Daniel Tarr Coast Guard Cutter Commissioned in Galveston, Texas

Left: Coast Guard Surfman Daniel James Tarr Jr. — who died in 2007 at age 89 — has a Coast Guard fast response cutter commissioned in his name today, Jan. 10. Tarr was awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action as a coxswain on Aug. 7, 1942, during a landing on Tulagi in the Solomon Islands in the first wave of a major U. S. assault.

A World War II hero from Chincoteague has a new Coast Guard cutter named after him.

The USCGC Daniel Tarr will be commissioned Jan. 10 in Galveston, Texas, after the Coast Guard accepted delivery of the vessel in Key West, Fla., in November.

The ship, which will be homeported in Galveston, is the Coast Guard's 36th Sentinel-class fast response cutter, according to a press release from Bollinger Shipyards of Lockport, La., where it was built.

"I'm very proud to have this honor bestowed upon my father," said Tarr's son, Daniel Tarr III, who lives in Laurel, Del.

Numerous members of Tarr's family, including three generations of Daniel Tarrs, plan to attend the commissioning ceremony.

The 154-foot cutter has a flank speed of 28 knots, state-of-the-art technology, and a stern launch system for a 26-foot cutter boat, according to the release.

The cutters are replacing 1980s-era patrol boats, according to the Coast Guard.

Each is named for an enlisted Coast Guard hero who distinguished himself in the line of duty, according to the Coast Guard, which has ordered 56.

7, 1942, during a landing on Tulagi in the Solomon Islands in the first wave of a major U. S. assault.

Tarr and three other coxswains from the McKean were the first enlisted men in the Coast Guard awarded the Silver Star.

His son was born in 1956, well after the war ended, and was in college before the elder Tarr talked to him about his war experiences.

"He asked me, 'Did you know my name is in a book?'" Tarr said.

Then he pulled a thick volume off the bookshelf, entitled "The U. S. Coast Guard During World War II."

In a chapter on the Solomon Islands, the authors described Tarr's heroic actions.

Tarr and three other coxswains — William Sparling and Harold Miller of Michigan and Glenn Harris of North Carolina — landed the first group of the Marine Corps' Raider Battalion on the beaches at Tulagi, and then made repeated trips over three days to land equipment, troops, ammunition, and supplies, according to the citation listed on the Hall of Valor Project website, <https://valor.militarytimes.com/hero/33975>

Chincoteague Joins Growing List of Second Amendment Sanctuaries

In unanimous vote, Chincoteague approves resolution making town a Second Amendment sanctuary

By Carol Vaughn

The Chincoteague Town Council on Monday unanimously approved a resolution naming the town a Second Amendment sanctuary, with a crowd of around 80 gun rights supporters looking on.

The town joins 125 Virginia localities that have passed gun-related resolutions since the November election, according to the Virginia Citizens Defense League, a nonprofit organization that advocates for gun rights.

That number includes the town of Exmore and Accomack and Northampton counties — although both counties stopped short of using the word “sanctuary” in their resolutions and of declaring public funds will not be used to enforce state gun-control laws.

Democrats won majorities in both the House of Delegates and the Senate in the election, increasing the likelihood of restrictive gun laws being passed in the 2020 General Assembly session. Bills include SB16, which would expand the definition of an assault firearm, among other measures.

Former Chincoteague Police Chief Eddie Lewis, now on town council, made the motion to approve a resolution including the word “sanctuary.”

It was seconded by Councilman Gene Wayne Taylor, who read aloud the resolution — which declares Chincoteague a Second Amendment sanctuary and says, in part, that the town council “expresses its intent that public funds of the town not be used to restrict the Second Amendment rights of the citizens of Chincoteague, or to aid federal or state agencies in the restriction of such rights.”

Additionally, the resolution declares the council’s intent “to oppose any infringement on the right of law-abiding citizens to keep and bear arms, using such legal means as may be expedient, including, without limitation, court action.”

Mayor J. Arthur Leonard said he got his first shotgun for a Christmas present at age 12.

“But with that shotgun came responsibility. ... Unfortunately in today’s political climate, we are going down a bad road. ... We are going down to our least common denominator; we are starting to be in gangs — you are either a ‘red’ or a ‘blue.’ It’s not red or blue — It’s red, white, and blue,” he said, adding, “...We as Americans need to get to the bottom of the issue. The bottom of the issue is not the guns; it’s the people behind the guns.”

Leonard went on to say, “I want the folks in Richmond to know that we do not support anything that tries to prevent us from our Second Amendment rights. Whether that’s what Accomack did or what we are proposing tonight, I just want somebody to send Richmond a message that, ‘Hey, we out here on the fringes of your state do not like what you are doing.’”

Three people spoke about the resolution during a public comment period prior to the vote. Speakers included Accomack County Supervisor Billy Joe Tarr, who said of the board of supervisors, “We are fighting with you. We want this to stop. We want to be united in it and to try to get these bills removed.”

Still, Tarr said the county’s resolution did not include the word “sanctuary,” which he said was left out “because it means absolutely nothing.”

“We do not have the authority to give anybody the right to not follow the laws,” he said.

Chincoteague residents Stewart Baker and Harold Cherrix called for the more strongly worded resolution.

“History has proven that when a government begins to take guns from citizens, those citizens do not fare well,” Cherrix said, adding, “...Everyone knows that SB 16 and SB 64, currently before the state legislators, are the direct result of a Bloomberg-bought-and-paid-for Virginia legislature, with the intent to introduce a gun ban and confiscation of firearms.”

SB 64 would make unlawful paramilitary activity punishable as a Class 5 felony. Baker also urged the council to designate the town a Second Amendment sanctuary.

“I’m making this request for many reasons,” he said — including to ensure that the right to bear arms is not infringed, “to continue our Chincoteague and Eastern Shore way of life as a rich waterfowl and wildlife hunting area,” to continue to be able to teach young people gun safety, and to be able to protect the community if the needs arises.

A spokeswoman for Attorney General Mark Herring said the resolutions “appear to be nothing more than symbolic since no new gun laws have passed or even been considered yet.”

“It’s not clear what second amendment sanctuary is, what its proponents are hoping to accomplish, or what authority they think they have to preemptively opt out of gun safety laws, but if the Virginia Citizens Defense League is circulating it you can bet it’s a bad idea,” said Charlotte P. L. Gomer, press secretary for the Office of the Attorney General, in an email to the Post.

Ellis Resigns; Bott Appointed

Vice Mayor Ben Ellis resigned his position on the town council in December because he is moving out of town. At the Jan. 6 meeting, the council voted 3-2 to appoint Chris Bott to fill the seat until town elections are held in May. Ray Rosenburger was the other person nominated for the seat.

Mayor J. Arthur Leonard appointed Councilwoman Denise Bowden to serve as vice mayor.

"The first day, he made five trips with Marines...and didn't sustain any losses," his son said.

The Marines captured the island after three days of fighting.

Tarr also made another landing against a Japanese force at Taivu Point, Guadalcanal, on Sept. 8, according to the citation.

The Navy chose experienced surfmen from the Coast Guard to operate landing craft on board its fast attack transports because of the men's skills at operating small boats, according to historian William H. Thiesen, who wrote about Tarr in a blogpost at <https://coastguard.dodlive.mil/2018/08/tlbl-tulagis-coxswains-silver-star-recipient/>

Tarr enlisted as a surfman and later became coxswain of the McKean's Boat Number 1.

Coxswains on the landing craft, known as Higgins Boats, were dangerously exposed to enemy fire, according to Thiesen.

Tulagi, the capital of the southern Solomon Islands, was the war's "first true test of U. S. amphibious forces against entrenched enemy forces," after the Japanese occupied the island in May 1942 with 800 troops, using it as a seaplane base, according to Theisen.

Like many others of his generation who served in the war, Tarr did not brag about his exploits.

"He only showed me his medals one time," his son said.

Most of the details Tarr learned about his father's wartime exploits came through a project his son, Daniel Tarr IV, was assigned in high school — to interview someone about World War II.

"I sat down and listened to the (recorded) interview, and learned a lot," Tarr said.

Among the stories he learned was one about the Tulagi assault.

"He said after they had gained a foothold there on Tulagi, they were still drawing some heavy fire from the Japanese at a particular spot, and they didn't know exactly where the machine gun fire was coming from. So my dad was sent with another boatload of Marines to try to root out this...nest of machine gunners.

"They went in very silently; he said you could barely hear the engine running on the boat...They ended up landing the vessel only 15 feet from where these Japanese were," Tarr said.

Tarr Jr. went on to have a 26-year career in the Coast Guard —including stints in Ocean City and at the Little Machipongo station, offshore from Quinby.

After that, Tarr graduated from the University of Maryland Eastern Shore and had a second career as an agricultural extension agent in Maryland, including being responsible for organizing and supporting 4-H clubs.

When he thinks about his father, it is a saying from that part of his life that Tarr said sums up the way his father lived: "He pretty much lived his life by the 4-H motto... 'To make the best better.'"

Whereas, the Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Company, by unanimous vote accepted Brianna Merritt as an honorary Member of the company, posthumously;

Another Wedding Venue Draws Opposition in Northampton

Owners of a proposed Northampton wedding venue, similar to one approved in July, asked for their request to be tabled to give them time to work out differences with neighbors who opposed the plan

By Stefanie Jackson

Northampton supervisors will soon be faced with a decision to permit another new wedding venue in the county, months after they approved one for John and Linda Cleaveland in spite of mass opposition from neighbors.

“We feel that the addition of our wedding venue will only enhance the reputation of the area by bringing to the attention of the wedding participants and their guests the beauty of the county,” Carolyn Chapman wrote in a letter accompanying the zoning application.

As a representative of Tidewater Realty, in Norfolk, Va., she submitted a major special-use permit application in December for a wedding and event venue at Huntington Farm, on Cherrystone Road, near Cheriton.

The real-estate company is a family-owned business run by five sisters who inherited Huntington Farm from their father.

The farm occupies 14 acres in an agricultural-rural business zone and has a water view, like the Cleavelands’ 65-acre property near Franktown, which was granted permission in July for use as a wedding venue.

The Cleavelands were permitted to host up to 200 guests per event on their property. Tidewater Realty requested permission for up to 270 guests per event.

The application proposed allowing music to be played at events until 10 p.m., in accordance with Northampton County’s noise ordinance. Each event would last until 11 p.m. or midnight, the application stated.

An event tent no larger than the 30 feet wide and 40 feet long could be used onsite, it added.

Cathy Plant, of the Virginia Department of Health, said VDH would approve the use of portable toilets with hand-washing sinks, provided the use is temporary.

The bathroom in the 4,000-square-foot, two-story home on the property could be used only by the wedding party, and the kitchen could be used by caterers to store food and keep it warm, but not to prepare it, she added.

Other buildings on the property that contribute to its agricultural and rural character include a goat shed, corn bin, and smokehouse. There is also a private cemetery.

In a staff report, Northampton Planner Kelley Lewis Parks asserted the proposed use is consistent with the county comprehensive plan, which allows certain “non-agricultural low-impact uses” in agricultural-rural zones, like nature-based tourism.

Her biggest concern appeared to be noise that could disturb neighbors. “The location of the use is in close proximity to a residential area. Appropriate sound barriers should be installed or used temporarily for each event,” she wrote.

Tidewater Realty stated it would “require the tents to face the water, thus, using the back of the tent for a sound barrier.”

Another similarity to the Cleaveland case was the strong opposition of neighbors, who spoke out against the proposed event venue at a public hearing held by the Northampton County Planning Commission Jan. 7.

The neighbor nearest to Huntington Farm, Chris Buck, took issue with a conversation he had with one of the farm’s owners, Catherine Fulton, about six weeks ago. During the 30-minute conversation, she never mentioned an event venue, he said.

His wife, Jennifer Buck, said the farm is only 450 feet away from their home, “if you’re being generous.” Two other wedding venues in Northampton County, Elkington Events, in Eastville, and Mimosa Farm, near Cheriton, each are about a half-mile from the nearest neighbor, she said.

She is “adamantly opposed” to an event venue in the neighborhood, where 15 homes are occupied by five children and 25 adults, ages five to 99.

Chris Buck was concerned that noise from the venue would prevent his children from falling asleep after their 8 p.m. bedtime.

When drivers approach the farm at night and use the short driveway instead of the long driveway, their headlights shine directly into the couple's bedroom window, he added.

Cherrystone Road is high, narrow, bumpy, and unsafe for use by multiple drivers unfamiliar with the area, Buck said.

Huntington and Mimosa farms are near one another and could cause "traffic confusion" if events are held at both venues simultaneously, he continued.

The road conditions are a "recipe for disaster. Add alcohol to the equation and I think that ... speaks for itself," Buck said.

The Bucks were not the only neighbors to speak out. Frank Lusk, Michael Wells, and Ray Wood were also concerned about noise and road safety issues.

"I just don't think this is the right place for this venue," Lusk said.

Kate Tayloe, of Robin Road, near Cheriton, called living near an event venue "horrible" and "ridiculous."

Her family has been disturbed by noise from weddings at nearby Mimosa Farm and next door at Salt Grove, she said. The music was so loud the family could feel the vibrations of the noise, and the kids couldn't sleep.

The Tayloes also have had unwanted interactions with wedding guests.

"My family was on the porch one day, and in broad daylight, we had one of the guests change her purple thong (undergarment) into something more comfortable.

"And this is the kind of behavior that just kind of rolls along with weddings," Tayloe said.

It's "not fun on Saturday nights."

The events are happening more frequently – about every other weekend for six to eight months a year.

Kate Tayloe's husband, Thornton Tayloe, said Mimosa Farm has "carte blanche" to host any number of events and guests, because it was permitted to host events as a conference and retreat center when Northampton's zoning ordinances were less restrictive.

Northampton's current noise ordinance is unenforceable by police, and the county's administration office is closed on Saturdays, Kate Tayloe pointed out.

The Tayloes said they had received a letter from the county telling them to file a lawsuit against the event venue or stop complaining about the noise.

Commissioner Janet Sturgis said the planning commission is working on a new noise ordinance that will be enforceable by the sheriff's office, and no one would be exempt.

Fulton seemed surprised by the opposition voiced during the public hearing and apologized to her neighbors.

She requested a delay in the planning commission's decision to allow time to talk to her neighbors and work out their issues with the event venue.

The planning commission voted unanimously to table the matter until its next regular meeting Feb. 4.

Commissioner Sarah Morgan commended Fulton and her family for their willingness to find "common ground" with their neighbors. "It often doesn't happen that way."

"It's the first time I've seen it," Commissioner Andrew Follmer remarked.

Northampton supervisors may proceed with a public hearing scheduled for Jan. 14, but they will not vote on the matter before they receive the planning commission's recommendation.

Accomack Farmer Recognized for Soil and Water Conservation Work

Staff Report

An Accomack County farmer was awarded the Virginia Clean Water Farm Grand Basin Award at a ceremony in Norfolk in December.

David Rew of Rew Farms Inc. was nominated by the Eastern Shore Soil and Water Conservation District.

The award was one of ten presented during the annual meeting of the Virginia Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

The awards, sponsored by the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation in partnership with Virginia's 47 soil and water conservation districts, are presented each year to farmers or farm owners who are doing exceptional work to protect soil and water resources.

One winner is chosen from each of Virginia's 10 major river basins.

Rew, a native of Onley, grew up helping his uncle on a 600-acre farm, according to the award program.

He took ownership of the farm in the 1980s and grew it into a 3,500-acre operation.

He manages the entire acreage with conservation-tillage methods. High levels of crop residue are left on fields, including wheat residue, which he does not bale in order to maintain high biomass and nutrients in the straw.

Each year, more than 700 acres of soybean, oats and barley cover are incorporated into his operation to add soil carbon, reduce nitrogen loss, and prevent erosion.

Rew participates regularly in state and federal conservation programs, and he recently planted five acres of pollinator habitat — a portion of the area is being monitored as part of a Natural Resources Conservation Service study on plant salt resistance and tolerance.

"These farms represent the best in conservation farming in Virginia," said Clyde E. Cristman, Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation director, in a press release.

"Virginia's soil and water conservation districts are honored to work with these producers who have made long-term commitments to practices that protect Virginia's natural resources," said Kendall Tyree, executive director of the Virginia Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, adding, "Through field days and other on-the-farm activities, many are also helping to educate local residents about agriculture and the environment."

Exmore Sewer Choice Could Also Affect Water Supply

Exmore is weighing sewer options and costs, but the effect of treatment on the water supply has yet to enter the equation

By Stefanie Jackson

As the Exmore town council has grappled with the decision about how it will provide residents with sewer service for decades to come, there have been many discussions about costs, but few about the possible impacts on the water supply.

Exmore is currently considering two choices: the public option, the Hampton Roads Sanitation District (HRSD), a political subdivision of the Commonwealth of Virginia, or a partnership with a private company, Aqua.

HRSD traces its earliest history as far back as 1925, when the Virginia Department of Health condemned a large shellfish area in Hampton Roads, leading to discussions about the construction and operation of a public sewer system.

The Virginia General Assembly created the Hampton Roads Sanitation District in 1940.

HRSD boasts a "rich legacy of protecting public health and the waters of Hampton Roads through effective wastewater treatment," according to its website.

Its vision is that "future generations will inherit clean waterways and be able to keep them clean."

HRSD has a new project called the Sustainable Water Initiative for Tomorrow (SWIFT).

Before the SWIFT project began, much of HRSD's treated wastewater was discharged into the Elizabeth, James, or York rivers.

Now HRSD sends one million gallons of water per day through additional rounds of treatment at its SWIFT facility, in Suffolk, Va., resulting in a product that meets drinking water quality standards and can be returned to the Potomac aquifer, Hampton Road's primary source of groundwater.

The Eastern Shore of Virginia depends on a sole-source aquifer for fresh water, since it's surrounded by the Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic Ocean, and it has little to no freshwater streams, rivers, or lakes.

The sole-source aquifer actually consists of two aquifers: the shallow Columbia aquifer and the deep Yorktown aquifer.

But HRSD has no immediate plans to recharge the Eastern Shore aquifer.

HRSD would take over ownership and operation of the Onancock wastewater treatment facility, which has excess capacity, and serve Nassawadox, Exmore, Melfa, and part of Accomac, in addition to Onancock.

HRSD representatives have confirmed the treated wastewater would continue to be discharged to Onancock Creek.

Aqua would recharge the Columbia aquifer using rapid infiltration basin technology (RIB).

The technology is referenced in Aqua's proposal to Exmore, which was received by Town Manager Robert Duer Dec. 20: "Aqua will perform hydraulic testing of the RIB area and make application for the RIB permit."

The permitting agency is the Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ).

It would not be the first time Aqua took over a wastewater treatment plant or implemented RIB technology on the Eastern Shore.

The company acquired both the water and sewer systems at Captains Cove, in upper Accomack County, in December 2015, and the RIB technology is used there.

"Aqua Virginia's Captains Cove wastewater plant discharges to a rapid infiltration basin (RIB) which is permitted under DEQ's Virginia Pollution Abatement (VPA) program," Aqua Virginia Corporate Development Director Clifton Parker wrote in a Dec. 20 letter.

Rapid infiltration basins "mimic rain falling on the ground" and recharge the upper aquifer, Parker explained.

According to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, (EPA) rapid infiltration is a "simple and low-cost wastewater treatment concept that has been used for more than 100 years."

There are more than 350 rapid infiltration systems operating in the U.S.

Rapid infiltration systems use gravity to allow wastewater to filter through

Kaine and Warner Announce Spaceport Marine Support Grant

The almost $100,000 grant will be used to build a dock and ramp at the spaceport for barges and research vessels

By Carol Vaughn

The Mid-Atlantic Regional Spaceport at Wallops Island will benefit from a $96,425 federal grant to support the loading and unloading of barges and research vessels there, according to a press release.

the soil, which is economical because no energy or chemicals are used. The systems are reliable, and many have been used for 50 years or more without issue.

Aqua has received multiple awards for its work, including the 2019 innovation award from the National Association of Water Companies, for a project that saved customers money while improving the environment by decreasing nutrient discharge to the Chesapeake Bay watershed.

Senators Mark Warner and Tim Kaine on Tuesday announced the grant award from the Department of Transportation through the Maritime Administration's Marine Highway grant program.

"We are glad to see these federal dollars go towards helping equip MARS with the resources it needs to continue to carry out important operations and research. We have no doubt that with this funding, this facility will continue to help boost our nation's competitiveness in aeronautics," Warner and Kaine said, according to the release.

The money will be used to design a 520-by-30-foot access trestle and combination dock and ramp, and for engineering and consulting services for integration of the MARS port with the unmanned aerial systems runway on the north end of Wallops Island.

The U. S. Maritime Administration "should be applauded for leaning forward, uniquely leveraging funds to enhance the M-95 highway by embracing Virginia's Spaceport and its vision to become a truly intermodal hub with access via land, space, air, and now sea," said Virginia Space Chief Executive Officer and Executive Director Dale Nash.

The Maritime Administration is the federal agency responsible for America's waterborne transportation system, including Marine Highways — navigable waterways designated by the Secretary of Transportation that "have demonstrated the ability to provide additional capacity to relieve congested landside routes serving freight and passenger movement," according to the agency website.

M-95 is one such waterway, going from Maine to Florida and designated as the shipping lane along the Atlantic Coast paralleling interstate highway I-95.

The award was part of more than $7.5 million in grants to nine marine highway projects announced Monday by the agency.

"The America's Marine Highway Program is dedicated to expanding the use of our inland waterways for freight movement," said Mark H. Buzby, maritime administrator, adding that the grants will be used to continue that expansion and to ensure waterways are used effectively, according to a press release from the agency.

Another Virginia project, the James River Expansion Project, was awarded nearly $190,000, which will be used to purchase equipment to help the Richmond Marine Terminal provide more efficient barge service, according to the release.

Warner and Kaine also helped secure $20 million for NASA Wallops Flight Facility to pay for repairs after an Antares rocket exploded shortly after launch, damaging the MARS launch pad in 2014.

Accomack Wants More Workforce Housing

Officials, concerned about housing for teachers, expand mission of local housing authority to include affordable workforce housing

By Carol Vaughn

Accomack officials directed a regional housing group to expand its mission to include looking for ways to provide more affordable housing for members of the workforce.

“New teachers are having trouble finding affordable housing on the Shore,” said Accomack County Administrator Michael Mason.

Mason also is one of two members appointed by Accomack County to the Accomack-Northampton Regional Housing Authority.

“That authority has been, historically, tasked with providing affordable housing options for folks here on the Eastern Shore,” Mason said.

The authority owns and manages six affordable housing communities in Accomack and Northampton counties, and also manages the housing credits voucher program in the region — both mainly directed at helping low-income residents.

“One of the things that has come up in priority-setting meetings held recently is that there is another need out there that historically the regional housing authority has not been involved in — and that’s the need for affordable workforce housing,” Mason told the Accomack County Board of Supervisors at its December meeting.

New teachers moving to the Shore are among working people who are having trouble finding housing they can afford, he said.

The housing authority has “a unique perspective...to try to come up with some different priorities that can maybe address some of that need,” Mason said.

The board unanimously voted to direct the housing authority to expand its mission to include workforce housing.

“In my mind, there is a distinction between low-income housing and...workforce, for lack of a better term,” said Supervisor Reneta Major, who made the motion.

“If we are trying to attract new teachers, young professionals, to the county, we need housing,” she said.

Major noted another Virginia locality that has developed a mixed-use community targeted at filling the need for workforce housing.

Supervisor Ron Wolff seconded the motion.

“New teacher housing would be very, very important,” in particular in the northern part of Accomack County, he said, noting that in the past, teachers often have moved from Accomack to neighboring Maryland counties.

“If there was any input that I could give you to go back to the housing authority, a look in the northern part of the county would certainly be a welcome place to start,” Wolff said.

Mason said the need for affordable housing extends beyond teachers.

“We are really dealing with young professionals who come over here and are just challenged by finding housing that they can afford,” he said.

Lady Warriors Rebounding

1/3/20 - GIRLS BASKETBALL
LANCASTER 40
NANDUA 3

By Brennan Waldorf

Eight games into the season and the Lady Warriors have already matched their total wins from last season, with a win over Arcadia in Oak Hall back in December. Both the Lady Warriors and Arcadia are currently in the rebuilding stages as they seek to return to glory that they once were. This season will be a true testament of the Warriors' growth and patience in the game as they look to improve and develop their skills and knowledge daily.

The Warrior program will rise from the ashes but not without the necessary steps needed to ascend the program to the top. Head coach Lynn Williams took over the program last year and with his presence on the court came a tradition of winning. The second-year coach is not new to success. Williams was an assistant coach for a boys basketball team that captured three regional titles and back-to-back state championships in 2002-03. He has recently been more known for his winning ways on the softball field, capturing 11 consecutive district titles and 13 total over his 22 years of coaching.

The Warriors will look to pivot all season and must be crafty and hungry when it comes to scoring. This year's team features several new faces with multiple freshmen getting lots of minutes. The young squad has only four returning players from last season and lost all its starters, including leading scorer Cassidy Jones, to graduation. The team also took a blow when Hayley Nalls was injured in the game against Northampton earlier this season. The departure of Jones and loss of Nalls will pave the way for seniors Keyaughtey Clayton and sophomore Sarah Taylor to step up and lead the Warriors.

"Last year we had some seniors step up and a good JV team allowed for a lot of player development," Williams said of last year.

Williams knows that the team has a long way to go in all aspects of the game and daily improvements rather than game outcomes will be the key to success. "We're a blank page, the scoreboard will not determine the success of the season," said Williams.

This year's team playing style so far has been scrappy and patient. During games, Williams emphasizes protecting the ball on offense and getting back on defense. The Warriors will continue to improve throughout the season as the upperclassmen polish their fundamentals and the underclassmen establish themselves in the game.

Their improvements will be minor to the untrained eye, but the Warriors have already made great strides this season. Earlier this year they were beat by the Red Devils 70-10 on the road but at home last Friday, Jan. 3, they cut their opponents scoring almost in half.

The young squad features several athletes who are completely new to the sport, after following Williams from the diamond, and were much more physical on defense. They pressed and got back with guidance from their coach and reduced their fouls greatly. Scoring was low due to shots not falling but the Warriors were able to find open shooters throughout the game. Their offense will increase throughout the season as the players gain confidence, but they'll need some support to do so. Like all programs in the beginning stages, community support and fans attending games are crucial to success. They'll be back in action this Saturday, Jan. 11, as they travel to Northumberland for a 1:30 p.m. tipoff.

Jackets Soar Higher Than Firebirds

1/7/20 - GIRLS BASKETBALL
NORTHAMPTON 64
ARCADIA 21

By Matthew Yoder

A total team effort down Northampton's depth contributed to a convincing 64-21 win on the road Tuesday night against Arcadia.

The Yellow Jackets built an impressive lead with their starting five. Brianna Bochman expertly directed a cross-court pass to teammate Maeyanna Delk for a layup, and Northampton was off and running. From there, the Yellow Jackets controlled all facets of the game. Delk grabbed a defensive rebound and ran the court for a layup. Bochman then stepped back for an uncontested 3, drawing only net. Delk followed with an assertion of will, scoring at ease on drives through the paints or by layups on the fast break. There were no answers for Delk's play, as she scored 10 points in the first three and a half minutes of the game.

Arcadia's Tiana Bagwell stopped Northampton's 13-0 run to open the game, after a strong putback in the post. Bagwell added another score off a broken play, but the quarter was a runaway for the Yellow Jackets. Delk finished the quarter with 13 points, and her team opened with a 22-5 lead.

The second quarter saw much of the same. Jada Giddens controlled the defensive side for Northampton, grabbing rebounds that led to one of the team's strengths in their transition play. Giddens was equally strong grabbing offensive boards and converting on putbacks.

Omarianna Reed connected on a jump shot for the Firebirds, who despite being overmatched, never signaled they would play timid. Arcadia remained aggressive, drawing fouls, but failed to capitalize on

The Ponies Take a Ride Through Holly Grove

1/6/20 - GIRLS BASKETBALL
CHINCOTEAGUE 28
HOLLY GROVE 20

By Matthew Yoder

Chincoteague set an imposing tone on defense early, helping to secure a win on the road Monday night against Holly Grove.

Less than two minutes into the game, Holly Grove's Mackenzie Schaffer spotted up for a jumper, only to be blocked by Caroline Shelley of Chincoteague. The force jarred Schaffer's shoulder and sent her to the court in agony. The crowd went silent, and the game was delayed more than 30 minutes until paramedics showed to cart Schaffer off.

When the teams returned to action, the game was slow to take shape.

Chincoteague's offense struggled to find its identity and stalled into timid play with a lot of passing behind the arc. Early on, the Ponies failed to take advantage of their height.

The Eagles' Kirstyn Hubbs, who was inserted after Schaffer's injury, opened the scoring with a baseline jump shot, and was followed by teammate Brittany Snyder in similar fashion.

Despite the slow start, the Ponies still managed to grab a 5-4 lead at the end of the first quarter, following a layup from Lexi Marshall on a great outlet pass from Alanna Hall.

The Ponies began to capitalize on better scoring opportunities in the second quarter and applied their size advantage and defense to stretch the game in their favor. Emma Jackson scored on a putback from an offensive rebound. Shelley then aggressively drove to the basket and scored, taking heed of the words of coach Jimmy Bloxom.

"You're bigger, you're faster, why not take advantage, if you're standing still, you're wrong," Bloxom said.

The Ponies defensive activity was much more consistent all evening. Alanna Hall disrupted the Eagles' passing game, stepping into steals, leading to fast break layups and fouls. Hall finished the game with 10 steals. As a team, the Ponies registered 24 steals.

Holly Grove managed to keep the game close at halftime, despite a long scoring drought in the second quarter. Late buckets by Alysa Mackley and Cassidie Bramble helped salvage the quarter for the Eagles, and the game was 14-8 at the half.

Holly Grove inched closer in the third quarter after a pair of jump shots from Hubbs. Bloxom responded to Hubbs' proficiency by instituting a triangle-and-two approach on defense, eliminating what was becoming the Eagles' strength in the game.

The Ponies defense operated well, with Jackson emphatically blocking shots and Hall continuing to jam the midcourt.

On offense, Hall made a nice shot cutting through defenders and Brianna Hess scored off a loose ball to give the Ponies a 23-14 lead headed into the final quarter.

Chincoteague stretched the lead early in the fourth quarter, then held on as Holly Grove remained competitive until the final whistle. The Eagles' roster is largely made up of ninth and 10th graders, and coach Phil Parks was pleased with his team's effort, particularly after losing one of its best scorers in Schaffer.

"When that happens, you go with what you've got, it's a growing process with a young team but I'm happy with the effort," said Parks.

Chincoteague's team defense was just too much for Holly Grove. The Eagles turnover numbers were too much to overcome.

Hall led all scorers with 9 points. Shelley added 7 points, 9 rebounds, and 2 blocks, and Jackson finished with 6 points, 14 rebounds, 6 steals, and 5 blocks.

The Ponies returned to district action the following night, defeating Nandua at home, 37-24. Shelley led the way with 17 points and 14 rebounds. With the win, Chincoteague moved to 3-1 in league play and 5-2 overall. Its next game is January 10 at Middlesex.

Eastern Shore Wrestling Back in Action

1/5/20 - WRESTLING

By Brennan Waldorf

The closing of the year and the ending of the holiday break put Eastern Shore teams back on to the mat. Nandua traveled to Edenton, N.C., to participate in the Henry "Coach O" Overton wrestling duals on Jan. 5, while the Northampton Yellow Jackets traveled to Mathews, Va., to participate in the Mathews Invitational.

The Nandua Warriors are on a roll this season as they took down their second tournament of the year. The Warriors outwrestled Northeastern High School in the finals with a team score of 45-30 to claim the title. They reached the finals by taking down First Flight 51-23, Currituck County 42-39, Pasquotank County 54-28, and Tarboro 66-17. Warrior wrestlers who went undefeated on the day include Camron Mears (152), Joe Teasley (182), and Matt Taylor (120). Dylan Ross (145), David Gastelum (160), and Traevon Hickman (170) all went 4-1 at the meet.

The Yellow Jackets continued to find success on the mat against some stiff competition during the Mathews Invitational. The larger Lafayette High School won the 13-team tournament with 168 points followed by Carline with 130. Northampton landed in ninth place with two wrestlers making the podium. Aizmani Joseph (145) and Crescencio Sugia (285) both went 3-1 on the day claiming third place overall. Broadwater's William Wehner was also in attendance and was runner-up at 113 pounds after falling to Jacob Seale of York High School in the finals.

All teams from the Shore will be wrestling in the Northampton Fred Diem/Scott Miles Round Robin Tournament starting Jan. 10. The tournament welcomes all Northampton wrestling alumni to attend for free entry and access to the Jacket hospitality room. Any alumni who attend will be honored between rounds on Jan. 11 starting at 9 a.m.

Northampton continued to play its game and got contributions from many on the bench. While Delk continued to impress with her all-around game, players like Katie Widgeon and Takaila Stratton brought thunderous applause from the bench and stands with every made shot. Their efforts were not lost on Northampton coach, Devin Allen, who enthusiastically regarded the play of her girls.

"I'm happy with the team effort, I think everyone made a contribution," said Allen.

The Yellow Jackets entered half-time up 34, 45-11. As the lead grew, the clock sped with few stoppages and Northampton cruised to the win. While Delk posted an impressive game-high 22 points, all in the first half, it was her passing and ball handling that particularly impressed. She played tremendously composed with great maturity.

Opposing coach Casey Cordrey levied much praise on the play of Delk. "She could have scored on us whenever she wanted," said Cordrey.

Delk certainly could have done so, but played a very inclusive game. Giddens also continued to dominate, notching 10 more points in the third quarter, adding to a total of 16 for the game. Though Bochman spent much of the game in foul trouble for the Yellow Jackets, she still managed to finish with 9 points and also passed the ball very well. Freshman Widgeon added 8 points for Northampton.

The game was not a complete loss for Cordrey. He sees great improvement in his team, and says despite not managing a win to this point, enthusiasm is still rampant for the process.

"They are hustling and gaining knowledge of the game, and they are just having more confidence," Cordrey said.

Cordrey's patience shows on the faces of his young players.

"This was three steps forward, we are definitely improving," said Cordrey. Bella Williams led the Firebirds with 7 points, followed by Bagwell with 6 and Julia Rehbein with 4.

Northampton continues to assert itself as the team to beat this season on the Shore, moving its record to 5-3, but undefeated in district play.

Firebirds Shoot, Firebirds Score

1/7/20 - BOYS BASKETBALL
ARCADIA 71
NORTHAMPTON 68

By Matthew Yoder

Arcadia has become a team with a fated tendency to dig a hole for themselves, but more times than not they have also responded with great resolve. The Firebirds latest escapade into comebacks resulted in a truly classic league game to usher in the new year. A last second 3-point basket by Jaden Hope delivered a 71-68 home win Tuesday night for Arcadia against rival Northampton, keeping the Firebirds undefeated in district play.

The game was played with great speed, and even greater intensity, from the outset. The first quarter was marked by fouls, and hard ones at that. There was obviously no love lost between the teams as emotions often got the best of players on both sides. The discrepancy between fouls called in the first quarter favored Arcadia, but the Firebirds uncharacteristically failed to convert at the free-throw line. Northampton responded with strong possessions on the offensive side.

Vonte Colston played quick, but with tremendous control, for the Yellow Jackets. Colston made layups in transition, and a pair of 3-pointers in the first quarter, to help steady his team. When Jeremiah Major was inserted for Northampton, he added a low post presence and scored shortly after entering. Ahmad Scarborough kept his balance after slipping on the court, dribbling baseline for a layup to conclude the quarter. Northampton jumped to an early lead, but despite Arcadia's troubles at the line they trailed by only 5, 17-12.

Northampton began to stretch the lead early in the second quarter, and Colston remained the catalyst. Consecutive layups from Colston began to put Arcadia's defenders on notice, and Brayden Washington began to contribute with points in bunches. When Scarborough knocked down a 3, Arcadia coach Rodney Armstrong had seen enough and gathered his team for a timeout.

Kylen Wharton drives baseline to give Arcadia the lead in the fourth quarter. Photo by Matthew Yoder.

Northampton kept up the pace out of the timeout with Colston, Scarborough, and Washington all continuing to play with great skill.

The Yellow Jackets' lead swelled to 18 until Manny Williams began to reel the Firebirds back in. Williams made back-to-back layups for Arcadia and the team began to follow his lead. Even as they were failing to convert free throws out of the penalty, Arcadia remained focused and aggressive.

Kamron Downing has played the entire season with inspired intensity on both ends of the court for Arcadia and continued to impress on the evening. Late in the half, Downing dove to the court for a steal, pushing the ball one-handed to Williams who drew another Northampton foul in the fast break. Downing then stepped into a 3 for the Firebirds on their next possession. Despite a 10-point deficit at half-time, the play of Williams and Downing gave a glimpse into the Firebirds' fight and the action that ensued in the second half.

Arcadia all but erased Northampton's lead by the end of the third quarter, but the play to get to that point was truly electric and, at times, very tense. Downing pump-faked and scored at the top of the key to open the quarter, and strong defense by Williams on Colston forced a five-second call. Hope cut the Yellow Jackets' lead in half with a 3 for the Firebirds, and the crowd was very much alive, and undeniably an integral part of the overall atmosphere of what made the game a classic.

Emotions spilled over after Arcadia's Keith Grinnage was called for a hard foul on Scarborough, and retaliated further after the whistle, garnering a technical foul. While the play put Arcadia in a compromising position, it also seemed to ignite the Firebirds. The physicality and intensity grew from an already robust starting point.

As Williams fell to his back diving to save a loose ball, he fed Downing for a layup and the lead again shrunk. The action began to swing back and forth, with Scarborough and Colston scoring for Northampton, and a host of Firebirds filling the stats sheet.

When Williams fed Hope for a layup in the paint, Arcadia had climbed all the way back, grabbing the lead with 20 seconds to go in the quarter. The lead was short-lived, as Major dished to Washington to give Northampton a 1-point advantage headed into the fourth quarter.

The third quarter flowed seamlessly to the fourth. The lead changed hands a number of times as both teams played at a very high level. Williams and Colston traded layups to start the quarter, and Kylen Wharton began to make a real impact off the bench for Arcadia. Wharton made a couple of baskets, the second being a corner 3 to regain the lead for his team.

Major presented real problems for the Firebirds in the paint, with a couple of scores in tight.

A 3-point basket from Arcadia's William Scarborough brought on deafening applause from the crowd, as people rose to their feet.

The Yellow Jackets would not relent amid the hostile crowd, with Scarborough scoring again for Northampton.

The action was purely frenetic and whistles at times only confused onlookers to the action. Fouls were called late, the teams traded steals, yet the lead always transitioned like pound for pound blows in a prize fight. Ultimately, Arcadia held possession of the ball with 20 seconds remaining. Armstrong brought his team together to draw up a play. After moving the ball back and forth, Hope was spotted in the corner and rattled the shot in with four seconds remaining. A last second heave from Scarborough missed the mark, and the court was blanketed by celebrating spectators. The game was, by all accounts, a truly spirited, entertaining brand of basketball where individual and team efforts combined with pure emotion from those in attendance.

Coach Armstrong summed up the circumstances by which his team stemmed the tide and charged to victory.

"We applied pressure defense on the ball causing turnovers and limiting their opportunities to score. We did a good job of slowing down Ahmad Scarborough," said Armstrong.

Colston finished the game high scorer with 26 points and was aided in double figures by Scarborough with 17 and Washington with 13.

Williams led the Firebirds with 18 points, followed in double figures by Downing with 15 and Scarborough with 10. Thirteen of Hope's 16 points came in the second half and truly jolted his team to victory. Truly jolted his team to victory.

Chincoteague Ponies Gallop to Victory

1/6/20 - BOYS BASKETBALL
CHINCOTEAGUE 49
HOLLY GROVE 44

By Matthew Yoder

Chincoteague fought off a one-man show from Holly Grove's Zach Chaffins Monday night, returning to the win column in the Ponies' first game of the new year.

Chincoteague led throughout the tight contest, employing depth and balanced scoring to better the Eagles.

Landon King opened the game for Chincoteague, feeding Luke Pride for an open look and score. Benjamin Cunningham responded for Holly Grove with an offensive rebound and put back. Collin Wright then assisted Dylan Mackley for a 3-pointer, and the Eagles gained what was to be their first and only lead of the game.

From there the Ponies tightened their defense and built an early lead off shots from Giovanni Rosanova and a buzzer beater from Ayden Leonard to close the first quarter. Chincoteague was up 11-7, but it was clear the game was destined to be a real grind-out affair, with Holly Grove always in striking distance.

Chincoteague's bench began to make substantial contributions early in the second quarter, namely in the efforts of big man Brendan Lafayette. Lafayette was the beneficiary of great passes from Camron Davis and Brandon Bundick to post two early buckets and help his team increase its lead.

The teams traded buckets for a time in the second quarter. Chaffins paced the Eagles effort with a pair of 3-pointers, while the Ponies rotated the ball well with fresh legs on the court. Throughout the evening, Chincoteague coach Timmy Johnson made a concerted effort to substitute three players at a time and the method paid off.

As the second quarter continued, both teams began to go cold from the field, and though Chincoteague appeared out of place at times on defense, Holly Grove did not threaten with great accuracy. To their credit, the Ponies did make plays on defense when needed, with blocks from Leonard, and a steal late in the quarter from Trent Clark, which led to a fast break layup. The lead remained largely unchanged by the end of the half, with the Ponies taking a 24-21 advantage to the locker room.

Chaffins began to score in bunches for Holly Grove out of the break, first on a stutter step drive and layup. He was opposed by a couple of buckets from King. Chaffins then hit a runner and got fouled in the process, converting the 3-point play. The play brought Holly Grove to within 3.

Chincoteague always seemed to maintain its poise in light of Chaffins' play, responding quickly thereafter with a 3 from TJ Pitts off an inbound play. The third quarter ended with Chincoteague ahead 33-31, setting the stage for an entertaining finale.

Chincoteague was certainly living on the edge at the outset of the fourth quarter, as Holly Grove stepped into open looks behind the arc to take the lead. The Eagles' shots rattled out, but after a coast-to-coast layup from Chaffins, Holly Grove finally drew even in the game.

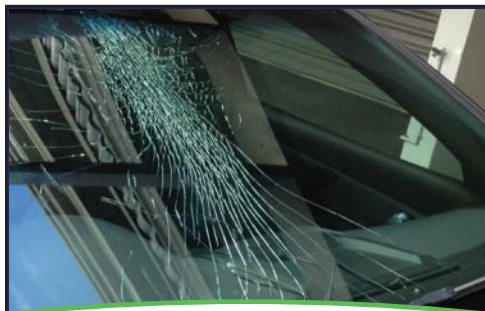

Chincoteague settled behind consecutive jumpers from Pride, the latter from behind the 3-point line. Chaffins added to his point total with another 3, tying the game seconds later.

Ultimately, the play of Chincoteague's Pitts pushed the effort forward for the win. Pitts matched Chaffins with a 3, then drove confidently through the lane for a layup and sealed the win racing behind Holly Grove's defenders off a long inbound pass. Pitts finished the game with 11 points, all in the second half, leading the way for Chincoteague. The play of Pitts highlighted a strong bench contingent for the Ponies.

"There was a lot of energy from the bench tonight," said Johnson.

Johnson was happy to get the win but believed the game was closer than it needed to be. He was nonetheless happy to see his team's composure take center stage.

For Holly Grove, Chaffins did what he could to keep his team competitive, scoring a game high 25 points, but his teammates did not provide enough support in the pivotal second half.

ESSHL Game Summaries, January 5, 2020

By Michael Garbacz

Game 1: Blues 0, EZ Loan Bruins 2

This week's games kicked off with a nail-biter between the blueshirts and Killer B's. The Bruins jumped out to an early lead, playing chess for the rest of the game and holding on for the win. Alex McCullough did the goalie dance of joy en route to the shutout victory. The Smooth Criminal and Bradley Colona scored the Bruins' goals; Gabe Nock picked up the helper.

Game 2: Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 0, 3 Knots Tap-house Whalers 7

Registering far fewer shots for the game (2) as their opponents produced in goals, the less said about this one for the Wings, the better. Brandon Morgan produced a hattie and a helper; Scott Millikin tickled the twine twice; Derek Hail scored and added two assists; New York Metzger found the back of the net; Annika Fread kicked in an apple dumpling (3 assists), a huge multi-point game on the strength of some sick passes; Cory Chance had a pair; Michael Fanning handed out the goose egg.

Game 3: Thornton Services Renegades 0, NeuBeam Harambe 3

The shutouts kept coming, as the gorilla squad managed to blank the 'Gaders. Preston Shover put a pair of biscuits in the basket; Josh Taylor had the other goal; Luke Webb and power forward Jennie Rice picked up an assist apiece; emergency goalie Danny Tweedy was validated with a shutout win. The Renegades were thoroughly frustrated in this one, never really getting the motor going and producing only eight shots.

Game 4: K&E Marine Capitals 0, EZ Loan Bruins 2

It's starting to feel like a lottery ticket here—another shutout! The Caps, missing the Pat Trick, kept things close but could not solve Alex McCullough. The Smooth Criminal potted the game winner and one more for insurance, and that was all she wrote. Pat Cornwell picked up a helper. McCullough, after putting up double goose eggs, was really smilin' like a butcher's dog.

Game 5: Blues 3, 3 Knots Tap-house Whalers 5

Well, the Blues went and managed to break the shutout streak, so at least that's a positive takeaway. They managed to stay in the game and fought hard, but the Whalers' skill and speed are tough to stave off. TR Hoyt led the Blues with a goal and an assist; Guy Shover and Matt Yetter scored; James Haley and the Park-sley Original chipped in a helper apiece. For the Whalers, once again Brandon Morgan picked up a hat trick; Annika Fread and Derek Hail rang up a goal apiece; Scott Millikin and Ryan Parks added apples.

Game 6: NeuBeam Harambe 7, Delmarva Soil and Concrete Red Wings 1

This was just not a day to leave the house for the Wings, as they again were clobbered, this time at the hands of the gorilla squad. Wes Stapleton did manage to spoil the shutout parade, though. Josh Taylor picked up a pair of goals; Preston Shover, Robbie Washington, Caleb Clark, Zach Webb, and power forward Jennie Rice all found the back of the net. Johnny Irvin and Luke Webb registered assists.

Game 7: K&E Marine Capitals 1, Thornton Services Renegades 7

The 'Gader squad managed to rebound after their first game and give the Trick-less Caps a drubbing to end the day. Dustin Aigner had a big multi-point effort with a hat trick plus an assist; the Onancock Kid rang up two markers and an apple; La Boca chimed in with a goal and an assist; Trey Lodge put the biscuit in the basket once and found an assist; Cliff Windsor and Ray Johnson each added a helper.

ESSHL Senior League action resumes Sunday, January 19, at 1:30 p.m. at Stapleton Rink in Parksley. Check out the website at www.esshl.org, and find ESSHL on Facebook.

Veterans' News

Blue Water Navy Vietnam Veterans Act claims now being determined: In June of 2019, President Donald Trump signed into law H.R. 299, the Blue Water Navy Vietnam Veterans Act of 2019 ending a decades-long fight for Blue Water Navy veterans to receive Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) disability benefits for illnesses linked to exposure to Agent Orange during the Vietnam War. Veterans who served in Vietnam between 1962 and 1975 are presumed to have been exposed to Agent Orange if diagnosed with a medical condition associated with the herbicide, according to the Agent Orange Act of 1991. Presumptive diseases of exposure to the herbicide include certain cancers, Parkinson's disease, and diabetes. However, this act applied only to veterans who served on land and in Vietnam's inland waterways. H.R. 299 extends these benefits to any military personnel who served on any vessel during the Vietnam War that came within 12 nautical miles of the coastlines of Vietnam.

On Jan. 1, 2020, the VA will begin deciding claims for the Blue Water Act. To be eligible, a veteran must have served in the identified locations during the specified time period and currently have a condition(s) associated with herbicide exposures, such as Agent Orange. Blue Water Navy claims are being processed under current prioritization criteria, however, special priority is being given to veterans who are over the age of 85 or have a terminal condition. Qualifying recipients include affected veterans who are still living and certain survivors of deceased BWN and Korean DMZ Veterans.

Veterans and survivors who are eligible should contact a local Veteran Service Organization or the Virginia Dept. of Veteran Services in Accomac for assistance and guidance.

Chandler Raises Funds for Breast Cancer

Submitted Article and Photo

In memory of and in honor of loved ones who have breast cancer or other cancers, Deyonka Chandler decided to do her part to make a difference.

Chandler organized her first annual Zumba for Breast Cancer event at the Eastern Shore Family YMCA, and her friends, family, and Zumba partners supported the event with donations to the Riverside Shore Cancer Center.

Chandler's brother is a cancer survivor and is her inspiration, along with her son, Isaiah, for whom she hopes to set a great example of citizenship. Describing her motivation to give locally, Chandler said, "You take care of home first."

Director of the Cancer Center Bev Bowden, said, "Our patients are so thankful that warm-hearted people in our small Shore community are working hard to help ease their cancer journey. Cancer innovations are constant, and support from this event and others helps keep our team members, and therefore our patients, at the leading edge of cancer care. It also funds patient comfort items and programs."

DIRECTED BY PHILIPPE DE BROCA

A World War I Scottish soldier, sent to defuse a bomb, encounters a strange town of escaped residents of the local asylum who warmly accept him as their "King of Hearts." The themes of this 50-year-old comedy-drama still resonate in the topsy-turvy political world of today.

Impeachment Is Being Used as a Weapon

Dear Editor:

Please see the speech below by Rep. Clay Higgins. It is so on-target; Democrats have been talking impeachment ever since President Trump was elected. They thought Clinton had the election in the bag.

“Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I have descended into the belly of the beast. I have witnessed the terror within. And I rise committed to oppose the insidious forces which threaten our Republic. America’s being severely injured by this betrayal, by this unjust and weaponized impeachment, brought upon us by the same socialists who threaten unborn life in the womb, who threaten First Amendment rights of conservatives, who threaten Second Amendment protections of every American patriot, and who have long ago determined that they would organize and conspire to overthrow President Trump. We don’t face this horror because the Democrats have all of a sudden become constitutionalists, we are not being devoured from within because of some surreal assertion of the socialist newfound love for the very flag that they try trod upon. We face this horror because of this map, this is what the Democrats fear. They fear the true will of we the people. They are deep established D.C. They fear, they call this Republican map flyover country. They call us deplorables. They fear our faith, they fear our strength, they fear our unity, they fear our vote, and they fear our president. We will never surrender our nation to career establishment D.C. politicians and bureaucrats. Our republic shall survive this threat from within. American patriots shall prevail. Mr. Speaker, I yield.”

— Rep. Clay Higgins

I am neither a Republican, Democrat or any set party. I vote for the best person to do the job. Clinton was not it, just like this Warren lady is not it.

Art Thornton, Onancock

Sustainability First

Dear Editor:

Rumors abounded around the Hernandez campaign; that he was from California and sent here by a wealthy “environmentalist, socialist.”

He, in fact, was born and raised in Hampton Roads, won a scholarship to William and Mary, studied at Oxford and attended law school in California. He does have an understanding of and concern for the problems we face like sea rise and the need to improve our schools.

I would have voted for any real environmentalist and supported, therefore, Ms. Riggs for supervisor given her intelligent approach to our futures. Those of us who are in favor of the “New Green Deal” believe the planet may be doomed without it and not just in the long term. Mighty Earth which worked here to stem the impacts of the poultry industry, cited studies which show our soil at the rate of manure production/application from the meat industry, will be unproductive within 60 years. No food for us or for animals.

It is for this reason I’m concerned with our senators’ (Warner and Kaine) enthusiasm for China’s desire for our poultry. China has had problems with the bird flu which has mutated strains that infect humans. There have been outbreaks here, too. We and our land cannot afford to export meat and China has, also, suffered the loss of millions of pigs from disease.

If our senators support the NGD, they need, with all due respect, to understand more of the factors influencing sustainability. While trade with China may be desirable, importing the issues which would undermine our sustainability is not.

People need to eat and many of us are not and don’t care to be vegetarians even though being so might help save us. Meanwhile, if the way meat is raised threatens our water, air, aqua culture, soil, etc., it should be revised. There are inexpensive ways to immediately reduce damage.

The Chinese scientist at VIMS last year indicated the best plants (grasses) to plant near CAFO fans and ammonia scrubbers, required in Europe, can be made, according to a board member, in a DIY manner as has been done by one “farmer,” anyway. If the water from the many acres of chicken “house” roofing can be captured (and reused!), it would stem the runoff endangering our water and waters.

Meanwhile, there should be no industry wells for poultry from our deep, threatened aquifer when the Columbia is so, relatively, abundant. It seems there is no ready solution for the excessive, huge amount of manure produced here save reducing the numbers from about 3 billion chicks per annum to something significantly less.

Is Sewer Our Top Priority?

Dear Editor:

Is there a dire need for the Hampton Roads Sanitation District’s expensive sewer pipeline plan? Priorities for the Eastern Shore of Virginia just might be cell phone service that is reliable and affordable, as well as electronics-protective, surge-free electricity!

Is raw sewage devastating our aquaculture industry? Are our current septic tank systems not maximizing our sandy soil? Will the lauded future development deplete our sole source aquifer, with the inevitable subsidence and saltwater intrusion? Supposedly the individual towns could apply for available government grants.

Could a pipeline leak near the planned bike path affect cyclists? Have the town councils discussed assumption of rights of way through private yards and across a truck-filled Highway 13, the noise, vibration, and odor from the many pumping stations, and the possible future costs of infrastructure and hook-up charges ($12,500 in Cape Charles)?

The HRSD will not handle waste from the chicken-processing plants, excessive chicken barn manure or waste from septic tanks (trucked to Pocomoke). HRSD will not eliminate mound systems for remote waterfront homes. The treated freshwater effluent will flood into a salty Onancock Creek rather than being reused to recharge our needy aquifers.

The public deserves to know the implications of all facets of this massive regional three-phase project, including the inevitable consequences to this tiny spit of land, as well as to the autonomy, the pocketbooks and the serenity of the citizens of the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

A sustainable future is a worthy goal.
