Iconic Tammy and Johnny's Restaurant To Be Sold at Auction

By Carol Vaughn

A former Eastern Shore fast-food icon will be sold at auction Saturday, April 10.

Tammy & Johnny's, on Route 13 in Melfa, for decades was a go-to eatery on the Shore for fried chicken, as well as being known for its cheesesteak subs, hamburgers, and more.

Ronnie Edwards opened the restaurant with his wife, Shirley, in 1967.

The business was named for their two children and the family operated it for half a century.

Edwards had previously worked for the C&P Telephone Company and once met someone who found success selling doughnuts. He thought he could do something similar and decided to open a stand selling hamburgers (for 19 cents apiece), french fries, and milkshakes.

Fried chicken was added to the menu later.

Edwards added an eat-in dining area in the mid-1970s.

When Tammy & Johnny's opened, the first McDonald's chain restaurant on the Eastern Shore of Virginia was still a decade away from being built.

The restaurant scene has changed a lot since then, with multiple fast-food eateries and convenience stores up and down Route 13, including some that offer fried chicken.

But back in the day, Tammy & Johnny's was THE place for travelers and locals alike to stop for fried chicken and other treats.

Many a church supper and community picnic on the Shore featured the familiar brown-and-orange striped buckets of chicken.

The eatery's sign, with its big yellow block letters spelling out the two names, was a beacon for highway travelers who made it a point to stop there every time they passed through.

At Tammy & Johnny's 40th anniversary celebration in 2007, customers enjoyed 40-cent hamburgers, a disc jockey, and face painting and balloons for the kids.

The restaurant that year won a Cooperative Living magazine Best in Virginia readers' choice award for best fried chicken.

The magazine article spoke glowingly about the restaurant, saying, in part: "What makes Tammy & Johnny's fried chicken so special? Ronnie Edwards says it's 'a combination of the things we do ... and the things we don't do.' They do marinate fresh chicken overnight in a secret blend of spices. They don't cook at low temperatures. The chicken is cooked in pure cottonseed oil, so 'it's never greasy,' Edwards insists. If they run out of properly marinated poultry, they don't fry any more until the next batch has been seasoned overnight."

The Edwards retired. Then, the restaurant was closed in March 2018, needing some structural repairs.

Shirley Edwards died in November 2018 at age 83.

Express Auctioneers, which has offices in Baltimore, Delaware, and Virginia, will auction the property.

Eastern Shore Rural Health Gets $5.7M in Federal COVID-19 Funding

By Carol Vaughn

Eastern Shore Rural Health System Inc. is one of 29 Virginia community health centers to receive funding through the American Rescue Plan to support COVID-19 testing, treatment, and vaccination efforts.

Senators Tim Kaine and Mark Warner and Rep. Elaine Luria announced nearly $80 million in federal funding for Virginia health centers will be awarded by the Health Resources and Services Administration starting in April.

Eastern Shore Rural Health will receive around $5.7 million.

The health care organization includes four medical centers and five dental locations and is the primary care provider for around 75% of Eastern Shore residents.

The funding is part of $10 billion, within the $1.9 trillion federal economic recovery package, to be used to expand access to COVID-19 vaccines and to build vaccine confidence in the hardest-hit and highest-risk communities, according to a press release from Luria.

cludes the 2,500-square-foot brick restaurant on one acre, paved parking, and a rental home behind the restaurant. The auction will be held Saturday, April 10, at 1 p.m. Pre-auction offers are accepted.

Auctioneer Michael Catrino of Express Auctioneers said the most recent listing price for the property was $300,000. This is an absolute auction, meaning “somebody’s going to get a bargain,” he said.

“I thought it was a newsworthy story. For years, Tammy & Johnny’s was

THE place,” Catrino said, adding, “... They were known wide and far for their fried chicken recipe.”

Details about the auction and the property are at <https://www.express-auction.com/>

“It’s an old-fashioned, on-site, live auction,” Catrino said, adding he thinks there is “an opportunity there for someone” to open up a restaurant at the site that, like Tammy & Johnny’s, could offer “good food and good prices.”

“I just think somebody that bought that place could do that all over again. There’s the old saying, ‘If you build it, they will come’...It’s got so much history there,” Catrino said.

can Rescue Plan Act to expand access to services to all residents of Virginia’s Eastern Shore,” said Matt Clay, ESRH chief executive officer.

Residents do not have to have ESRH as their primary care provider to receive a vaccine at one of its health centers.

“Within the next few weeks we will be exploring opportunities to use these funds to better serve our community including providing care for vulnerable populations and combatting COVID-19 vaccination hesitancy to get more residents vaccinated,” Clay said, adding, “Rural Health strives to ensure equity — that all residents have access to quality care — and this funding will help us continue to achieve this.”

The organization has not yet received the notice of grant award to study the details of allowed uses of the funds to form a plan, according to spokesperson Amy Bull.

“The American Rescue Plan is critical to expanding access to the vaccine, ending the pandemic and securing the economic recovery for the Eastern Shore,” said Rep. Luria.

“Getting more resources to our rural communities is a top priority of mine, and I’m thrilled that Eastern Shore Rural Health System can use this funding to help so many people,” she said.

“For the past year, our community health centers have been on the front lines of providing care to our most vulnerable communities during the COVID-19 crisis,” a press release from Kaine and Warner said, adding, “Thanks to the congressional passage and eventual signing of the American Rescue Plan, we are now able to provide these critical federal dollars so that our community health centers can continue to provide lifesaving care to the folks who need it the most.”

Health centers will be able to use these funds to support and expand COVID-19 vaccination, testing, and treatment for vulnerable populations; deliver needed preventive and primary health care services to those at higher risk for COVID-19; and expand health centers’ operational capacity during the pandemic and beyond, including modifying and improving physical infrastructure and adding mobile units, according to the release.

NASA 'Modern Figure' Tells Arcadia Middle Schoolers Anyone Can Pursue STEM Career

By Stefanie Jackson

Arcadia Middle School students met NASA "modern figure" Christyl Johnson, deputy director for technology and research investments for Goddard Space Flight Center, at a virtual event March 24.

The movie "Hidden Figures" was released in 2016, about three African American women who were NASA mathematicians in the 1950s and 1960s and helped the U.S. win the space race.

Following the film's debut, Johnson was named a NASA modern figure, someone "paving the way for the next generation of scientists and engineers, especially those young girls and boys that look like me," said Johnson, who is African American.

The goal of her virtual meeting with Arcadia Middle School students March 24 was to answer their questions and provide a different view of careers in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and math).

Anyone can pursue a STEM career, and it's not necessary to be a science or math whiz or a straight-A student to get started, Johnson said. All it takes is wanting to learn and finding the right teacher.

"There is no concept whatsoever that is so complicated ... no concept on the planet that a third grader can't understand," she said.

"The challenge is really finding somebody that can break it down to you at the lowest level so that light bulb in your brain goes off and you're like, 'Oh, that's pretty easy. How come nobody explained it to me that way?'"

She advised the students to get extra help from their teachers when needed or ask for help from classmates who understand the material and can explain it in a different way.

Christyl Johnson

Once a student understands a basic concept, the student can build upon that knowledge base and understand more complex ideas, and it's "off to the races," Johnson said.

Her career began in her first year of college, when she was assigned to a summer internship working with lasers in a physics lab at NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton.

The assignment didn't seem very interesting compared to her friends' fun summer jobs, until Johnson witnessed the power of the lasers when a scientist accidentally lowered the sleeve of his lab coat into the path of a laser and burned a hole into the cloth.

From that experience she learned to look for the silver lining in every cloud, she said.

Johnson worked at the Langley Research Center for several years until she found the courage to ask if there were any work opportunities in science at the White House.

"You just have to throw it into the wind and just ask the questions, because that's how you open up doors for yourself," she said.

There were no positions available at the time in the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy, but she was granted an interview.

The day after her interview, Johnson was notified by phone that, by coincidence, the executive director of the National Science and Technology Council was leaving to accept a promotion elsewhere. Johnson was offered the position, which she accepted.

She began the job in 2010 during the transition from President George W. Bush to President Barack Obama.

Following that era of her career, Johnson accepted her current position as the deputy director of technology and research investments at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center in Maryland, about 6.5 miles northeast of Washington, D.C.

The job allows Johnson to "shape the missions of the future" in astrophysics (the study of the stars), heliophysics (the study of the sun), earth science, and the study of other planets in the solar system.

"We get to ask the big questions ... Why are we here? And also, what's out there? And, how do we survive?"

Not only that, but "how do we thrive, here on Earth? How do we continue to improve the quality of life every day ...?"

Examples of work Johnson's department performs are monitoring solar flares that can disrupt the power grid and disable GPS, as well as using lasers to track hurricanes and predict their severity and where they will hit.

One thing she enjoys about her work is that "every day is always a new adventure. You're never doing the same thing twice."

She's not stuck at a desk, in front of a computer every day.

"NASA pays you to think," and it offers Johnson and her team the flexibility to think through work challenges anywhere, whether in a shopping mall or on a boat, she said.

That's one reason why NASA has been rated as the best place to work within the U.S. government for the last eight years, Johnson added.

The job is also rewarding because the technologies used on space missions are adapted to improve life on Earth.

She spoke about the technology that was developed to prevent another disaster like the explosion of the Space Shuttle Columbia in 2003, which killed all seven crew members.

The explosion occurred as the space shuttle reentered the atmosphere because exterior tiles that provided heat protection had been lost during liftoff.

NASA scientists and engineers wrote algorithms that allowed bright, clear photos to be made of a space shuttle's exterior from the shaky images taken during liftoff, so that any damage that may occur can be identified and repaired at the space station before returning to Earth.

Those same algorithms are now used by the FBI and police to clear up dark, blurry photos captured of crime suspects.

Johnson also shared photos of a woman and her two daughters as they were rescued from their vehicle following a car accident. A tool that was invented for an astronaut to cut metal on the International Space Station was used to cut the roof off the vehicle and save the woman and her children, Johnson said.

Such an event is "horrible to watch, but it also gives me such a warm feeling."

"This whole family now is a family unit, and it would not have been otherwise," Johnson said, thanks to "the impossible missions of NASA."

Northampton Comprehensive Plan Discussions Focus on Farmland, Housing

By Stefanie Jackson

The Northampton Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors discussed ongoing revisions to the county comprehensive plan during a March 24 joint work session that highlighted the continuing struggle to preserve Northampton's rural character while allowing the development of housing and accommodations for both residents and tourists.

Northampton's draft comprehensive plan acknowledges that tourism benefits the local economy but that tourism industry growth must be "sensitive" and "protect against displacement of existing residents."

The delicate balance between preservation and growth was made evident as county officials discussed the public's written comments and suggested changes for the comprehensive plan.

One way Northampton County promotes the preservation of its rural character is through its agricultural-forestry district program, which gives real estate tax breaks to owners of actively producing farm or forest lands of 200 acres or more.

A public comment on the comprehensive plan raised concern that an increasing number of farms are being sold because the family is no longer interested in farming.

Supervisor Betsy Mapp interpreted the written comment as referring to "how the number of farmers is shrinking, and they are older now, and that there's a need for younger people in farming."

When there's no one left in the family to run the farm, the land is sold, but "the thing that really threatens farming is subdividing large parcels. So when you point out that many of the local family farms are one to nine acres, that's getting to be unusable land for a farmer with big equipment," Mapp said.

Northampton currently allows only one housing unit per 20 acres of land in rural areas traditionally used for agriculture.

Supervisor Dave Fauber suggested Northampton County incentivize the creation of cluster housing, in which several homes are grouped close together on part of a large parcel of land, and the remaining area becomes shared open space. This type of development could be allowed through a special agreement by petitioning the planning commission and obtaining the approval of the Board of Supervisors.

Page 30 of Northampton's draft comprehensive plan refers to it as "conservation design," which differs from a traditional subdivision that is split into individual lots with no shared open space, greater land disturbance, and no shoreline protection.

On a 20-acre parcel, if two acres could be used to build 10 dwelling units, the remaining land could be used for farming, Fauber said.

"If we make clustering more attractive, then I think somebody might take us up on it," he said.

Northampton families looking for homes also must compete with short-term rental businesses.

An anonymous writer argued that the purchase of homes for weekly vacation rentals is driving the price of homes out of range for local families. It is also difficult to find homes to rent on a monthly or yearly basis.

The writer stated, "Local families will be forced to leave the area or they are going to be homeless."

"Everybody has issues with this one way or another, but at the end of the day, if you're going to have an economy that's based somewhat on tourism, you have to have short-term rentals," said Supervisor John Coker.

Northampton supervisors defended their recent decision to allow short-term rentals by right and rejected the anonymous suggestion to allow weekly vacation rentals only on a case-by-case basis.

However, supervisors were not interested in the recommendation of the Economic Development Authority of Northampton County to conduct a hotel feasibility study.

A summary of the recommendation stated: "The hospitality industry likely provides the county with the greatest chances for short term development. Things like hotels and restaurants are necessary to grow a tourism industry that will ultimately benefit the county budget with commercial property taxes, sales taxes, payroll taxes, hospitality taxes and related spinoff revenues.”

Another written public comment pointed out that Northampton County lacks a strategy for addressing its citizens’ housing needs.

Mapp said the Accomack-Northampton Housing and Redevelopment Corporation, part of the Accomack-Northampton Planning District Commission (A-NPDC), is already in place and by creating a new housing strategy “we would be reinventing the wheel.”

The A-NPDC encompasses two housing organizations: the Accomack-Northampton Regional Housing Authority and the Eastern Shore of Virginia Housing Alliance, formerly known as the Accomack-Northampton Housing and Redevelopment Corporation.

Coker insisted that Northampton supervisors must prioritize housing needs in the county. “Every year, we have teachers that want to come here but don’t because they can’t find a decent place to live,” he said.

The current draft of Northampton’s comprehensive plan recommends the county continue to participate in the Eastern Shore Regional Housing Coalition, a group that is working to bring

Accomack Board Approves $65M Budget for 2022

By Carol Vaughn

The Accomack County Board of Supervisors Monday approved a $65 million county budget for fiscal year 2022 that includes no tax or fee increases.

A 5% raise for county employees and $50,000 in seed money for the county’s recently implemented Economic Development Investment Program were included in the resolution approved unanimously by the board.

The two items were amendments to the budget presented for public hearing earlier in March.

The cost to bring raises from 2% to 5% is $352,693, according to Accomack County Administrator Mike Mason.

The increase was proposed in order for county employees to receive the same raise as state-supported local positions, after a state budget was approved with a request for proposals has been made to conduct a comprehensive housing needs study for the Eastern Shore, a cooperative effort of Northampton and Accomack counties and A-NPDC.

Northampton County Administrator Charlie Kolakowski added that a 5% raise for those positions.

Mason laid out sources of funding for the two items, including a $236,284 increase in state reimbursement from the Compensation Board; a $50,000 reduction in Comprehensive Services fund transfers; a $20,785 increase in state funding for the voter registrar and electoral board salary; a $50,000 reduction in the amount set aside for the county’s rainy day fund; and a projected increase in real estate tax revenue of $45,624 as result of new construction in the county.

The board in separate motions also approved the tax rates, which are unchanged, and the capital improvement plan for the upcoming year.

Library Construction Actions

After meeting in executive session, the board of supervisors took action on three items related to construction of the new public library in Parksley. Supervisors unanimously approved a three-month extension on the timeline for R.H. Contracting Inc. to complete the library project, with a reduction in the contract amount of $48,225 to compensate the county for the additional expenses incurred as result.

The board also approved a change order of $27,518, with a two-week extension, for the contractor to relocate roof drain lines at the project. Additionally, the board approved a change order and written release with architects Waller, Todd, and Sadler for additional management services for the project through July 27 in the amount of $19,072.50, which includes a deduction of $4,500 related to the roof drain lines relocation.

Seniors and 6th Graders Allowed 4-Day In-Person Instruction in Northampton

By Stefanie Jackson

Northampton schools Superintendent Eddie Lawrence announced Tuesday that students in grades six and 12 will be permitted to return to school in person four days a week starting Monday, April 12.

That means all Northampton elementary school students and seniors will have the option of a four-day school week following spring break, which is the week of April 5 for Northampton students.

Northampton schools have been gradually allowing additional grades back in classrooms four days a week since February, after the school division navigated through a post-winter break COVID-19 spike that temporarily closed school doors in both Northampton and Accomack counties.

School Board Vacancy

Lawrence also announced Tuesday that a school board member has resigned, and the board is looking for someone to fill the vacant position and finish the term that expires Dec. 31.

The Post has verified the seat is that of at-large member Randall Parks. No reason was given for his resignation.

Because it is an at-large seat, any qualified voter who lives in Northampton County is eligible.

Anyone interested in the position should send a letter of interest and his or her contact information to Clerk of the Board, Northampton County Public Schools, 7207 Young St., Machipongo, VA 23405, by April 22.

FY 2022 Budget

The Northampton school board adopted the fiscal year 2022 operating budget Tuesday night, totaling nearly $25 million.

"This is going to be an unprecedented year for teacher compensation ... we're taking a big stride this year to get to where we want to go," said Chief Financial Officer Brook Thomas.

Northampton teachers will receive a raise of 2%, plus an additional 3% increase in anticipated Cost of Competing Adjustment or COCA funding, which would provide a total pay increase of 5%.

COCA is state funding that helps certain Virginia school divisions offer teachers competitive salaries. The fund was started for counties near Washington, D.C., but Gov. Ralph Northam included COCA funding for both Northampton and Accomack counties in the most recent state budget.

All eligible Northampton school employees also will receive an additional $40 a month for the cost of health insurance.

About half of that money will cover a 3.6% increase in health insurance rates, and the other half is money that will go back into the pockets of school employees, Thomas said.

The majority of the operating budget, 65%, funds student instruction. The next largest expense is school building operations and maintenance, 11% of the budget, followed by school administration, attendance, and health personnel, 8%; student transportation, 6%; school food services, 5%; and technology, 5%.

COVID-19 Testing

"Fifty percent of the people with COVID never know they had it," said Lawrence, who was quoting a webinar he attended featuring Virginia State Superintendent of Public Instruction James Lane.

In response to possible asymptomatic spread of COVID-19, some Virginia K-12 public schools will participate in a pilot program this spring in which schools will perform their own rapid COVID-19 testing.

The practice likely will be mandatory starting in the fall, Lawrence said.

Each school will randomly give 10% of its student population the COVID-19 rapid test weekly (with parent permission), so "we might be able to identify people who potentially could be spreading it without knowing they had it," Lawrence said.

Vacation Leave

After the COVID-19 pandemic hit schools last March, many Northampton school employees working "to adapt to a brave new world" were unable to take their vacation time, Lawrence said.

Unused vacation time that normally would have been converted to sick leave was rolled over into the current year, but much of it still hasn't been used.

Administrative staff proposed giving school employees three options: use their vacation time, convert it to sick leave, or be paid for the unused vacation time; the school board approved the proposal.

After 48 Years, Forrest Gladden Retires From Virginia State Parks

By Stefanie Jackson

Kiptopeke State Park Manager Forrest Gladden has retired after a decade in his most recent position and a total of 48 years working at Virginia state parks.

He officially retired Feb. 1 but recently received a certificate of recognition signed by Gov. Ralph Northam, presented by Virginia Secretary of Natural Resources Matthew Strickler and Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation Director Clyde Cristman in Kiptopeke State Park's new visitor center, a press release stated.

According to the proclamation presented to Gladden, the Virginia Division of State Parks will be "forever indebted to his leadership that has set a high standard of excellence for countless current and future leaders."

Gladden's career with Virginia state parks began in 1972, when he became an hourly employee at Hungry Mother State Park in southwestern Virginia.

Gladden worked his way up into a leadership position and devoted his "unwavering commitment" to parks across the state including Smith Mountain Lake, Fairy Stone, First Landing, False Cape, Chippokes Plantation, Douthat, and finally, Kiptopeke.

Throughout his career, he showed his dedication to educating the public by developing and supervising interpretive programs that provide guests opportunities to learn about the natural, cultural, and historic features of the parks they visit.

Gladden will spend his retirement with his wife Susan Gladden near Kiptopeke State Park on the Eastern Shore in a home they have built, where he plans to spend time wood-working and relaxing.

COVID-19 Vaccinations Available to Phase Ia-Ic!

We are vaccinating Phase Ia, b and c. Phase Ic is the last phase before the general population is eligible. COVID-19 vaccinations are free with no out-of-pocket cost to you.

- Phase Ia is healthcare personnel and residents of long-term care facilities.
- Phase Ib is people age 65+; people age 16-64 with a high risk medical condition or disability increasing chances of severe illness from COVID; people living in correctional facilities, homeless shelters and migrant labor camps; and frontline essential workers.
- Phase Ic is other essential workers including food service; utility; and construction workers.
- See the COVID-19 tab at esrh.org for a complete list of who is in Phases Ia, b and c. A list of Ib high risk medical conditions is also posted.

How to get vaccinated:

- Shore residents in Phase Ia, b and c can call to arrange a vaccination.
- Many in Phase Ib and Ic will get their vaccine where they work or live and do not need to call to make an appointment.
- The Eastern Shore Health District will contact smaller and independent businesses to set up vaccinations for their employees.

SPECIAL EVENT INVITATION

Aging, Isolation and Depression

The precautions that came with the COVID-19 pandemic left many of us feeling the side effects of isolation. As our loved ones get older, they are more likely to live alone or spend more of their time alone even after COVID-19 mandates are lifted. This isolation often causes loneliness and depression.

If you have a loved one who may be feeling lonely, this presentation will share ideas on how you can help them feel connected.

Join us for this free presentation on the effects of loneliness, and solutions that can improve your loved one's quality of life.

Safe Boating Tips From U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Flotilla 12-02

Submitted Article

To complete the discussion of COLREGS, here is information about the use of lights on vessels underway at night.

To start with the basics, power driven vessels less than 50 meters in length must have a masthead light forward, sidelights (red on port and green on starboard), and a white sternlight.

Sailing vessels must also have sidelights and a stern light but not the white masthead unless they are under power.

Vessels under oars shall exhibit an all-around white light, or have an electric torch or lantern at the ready.

These navigation lights inform other vessels of your vessel status, location, and direction.

COLREGS describes light configurations, sound signals, and dayshapes for all types of vessels and activities for navigating at night or under conditions of reduced visibility. All boaters using busy waters like the Chesapeake Bay should become familiar with the lighting configurations they are likely to encounter and have a reference for light patterns they may occasionally encounter; for example, lights on vessels at anchor, vessels towing and under tow, and fishing and trawling vessels, to name a few.

Local Aids Notices

There are several changes to navigation aids for Occohannock Creek to reflect considerable shoaling at the entrance.

Three aids have been newly established:

- A lighted buoy 2 flashing red with 2.5-second interval.
- A lighted buoy 3 flashing green with a 4-second interval, and
- Buoy 5.

Five aids have changed:

- Entrance light 1 has been changed to a white flashing warning light with a 4-second interval and with NW dayboards worded "danger shoal."
- Light 3 has been changed to a warning daybeacon B with NW dayboards worded "danger shoals."
- Daybeacon 5 has been changed to warning daybeacon C with NW dayboards labeled "danger shoals."
- Daybeacon 7 has been changed to warning daybeacon D with NW dayboards worded "danger shoals."
- Warning daybeacon A has been changed to warning daybeacon E.

The Eastern Shore of Virginia Tourism Commission recently announced Emily Machen has joined its team as marketing director.

Raised in a military family, she has lived all over the country but has called the Shore home since 2018. As a lover of the outdoors and avid kayaker, she considers the Shore a perfect fit.

Machen graduated from Liberty University in 2017 with a major in business administration. Shortly after graduating, she interned with the Richmond Justice Initiative, working with the Initiative to bring awareness and age-appropriate education about human trafficking to schools through digital marketing.

Machen has worked in different facets of Shore tourism since moving here, most recently handling marketing and content creation for Quail Cove Farms in Machipongo. She has run her own business providing marketing

OBITUARIES

Josephine Adamo Baylis

Mrs. Josephine Adamo Baylis, 91, passed away Thursday, March 25, 2021, surrounded by loved ones, at her daughter's home in Nassawadox. Born Jan. 26, 1930, in Brooklyn, N.Y., and raised in Queens, N.Y., she was the daughter of the late Gasper Adamo and the late Frances Adragna Adamo.

As a wife, mother, grandmother, nurse, volunteer, and devout Catholic, Jo's life revolved around caring for others and she excelled in doing so. She began her career in nursing at the former Northampton-Accomack Memorial Hospital (Shore Memorial Hospital) in Nassawadox, where she also served as a volunteer during her retirement. Later, she worked at Heritage Hall, was the school nurse at South Accomack Elementary, and clinic nurse at Perdue Farms, where she would retire after decades of helping those in need. Nothing brought Jo more happiness than having a house full of kids, always welcoming her children's and grandchildren's friends and spoiling them with all the baked goods they could eat. She enjoyed knitting and crocheting and graciously shared the fruits of her labor over the years.

Jo is survived by her children, Thomas Michael Baylis, of Cape Charles, Gary Arthur Baylis, of Parkersley, Patricia Baylis Gorman and husband, John, of Nassawadox, and Kevin Wayne Baylis and his wife, Debbie, of Onley; grandchildren, Jeremey Kyle Gorman (Liv), Jillian Gorman Olson (Jake), Zachary William Baylis, Garret Morgan Baylis, and Amanda Jo Baylis; great-grandchildren, Jude Edward Gorman and Ferris Redding Gorman; and several nieces and nephews. In addition to her husband and parents, she was predeceased by her sister, Frances Adamo Thuilot, and her husband, Charles; brother, Vincent James Adamo, and his wife, Chloris; granddaughter, Megan Leann Baylis; and daughter-in-law, Cindy Baylis.

A Memorial Mass was held at St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church in Onley, Tuesday, March 30, 2021, with Father Michael Imperial officiating. Inurnment was in the Fairview Lawn Cemetery.

Contributions in Josephine's memory may be made to Intrepid Hospice, 165 Market St., Suite 2, Onancock, VA 23417.

Memory tributes may be shared with the family at www.williamsfuneralhomes.com

Tyler Bivens

Minister Tyler Bivens, 26, of Fruitland, Md., received eternal life Saturday, March 20, 2021, at his residence.

Born in Salisbury, Md., Tyler was the beloved son of Rodnell Leonard and Markita Walker. He was employed at Credit Plus and also at Lewis N. Watson Funeral Home as a funeral attendant. He was married to Terrica A. Bivens.

Private funeral services were held Saturday, March 27, 2021, at the Cooper & Humbles Funeral Co. Inc., Accomac, with Pastor Harvey Davis Sr. officiating. Interment was in the Shiloh Baptist Church Cemetery, Atlantic.

He leaves his love and fond memories to his wife, Terrica Bivens; son, Tyler Bivens II; parents, Markita Walker, Rodnell Leonard, and Tyrone Douglas; grandparents, Deacon Tyrone Strand, Florence Douglas, Charlie Downing, Michael Byrd, Robert Leonard, and Clifton Beach; siblings, Tyrel Douglas, Ra'Saan Revels, Rodnell Leonard Jr., Joanell Leonard, and Abigail Taylor; two aunts; two uncles; one niece; one nephew; three great-aunts; mother-in-law, Hannah Holden; father-in-law, Terry Holden Sr.; and a host of other relatives and friends.

Arrangements were by the Cooper & Humbles Funeral Co., Accomac.

Marlene Brown

Pastor Marlene Brown, 71, of Oak Hall, received eternal life Wednesday, March 17, 2021, at her residence.

Born in Nassawadox, Marlene was the beloved daughter of the late Winfred Parker and the late Virginia H. Parker. She was the pastor of St. Joseph Holiness Church in Atlantic. She was married to Bishop Elton Brown.

Private funeral services were held Saturday, March 27, 2021, at the Cooper & Humbles Funeral Co. Inc., Accomac, with Apostle Ivan Grant officiating. Interment was in the St. Joseph Holiness Cemetery, Atlantic.

She leaves her love and fond memories to her daughter, Latonya Brown; two grandchildren, Jayden Townsend and Jayla Townsend; two sisters, Geraldine Parker and Elmira Marshall; three brothers, Cecil Parker, Winfred Parker, and Tyrone Parker; one aunt; one uncle; three sisters-in-law; and a host of other relatives and friends.

Arrangements were by the Cooper & Humbles Funeral Co., Accomac.

Terry Hazel Doerflein

Ms. Terry Hazel Doerflein, affectionately known as "Hazel," 96, formerly of Sanford and New Church and recently of Salisbury, Md., passed away peacefully with her family at her bedside Wednesday, March 24, 2021, at Peak Healthcare at Hartley Hall in Pocomoke City, Md. Born Oct. 8, 1924, in Sanford, she was the daughter of the late Russell Lee Godwin and the late Ruth Marshall Godwin.

Hazel served in real estate investment, owning Sharoak Mobile Home Park in New Church, The Berry Patch Flower Shop in Parksley, and Church Street Peddlers flower and gift shop on Chincoteague Island. In her younger years she was a nurse and owned Terry's Nursing Home in Ohio. She will also be remembered for serving at Twin Towers in Pocomoke City.

Hazel is survived by two daughters, Cheryl Laurence, of Salisbury, and Constance Holland, of Henderson, Nev.; one son, Edward R. Procaccio (Sharon), of Sanford; one son-in-law, Clark Adams, of Pocomoke City; and numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by one son, Robert Murray; one daughter, Janyce Ruth Adams; one sister, Colleen Linton; and one brother, Donald Wayne Godwin.

A visitation was held Monday, March 29, 2021, at the Holloway Funeral Home in Pocomoke City, followed by the funeral service. Interment was in the family mausoleum in Downing Cemetery, Oak Hall.

Arrangements are in the care of Holloway Funeral Home, 107 Vine St., Pocomoke City, MD 21851.

Sarah Catherine Taylor

Ms. Sarah Catherine Taylor, 17, of Onancock, passed away at her residence on March 28, 2021. She is the daughter of Angela Taylor and stepfather, Devon Fairhurst, and the late Turner Mapp Taylor. She was born March 19, 2004, in Nassawadox.

Sarah was a very determined and strong-willed young lady. With her vibrant personality and laugh she would light up the room, but at the same time would tell you exactly what she thought whether you liked it or not. She was an avid sports fan and loved watching and playing the game. She loved her New York Yankees and Dallas Cowboys. She has played softball since she was a little girl. She was the catcher and third baseman for Central Accomack Little League and the Virginia Legends. Her love for softball was like no other. She played basketball at Nandua High School and was the only girl who played football at Broadwater Academy. Her love was in the kitchen cooking a meal for everyone. Being in the kitchen cooking was her happy place. She worked in the kitchen at Bizzotto's Restaurant and was learning from her mentor Miguel. She would do anything he asked of her and thoroughly enjoyed cooking next to him. The staff at Bizzotto's often said that she was a breath of fresh air in the kitchen and a very hard working young lady.

Ms. Taylor

In addition to her loving mother and stepfather, she is survived by two sisters, Courtney Taylor and Meghan Taylor, both of Onancock; maternal grandparents, Jerry and Dawn Lewis, of Watts-ville; paternal grandfather, Samuel Taylor, and his wife, Marji, of Craddockville; two aunts, Tonya Beasley, of Sanford, and Dorothy Tadder and her husband, Mark, of Virginia Beach; and numerous cousins. She was predeceased by her paternal grandmother, Georgie Mae Taylor, and uncle, Coley Beasley.

A graveside service will be conducted Saturday, April 3, 2021, at 2 p.m., at Belle Haven Cemetery with Pastor David Sabatino and the Rev. David Booth officiating. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Central Accomack Little League, P.O. Box 486, Onancock, Virginia 23417.

Online condolences may be sent to the family at www.doughtyfuneralhome.com

Arrangements were made by Doughty Funeral Home in Exmore.

Raymond F. Waechter

Mr. Raymond "Ray" F. Waechter, 74, of Downingtown, Pa., died in the company of family at his home Wednesday, March 24, 2021.

Born Oct. 22, 1946, in Bridgeton, N.J., he was the son of the late Frank R. Waechter and the late Mary (nee Colona) Waechter. He is survived by his wife of 45 years, Elizabeth "Betsy" (nee Buikema) Waechter, and his two children, Jessica Wabler (Brian), of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Kirk Waechter (Lexi), of Collingswood, N.J. He has three grandchildren: Matthew Wabler, Annalise Wabler, and Kyle Waechter.

He is also survived by his sister, Mary Walker; and his brothers, Dennis Waechter (Lisa), Timothy Waechter, and James Waechter (Stacey), as well as many nieces and nephews.

Ray was a proud graduate of Bridgeton High School, class of 1964. He earned a degree from the Pennsylvania Institute of Technology. He loved fishing and spending time on the Eastern Shore of Virginia. He was a member of the Brandywine Goddard Lodge #383 F&AM, a trustee of the Coatesville Royal Arch Chapter #267, a member of Centennial Commandery #55, and Goodwin Council #19.

Masonic services were held Tuesday, March 30, 2021 at Harris Mountain Funeral Home, 1030 E. Lincoln Highway, Coatesville, PA. A Funeral Mass was celebrated at Our Lady of the Rosary Church, 80 S. 17th Ave., Coatesville, PA.

In Ray's memory, memorial contributions can be made to Our Lady of the Rosary Church at the above address.

In Touch Academy Partners With Accomack Schools for After-School Services

By Carol Vaughn

In Touch Academy Inc. signed a memorandum of understanding with Accomack County Public Schools March 24 to provide after-school services to students.

“It’s an agreement that we’re going to work together with two of the elementary schools, Accawmacke Elementary and Metompkin,” said Pastor Willie D. Justis, program director of In Touch Academy.

The academy in the past has offered summer and after-school programs to provide extra assistance to at-risk students.

Now it is applying for a $150,000, three-year grant through the federal 21st Century Community Learning Centers program.

The application deadline is April 9 and grant awards will be announced in July.

In Touch Academy plans to hold its programs at Mary Nottingham Smith Cultural Enrichment Center in Accomack, as it has previously.

The Title IV grant program supports the creation of opportunities for academic enrichment during non-school hours for children, particularly students who attend high-poverty and low-performing schools. The program helps students meet state and local standards in core academic subjects, such as reading and mathematics; offers students enrichment activities that complement regular academic programs; and offers literacy and other educational services to the families of participating children.

“What they are trying to do is they are trying to get more community involvement with the school systems,” said Rhonda Hall, assistant superintendent of instruction for Accomack County Public Schools.

After In Touch Academy’s board of directors proposed partnering with the school district, “We decided it was something that we wanted to offer our kids, because of course, any time we can provide kids with some extra assistance, that’s what we want to do,” Hall said.

“Our goal is to serve 100 kids a week,” Justis said.

The school district will provide transportation for students who attend after-school programs at MNS and In Touch Academy tutors will stay in touch with students’ teachers, with parents’ permission, to communicate about how best to help each student.

“We want it to be a smooth transition, and seamless, so that they can continue working with what the teachers are working with,” Hall said.

The Virginia Department of Education earlier this year invited school divisions, nonprofit organizations, local government agencies, faith-based organizations, colleges and universities, and for-profit corporations to apply for grants through the program.

“Community learning centers will play an important role in supporting the efforts of school divisions to mitigate the impact of the pandemic on student learning and help students to make up the ground that they have lost,” Superintendent of Public Instruction James Lane said in January, when the invitation was announced.

The federal grant program was authorized by the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act of 2015.

Grants are awarded on a competitive basis. VDOE expects to award around 30 three-year grants of $50,000 to $200,000 per year and will give priority to applications that meet one or more of the following criteria:

- Joint applications between at least one school division and at least one public or private community organization.
- Proposals to serve students in schools that are identified for federal support and improvement.
- Proposals to serve students in middle or high schools.
- Proposals to serve students who attend schools with a free and reduced-price lunch eligibility rate of 75% or greater.

Justis said if COVID-19 protocols allow, In Touch Academy plans to hold a modified summer camp program and to start the full after-school program in fall.

Accomack County Circuit Court

A Newport News man will spend 10 years in the penitentiary for striking his wife with his fist, breaking her jaw and other bones in her face, and for violation of his probation for an earlier crime. Demarco Montell Moore, 39, pleaded not guilty of malicious wounding in a three-hour bench trial in January.

According to testimony, his wife picked him up at the Accomack Jail on the evening of Sunday, Nov. 3, 2019. Moore was serving weekends for another conviction. The couple began to immediately argue over his accusation that she was with another man while he was in jail. They drove to the Regal Inn in Onley where she had rented a room for the weekend. He soon left with friends who stopped by. When he returned, he was intoxicated and the arguing continued.

The woman testified she was in bed when Moore jumped across the bed and punched her in the face. He then made a phone call and ordered her to take him to an apartment complex in Mel-fa. She did as she was told, then drove herself to the hospital emergency room. An ER doctor testified the woman had multiple facial fractures. Because of the severity of her injuries, the victim was transferred to the Norfolk Sentara shock trauma center, he said.

"The commonwealth is very familiar with Mr. Moore," said Commonwealth's Attorney Spencer Morgan at Moore's sentencing. He said the defendant had a long history of assaults. "He is a dangerous, violent drunk," he said. He was convicted in 2017 for shooting into a car where a former girlfriend was driving with her family and was on probation for that crime when he attacked his wife, Morgan told the court.

Judge W. Revell Lewis III sentenced Moore to six years with five suspended for probation violation and 20 years with 11 suspended for malicious wounding. He will be on indefinite probation when released.

Bail was denied for Latrell Rashawn

Davis, 41, of Onancock. Davis is charged with robbery and larceny from a person.

Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney William Fox described Davis as having "quite a violent history." He said Davis was currently on probation for his conviction of assault and battery of a family member.

Defense attorney Tucker Watson said his client was "on track paying restitution" but still owes almost $6,000 for a 2019 conviction of welfare fraud.

After hearing the evidence and testimony of witnesses presented by Watson, Judge Lewis said the presumption against bond in this case had not been rebutted. "The court will deny bail," he said.

Robert Knoulton Bradley, 42, of Horntown, pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine.

The Eastern Shore Drug Task Force received a complaint about Bradley from a person at Trails End campground. When members of the task force arrived, they saw Bradley driving away. They followed him to Fleming Road where they saw him throw something out of his car and into the parking lot at Dublin Farms. The item was recovered and tested; it was found to be a glass smoking device containing cocaine residue.

"He denied throwing anything from the car," said Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Fox. Bradley is set to be sentenced June 24.

Brian Keith Boyce, 31, of Greenbackville, pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and petty larceny in a plea agreement with the commonwealth. The prosecution agreed to dismiss the larceny charge in exchange for his plea of guilty to the burglary charge.

Boyce broke into the home of a couple for whom he occasionally worked. He entered the home through a window and stole a laptop computer. He attempted to sell the computer to a person who trafficked in narcotics. Boyce ultimately admitted he broke into the house and took the computer. He will be sentenced on May 6.

Jonathan Edward Barrett, 40, of New Church, was sentenced to two years with all that time suspended for possession of a firearm by a convicted felon.

Barrett called police when he was involved in a domestic dispute he feared would escalate. When they arrived at his home, they noticed a rifle propped in a corner. Barrett admitted it was his and said he used it for hunting. He was arrested and spent 12 days in jail when his record revealed an earlier felony conviction.

"He was trying to de-escalate the situation," said defense attorney Garrett Dunham. He said Barrett was convicted of a DUI, second offense, in New York which is a felony there. He asked that his client be sentenced below the guidelines.

"This case is somewhat unusual in that the underlying felony would not be a felony in Virginia," said Judge Lewis. "There was a rifle in a corner of the room. You said you hunt. This case is worthy of going below the guidelines."

He sentenced Barrett to two years, all suspended, and ordered him to be on supervised probation for two years, with good behavior for five years.

Kevin Leigh Taylor, 49, of Parksley, pleaded guilty to eluding, DUI, and making a threat in text messages to kill or do bodily injury to his brother.

In May 2020, Taylor was arrested for sending threatening text messages to his brother. In July 2020, Taylor was spotted speeding past the sheriff's office in Accomac. He ignored police lights and siren and led officers on a chase through the Greenbush and Leemont areas. When finally stopped, he was found to be intoxicated. He was convicted of these charges in Nov. 2020.

At that time, the court allowed Taylor to attend a drug rehabilitation program in North Carolina. "I learned a lot about myself and the path I had taken," he told the judge. He said since leaving the program he attended church, AA meetings, community services board counseling, and had repeated negative drug tests.

Defense attorney Tucker Watson

asked the court to sentence Taylor at or below the low end of the guidelines. "Incarceration will be detrimental to his progress," he said. "He will be missing counseling appointments and AA and will be back to square one."

Commonwealth's Attorney Spencer Morgan admitted people can change, but recited Taylor's lengthy criminal history beginning in 1986 as a juvenile. He expressed concern that the change had not taken hold.

"You have made changes in your life," said Judge Lewis. "Have you really changed or just changed to avoid punishment," he asked. "We will find out."

He sentenced Taylor to five years, all but time served suspended, for making threats in writing; five years, all suspended, for felony eluding; and 12 months, all suspended, for DUI. He ordered him to be on supervised probation for three years and on good behavior for 10 years. He ordered him also to have no contact with his brother Gregory Taylor or his family.

Aleakie Treonte Tazewell, 21, of Ex-more, pleaded guilty to carrying a concealed weapon, possession of ammunition by a convicted felon, brandishing a firearm, and assault and battery of a family member.

"He has amassed quite a criminal history for one so young," said Commonwealth's Attorney Morgan.

Defense attorney Tucker Watson said Tazewell was convicted of a felony as a juvenile "who made bad choices." He said also that Tazewell had missed the births of two of his children, one newborn and one six months old due to his incarceration. He said his client wanted to get "steady, good work" to support his children.

"Have you received your $1,400 stimulus money yet?" asked Judge Lewis. The defendant said he had not. He suggested Tazewell might send that money to the mothers of the two children when he gets it. He ordered Tazewell to spend nine months of active jail time with six years and six months of suspended time. He is to be on supervised probation for three years and on good behavior for five years.

TODAY'S WORD

Even Exchange

by Donna Pettman

Each numbered row contains two clues and two 6-letter answers. The two answers differ from each other by only one letter, which has already been inserted. For example, if you exchange the A from MASTER for an I, you get MISTER. Do not change the order of the letters.

GO FIGURE!

by Linda Thistle

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

HEADS IN THE CLOUDS! With a little imagination, you should be able to pick out at least 15 people who have their heads in the clouds.

TIME OUT! One night, during a storm, lightning struck the Town Hall clock, sending the face of the clock to the ground, where it broke into three pieces. On examination, it was noted that the numbers on each piece added up to 26. Can you figure out how the face of the clock was broken?

YOUR AGE IS! Did you know that you can tell how old a person is just by knowing what their shoe size is? Here's how:

1. Have the person write down his or her shoe size (forget half sizes).
2. Tell him to multiply the size by 2.
3. Have him add 5 to the result.
4. Next, he must multiply the sum by 50.
5. Now tell him to add the "magic number" 1748 to the product.
6. Finally, tell him to subtract the year of his birth from the previous sum.

You now ask him what number he is left with. You'll find that the last two digits will be the person's age on his birthday this year. (Each year the magic number is increased by 1. This year, 1998 is 1748; next year, 1999 is 1749, etc.)

Broadwater Ends Football Season Undeclared

3/27/21

Vikings 60

Knights 41

By Brennan Waldorf

Broadwater Academy has officially completed its first eight-man league season in a triumphant manner. “It was different but a lot of fun. Kids were just glad to play, man” said head coach Eddie Spencer on the year.

The Vikings traveled to Powhatan, Va., to take on the Blessed Sacrament-Huguenot Knights on March 27, for the final game of the season. They defeated the Knights 60-41 completing the program’s first undefeated season in 54 years. The Vikings’ high powered, senior-driven offense bulldozed all its opponents this season and capped it off with a 33-point lead going into the final quarter against the Knights.

Senior Gunnar Gustafson put on a show for the last time in his Viking career, ending the game with 241 yards on the ground and two rushing touchdowns. Gustafson did just as much damage in the air with 155 receiving yards, four receiving touchdowns, and a passing touchdown to finish the day with seven touchdowns. Senior quarterback Brant Bloxom also starred for the Vikings, finishing the game with six touchdowns, five in the air and one on the ground.

Despite the shortened season, standout Gustafson ended the season with 887 rushing yards, 396 receiving yards, and 22 touchdowns. An astronomical number for the small sample size of just four games but it’s nothing new to Gustafson. “Gunnar is a special athlete. (I) knew he was going to be something when I first saw him in sixth grade. He was our go-to guy,” said Spencer.

Gustafson started his football career at Broadwater with the same group of seniors and built one of the biggest resumes the Vikings have ever seen. In his time with the Vikings he broke multiple school records including most rushing yards in a season with 2,588. He amassed 6,378 total yards in his career and found the end zone a whopping 69 times. The specialist was remarkable on returns, daring teams to kick to him throughout his career. He finished averaging 24.9 yards per return and 9.3 yards per carry for the Vikings.

The Vikings will retire 10 seniors this year. Next year the underclassman will have big shoes to fill as Broadwater will embark upon its first full eight-man season. “It’s going to be hard to replace them (seniors), a great group of kids” said Eddie Spencer of his senior class.

Yellow Jackets Fall on the Road

3/26/21
Pointers 47
Jackets 21

By Brennan Waldorf

The Northampton Yellow Jackets were on the road last week as they traveled to West Point Military Academy in West Point, Va. The Jackets fell 21-47 to the 2-2 Pointers, who currently sit third behind King and Queen Central and King William in the Tidewater district.

Leading running back junior Dustin Splawn led the Jackets on offense taking his 23 touches for 127 yards and three scores in the road loss.

Liam Flynn completed six of his 13 attempts for 65 yards with Alex Courtney being the beneficiary on receiving with three catches for 25 yards.

The Jackets' defense generated two forced fumbles in the game and was led by Splawn who had 6.5 tackles. Northampton will take the field again Friday, April 2, at 7 p.m., for the first round of the Region A playoffs against Northumberland High School.

Daniela Gonzalez Finishes First

By Brennan Waldorf

Northampton's reigning girls district cross-country champion, Daniela Gonzalez, continued her winning ways this week March 29. The senior took first place in the girls division for the Jackets in a four-team meet against Southampton, Franklin, and Windsor. Gonzalez was one of the Shore's best runners last year. After a third-place finish in the region she advanced to the state tournament where she finished 33 out of 105 runners. She completed the course in 22:01 on Monday at Southampton High and was followed by teammate Carrie Watson who finished second with a time of 27:23.

J.T. Applegate led the boys division for the Jackets finishing sixth overall with a time of 20:18. Nolan Hein was right behind Applegate finishing in eight place with a time of 20:23. The Jackets will be preparing for the Region A tournament set to begin after spring break Monday, April 12.

Osprey-Eyed Reader Contest: Follow the Rules or You'll Have Egg on Your Face

Last Week's Contest: Find Fleurs, Get Chicken

Six fleurs-de-lis were on pages 21, 26, 27 (two), 33, and 35. Of the 44 readers who found all six, Carolyn Weatherly, of Bloxom, was randomly chosen to win the Super Tailgate dinner from Bojangles in Onley.

This Week's Contest: Claim a Fake, Get No Cake

It's April Fools' Day week so be careful and don't let these rules make a fool of you. This week we are hiding eggs like this:

We are also hiding eggs like this:

But these are not the legitimate clues that will win you status as a contestant. This week's certified clue is a cartoon rabbit holding an egg on its back. We've hidden four of them. If you claim any other clue, your entry will be disqualified and for this April Fools' Day week, there will be no second chances.

Readers who find all four rabbits (each with an egg on its back) will become contestants and, from that pool, one lucky osprey-eyed reader will be randomly selected to win his or her choice of a Becca's Smith Island cake.

See sponsor box on this page.

The rules:

- To become a contestant, find the four rabbits (each with an egg on its back) and tell us where you found them (page number and location on the page). Send this information to david@easternshorepost.com.
- You can start sending your entries now. Entries MUST have your first and last names and your town.
- Entries will be accepted until noon on Monday, April 5. Entries arriving after noon on the 5th will not be entered in the contest.
- Do not submit multiple entries.
- Include a photograph if you choose to submit one and tell us a little something about the picture.
- Anyone submitting a photograph must have taken the picture or have permission to use it.
- The winner and as many runners-up as possible will get their photographs in the paper.

If you don't want to use your own picture, you can submit a photo of your child or a pet — or a bunny rabbit, the house you inhabit, or even a monastery's abbot. Just no feet.

Last Week's Runners-Up

Right: Each week, the osprey-eyed contest makes suggestions for readers' photographs — and finally a reader took a hint. Here's a brand-new vacuum pic from Laurie Paschall, of Cape Charles.

Left: Beth McHenry, of Parksley, said Caesar loves to be cradled like a baby and "is not dead." We're not 100% sure but we'll take McHenry's word for it.

Right: With the weather springtime-fine and a beauty like this waiting to go, James Lamberth, of Cape Charles, concluded, "Time to get ready for riding."

Left: Here are Levi and Eva in Ocean City, Md. Jessica Thornes, of Bloxom, explained, "Not only are they cousins, but best friends!"

Right: Sandy Taylor, of Atlantic, said this is her son, Austin Taylor, with evidence of what he likes to do — fishing!

Last Week's Winner

Carolyn Weatherly, of Bloxom, was the second to last osprey-eyed person to get her entry in, but that proved to be no barrier to her being randomly chosen to win the Super Tailgate dinner from Bojangles in Onley. Standing in for Weatherly is her sister's pet, Frisky, of Belle Haven — possibly not a personal protection animal but probably good at cuddles.

Random Facts About ... Mondegreens and the Many Things We Misunderstand

By David Martin

When we opened our internet tubes last week, a classic Bob Dylan song, "Blowin' in the Wind," began playing, so we sang along, "The ants are my friend, they're blowin' in the wind..."

Mondegreen is the term given to a phrase or lyric or verse that you've misheard or misinterpreted — and then your misremembered version is one you stick with until someone corrects you. At first, you might argue that your version is the correct one. After all, it has been comfortably in your brain for years. But then you look it up on Google and, yeah, now it makes more sense that in "Dancing Queen" Abba should sing "feel the beat from the tambourine" instead of the way you've been singing it ("feel the beat from the tangerine") but for years "tangerine" sounded perfectly natural to your ears.

In a 2014 New Yorker article, Maria Konnikova explained that hearing takes place in two steps. First, sound waves enter the ears and are conveyed into the brain. Second step, the brain makes meaning of those sound waves. According to Konnikova, "Mondegreens occur when, somewhere between the sound and the meaning, communication breaks down. You hear the same acoustic information as everyone else, but your brain doesn't interpret it the same way." Which is why, Konnikova says, some children wonder why Olive, the other reindeer, is so mean to Rudolph.

The term, mondegreen, was coined by Sylvia Wright back in 1954. She wrote about her mother reading to her from a book of old ballads, one of which ended with the lines: "They hae slain the Earl Amurray/ and laid him upon the green." Except Wright throughout her childhood heard those lines as having "slain the Earl Amurray and the Lady Mondegreen." Wright immortalized the nonexistent Lady Mondegreen by giving that name to the phenomenon of misheard phrases.

You're probably familiar with mondegreens created by friends of yours or by your sister who insisted on singing, "Excuse me while I kiss this guy," for the Jimi Hendrix lyric, "Excuse me while I kiss the sky," or by that creepy guy from camp who really thought Creedence Clearwater Revival's "Bad Moon Rising" was singing "There's a bathroom on the right" instead of "There's a bad moon on the rise."

Some other mondegreens that people really misheard or that might be too good to be true:

- "Hold me closer, Tony Danza." ("Hold me closer, tiny dancer." Elton John.)
- "Donuts make my brown eyes blue." ("Don't it make my brown eyes blue." Crystal Gale)
- "Her heavy head turned to ice cream, being the one." ("Then every head turned with eyes that dreamed of being the one." "Billie Jean" Michael Jackson)

So many people thought they heard dirty lyrics in the 1963 song "Louie, Louie" that the FBI investigated over two years, playing the song at various speeds, forward and backward, eventually producing a 140-page report. In spite of the dirty minded mondegreens claimed by others, including the governor of Indiana who had the song banned in his state, the men in black couldn't decipher any clearly naughty words in "Louie, Louie."

Since it's often among the first things a child has to memorize, the Pledge of Allegiance is a frequent victim of mondegreens, with one nation being recited as "invisible" under God instead of "indivisible," which, let's face it, is a hard word for people of any age.

Finally, we would like to stamp out a mondegreen version of an honored lyric that goes, "Beans, beans, the musical fruit ..." and you know the rest of it. The mondegreen version has beans as "the magical fruit." Nothing magical about beans unless you're talking about the Jack and the Beanstalk story. The verse in question has nothing to do with Jack or his freakish beanstalk. It's about the musical, not the magical, qualities of beans. People, please. Let's preserve our history and get this one right. Do it for the children.

Health Matters Coping with Stress During COVID-19

Courtesy of the Centers for Disease Control

The COVID-19 pandemic has had a major effect on many people's lives. Many are facing challenges that can be stressful, overwhelming, and cause strong emotions in adults and children. Public health actions, such as social distancing, are necessary to reduce the spread of COVID-19, but they can make people feel isolated and lonely and can increase stress and anxiety. Learning to cope with stress in a healthy way will make you, the people you care about, and those around you become more resilient.

Stress can cause the following:

- Feelings of fear, anger, sadness, worry, numbness, or frustration
- Changes in appetite, energy, desires, and interests
- Difficulty concentrating and making decisions
- Difficulty sleeping or nightmares

• Physical reactions, such as headaches, body pains, stomach problems, and skin rashes

- Worsening of chronic health problems
- Worsening of mental health conditions
- Increased use of tobacco, alcohol, and other substances.

It is natural to feel stress, anxiety, grief, and worry during the COVID-19 pandemic. Below are ways that you can help yourself, others, and your community manage stress.

Healthy Ways to Cope with Stress

• Take breaks from watching, reading, or listening to news stories, including those on social media. It's good to be informed, but hearing about the pandemic constantly can be upsetting. Consider limiting news to just a couple times a day and disconnecting from phone, television, and computer screens for a while.

- Take care of your body.
- Take deep breaths, stretch, or meditate.

- Try to eat healthy, well-balanced meals.
- Exercise regularly.
- Get plenty of sleep.
- Avoid excessive alcohol, tobacco, and substance use.

• Continue with routine preventive measures (such as vaccinations, cancer screenings, etc.) as recommended by a healthcare provider.

• Get vaccinated with a COVID-19 vaccine when available.

• Make time to unwind. Try to do some enjoyable activities.

• Connect with others. Talk with people you trust about your concerns and how you are feeling.

• Connect with community- or faith-based organizations. While social distancing measures are in place, try connecting online, through social media, or by phone or mail.

Helping Others Cope

Taking care of yourself can better equip you to take care of others. During times of social distancing, it is especially important to stay connected with your friends and family. Helping others cope with stress through phone calls or video chats can help you and your loved ones feel less lonely or isolated.

Mental Health and Crisis

• If you are struggling to cope, there are many ways to get help. Call your healthcare provider if stress gets in the way of your daily activities for several days in a row.

• During times of extreme stress, people may have thoughts of suicide. Help is available.

• Free and confidential crisis resources can also help you or a loved one connect with a skilled, trained counselor in your area.

If you or someone you know is in crisis, get immediate help:

- Call 911
- National Suicide Prevention Lifeline: 1-800-273-TALK (8255) for English, 1-888-628-9454 for Spanish
- National Domestic Violence Hotline: 1-800-799-7233 or text LOVEIS to 22522
- National Child Abuse Hotline: 1-800-4AChild (1-800-422-4453) or text 1-800-422-4453
- National Sexual Assault Hotline: 1-800-656-HOPE (4673)
- Veteran's Crisis Line: 1-800-273-TALK (8255) or text: 8388255
- Disaster Distress Helpline: CALL or TEXT 1-800-985-5990 (press 2 for Spanish)

RSMH Named to Top 20 Rural/Community Hospitals

Riverside Shore Memorial Hospital announced it was recently named one of the Top 20 Rural and Community Hospitals in the country by the National Rural Health Association. This accolade is earned by the dedication of Riverside staff to bring the best possible health care delivery to the Eastern Shore.

The NRHA determined the 20 highest-ranked hospitals in the country based on an evaluation by the Chartis Center for Rural Health. The top rural and community hospitals were evaluated on their inpatient market share, outpatient market share, quality, outcomes, patient perspectives, costs, charge, and financial efficiency.

RSMH is one of only two hospitals on the East Coast to receive the Top 20 recognition this year and the only hospital in Virginia to make the Top 20 in the past five years. In 2020, RSMH was the only hospital in Virginia to be recognized in the Top 100 Rural and Community Hospitals. RSMH also earned the Top 100 honor in 2017.

RSMH will be recognized in a virtual awards ceremony during NRHA's Rural Hospital Innovation Summit May 21 in San Diego.

For more details about the award and Riverside's services visit <https://www.riversideonline.com/shore>

Chincoteague Students Color 'Unicorn Jazz' Pictures During Author Visit

Students at Chincoteague Elementary School colored pictures honoring the "Unicorn Jazz" series.

On March 11, Lisa Caprelli, award-winning author of the children's "Unicorn Jazz" stories and songs, made two virtual presentations to the young learners of Chincoteague Elementary.

Logan Speidel, third grade, said his favorite part of the book "Unicorn Jazz" was how the crow said Jazz was good at singing and how all the animals were nice to Jazz at the end of the story. He also liked how the author answered questions and had a special guest, Emily Isabel, talk about being a student and being on Broadway. Logan mentioned he would like to be in a Broadway show one day, too.

Lindsey Maguire, fifth grade, liked the question-and-answer part of the program. She especially liked hearing why the author started writing books and wrote the book "Unicorn Jazz." Lindsey also liked the song in the story and hearing from the special guest, Emily Isabel.

Beckley Farrell, kindergarten, said she liked how the story was about unicorns and she likes unicorns because they are magical.

Braylen Dickerson, first grade, said her favorite part in the story was when Jazz met Woof the crow and he was nice to her and she was nice to him and they became friends. She also likes the song from the story.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

To Whom It May Concern:

The object of this proceeding is to acquire by condemnation 0.438 Acres of permanent utility easement and related rights and interests in property situated near Belle Haven, in Accomack County in the Commonwealth of Virginia, shown on a certain plat of survey captioned "EXHIBIT A' SHOWING EXISTING & PROPOSED ELECTRIC EASEMENTS Part of H.H. Jones Lot "Asa Sample Farm" (DEED BOOK 92, PAGE 382) TAX PARCEL #11900A000008800 Lot No. 1 & Lot No. 2 "Subdivision of Heirs of Samuel Scarborough" (PLAT BOOK 6, PAGE 60) TAX PARCELS # 119D00100000100, & # 119D00100000200 PUNGOTEAGUE MAGISTERIAL DISTRICT ACCOMACK COUNTY, VIRGINIA FOR OLD DOMINION ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE," dated October 30, 2013 and made by Shoreline Surveyors, and the estate, interest, and/or rights in the property are further described in the Petition and Exhibits attached thereto on file in the office of the Clerk of this Court, to which reference is hereby made for a full and accurate description thereof, and to ascertain just compensation to the owners of any estate or interest in the property to be taken or affected as a result of the taking and use thereof by the Petitioner.

For such purposes, the Petitioner will apply to the Court, sitting at 23316 Courthouse Avenue, Accomack, Virginia on the 9th day of June, 2021 at 9:30 A.M., or as soon thereafter as Petitioner may be heard, for the entry of an order confirming title and for the Court to ascertain just compensation as aforesaid.

And it appearing by Affidavit filed according to law that the following owners are not residents of the Commonwealth of Virginia, or their names and addresses are not known and that diligence has been used by and on behalf of the petitioner to ascertain such names and addresses without effect: HEIRS OF ISAAC LEE SCARBOROUGH a/k/a ISAAC SCARBOROUGH, HEIRS OF AL SCARBOROUGH a/k/a ALFRED S. SCARBOROUGH, MARY D. SCARBOROUGH, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, DOROTHY E. SCARBOROUGH, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, ALPHONSO SCARBOROUGH, if he be living or his heirs if he be dead, RALPH SCARBOROUGH, if he be living or his heirs if he be dead, HEIRS OF GEORGE SCARBOROUGH a/k/a GEORGE L. SCARBOROUGH, CORRINE S. STEVENS, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, JAMES SCARBOROUGH, if he be living or his heirs if he be dead, DAVE SCARBOROUGH, if he be living or his heirs if he be dead, LAURA MAJOR, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, ROSE WRIGHT, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, KATE SCARBOROUGH, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, ALBERTINE HARMON, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, LOUISE GIDDENS, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, HESTER GIDDENS, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, JAMES H. JUBILEE, if he be living or his heirs if he be dead, RESIA TOWNSEND a/k/a THERESA S. TOWNSEND, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, LUCILLE STEVENS, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, OLEVIA STEVENS a/k/a OLIVIA STEVENS, if she be living or her heirs if she be dead, HEIRS OF MARY STEVENS, HEIRS OF LANVILLE STEVENS, JO ANN L. STEVENS JACKSON, and UNKNOWN OWNERS, including but not limited to, heirs, devisees, widows, widowers, successors in interest of, or takers by right of descent from ISAAC SCARBOROUGH a/k/a ISAAC LEE SCARBOROUGH, or ANY OTHER INDIVIDUALS OWNING AN INTEREST IN THE SUBJECT PROPERTY, as their interests may appear.

It is ordered that the aforesaid owners do appear within ten (10) days after due publication of this order in the Clerk's office of Accomack County Circuit Court and do what is necessary to protect their interests; and it is further ordered that if any of the above named owners desires to assert any objection or defense to the taking or damaging of his property or to the jurisdiction of the court to hear the case and to proceed with the empanelment of a jury, they shall file an answer and grounds of defense designating the property in which they claim to be interested, the grounds of any objection or defense to the taking or damaging of his property or to the jurisdiction of the court to hear the case and to proceed with the empanelment of a jury for the determination of just compensation. Should any such owner fail to file his or her answer and grounds of defense as hereinabove provided, such failure shall not preclude the owner from appearing on the date set for entry of an order confirming title or the empanelment of a jury nor from presenting evidence as to valuation and damage nor from sharing in the award of just compensation according to his interest therein or otherwise protecting his rights, but such failure shall preclude such owner from any other defense by way of pleas in bar, abatement or otherwise.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the foregoing portion of this order be published once a week for two successive weeks pursuant to § 25.1-210 of the Code of Virginia, 1950, as amended, in the Eastern Shore Post, a newspaper of general circulation in Accomack County, Virginia, and that the Clerk of this Court shall post this Order at the front door of the courthouse.

Public Notice

The Northampton County Wetlands Board will meet
 Wednesday, April 21 at 10:00 a.m. in the Board Chambers located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA, for the purpose of considering the following wetlands/coastal primary sand dunes matters under public hearing and to conduct regular business.

VMRC 2021-0137: Lloyd and Sue Kellam are applying for a permit to construct a vinyl bulkhead of approximately 148 linear feet with an accompanying rip rap toe scour apron. The property is located at 2300 Vineyard Lane and is further described as Tax Map 2-A-25.

Anyone interested in the above matters should attend the scheduled public hearing. The applications may be viewed in the Planning, Permitting, and Enforcement Office located at 16404 Courthouse Road in Eastville, VA. Written comments can be submitted to the Planning, Permitting, and Enforcement Office P.O. Box 538, Eastville, VA 23347.

Notice of Public Hearing

The Cape Charles Town Council will hold a public hearing on Thursday, April 15, 2021, at 6:30 p.m., in the Cape Charles Civic Center, 500 Tazewell Avenue, to receive comment on a request made by Patina Green, LLC dba Suzy's Old Fashioned Frozen Custard for a conditional rezoning of 303 Jefferson Avenue (tax map # 83A1-184C) and 309 Jefferson (tax map # 83A1-1-81C) from Residential - 1 (R-1) to Commercial - 1 (C-1). The conditional re-zoning would enable the addition of a golf cart drive-thru service window to the existing structure and improved exterior seating. The intent is to operate a frozen custard shop with a golf cart drive-thru service.

The application is available for public review at www.capecharles.org, under Agendas and Minutes, Town Council. Please contact the Planning Department at 331-2036, or by email at planner@capecharles.org if you have any questions or require additional information.

Northampton Clerk of Court Traci Johnson Making History

By Jean Flynn

For Women's History Month 2021, Northampton County has been honoring women who have recorded, preserved, and chronicled the county's history.

Northampton has the oldest, continuous court records in the United States. Keeping the records is a job that belongs to the office of clerk of court, which has been preserving our records since 1632. It is fitting, therefore, to recognize Traci Johnson, the current clerk of court and the first woman elected to the office of circuit court clerk in Northampton County.

Traci Johnson is a lifelong resident of the Shore, serving the public through the clerk's office for more than 26 years. According to a re-election press release she has been "Serving first as a Deputy Clerk with her mentor, the late Kenneth Arnold, previous Clerk of the Circuit Court, she was then appointed acting Clerk until a special election to fulfill the remaining four years of his term." Johnson was elected to the job in 2003 and is currently serving her 18th year as clerk of court.

What are the duties of the clerk of the court and why is it important?

Traci Johnson said "The office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court dates from 1619. From those early days until the present, the clerk's duties have changed significantly, but the office remains vitally important to the residents of Northampton County."

Information from the press release lists the many jobs a clerk of the court is expected to do, "The Code of Virginia lists over 800 separate responsibilities for the Clerk, many of which are highly complex and challenging. In addition to creating and maintaining all court files and records, the Clerk also serves as the recorder of deeds and probate judge, issues marriage licenses and is the official court administrator for all civil and criminal court cases."

Why are Northampton County's records designated as the oldest, continuous?

Court records were ordered to be sent to Richmond during the Civil War. Northampton did not comply for two reasons. "Transportation would have been very difficult across the Chesapeake Bay," Johnson explained in an interview with Cooperative Living in the July 2019 issue.

"But, mostly, legend has it our residents were eating, drinking and being merry with the Union general and didn't feel the records were threatened. True or not, our records survived the war while others were burned. Now, they are a national treasure."

"As gatekeeper of the Oldest Continuous Court Records in America, Johnson spends quality time educating children of all ages, including those young at heart, about local history and the fame that sets Northampton County records apart from the rest of Virginia and the nation," Johnson said in a 2015 press release.

She hosts tours for busloads of students and also travels to schools to share history and local government information with the students, often presenting fun facts during appropriate sessions of standards of learning lessons. "Exploring the Oldest Continuous Court Records," compiled by Johnson, Frances Bibbins Latimer, and Jean M. Mihalyka, is a collection of Northampton County historical records that Johnson uses to share the wonder and significance of the county's historic records.

Viewing Court Records

Anyone who wishes to explore the oldest continuous court records may make an appointment with the clerk's office. You can reach the office at 757-678-0465. Visits to the clerk's office are welcomed but by appointment only while we remain under the Judicial Emergency Orders. This is for the safety of everyone; should there be an exposure to COVID-19, there is a record of whom to contact for quarantine.

The record room is set up with plenty of space and is very user-friendly. The office can help orient visitors to the room and let them search on their own and make copies for themselves. There is a court order banning electronics so if anyone needs a laptop they must get special permission from the office ahead of time.

Traci Johnson

Thank you to Traci L. Johnson for doing the big job of continuing to keep our county — and national — treasure accurate and safe for us and for posterity.

History isn't made in the past. It is created right here in the present.

Jean E. Flynn is the website content coordinator for Northampton County. She lives on her farm in Bridgetown with her husband, Terry, and sons, Forest and Liam.
