New Eastern Shore Library in Parksley Plagued by Construction Delays

By Carol Vaughn

Delays continue to plague the library construction project underway in Parksley.

The current completion date, according to the contract, is Jan. 28, 2022.

The project as a whole is around 75% complete, according to Accomack County Administrator Mike Mason.

The Accomack County Board of Supervisors went into executive session at Wednesday's meeting to discuss legal matters related to construction contracts for the Eastern Shore Regional Library and Heritage Center.

The roof has been one area of concern.

It was 67% complete, including stored materials, as of Nov. 8. Ground was broken on the library in October 2019.

A change order to the contract was approved in June, changing the roof design on the portion of the building that formerly was a grocery store.

Supply chain issues caused significant delays in receiving materials needed to begin that work and, as a result, the subcontractor responsible for the roof moved on to other projects, according to Mason.

He said work on the roof resumed Nov. 8.

The contract total to date is $4.78

Broadband Companies Challenge VATI Application

By Carol Vaughn

Two companies filed challenges to the Eastern Shore of Virginia Broadband Authority's application for a Virginia Telecommunications Initiative grant, which, if approved, would give $12.3 million in state funds to expand the broadband network in Accomack and Northampton counties.

ESVBA Executive Director Robert Bridgham received an Oct. 28 letter informing the authority that Charter/Spectrum and Declaration Networks Group are challenging the application, claiming there is an overlap of service at 25 megabits per second and download and 3 megabits per second upload speed.

The ESVBA had until Nov. 18 to submit a rebuttal.

The Department of Housing and Community Development, the agency that oversees the VATI grants, asked for more detailed information about how the ESVBA determined that the properties within the project area are unserved and the methodology used to determine the project's overlap with existing services.

The challengers must demonstrate that more than 10% of serviceable units for wire line projects and 25% for wireless projects in the project area already have access to high-speed internet, Mason told the Accomack County Board of Supervisors Wednesday.

"Spectrum claims it already serves more than 10% of the service area designated in the ESVBA application," he said, adding Spectrum asked for and was granted an exemption under the Freedom of Information Act, meaning certain data is not available to the ESVBA, "making detailed rebuttal difficult for the broadband authority," according to Mason.

million and the project is still within the current approved budget.

The county received information from two subcontractors, Peninsula Roofing Inc. and Virginia Stucco Company, saying they had not been paid by the general contractor, R.H. Contracting Inc., for work they had done and materials they provided for the library project.

The amounts owed and reported past due by the subcontractors were $22,800 to Peninsula Roofing and $58,270 to Virginia Stucco, according to information provided by Accomack County in response to a request for information made by the Post.

Under the contract, the general contractor is to pay each subcontractor no later than seven days after receiving payment from the county.

The county's review determined R.H. Contracting had been properly paid by the county for the work and/or materials provided by the two subcontractors.

The county on Oct. 19 notified R.H. Contracting it had received notice some subcontractors had not been paid and requested the general contractor to provide evidence it had paid all its subcontractors and suppliers the amounts the county had paid R.H. Contracting for the completed work.

The general contractor did not provide the evidence the county asked for within the allotted time. As result, the county notified R.H. Contracting on Nov. 5 Accomack County intended to terminate the contract with the company for cause if the company did not cure its default within seven days of receiving the notice.

Peninsula Roofing notified the county on Nov., 9 that the general contractor had paid the amount owed.

R.H. Contracting on Nov. 10 notified the county by letter that the company intended to pay Virginia Stucco on Friday, Nov. 12.

The county as of Wednesday was waiting for confirmation from Virginia Stucco that the payment was made, according to Mason.

Supervisor Robert Crockett called the FOIA exemption "ridiculous."

Additionally, "DNG claims ... that 38% of the 14,515 proposed service locations are serviceable by DNG," including 768 locations in Captains Cove, Mason said.

The DHCD will notify the ESVBA and the challengers of its decision about the challenges by Dec. 3, according to the letter.

In answer to a question from Supervisor Harris Phillips about the grant program, Mason said the Virginia Association of Counties held a session on broadband at its conference "and this issue came up."

"There were various concerns and complaints about the challenge process," he said.

The proposed ESVBA project includes two main areas in Northampton and Accomack, including a five-phase project in Captains Cove in northern Accomack County.

The total cost is around $15.6 million to build 269 miles of fiber network, which will pass by 14,526 potential customers, according to the budget narrative in the grant application.

Around $3.3 million will come from matching funds from the counties and the broadband authority.

Around 146 miles of the expansion, including 9,333 potential users, will be in Accomack County, including nearly 36 miles of underground installations. Around 123 miles, including 5,193 passings, will be in Northampton.

Of the total number, 14,227 are residences, 291 are home-based businesses, and eight are community "anchor institutions."

The project if approved will ensure broadband coverage of all eligible areas in both counties by 2024, according to the application.

The area chosen is a priority because of the low population density, the long distance to homes and businesses, and the high capital cost for private providers, which makes providing service there too expensive for both providers and potential customers, according to the application.

Farm Bureau Brings Rail-Trail Concerns to Northampton Supervisors

By Stefanie Jackson

At the direction Canonie Atlantic, the company that owns the Eastern Shore's 49-mile railroad, the removal of unused track has begun, marking the beginning of the region's rails-to-trails project, but it does not have the full support of the public, Northampton County supervisors learned at their Nov. 9 meeting.

"Northampton County Farm Bureau supports opportunities for increased economic development, which includes tourism, but not at the detriment of existing businesses and residents of the county," said Kyle Sturgis, the organization's president.

He opposes the rails-to-trails project as proposed because it would disrupt farming activities and create additional liabilities for farmers.

A paved bicycle trail is planned for construction on the railroad right of way that will remain in place after the tracks are removed. However, there are several ways in which trail users could negatively impact the farmlands on which the right of way is located:

- Pesticide application would be disrupted.
  - Bikers and hikers could venture off the trail and cause harm to themselves or farm property.
  - Children could play on or around nearby farm equipment.
  - Vegetable crops could be damaged or stolen.
  - Irrigation ponds, which pose safety hazards, would be more accessible.
  - Hunters and four-wheelers could more easily access private property.
- Sturgis also was concerned about the potential liability of using farm equipment near the trail and possibly damaging the trail.

To keep out trespassers, fences and vegetative buffers could be installed, but those are expensive solutions, he said.

The Farm Bureau will continue to oppose the rails to trails project until county officials work with the organization on a plan addressing its concerns, Sturgis said.

Supervisor John Coker recommended also presenting those concerns to Accomack supervisors and the Accomack-Northampton Transportation District Commission.

Neither is Exmore business owner Ken Dufty "a big fan" of rails to trails.

He bought property on the railroad after ANTDC board member Spencer Murray assured him the tracks would never be removed. Now Murray supports removing the tracks and selling the steel at the cost of its removal, Dufty contended.

Duffy supports leaving the tracks in place for tourism-related rail service or another use.

State Legislative Priorities

County Administrator Charlie Kolakowski has met with Northampton's representatives in the Virginia General Assembly, Del. Robert Bloxom and Sen. Lynwood Lewis, to review the county's legislative priorities for 2022.

Northampton and Accomack counties are seeking permanent state funding from the Cost of Competing Adjustment (COCA) program, which would allow both counties to offer higher salaries to teachers and compete in the labor market with nearby school districts in Maryland and Hampton Roads. This year, the two counties were granted a one-time COCA award of $2 million, of which Northampton's share was $362,000.

Northampton will continue to seek state funding for harbor and boat ramp maintenance and dredging. State funding for these types of projects often is provided in the form of Virginia Port Authority grants.

The county also is seeking assistance for the cost of upgrading sewer infrastructure. Kolakowski noted that Cape Charles and Exmore's sewer systems are in "severe need for rehabilitation."

Affordable housing for low-income families and workforce housing (affordable housing for middle-income workers and their families) are in high demand, the county administrator said.

Virginia Department of Transportation funding is needed to make improvements to roads, sidewalks, and storm sewers.

internet is also needed, including funding to coordinate efforts of internet service providers to avoid duplication of services, Kolakowski said.

High School Curriculum

Supervisor Oliver Bennett, who is also a teacher at Northampton High School, submitted a letter from some of his fellow teachers, which was read into the public record.

The high school teachers are using a new curriculum this year, which was purchased from Hampton City Schools for $20,000. Northampton County Public Schools also spent $250,000 on supplemental materials and subscriptions, the letter stated.

These expenditures are “mind boggling,” considering the new curriculum is not compatible with many of the high school’s course offerings. Teachers must create pacing guides for the new curriculum, and those guides may not be useful next year if the current block schedule system is discontinued, the letter said.

Northampton teachers do not receive additional compensation for writing the pacing guides, and “to add insult to injury,” the Hampton City teachers who wrote the curriculum receive a “dividend” or bonus every time the curriculum is purchased by an outside source.

Eastville Inn Lease

Stuart Oliver spoke during the citizens information period on behalf of his wife, Louise Oliver, who runs the Kitchen Sync catering business out of the historic Eastville Inn owned by Northampton County and leased by the Olivers.

Kitchen Sync has operated in the Eastville Inn for about six years, and the Olivers deem the catering business an “appropriate use” of the inn, considering several restaurants that have operated in the inn did not prove successful in the long term.

Stuart Oliver believed Northampton officials would prefer a long-term lease or sale of the Eastville Inn to another restaurant owner, even though “many have tried and all have failed,” he said.

Oliver does not expect anyone will make the county an acceptable offer for the Eastville Inn because its acquisition and renovation would be unaffordable to a “non-subsidized entity,” he said.

The Olivers would like to enter a new lease agreement with the county for the Eastville Inn. They have paid the rent on the inn on time and in full every month, even throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, Stuart Oliver noted.

It would be better to keep a reliable tenant than “gamble on a new venture,” he said.

The previous lease agreement stated that the Eastville Inn must offer lunch service several days every week; Louise Oliver had settled on every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, with an opening date of July 6.

But at the eleventh hour, in late June, county supervisors decided the lease would be up in September and the Olivers would be allowed to rent the inn on a month-to-month basis thereafter.

Stuart Oliver said if he and his wife hadn’t been hit with the termination notice, lunch service would be available at the Eastville Inn now.

He told supervisors that he and his wife will submit a new lease offer soon, which will include a rent increase and lunch service to become available within one month of the start of the lease term.

Broadband

Dufty encouraged Northampton officials to continue working to make broadband (high-speed internet) available throughout the county.

He has had many conversations in his shop with younger couples – people in their 30s and 40s – who enjoy visiting the Eastern Shore and appreciate the lighter traffic and reduced crime.

Many of the people Dufty has talked to work from home and need broadband, which is the “big obstacle” when they start house hunting on the Shore.

Northampton County, without universal broadband coverage, is “missing a great opportunity,” he said.

John Perkins, of Machipongo, said that broadband is unaffordable to residents who live far from a public road. He received two quotes to install broadband service at his home; Spectrum would charge $2,000 and the Eastern Shore of Virginia Broadband Authority would charge $5,000.

He told supervisors, “So if we get internet on the Shore, what you need to do is get it to the houses that are looking to get it.”

142-Unit Townhouse Project Proposed Near Captains Cove

By Carol Vaughn

CCG Note LLC is proposing to build a 142-unit townhouse development on a 24-acre parcel adjacent to and surrounded by the Captains Cove community near Greenbackville.

The company in October applied for a conditional use permit and to rezone the former Hastings/Mariner farm, which fronts on State Line Road, to the Village Development district.

"It is outside the Captains Cove development," said Deputy County Administrator of Planning and Community Development Rich Morrison.

Plans include blocks of townhouses, private roads, stormwater management features, a clubhouse and pool, and a utility building, among other features.

A farmhouse on the property would be converted to a sales office.

The Accomack County Planning Commission at its Nov. 10 meeting voted to schedule a public hearing on the applications for Dec. 8 at Metomp-kin Elementary School. However, the planning department later received a Nov. 16 letter from CCG Note LLC asking that the hearing be postponed until the January 2022 planning commission meeting.

"This will allow for all exhibits and supporting materials, including the final traffic study, to be in hand and provide additional time for community input and comment," the letter said.

All adjacent property owners will be notified about the hearing and it will be advertised in the newspaper.

A crowd of Captains Cove residents attended the Nov. 10 meeting and some expressed concerns about the project.

Resident Linda Reese during the public comment period read into the record a memorandum from Charles Ward about the proposed development.

Ward asked the planning commission to postpone setting a public hearing on rezoning the property.

In his memo, Ward said, "The application as submitted to the county staff is incomplete, fatally flawed, and should not be considered for review at this time."

"Elements of this proposal stand to impact hundreds of Captains Cove residents and thousands of property owners," the memo went on to say.

Bill Leslie, another Captain Cove resident, said residents only found out about the applications 24 hours before the meeting.

He received numerous emails after alerting residents about the proposed project, "most of which are, that they never knew it was happening, they're really concerned about it, they are in opposition of it, they want to know more about it, and they think that it's all happening too fast with absolutely no input from Captains Cove residents," he said.

Sue Burriss said she has owned property at Captains Cove since 1985.

She noted some residents, including herself, do not live full time at the Cove and said she drove three hours to attend the meeting.

She said safety, including ambulance response times, "are real concerns for the citizens of Captains Cove."

She said the impact on county resources of a 142-unit development needs to be studied.

Morrison spoke about the typical process the planning commission follows when considering an application.

The planning commission was seeing the information about the CCG Note LLC applications for the first time at the meeting, he said.

"Then, typically, a public hearing would get scheduled," he said.

He noted all information about the applications can be viewed on the county BoardDocs website, <https://go.boarddocs.com/va/coa/Board.nsf/Public>

"The planning commission can take the time it needs once the hearing is held and once, maybe, more of you speak at a public hearing. The purpose for tonight is just to introduce the application to the planning commission. Typically, we'd set the hearing and then the review begins. So this isn't unusual or out of the chute or anything — this is just process," Morrison said.

Morrison said it also is not unusual for the county to receive additional required information from applicants "between now and the public hearing."

Chris McCabe, representing CCG Note LLC, spoke about the project.

"The proposal is to do 142 fee-simple townhouse units that would be rental to begin with," he said.

Water and sewer service would be provided by Aqua, the same utility as serves Captains Cove.

McCabe said the developers have commissioned a traffic study from the highway department and have reached out to the Greenbackville Volunteer Fire Department about the proposal "and have received feedback from them as to some items that they have requested that they would like to see as part of the public safety fire service concerns."

McCabe said the developers will provide the county additional required information, including a fiscal analysis, an emergency services analysis, and information about impact on schools. A VDOT traffic study will take longer to complete, he said.

"We fully intend on having our civil engineer, our landscape architect, our traffic engineer, principals in the company, (and) myself at the public hearing to answer questions," he said.

The property is not within the Captains Cove subdivision and will not have to conform to that community's covenants and restrictions, he said. Residents also would not be able to use Captains Cove amenities without an arrangement being made with the homeowners association.

The developers have been working with Accomack County staff on the project for three to four months, he said.

"There is a disparaging shortage of workforce rentals in Accomack County, especially on the north end," McCabe said, adding that a feasibility study the property owners commissioned "showed there was a drastic workforce rental housing shortage in the whole county."

Libraries Have COVID-10 Test Kits

Submitted Article

Virginia Department of Health (VDH) announced this week its partnership with 18 libraries and library systems across the commonwealth to distribute COVID-19 rapid antigen at-home test kits at no cost. The pilot program will run through Friday, Dec. 31. Eastern Shore Public Library is participating.

Individuals can pick up a virtually-guided Abbott BinaxNow COVID-19 Antigen Card Home Test from the library, use it in the privacy of their home, and receive digital test results in 15 minutes. The program is designed to increase access to COVID-19 testing, especially among rural, remote, under-resourced communities, and other vulnerable populations.

"We are pleased to work with public libraries to provide another testing option for our community and to increase accessibility," said Dr. Laurie Forlano, deputy director, Office of Epidemiology. "Testing continues to be important to stop the spread of COVID-19, particularly as we enter the holiday season when people gather."

The at-home test kit uses the eMed digital platform. Users will need a mobile device or computer to create an account and to join a virtual testing session with an eMed assistant who guides users through the testing process. Once the test has been completed, the user will receive a test result within 15 minutes, and eMed will report the results to VDH.

Individuals can request a free test kit from their local library by calling 757-787-3400 to pick up at the library in Accomack or 757-414-0010 to pick up from the library in Nassawadox. VDH recommends that tests be used within two weeks to avoid expiration.

If you are feeling ill, call your library about contactless pick-up options or send someone to pick up the test kit for you. Individuals experiencing any COVID-19 symptoms should not enter the library.

For more information, please visit the library program webpage or email testinginfo@vdh.virginia.gov. Other testing sites/options can be found on the VDH testing locator page.

PLANNING FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Give Mom and Dad the Lifestyle They Deserve

Shorter days and turning leaves bring memories of holidays past. Mom going all out with dinner. Dad bringing home the biggest tree. Kids running all over the house. These were festive (if not chaotic) times. But the kids are older now and our parents are too.

During the holidays we all deserve to be surrounded by family and friends: sharing stories, enjoying home-cooked meals, and having the peace of mind that comes with knowing you are loved.

This is what Commonwealth Senior Living communities offer during the holidays and every day. Our families are relieved to know that their loved ones are safe, happy, and enjoying the lifestyle they deserve.

Transgender Business Owner Makes Case to Accomack School Board

By Stefanie Jackson

The Accomack school board has not taken action on its proposed policy on the treatment of transgender students since the matter was tabled Oct. 5, but a concerned citizen reminded the board Tuesday night of the policy's relevance to Accomack students.

"I can say, as a matter of fact, you have transgender children coming into your school district right now. I counsel the parents, I counsel the children, and I can tell you right now that they are afraid," said Jeannie Bale, a local business owner who is transgender and runs the Gender Expression Movement Eastern Shore support group.

"That's why they have not come out," Bale continued. "But they are here. This is not a problem in the future, this is not a problem two years down the road, this is a problem now that needs to be addressed."

Bale described the transphobia she encountered when she moved to Accomack five years ago. She had not yet come out, and she asked locals about their opinions of the transgender community so she would know which places on the Shore were safe to visit.

She "got an earful from a lot of people" but learned where to do everyday things safely like drive a car and shop — "and it's not a lot of places," Bale said.

Even though she has been berated, attacked, denied medical care, and "treated like a subhuman," Bale has stayed on the Shore because she has a reliable support group. "They're with me every single day, but these children do not have that," she said.

Transgender children who have received counseling from Bale have told her that their parents would throw them out of their homes or they would wind up "buried in a ditch" if they came out.

"This is 2021, not 1970. These children need somebody to protect them," Bale said.

Dual Enrollment

Eastern Shore Community College President James Shaeffer and Vice President Patrick Tompkins gave the school board a brief update on ESCC and its dual enrollment program.

ESCC's finances and total enrollment were struggling when Shaeffer was named the community college's new president two-and-a-half years ago, but both are now stable, Shaeffer said.

Last year, ESCC received about $400,000 more in revenue than it spent, and enrollment was up 20%, he said.

Students in the dual enrollment program, including about 190 Accomack County students, make up about 30% of ESCC's total enrollment, Tompkins said.

ESCC's dual enrollment program is "incredibly important to this community because it enables students to have access to college education at an earlier age."

Students can earn credits that can be transferred to a four-year college or applied toward a career and technical education degree or certificate.

New ESCC offerings that have been approved or may soon be approved include career studies certificate programs in automotive technology and welding. An EMT training course is expected to become available in the spring, Tompkins said.

The Virginia Community College System and the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia have passed two new initiatives called the Passport and the Uniform Certificate of General Studies (UCGS), which are accepted by any Virginia public college or university.

The Passport is a 16-credit program and the UCGS is a 32-credit program. ESCC's job is to identify which of its courses will fulfill the program requirements and set the course sequences, Tompkins said.

ESCC also will work toward creating a pathway for students to earn an associate degree through the community college's dual enrollment and summer programs.

Tompkins said, "We feel that the partnership with Accomack is very strong ... despite the pandemic."

Health Update

Accomack schools had no teachers or staff and 10 students who were positive for COVID-19 as of Nov. 16.

Bank of Cheer Needs Donations

By Bill Sterling
Special to the Eastern Shore Post

It has become a Christmas tradition for local residents, community organizations, churches, and other groups to make a donation to the Bank of Cheer. Donors know that 100 percent of their donations go to help the Bank of Cheer recipients. All labor, transportation expenses, and materials are donated.

Laura Trala annually coordinates the Bank of Cheer, which takes a lot of work and a lot of help from the community to pull off.

"I'm proud to live on the Eastern Shore, especially at a time such as this, when countless individuals come together to give of their time and resources to help those less fortunate," said Trala.

Members of several community organizations, students from area high schools, and other volunteers make the deliveries of the boxes, donated by the Hickman family of Dublin Farms in Horntown for more than 20 years now.

The boxes are filled with canned foods, flour, and other staples, and the recipients also typically get a ham or turkey.

The Foodbank of the Eastern Shore provides the base of operations for delivery day and assistance transporting food.

Recipients are selected by community leaders, who confer with ministers, organizations, and employees of Social Services departments to determine the families who most need help. Please do not call Social Services or the local media as they have no input in the selection of the recipients.

Donations are accepted by mail. Send to Bank of Cheer, c/o Laura Trala P.O. Box 646, Onley, VA 23418.

OBITUARIES

Winter Calvert Cullen III

Mr. Winter Calvert Cullen III, 84, loving husband, father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and Eastern Shore icon, passed away Thursday, Nov. 11, 2021, with his family at his side. The grandson of the late William B. Mapp and the late Mary Rogers Mapp, Winter was born June 14, 1937, at the family home in Mappsburg.

Never one to do anything halfway, Winter always went the extra mile in every aspect of his life. A Hokie through and through, Winter received his Bachelor of Science degree in agricultural economics from Virginia Tech in 1960. That same year he returned home to the Eastern Shore and married the love of his life, Mary Thom Windsor, on Sept. 17. Over the next several years, he worked on the family farm by day and officiated local high school football games by night. In 1965, Winter assumed full responsibility of the farm, successfully operating "Winmar Farms" until his retirement in 1993. In retirement he represented two of his greatest passions, working part time for the Virginia Tech Eastern Shore Agricultural Research and Extension Center for nearly two decades.

Winter was a 32-year member of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), now known as USDA Farm Service Agency, and an 18-year member of the Virginia Soybean Association Market Development Foundation, serving two terms as president and two terms on the board of directors. During his time with VSA, he was one of 35 selected to travel to Belgium, Iran, and Egypt to introduce and encourage the purchase of American soybeans. He was a lifetime member of Painter-Garrisons United Methodist Church, the Loyal Order of the Moose #683, and the National Rifle Association, as well as past member of both Little Pungo Ruritan Club and the Eastern Shore Jaycees.

A life well lived, Winter believed in working hard and playing hard. As the first person to catch a blue marlin on a private boat out of Wachapreague, he was an offshore fishing legend. If you were aboard the Soybean II, you could guarantee he was going to put you on the fish. He enjoyed going clamming, and he loved hunting ... pretty much anything. Winter rarely missed an auction and folks always knew they didn't stand a chance at taking home any Eastern Shore relics or memorabilia if he was on the front row. He loved dogs and from the time he was young, you'd rarely see him without his best bud, most recently, his yellow Lab, Patton.

Those who were fortunate enough to listen to the master storyteller, spend a day on the ocean or in the woods, cheer alongside him at a Hokie game, or share a meal and a laugh, knew a man of incredible character – the last of a dying breed. Rest in peace, "Sport."

In addition to his wife of 61 years, he is survived by his children, W. Calvert Cullen IV (Mary Jane), of Wellington, Fla., Kathy Cullen Henley, of Painter, and William Mapp Cullen (Jody), of Keller; grandchildren, Winter C. Cullen V, of Nashville, Tenn., Kristen P. Cullen, of Charlotte, N.C., Lacy V. Henley, of Williamsburg, Va., Savannah L. Henley, of Bristow, Va., Gina C. Ames (Tyler), of Melfa, and Dana C. Sexauer (Matthew), of Dalzwell, S.C.; great-granddaughters, Summer E. Ames, Carsyn F. Ames, Mattison J. Sexauer, Claire M. Sexauer, and his first great-grandson, Tyler Ames Jr., who is expected in December; nieces and nephews, Hal Floyd, Elizabeth M. Spencer, Sheila B. England, and Robert, Thomas, Terry, and David Windsor.

Funeral services were conducted from the chapel of the Williams-Onancock Funeral Home on Sunday, Nov. 14, 2021, at 1 p.m., with the Rev. Carrie Talbott officiating. Private interment followed in the Fairview Lawn Cemetery.

Contributions in Winter's memory may be made to Painter-Garrisons United Methodist Church, P.O. # Group Gets Update on Commission Examining Racial Inequity

By Stefanie Jackson

Eastern Shore Healthy Communities held a full coalition online meeting Nov. 10, during which Karen Downing made a presentation on the effort to remove systemic bias in Virginia law.

The work began in September 2019 when Gov. Ralph Northam's nine-member Commission to Examine Racial Inequity in Virginia Law was seated.

Northam established the commission by executive order 32 in June 2019, in response to a controversy involving a photo on a page about him in his Eastern Virginia Medical School yearbook. The photo showed two unidentified individuals, one in blackface and another in a Ku Klux Klan hood and robe.

Northam was called on to resign, but he remained in office and pledged to focus the remainder of his term on addressing Virginia's history of racism and inequity.

His decision to establish the commission was influenced by bills passed by the Virginia General Assembly, which repealed minimum wage exemptions left over from the Jim Crow era.

Northam directed the commission to examine Virginia's laws and regulations and recommend how they could be changed or eliminated if they "were promoting or enabling racial discrimination or inequity," Downing said.

The commission's research was assisted by law students from the University of Virginia and across the country, and it focused primarily on three historical periods: 1900 to 1910, when state legislatures were attempting to undo the progress of Reconstruction; 1918 through the 1920s, during the second rise of the Ku Klux Klan; and the mid-to-late 1950s, when Southern states were reacting to the U.S. Supreme Court decision Brown v. Board of Educa- tion, which ruled that segregation in public schools was illegal.

The commission's first report, released in December 2019, stated the Virginia Acts of Assembly and the Code of Virginia contained more than 100 instances of language that promoted or enabled racial discrimination.

The laws cited had blocked desegregation of schools, banned interracial marriages, instituted a state poll tax, required voter registrars to separate voter registrations by race, and prevented Black and White people from living in the same neighborhoods and traveling in the same rail and street cars and buses.

Many people do not realize that such laws are still "on the books," Downing said.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Virginia responded to the initial report by stating "that Jim Crow is still alive and well in Virginia, enshrined in our laws and how those laws are being used to perpetuate racism and systemic oppression."

The commission's findings prompted action to address systemic racism and oppression not just in state law but also in the public square. For example, the statue of Confederate General Robert E. Lee in Richmond was removed this September, Downing noted.

That action was preceded in 2020 by the General Assembly passing a bill that established a commission to determine which Virginia citizen of historic significance (or known for distinguished civil or military service) should replace Robert E. Lee on a new statue.

In January 2020, bills were filed to repeal obsolete and discriminatory Virginia laws dating back to the early 20th century.

In July 2020, the General Assembly passed a bill ensuring that Confederate monuments and memorials could be removed by localities.

Also in 2020, Northam amended executive order 32 to extend the term of the Commission to Examine Racial Inequity in Virginia Law and to expand the scope of its research to include housing, education, criminal justice, health care, environmental justice, and agricultural equity.

The commission in November 2020 released a second report, which focused on those issues; it also requested that the commission be codified (established permanently by law) and recommended that proposed legislation also should be viewed through an "equity lens," Downing said.

A third report is expected before Northam's term ends.

Sheriff Warns of Phone Scams

Staff Report

The Accomack County Sheriff's Office recently received information about the ongoing use of scams against residents that could result in the loss of thousands of dollars to the victims, according to Sheriff Todd Wessells.

Although many of these scams are not new, as technology advances, so do the methods of conducting the scams.

Most recently, a practice known as caller ID spoofing is being used to make victims believe that the scammer's phone calls are coming from a specific number, either one that is known and/or trusted.

The Sheriff's Office has received reports that the main number, 757-787-1131, is being used. The callers proceed to make the victims feel as though they're speaking with law enforcement, who indicate that they have missed jury duty and fines have been assessed up to $2,000.

This is just one of many scams individuals have fallen victim to and it is strongly encouraged to not send money to anyone that you do not know; however, if you decide to, thoroughly check out the circumstances and ensure you are confident that the claim is legitimate.

Prior to sending any money, it is suggested that you obtain as much information as possible from the caller, such as their name, phone number, company name and address, and their supervisor's name, and verify that this information is correct by researching it yourself.

If the caller refuses to provide any of those details, becomes intimidating or threatening, or pressures you to make a decision immediately, you should hang up and, if necessary, call your local law enforcement agency.

For additional tips on avoiding becoming a fraud victim, visit <https://www.fbi.gov> and click on the Scams and Safety link.

Anyone with information on this or any other incident is asked to contact the Accomack County Sheriff's Office at 757-787-1131 or 757-824-5666. Tips may also be submitted at www.accomackcountysheriffsoffice.org

Doors Open to Technology-Based Careers at ESCC

Submitted Article

“Preparing our students for great jobs in technology,” explains ESCC Professor Chevelle Mason, “is the goal of our management with information technology program.” Mason is herself an ESCC graduate of the information technology program, which gives her great passion for serving students.

Mason’s students can earn three certifications in the program (net technology, internet business, and site development), plus career studies certificates in web page development and IT support, which qualifies completers for a job as a Google IT Support technician.

“Building apps, learning about cloud technology and cybersecurity develops real world skills that can open so many doors to career success,” Mason shared. The recently signed memorandum of understanding between ESCC and NASA

Wallops strengthens the pathway from ESCC to dozens of high-paying jobs at NASA and its contractors. These employers are desperate for ESCC IT grads.

Beyond even Wallops, Mason cites students being offered opportunities with Amazon, VISA, Google, Bank of America, Facebook, and even the FBI. “Students can apply for internships.” Mason explained, “which very often lead to full-time employment with the company.”

Jayson Stubbs is ready to find out. A 2019 graduate of Chincoteague High School, Jayson will be entering Chevelle Mason’s program in January.

“I’ve spent time building computers, working with hardware and software, and of course enjoyed gaming as a hobby,” Jayson said, “but now I see this program as a path to a great career.”

ESCC’s Workforce & Business Solutions Officer Scott Hall noted, “It’s great to see the enthusiasm and joy as these learners earn certifications.” He added, “This collaboration is great example of our mission to address community needs.”

Wadja said of the students, “They are mature students coming in with various different skill levels, yet they are building confidence and finding their way with technology, from basic internet skills to using Word, PowerPoint, Google, and more!”

Brianna's Kindness Park Playground Dedicated on World Kindness Day

Story and Photos by Carol Vaughn

Leonard and Faith got together and helped start Team Brianna in an effort to raise funds for the park.

“Young or old, big or small, we can all make a difference. It’s all a matter of choice,” Leonard said.

Residents of Chincoteague and beyond made donations and held fundraisers for the park, which the Town Council approved naming Brianna’s Kindness Park. Additionally, the Town Council approved using funds from the town’s playground equipment fund and the beach replenishment, recreation, and tourism fund to complete the project.

The town’s public works employees did the work to construct the playground and other park amenities.

The park includes a sensory playground and an athletic field, with restrooms currently under construction and plans for a pavilion, outdoor chess tables, and more.

A sensory playground is one with equipment that stimulates the different senses. The park on Chincoteague includes several music-oriented pieces of equipment.

Safe Boating Tips From Coast Guard Auxiliary 12-02

Submitted Article

Every boat needs a damage control kit. Most people never consider these, but what are you going to do if your boat springs a leak?

You can purchase a complete kit, but putting one together is easy and makes lots of gifts.

A damage control kit has a variety of items like a couple of wooden wedges, a 1-foot square piece of plywood, some tapered wooden plugs of various sizes, a rolled-up 4-foot square sheet of neoprene or rubber, about a pound of brown oiled Oakum, silicone pipe sealant tape, a roll of heavy-duty duct tape, a variety of hose clamps and a nut driver for the clamps, a folding saw, and a good waterproof box to hold everything.

A fleece throw blanket can double as something to stuff into a hole in your hull and also as a warmer blanket for someone who got wet or sick on your boat.

These items are available at hardware stores, so make it a treasure hunt. If you join the auxiliary, you'll be shown how to use everything to plug a hole in your boat.

Finally, Flotilla 12-02 still has gift certificates that allow the bearer to take any boating safety course we offer in 2022. The cost is $25 and certificates can be purchased from any flotilla member or by calling 717-512-9702.

Random Facts About ... the Good, Bad, and Disgusting About Air Travel Today

By David Martin

When we opened our internet tubes this week, out flew (!) some facts about air travel that had us considering options such as train, bus, car, horseback, and foot leather. The trade-off between air travel of 65 years ago and traveling by plane today is straightforward: Back then, seating was comfortable, accoutrements were lavish, passenger demeanor was civil, and the overall experience was delightful. Today, none of those attributes exist on commercial flights: seating is small and packed, accoutrements are nonexistent, passengers behave deplorably, and the overall experience is dreadful. However: today's flights are faster, safer, and — of primary importance to most travelers — cheaper.

Air travel in the 1950s and 60s was glamorous. Top designers from around the world created airplane interiors and the uniforms worn by stewardesses, as they were called back then. Passengers dressed formally, men in suits and women in dresses. Drinks served in glasses and food on China plates were free. Meals were top-rated, in some cases with meats carved at the seats. There was an average of six additional inches between rows of seats, enabling people to cross their legs. In the 1970s, the Boeing 747 introduced a piano lounge. Some flights had sleeping berths and separate dressing rooms for men and women. Passengers were treated like guests in a five-star hotel.

But let's not kid ourselves. These luxuries came at a price that put air travel out of reach of most people in the 1950s. Today, you can fly non-stop from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles in about 5 hours for about $125. In the 1950s so-called golden age of air travel, that trip would cost you over seven times more, adjusted for inflation, and take you much longer with multiple stops. Flights back then were also more dangerous. Today, we have 1.33 fatalities for every 100,000 hours of flight time. Back in 1952 that fatality rate was 5.2 deaths per 100,000 hours.

Your flight might have been expensive back in the day but, if you didn't crash, at least you wouldn't be subject to air rage. In a survey of 5,000 flight attendants taken this year, 85% said they had had to deal with unruly passengers. According to a Business Insider report, the FAA has received 4,385 reports of air rage so far this year. Passengers are punching flight attendants and each other, having heated arguments about wearing or not wearing masks, getting into fist-cuffs over a seat being reclined, and on occasion becoming so unruly that flights have to be rerouted for immediate landing.

Along with the violence is the disgusting behavior of those few (we hope) who make travel so unpleasant for the many. People take their shoes and socks off and put their bare feet between the seats in front of them. People urinate in bottles and bags at their seats and then leave the containers. People clip their fingernails and toenails and let the nails fly. On a flight to Miami last year, a woman popped a blister on her foot and sprayed two passengers with blood. People with super long hair will flip it over the top of their headrests so the hair hangs down in front of the passenger seating behind. A British Airways flight to Dubai in 2015 had to turn around because of odor from what the pilot described as "liquid fecal excrement."

Speaking of disgusting, you might think those tiny airplane bathrooms are the worst of the worst but in terms of actual bacterial contamination, the bathrooms rank below headrests, seat-back pockets (frequent fecal contamination from dirty diapers), tray tables, and seatbelt buckles.

At least, with new regulations passed just this year, airlines can ban unrestrained, flying-for-free emotional support animals and thus stop the trend of people coming onboard with (and you sitting next to) an emotional support monkey, pig, peacock, mini-horse (Flirty the mini-horse flew on American Airlines in 2019), duck, turkey, tortoise, parrot.

No one wants a return to long, expensive, unsafe flights. But some old-fashioned civility would be a comfort on today's fast, cheap, safe, cramped, and crowded flights.

Fishing from the Shore

By Bill Hall

The cold front that passed through Saturday and lingered through the early part of this week sharply lowered the surface water temperatures of the bay, which in turn pushed a decent body of bait and accompanying rockfish down from the more northern waters. A few rockfish measuring up to 40 inches were reported in the Crisfield area of Tangier Sound. The cooling waters also slowed the lower Shore speckled trout, though the bulk of the fish should be around a few more weeks. Tautog catches are also improving with the lowering water temperatures, although the recent windy conditions have prevented many vessels from venturing out to the ocean wrecks.

Upper Shore – Captain Matt Abell, of the Sea Hawk Sports Center, reported striped bass in the upper Tangier Sound have begun to school up and can often be located by finding the flocks of birds that are diving and feeding on the same schools of bait as the rockfish. Earlier this week, Abell said that there had been a spectacular bite inside of Pocomoke Sound. Abell's charter party had rockfish measuring to 32 inches. Dave Bambino and David Hendershot have been having success casting artificials to schoolie-sized rockfish around some of the Pocomoke Sound marsh island shallows. On the seaside, Abell had heard of a couple of puppy drum caught in the upper barrier island surf.

Chincoteague – Jimmy Vasiliou, at Captain Steve's Bait and Tackle, reported puppy drum are still being caught in the Assateague surf, just in time for the shop's annual surf fishing tournament, which kicks off this Friday, Nov. 19, and runs through Sunday, Nov. 21, at 4 p.m. First prize is a rod-and-reel combo valued at $400; the second place catch earns the lucky angler a $250 rod-and-reel-combo. The largest bluefish or flounder receives a $50 Captain Steve's gift certificate.

In other island fishing news, striped bass from 12 inches to almost 40 inches have been caught inside the bay and along the creek mouths by anglers casting artificials. A few flounder also remain inside the bay, with fish up to 20 inches brought in over the weekend.

Wachapreague – No reports were received from the Wachapreague Inn or the Trident Tackle Shop.

Lower Shore – Dez Louie, at Ocean's East – Eastern Shore, said the windy conditions have been making it rough (no pun intended) for anglers to get out, but once they got out, the anglers were finding schools of speckled trout, puppy drum, and schoolie-stripers. Anglers launching from the seaside port of Oyster and Wise Point are landing a mix of drum, trout, and stripers using cut mullet, soft plastics, and Mirrolures. The seaside of the Shore has proved increasingly productive when the strong westerly winds make fishing on the Chesapeake Bay-side unmanageable. On calmer days, the bayside creeks are holding schools of puppy drum and speckled trout. Anglers venturing out to the ocean wrecks and in-shore anglers fishing the bay-bridge and concrete ships were finding mostly small black sea bass, sheepshead, and tautog, with cut crab proving to be the most productive bait.

Jeb Brady, at Bailey's Baith & Tackle in Cape Charles, reported the speckled trout fishing has started to slow as a result of the cooler water temperatures. He said that anglers were still landing good numbers of fish, but were having to work harder for their catch. There has been a surge in the number of smaller fish, which hopefully bodes well for next year's population of keeper-sized trout. Brady said the puppy drum catch is still occurring in the marshes on the seaside, with artificial baits still proving productive. Schoolie-sized striped bass are showing up in greater numbers along the bay shoreline and have been caught by anglers fishing off the Cape Charles and Kiptopeke State Park piers. There are still sheepshead remaining around the Chesapeake Bay Bridge-Tunnel, while the offshore wrecks have been producing mainly sea bass and gray triggerfish.

Yellow Jackets Fall in Close Game Against West Point

By Adolphus Ames

The Northampton Yellow Jackets hosted a regional quarterfinals game Friday, Nov. 12. They faced a familiar foe, the West Point Pointers. The last time the two teams faced was on a Monday night in early October. The Yellow Jackets were victorious in that game, but in the second matchup they came up short, losing 41-37.

The Pointers scored on their opening drive and the Yellow Jackets quickly responded with their strong ground game, taking the ball down to the 1-yard line. Dustin Splawn capped the drive off with a rushing touchdown. In the second quarter, the Yellow Jackets began putting on a show in the air. Quarterback Liam Flynn connected with Romano Onley on several big pass plays, including three touchdowns. The Yellow Jackets entered the fourth quarter on top 37-27, seemingly poised to take home the victory, but West Point outscored them 14-0 to close out the game.

This brings an end to a stellar Yellow Jackets season. The football team scored a season total of over 400 points and finished with an overall 8-2 record.

Northampton Prepares for Varsity Basketball Season

By Adolphus Ames

For the past few weeks, coaches and players throughout the Eastern Shore have been preparing to return to the basketball court.

The Northampton Yellow Jackets girls basketball team has been practicing for the past two weeks. "We have almost an entirely new squad this year," said head coach Devin Allen. "Only three players are returning. They are seniors now, but were freshmen last time we played."

This season will be the first time the team has stepped onto the court since winter 2020. That season, the Yellow Jackets were undefeated and advanced to the regional semi-finals. Their 2021 season was canceled due to the coronavirus pandemic.

The new roster is one of the biggest challenges the Yellow Jackets are facing this season. "We're a very young team," said Allen. "Right now, we're focusing on building team chemistry and mastering the fundamentals."

Offense is another challenge the team faces. "Last time we played, our team had the Eastern Shore offensive player of the year and some of the top scorers in the district," said Allen. "This year, we're going to have to work on using defense to generate offense."

Allen's overall goal this season is to take the team as far as she can. "The goal is to get better every day," she said.

The Northampton boys basketball team is facing similar concerns. Like the girls, it has been two seasons since the team last stepped onto the court.

"This is an entirely new team," said boys head coach Wayne Bell, now in his ninth year leading the Yellow Jackets. "We're starting over and this is a rebuilding season. Right now we're focusing on controlling tempo, maximizing basketball IQ, and minimizing turnovers."

Due to the roster overhaul, Bell plans to run an entirely new scheme. "It looks like we're going to be small sizewise," he said. "I don't think we're going to dominate the board, so our philosophy and style will definitely change."

Bell's goal this season is to win. "The goal this year is to win the district," he said. "And see the players improve each day."

Both Northampton varsity teams open up their seasons the first week of December.

The Osprey-Eyed Reader Contest

Last Week's Runners-Up

Anthony Manzione, of Exmore, sent this picture of his son Peter and Peter's wife. The young man is serving with the 101st Airborne at Fort Campbell, on the Kentucky-Tennessee border.

Last Week's Winner

Last week, almost half our entries didn't qualify because they chose a red star that was in an ad when the rules said that stars in ads did not count. Renelda White, of Painter, was not tripped up, however, and she was lucky enough to be randomly chosen from among the 89 qualified entries to win a $25 gift certificate to Panzotti's Pizza in Onley.

This is the entrance to the Horton Veterans Cemetery in Suffolk, Va. The wife of John Woolaver, of Cape Charles, is buried there. John is retired Navy.

Chuck Niederhofer, of Melfa, sent this photo of his son meeting the actor Dan Aykroyd, who sent the boy an autographed copy of all the "Ghostbusters" movies.

We had an unusually large number of first-time players last week. Roneisha Henry, of Parksley, is one of our newcomers to the osprey game.

This young lady is 13 years old and seems very composed. Her name is Zy'layah Bailey and she is the granddaughter of Wendy Harris, of Melfa.

Rob Robinson, of Parksley, is taking a stroll in Georgia with his great-niece and great-nephew — a couple of great kids.

Who gets anxious about a dental appointment? Not De'Vante, who, according to Lisa Like, of Hallwood, is "chilling at the dentist."

Last Week's Contest: Stars for Veterans

We had 89 qualified contestants and another 40 entries that were disqualified. The biggest mistake people made was counting a star from an ad when stars in ads were ineligible according to the rules. The two other mistakes were missing the second star on Page 21 and missing Page 27's star. The other six stars were on pages 2, 19, 20, 21, 25, and 31. Renelda White, of Painter, found all eight stars and was randomly selected by a computer program to win the $25 gift certificate to Panzotti's Pizza in Onley.

This Week's Contest: Answer Four Questions

This week's contest consists of four questions, the answers to which can be found in the pages of this edition. To become qualified, you must tell us the answers and the page number where you found each answer. Among those who do, one lucky reader will be randomly selected to win his or her choice of a Becca's Smith Island cake. See sponsor box on this page.

The Questions

1. You can pick up a nice 2005 Dodge Ram for $7,500. How many miles on the odometer?
2. If the weather is bad for the 41st Annual Old-Fashioned Christmas Parade on Dec. 4, what is the alternative date?
3. What was the name of the mini-horse who flew on American Airlines in 2019 as an emotional support animal?
4. What is the name of Chincoteague's mayor's granddaughter in this edition?

The Rules

1. Answer the four questions and give the page number where you found each answer.
2. Entries MUST have first and last names and your town.
3. Send this information to david@easternshorepost.com.
4. Deadline is noon Monday, Nov. 22.
5. No multiple entries.
6. Anyone submitting a photograph must have taken the picture or have permission to use it.

Photos

We'd love to publish a photo of you, your children, your pets, your friends, your hobbies, and your life on the Shore. We have room for only a few photos each week, but please feel free to send a picture along with your osprey-eyed entry.

Chincoteague VFD Acquires Ambulance

The Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Co. recently purchased an ambulance for $50,000 from the Parsonsburg Volunteer Fire Co. in Maryland. The ambulance will be backup to the two ambulances the company already has. In late 2022, one of CVFD's ambulances will be replaced with a new one that was obtained by an 60/40 grant. A new ambulance off the assembly line costs about $290,000 and that doesn't include the cost to stock it with lifesaving equipment. # New Programs Help Keep Northampton Students School-Ready

By Stefanie Jackson

Northampton County Public Schools is participating in two programs that seek to reduce absenteeism and bullying by making sure all students have access to clean clothes.

The Kids Closet was the brainchild of Northampton High School Assistant Principal Heather Marsh, who first shared the concept at the Northampton County Education Foundation State of the Schools forum in 2019, said Liz Jones, who is on the boards of both NCEF and NCPS.

A host of volunteers put together the first Kids Closet over the summer of 2019, which is housed in an extra classroom or storage room in NHS.

Community members donated gently used clothes, and hangers were donated by a local department store. The NHS carpentry class built shelving for the Kids Closet, which opened at the beginning of the 2019-2020 school year.

Items in the Kids Closet range from T-shirts and other everyday clothing items to winter coats, as well as hygiene products like deodorant and lotion.

The Kids Closet is open to all middle and high school students, so there's "no stigma attached" to using it. "My daughter is constantly shopping in there," Jones said.

All of the clothing and supplies are free to students to borrow or keep – "whatever the student's most comfortable with," she said.

Whether a student needs a new clothing item for regular or temporary use – for example, if something was spilled on clothing at lunch – the Kids Closet is ready to help.

The Kids Closet program also is in Occohannock and Kiptopeke elementary schools on a "smaller scale," Jones said.

The Kids Closet doesn't have a specific location in either elementary school, but it supplies teachers with clean pants, socks, and other clothing items young students might need.

The high school Kids Closet is currently seeking donations of sweatshirts and winter coats as the weather turns colder. Volunteers also are collecting formal dresses, shoes, and accessories in anticipation of prom season.

Monetary donations are also accepted. In response to requests from local churches that wanted to donate, NCEF established a Kids Closet fund in January 2020, which has received more than $7,000 to date.

To donate, visit www.ncedufoundation.com and click on the "Click Here to Donate" button. When filling out the donation form, select Kids Closet from the dropdown menu in the field labeled "Direct My Donation to."

Jones said, "I love the Kids Closet. It's one of my favorite projects."

Loads of Love

Students who don't have clean clothes are more likely to miss school and are more likely to be bullied at school, Jones said.

The Loads of Love program began with middle school PE teacher Kim Applegate and Student Success Coach Amy Flournoy, who learned about and applied for a laundry program grant from the Washington Football Team, formerly the Washington Redskins.

Northampton High School qualified for the program as there is only one laundromat in Northampton County, in Eastville.

The high school was awarded a grant around January 2020 of nearly $10,000 to purchase industrial laundry equipment – two washers and two dryers.

Northampton High School students have access to the Loads of Love program laundry room. Submitted photo.

Detergent and dryer sheets are provided, as well as mesh bags in which students can carry out their laundry.

The students can do their own laundry after school or during their spare time during the school day. A student might start a load in a washer or dryer between classes and fold the clean clothes during lunch, or there are volunteers available to help – whatever works best for each student.

Teachers also may use the laundry equipment, and eventually parents and families will be welcome to use the laundry facility, which is in the mini gym, behind the main school gym.

Allowing students' families to come to school and use the washers and dryers was always in the original plan for the laundry program, but it was waylaid due to COVID-19.

Once Northampton schools become more open to the public, families will be invited to use the laundry room, which they will find complete with a couch, books, and magazines to use while they wait for a load to finish.

For more information on Loads of Love, visit www.ncpsk12.com/page/nms or email loadsoflove@ncpsk12.com.

Town of Exmore
Notice of Intent and Public Meeting

The Town of Exmore will file/has filed an application with the USDA, Rural Development for financial assistance to make improvements to the Town's wastewater system. A public meeting for comments will be held at 7:00 p.m. on December 6, 2021, at the J. Guy Lawson Memorial Municipal Building, 3305 Main Street, Exmore, Va., to discuss the proposed project and to provide the opportunity for public comment.

Public Notice – Environmental Permit

PURPOSE OF NOTICE: To seek public comment on a draft permit from the Department of Environmental Quality for the withdrawal of groundwater in Northampton County, Virginia. PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD: November 19, 2021 to December 20, 2021

PERMIT NAME: Groundwater Withdrawal Permit issued by DEQ, under the authority of the State Water Control Board
APPLICANT NAME, ADDRESS AND PERMIT NUMBER: Northampton County, 16404 Courthouse Rd., Eastville, VA 23347, GW0038700

NAME AND LOCATION OF WATER WITHDRAWAL: Bayview Community; 22273 Laughing Gull Rd. Cape Charles, VA 23310

PROJECT DESCRIPTION: Northampton County has applied for a new permit for a non-municipal public water supply for a residential community in Northampton County, Virginia. The permit would authorize the applicant a groundwater withdrawal that shall not exceed 5,100,000 gallons per year and 750,000 gallons per month. The groundwater withdrawal will support the sanitary and domestic needs of the community residents. The proposed withdrawal will utilize the Middle Yorktown-Eastover aquifer at a depth between 205 feet to 235 feet below the land surface at the withdrawal site. An aquifer is a body of rock or layer of sediment in the ground in which groundwater is stored and transported. DEQ has made a tentative decision to issue the permit. AFFECTED AREA: The radial distance from the wells to where computer modeling predicts the aquifer may experience one foot of drawdown due to the withdrawal is illustrated on a map that can be viewed at <https://www.deq.virginia.gov/permits-regulations/public-notices/water/water-withdrawal>

HOW TO COMMENT AND OR REQUEST A PUBLIC HEARING: DEQ accepts comments and requests for public hearing by e-mail, fax or postal mail. All comments and requests must be in writing and be received by DEQ during the comment period. Submittals must include the names, mailing addresses and telephone numbers of the commenter/requester and of all persons represented by the commenter/requester. A request for public hearing must also include: 1) The reason why a public hearing is requested. 2) A brief, informal statement regarding the nature and extent of the interest of the requester or of those represented by the requester, including how and to what extent such interest would be directly and adversely affected by the permit. 3) Specific references, where possible, to terms and conditions of the permit with suggested revisions. DEQ may hold a public hearing, including another comment period, if public response is significant and there are substantial, disputed issues relevant to the proposed permit.

CONTACT FOR PUBLIC COMMENTS, DOCUMENT REQUESTS AND ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Cassandra Porter; Central Office, P.O. Box 1105 Richmond, VA, 23218; Phone: (804) 814-7234; E-mail: Cassandra.porter@deq.virginia.gov; FAX: 804-698-4178. The public may review the draft permit and application at the DEQ office named above by appointment.

RR Group Responds to Ad

Dear Editor:

The commissioners of the Accomack Northampton Transportation District Commission (ANTDC) owe the public an apology for the wasteful and misleading ad run in this paper last week under the name of Canonie Atlantic Co.

This ad was run by ANTDC, not just Canonie. The commissioners huddled in the closed-door Canonie meeting, on Nov. 3, when the ad was conceived. They were all there together for the vote to disburse public funds.

Ask the commissioners about the vote and they'll say the Canonie board voted, not the commission. They hide that they act as members of both boards, drawn from the same pool, supervisors of Accomack and Northampton counties. They meet together, blurring their roles by convening first as the commission, then as Canonie, on the same day, in the same room. They operate as one entity with two names.

On Nov. 3, this small group met as the commission for 10 minutes. Then the same small group adjourned and immediately reconvened as the Canonie board.

Ask the commissioners who paid for that ad. They'll say private funds, Canonie ran the ad. Yet, ANTDC holds all voting shares and rights on Canonie's board and purchased those rights at taxpayers' expense. The railroad and related assets belong to the counties and the public.

They use your money to fund unnecessary $600 newspaper ads. They could have issued a press release for free. But, then reporters would check facts, rather than accept the blatant misinformation in the commissioners' ad.

Misinformation started with the headline: "The Railroad is Being Saved."

False. The right-of-way is being saved for a bike path and utility lines. Once the commissioners finish tearing up the railroad tracks, the railroad will not be seen in our lifetimes, likely not in generations. Any hope for using the railroad to attract good-paying manufacturing jobs will be gone.

Moreover, ANTDC saving the right-of-way isn't in question. Both ANTDC and NYP&N RR Ltd., want a bicycle path and sewer and utility burial. NYP&N knows that we can keep an operating railroad too. ANTDC appears not to want to bother. They overrule the desires of the citizenry with their deceit.

The commissioners want the public to believe that the line south of Bloxom is decrepit and would cost too much to repair, maybe $5 to $6 million. Yet, they are selling the track under contract for reuse.

Dead track doesn't sell for reuse. And, they're not telling us the destination of these funds.

It's also not for the commissioners to decide whether the railroad is too expensive to repair. That should be the decision of the operator, and one is in plain sight with equipment and personnel to begin repairs.

Unfortunately, the commissioners have made only the most feeble attempts to attract Rail Enterprise Group or other operators. They only contacted two operators previously.

ANTDC doesn't behave honorably to its public, or those attempting operate or ship on the railroad. Nor does its pet company, Canonie Atlantic. You decide who you trust. ANTDC/Canonie with its secretive, misleading conduct? Or, the nonprofit organization volunteers who uncovered it?

Local Businesses Need to Up Their Game

Dear Editor:

I am writing today in response to local ads for citizens to "shop local."

The ads start out by telling listeners to shop local because they'll save time and money and add to the local economy through sales taxes and businesses being able to hand out more money from profits.

Although I do feel many of these statements are right on target, the question still remains: Why do many Eastern Shore citizens pick Norfolk or Salisbury, Md., to complete much of their shopping?

I, like many of my neighbors, shop in Salisbury. A better selection of food, cleaner stores, and an expanded line of products and services to choose from are the main reasons. Many of the fast-food chains are burger joints that are greasy and high in calories. Salisbury has Jersey Mike's and Jimmy Johns, as well as many of the names we're familiar with here on the Shore. Also, many of the people buy in bulk in discount stores like Sam's Club and Aldi supermarkets. The quality of the product is a bit higher and sold at a price people are willing to pay, backed up with service.

Many of the establishments here are just outright dirty. They are in dire need of a deep cleaning, painting, and a customer service overhaul of many employees who work in these establishments.

May I suggest that if many of the businesses here on the Shore want a bigger piece of the pie, they check out where people are shopping and come up with a marketing game plan in order to get where they want to be. In today's business environment, you consistently need to be better than the guy up the street, or you'll get left behind.

Douglas Stewart, Schooner Bay Eastville Story Was Newsworthy

Dear Editor:

This is in response to former police officer Bob Fears' letter characterizing coverage of an on duty police officer, paid and in full uniform, putting out his boss's campaign signs as unnewsworthy.

If Mr. Fears thinks this is appropriate, then I am glad he is a "former" police officer.

I do not think the sheriff of Northampton County makes too much money, as alleged by Mr. Fears. I think he is an honest, very hardworking officer with immense responsibilities. In fact, I think he deserves a raise.

I do think that Rob Stubbs, acting police chief of a five-man traffic police detail, makes too much money. His pay exceeded Sheriff Doughty's, with Stubbs making as much as $106,000 in one year as second in command. This is in a town of about 350 residents. He did not have to wrestle many drunks, or respond to many shootings; these mostly happen late at night. The Northampton County Sheriff's Department cleans up Eastville's late-night trash, because the Eastville Police Department exists for one reason: making a big profit off of daytime speeders.

Please get informed before you throw too many stones.
