" and designated as parcel no. 113A0A000005700.

standing in the name of Ruth M. Watkinson, pursuant to Section 58.1-3967 of the Code of Virginia.

And an affidavit having been filed that due diligence has been used to ascertain the location of all of the heirs, devisees and successors in title of Jennie S. Young, that due diligence has been used to determine whether Ruth M. Watkinson is living, or if deceased, to ascertain the names and location of all of her heirs, devisees and successors in title; that there are or may be other persons having an interest in the real estate forming the subject matter of this suit, whose names and post office addresses are unknown, namely, the unknown heirs, devisees and successors in title of Ruth M. Watkinson and Jennie S. Young; and that due diligence has been used to ascertain the location of W. H. Richardson, whose last known post office address is P.O. Box 21, Wachapreague, VA 23480.

It is ORDERED that this Order be published once a week for two successive weeks in the Eastern Shore Post and that the parties named herein appear on or before May 30, 2011, at 12:00 p.m. in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court for the County of Accomack, Virginia, and do what may be necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS (RFQ)

Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc. (ESRHS) of Nassawadox, Virginia, a federally qualified community health center organization located on Virginia's Eastern Shore, is requesting interested General Contractors to submit qualifications for Approval to Bid on the construction of the new Atlantic Community Health Center in Oak Hall, Virginia. Pre-qualification is required in order to submit a bid. The facility is undergoing final design now and is anticipated to be ready for bidding in late Summer 2011.

The planned facility is a 19,800 square foot single story medical office building which will house exam rooms for multiple medical and dental providers, administrative offices, reception and waiting rooms, laboratory and X-Ray rooms, procedure rooms, and related staff and support areas.

Responder shall be licensed as a general contractor in the State of Virginia, and shall present demonstrated evidence of ability, qualifications and experience in successfully completing one or more construction projects within the last five (5) years, of similar size, type and complexity as the proposed new Atlantic Community Health Center.

Requests for a copy of the detailed RFQ shall be made in writing, via mail, email or facsimile to Michael D. McArthur AIA at:

George, Miles & Buhr LLC
206 West Main Street
Salisbury, MD 21801
410-742-3115
Fax 410-548-5790
mmcarthur@ymbnet.com

ESRHS will review, evaluate and determine a list of those firms that, in its opinion, are qualified and therefore approved to submit bids for the construction of this project. This Request for Qualifications (RFQ) shall not be construed as intent on the part of ESRHS to establish a minimum or maximum number of pre-qualified general contractors approved to bid on this contract.

Pre-qualified bidders shall be notified by mail.

The right is reserved, as in the interests of Eastern Shore Rural Health System, Inc. may appear, to reject any and all qualifications proposals, to waive any formality in qualifications proposals received, and to accept or reject any or all proposals received.

VIRGINIA: IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF ACCOMACK

THE COUNTY OF ACCOMACK COUNTY, VIRGINIA

Plaintiff
CIVIL CASE
NO. 11CL206

vs.
The heirs and devisees of
LIZZIE ANDERSON

VANISSA LOCKLEAR
TOWN OF ONANCOCK, VIRGINIA

Defendants

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to enforce the lien of the Plaintiff for delinquent taxes against certain real estate described as follows:

All that parcel of land in the Town of Onancock, Accomack County, Virginia, bounded North by the run of the branch; East by Thomas A. Northam heirs; South by a certain road and West by John Edwards and designated as parcel no. 085A2A000034600.

standing in the name of Booker Anderson and Lizzie Anderson, pursuant to Section 58.1-3967 of the Code of Virginia.

And an affidavit having been filed that due diligence has been used to determine whether Booker Anderson is living, or if deceased, to ascertain the names and location of all of his heirs, devisees and successors in title; that due diligence has been used to ascertain the names and location of all of the heirs, devisees and successors in title of Lizzie Anderson; that there are or may be other persons having an interest in the real estate forming the subject matter of this suit, whose names and post office addresses are unknown, namely, the unknown heirs, devisees and successors in title of Booker Anderson and Lizzie Anderson; and that due diligence has been used to ascertain the location of Vanessa Locklear, whose last known post office address is P. O. Box 648, Accomack, VA 23301.

It is ORDERED that this Order be published once a week for two successive weeks in the Eastern Shore Post and that the parties named herein appear on or before June 13, 2011, at 10:30 a.m. in the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court for the County of Accomack, Virginia, and do what may be necessary to protect their interests in this suit.

By Linda Cicaira

When Friday the 13th rolls around, I usually hide. Something tends to block my forge-ahead attitude. But I've decided to move ahead this year and ignore the superstition of today.

There are other things to contemplate. Like did you know that it's been 41 years since the Beatles album, "Let It Be," was released? All the face cream in the world won't change that. And neither will a black cat or a hat in a chair.

Oh sure, this month also marks the opening of the Empire State Building in 1931, Margaret Mitchell winning the Pulitzer Prize in 1937 for "Gone With the Wind," and Capt. John Smith landing in Jamestown in 1607. But I wasn't around for those events (believe it or not).

I do, however, remember when Elvis Presley married Priscilla Beaulieu in Las Vegas. It was May 1, 1967. I was also around when Margaret Thatcher was chosen to become Britain's first female prime minister on May 3, 1979. That was right around my last day of college, 32 years ago.

I also recall when the 45th governor of Alabama, George Wallace, was shot and wounded in 1972. I was in kindergarten when President John F. Kennedy was killed and it still gives me chills to think about the hush that fell over my school when the news broke out. My mother cried, which was far more painful to see than any ole bad-luck day on the calendar.

So many other things have happened since then. They all seem to make Friday the 13th seem a bit mundane. Three of my four parents are dead. Those blows could knock any lightning strike back to the sky — though I was pretty lucky to have so many and one still kicking.

I also remember when Robert Kennedy was shot. It was June 5, 1968. A boy in my class was so upset that he brought a transistor radio to school so he could keep up with the event during recess.

I also remember when the first legal casino opened in Atlantic City, N.J., in 1978. As a matter of fact, I went up there as soon as I could to lose some money. I went to the more recent opening in Ocean City, Md., too. I'll think about that the next time I insist on going out the same door I came in. I lost there too.

But I wasn't carrying my lucky coin.

*"And when the night is cloudy,
There is still a light that shines on me, Shine on until tomorrow, let it be."*
